Tell her you really care (MOTHER'S DAY)

Most mothers cherish nothing quite as much as the memory of now grown children or the sight of growing grandchildren. If you see your mother less often than you'd wish, consider the real pleasure you can give this Mother's Day with fine professional portraits of yourself and your children. It's the next best thing to being there, always, and it's a gift to say you really care. Phone now for an appointment.

Miss Rosenberg has also received a New York State Regents' scholarship. While she has not made her college choice, she intends to continue her fine arts studies.

Paul Lewis, an outstanding student and New York State Regents' scholarship winner, carries a full extra-curricular schedule. He is president of the local Explorer post, Post 415. In addition to planning regular activities for the troop, he planned and led an eight-day canoe trip of 14 students and three adults into Canada last summer. He was instrumental in the Explorer post renting an abandoned service station to build and sell Indian-style canoes.

Paul is also a member of the National Honor Society, a charter member of his school's new chess club and a member of both the school band and dance band in which he plays saxophone. He also plays volleyball and tennis in the school's intramural program.

In Paul's spare time, he works with his former electronics teacher in a private business repairing stereos, televisions and radios. He plans next Fall to enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass. where he will major in electrical engineering.

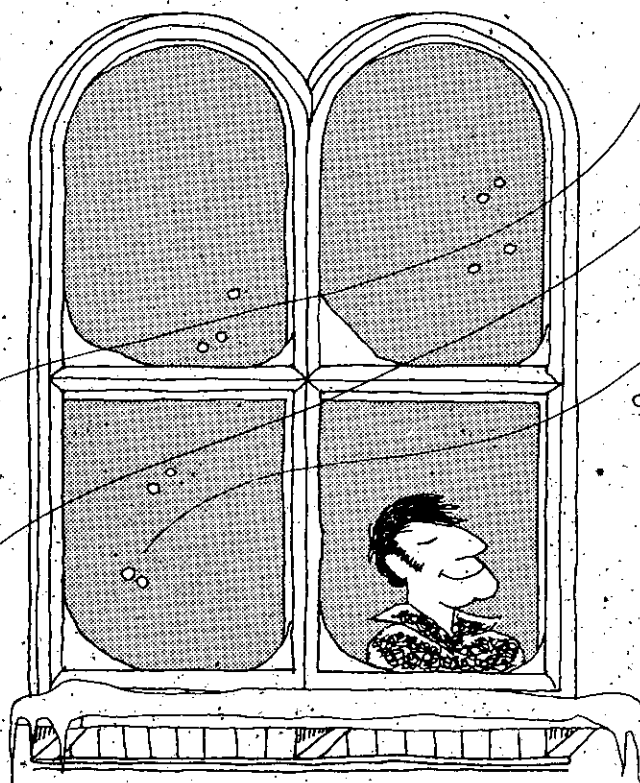

Sterling Drug established its scholarship program for children of U.S. employees in 1970. The annual competition is administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, an independent, non-profit organization.

Sterling Drug manufactures a broad range of pharmaceutical specialties; proprietary medicines, cosmetics, household and industrial products. The Institute is the company's center for its expensive pharmaceutical research activities.

Students in Service Projects

Some 25 Siena College students are giving up their Easter vacations which begins Monday to devote full-time to numerous Tri-City community service projects.

The annual Easter effort is part of Project Giving, begun in 1971 by Siena students who wanted the College to relate more closely with the Tri-City community.

Half the Siena students will work in Scotia restoring Cloverpatch Cerebral Palsy Camp. Other students will repaint and restore the Troy-Rensselaer County Council of the Arts building across from Troy's Washington Park.

On Saturday the entire group will work at the site furthest from completion.

Project Giving is funded by the Siena Alumni Association and the College's Student Senate.

Last Easter, students rehabilitated a house in Cohoes, rebuilt a youth center in Watervliet and restored furniture in Scotia and Schenectady in cooperation with Church Women United.

Since September, students have aided the restoration of the Haunted House in Schenectady, organized an afternoon crafts club at the Rensselaer Girls Club, and conducted weekly Tuesday night group sessions at the Cohoes Community Center.

All parents of senior BC students are invited to attend an open meeting regarding the Senior Ball to be held at the high school library on Wednesday, April 24, at 8 P.M.

The purpose of this meeting will be to organize the parents' Ball Committee. This group is responsible for "after-ball" activities, and will include such committess as: buffet, decorations, breakfast, swimming, bowling, and tickets. Help from both parents is needed, so . . . class of '74 Moms and Dads, come out on the 24th!

The program is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Spindler, and Mr. and Mrs. George N. Shaw, either of which can be called if you would like to help out, but cannot attend the meeting.

Nursery School Scholarships

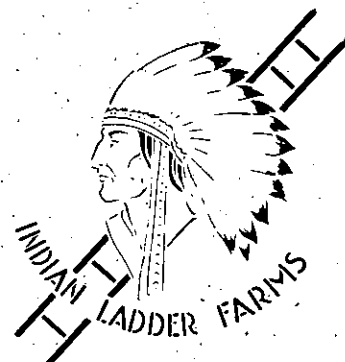

A scholarship is available annually at two local nursery schools and, according to Mrs. B.J. Lornell, Bethlehem Central social worker, the results for the selected children have been very positive.

For the past three years, the Montessori School and the Tri-Village Nursery School have made scholarships available, with Mrs. Lornell serving as the liaison person for the school district. She advises in the selection process, and then observes and records the children's experiences and progress. "This is a highly valuable and commendable service being made available

Summer Band Program

A Summer Band program co-sponsored by the Bethlehem Central School District, is being planned for instrumental band students presently in grades 6 through 12 and any interested alumni. The program will be conducted by Samuel Bozzella, Senior High Band Director, and is scheduled to begin Monday, July 1, and end Tuesday, August 6. The registration fee will be $15 for each participating student.

The program will consist of two weekly rehearsals and two outdoor evening concerts. All music will be supplied by the Bethlehem Central Music Department and instruments are available without charge to school district residents. A definite number of performers are necessary in order to conduct both rehearsals and concerts. Therefore, this program will be held only if a balanced instrumentation enrolls.

All interested students are urged to contact either Mr. Storch at the Middle School or Mr. Bozzella at the High School, or call 439-4922, ext. 313, for enrollment information before June 3.

Annual Exchange Tour

The Bethlehem Central High School Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Samuel S.

Affairs of State

Bozzella, has scheduled its annual exchange concert tour for April 28-May 1. The concert tour itinerary calls for traveling to Brighton Central High School in Rochester, on Sunday, April 28, to perform a concert at the Brighton High School and then stay over night with the Brighton band parents.

The next day, the B.C. students will arrive in Oakville, Ontario, Canada, to perform at the Oakville Trafalgar High School. The Oakville visit will include performing for both a public and school assembly, a visit to the Oakville Ford Assembly Plant, and stays over night with the Oakville band parents. On April 30, the Wind Ensemble will have a sightseeing excursion in Toronto and will also attend the stage show, "See Saw," at the O'Keefe Centre Theatre, after which they will spend the night at the Westbury Hotel in Toronto. The following day they will return to Delmar.

Apply for Textbooks

Children living in the Bethlehem Central School District who attend private and parochial schools should submit applications for loan of textbooks for next year by May 1.

Application forms have been sent to the schools, and they should be returned to the Bethlehem Central School District Business Office, 90 Adams Pl., Delmar. The deadline for textbook applications has been moved up this year, to assure proper and timely ordering and dissemination of books.

Pupils at these schools who have borrowed books this year are asked to turn them in to the Business Office within three days after their schools close for summer vacation. This does not include St. Thomas pupils, who will turn in their books at St. Thomas.

Discipline Policy to Be Adopted

A Discipline Policy for the Bethlehem Central School District is now scheduled to be adopted on May 8 by the Board of Education, after having been available for review and discussion for more than a month.

The Policy, as drafted by the Superintendent of Schools, would prohibit corporal punishment in Bethlehem schools.

Here is the complete text of the proposed policy:

Standards of discipline are to be established to assist in securing appropriate levels of control for the maintenance of the most effective learning environment, free of unwarranted distraction; it is the responsibility of all who interact (including parents) in the schooling process to assist in providing and maintaining this environment.

Self-discipline is the ideal, and the development of it shall be an integral part of the school experience. However, when a student loses self-control to the extent that his/her actions or inactions are detrimental to the learning or welfare of others in the school, a means of control must be utilized. Such means should be well thought out so that the discipline is of benefit to those involved and provides an additional learning experience.

Disciplinary efforts in the form of punishment must always relate to the magnitude of the offense except that corporal punishment is prohibited. This does not preclude the use of minimal force when a staff member can reasonably conclude that force is necessary to maintain control or to protect self, others, or property.

More Gregg Awards

During the last week in March another group of shorthand students at Bethlehem

Central High School earned certificates for their ability to take sustained dictation and transcribe their notes with 95 percent accuracy.

Dianne Gaudette earned an award offered through Gregg Publishing Company by taking three minutes dictation at 60 words per minute.

School certificates were awarded to the following girls who took five minutes of dictation at 50 words per minute: Kathryn Flanagan, Annmarie Futia, Dianne Gaudette, Laurie Geel, Michele Johns, Darcy Shufelt, Karen Vandecar and Sherry Woods.

Forty-word per minute certificates were earned by: Amy Robinson and Crystie Walters.

LIBRARY NOTES

The Play's the Thing!

"An old-fashioned melodrama" is the sub-title of the play the eighth graders have chosen to put on for the public. They belong to the Curtain Raisers, a dramatics club at the Bethlehem Public Library. They chose "Flora of the Flower Shop" because it is very humorous and therefore requires good acting.

This is a play for all ages! It has suspense, mystery and romance all in one package. There is a hero, a heroine, and a villain who lend excitement to the plot.

The play will be performed on Sunday, April 21, at 2 in the large community room of the Library. It will be about 45 minutes. Don't spend another quiet Sunday afternoon at home — come and enjoy some local talent!

Handicraft Demo Week

The Bethlehem Public Library is sponsoring its second annual Handicraft Demonstration Week the week of April 22-27. Talented local handicrafters will be coming to the Library for an afternoon or evening and working on their particular craft. Everyone is invited to stop in and observe the handicrafters at work, to talk with them, and perhaps to learn something about the craft.

There is no admission charge, and everyone is welcome. These talented people have donated their time and skills as a favor to the Library and because they enjoy doing what they do. They want to share their talents with you. Do stop in and see some of the demonstrations. All demonstrations will be in the Large Community Room. The schedule follows:

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth... and keep it that way with automatic Inflation Coverage.

Happiness is something you build

Watch a child building a house or a farm with blocks. By his delighted smile when he's finished, you know he's reached his happy ending.

As he grows older, his objectives in life mature and his definition of a happy ending changes. But attaining it still takes the time and perseverance and effort he needed as a child building with blocks. Usually, it also takes money, and that's where we can help.

Our savings plans pay you the highest interest allowed by law. We have a variety of Home Mortgage and Home Improvement Loans available. We can loan you money for college and graduate school tuitions. We can help with short term happy endings, too, like Christmas shopping and vacations.

Come into our office nearest you this week and start using our services as blocks to lead to your happy ending, whatever it may be.

Mercy Killing

Many opinions have been cast on this topic: ABC's April 10, Wednesday Movie of the Week, starring Melvyn Douglas, centered around the issue. He played a retired physician who was accused of murder in the first degree after taking the life of his wife who was dying of brain cancer. She was totally immobilized. A main point of the prosecution was that only God could take life away. The doctor answered that God had already tried to take her but man had stopped Him.

I believe no one who is terminally ill and suffering with pain should be kept alive by machines. It's inhuman. I also believe it is cruel to bring back the life of an elderly person who is sure to die a week or maybe a month later.

The art of medicine was created to heal the sick, not to induce their suffering.

Wrong Again!

We took for granted that the date on the picture of the Delmar Four Corners in last week's issue was the year the picture was taken. 1885. "Not true," say some of our readers. "Impossible," say others. Those whose memory goes back to the early 1900's say that the first time NYS required car license plates was 1912-1915, or perhaps even later. The car, just visible behind the wagon not only does not resemble anything from 1885 — but it also sports a nice big license plate between the headlamps.

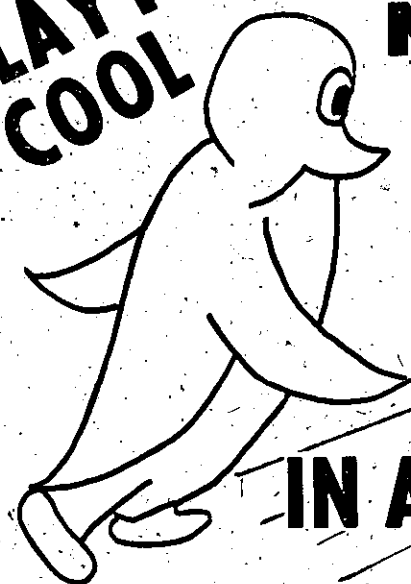

We're still very interested in when the picture could have been taken, on what occasion and any other pertinent information our readers may be able to supply.

The more one studies the details, the more intriguing the whole becomes. First, both the male driver and the lady standing right beside the wagon seem to be in "blackface." The car is not only sporting a registration, but also some kind of a flag. We've still not been able to identify the background buildings in relation to the Four Corners today. What has the name "Ford" to do with the wagon? Are the seven people who seem to be keenly interested in what's going on actually looking at the donkey and wagon or are they more interested in the photographer?

We hope someone can furnish some of the answers.

Ayalons at Center

The AYALONS, an Israeli singing and comedy group, are the featured stars of a concert at the Albany Jewish Community Center on Saturday, April 20. This performance will be the last program this year in the Center's Performing Arts Series.

The quartet has been performing together as a group since 1948, when they met in the war in the valley of Ayalon, defending a road leading to Jerusalem. Three singing-talking men from Israel and one accordion-playing conductor, they are master of the sight gag, one-liner, the sketch and the quick change. They present a variety show of musical and comical versatility. Their style very often approaches that of the Ritz Brothers at their zaniest, yet their underlying theme is one of the brotherhood of man. They will feature medleys of children's songs, Israeli songs, a medley from "Fiddler On The Roof" and a spoof on Israeli cowboys. They tackle everything from mock opera to mock rock.

Nature Has A Way to Cut Next Winter's Fuel Bill

A recent test conducted with two identical houses in South Dakota revealed a way that fuel consumption in one of the two houses was reduced by 40 percent. Here's how it happened.

The two side-by-side houses were exactly the same in all details except one. One house was sheltered on three sides (east, west, and north) with a windbreak of trees. That house was exposed to a wind velocity that measured 71 percent less than the other, with fuel consumption 40 percent lower during the winter of the test. In another similar experiment a house with trees planted on only one side, the north, used 25 percent less fuel than its unprotected neighbor.

In the face of current fuel shortages and rising prices, the American Association of Nurserymen, the national organization of the people most authoritative in such matters, is giving special attention to energy-saving facts such as this. "Nature has gifts which have been available to us since the beginning of time," they say, "that can cooperate with us in our conservation of energy resources. It is simply a matter of knowing about them and using them properly."

The kind of homes we have been building over the last several decades, the nursery people say, are really very wasteful users of heating energy. So long as oil was cheap and, in the public mind at least, inexhaustible, it was cheaper to install a big furnace and buy the excessive fuel needed than to make the houses really efficient in their energy conservation. The result is that we now have millions of poorly insulated houses. Reconstruction, with the installation of effective insulation, is probably going to be necessary in the face of the diminishing supplies of heating fuel, but equally important can be the establishment of efficient wind barrier plantings.

The South Dakota study is not an isolated example. Much basic research has been conducted in the Plains States by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Kansas State Col-

Question:

My wife passed away recently and now I must change the beneficiary of my insurance policies. Are there any problems I should anticipate in doing this?

Answer:

Very probably you will need only to complete a "change of beneficiary" form for each company involved. But it is possible you may have some problems. For example: if you have minor children, naming them beneficiaries of your life insurance is not the best way to channel insurance proceeds to them. You should discuss a "life insurance trust" with the trust officer of your bank.

Before you make the decision to leave your insurance to anyone who is not related to you, discuss this with your attorney. There is a common law principle that a beneficiary must have an insurable interest in the life of the insured. If your friend should not qualify on this basis, the insurance proceeds might transfer to your heirs.

There is also a possibility that during your wife's lifetime you transferred ownership of your insurance to her. Under certain circumstances your insurance may then be an asset of her estate which may or may not ultimately revert to you for a decision regarding a new beneficiary.

ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS — The Albany County Conservation Alliance in cooperation with the NYS Conservation Council sponsored the essay contest for Albany County School children. lege, as well as other institutions. Spokesmen for the nursery industry recognize that the differences between sheltered and unsheltered residences would be more dramatic in the wind-swept Plains country than elsewhere... the more sheltered 'Eastern' states, for instance, which are not subject to such constant winds in winter. But in a comparable Eastern calculation the fuel consumption in the same house before and after an evergreen windbreak was planted showed a saving of 10 percent in fuel use after the planting. In terms of national fuel consumption, that Eastern experience is much more significant because there are thousands of houses in that area for every one on the Great Plains.

Translated into dollar savings, even minor reductions of fuel consumption are highly significant for the homeowner. Modest investments in the installation of trees arranged to serve as a windbreak can give many decades of increasingly important fuel savings in the years ahead.

The American Association of Nurserymen points out that the location of windbreaks is the key to their effectiveness. Most cold winter winds throughout the nation come from the north or the west, so windbreaks should be located on those sides, with an extension on the eastern side wherever space permits. The south side should be left open to permit the sun to enter.

In many experiments with anemometers it has been shown that the maximum wind reduction occurs at a distance of from four to six times the height of a windbreak, so the plantings should be made at about that distance from the house. In other words, if the fully grown trees will be 15 feet high, they will have their best wind barrier effect if they are placed some 60 to 90 feet from the house.

With that kind of reasoning in mind it is wise to select a rapidly growing species of tree, and, preferably, ones which will reach from 1 to 1 1/2 times the height of the house at maturity. As an example, a 20 foot house would benefit best from a hedge of tall evergreens located some 80 to 120 feet from the north side of the house. A single row of evergreens is effective, but a double or triple row is even more so.

Any reputable garden center or landscape firm can give specific advice as to the most effective types of windbreak plantings for your own situation.

"Ham" Dinner

Albany area amateur radio operators and former Morse telegraphers will do the thing they do best — talk and pound telegraph keys — at the annual dinner of the Albany Amateur Radio Association Saturday, April 27, at 6:30 P.M. at Bartke's Restaurant, Route 9-W, Ravena.

They also will do some listening to the principal speaker of the evening, James P. Kenealy, executive director of the Rensselaer Boys Club, expert on the outdoors, professional guide and author of several books for boys on camping, boating and fishing.

Frank B. Jordan, Jr., WA2-KUL, of Coeymans Hollow, dinner chairman, announced that members of Albany's Joseph Henry Chapter of the Morse Telegraph Club, national organization of present and former wire and wireless telegraphers, will join the radio hams for the traditional observance of the birthday of Samuel F.B. Morse. They will bring old telegraph keys and sounders to the dinner to "talk" among themselves at the tables and provide a demonstration of the telegraph art.

Installment Credit Takes Jump

Bank installment credit outstanding in the New York Federal Reserve District amounted to more than $7.8 billion at the close of 1973 — an increase of $956 million over last year's closing figure, an area banker reports.

John M. Lang, Administrative Vice-President, National Commercial Bank & Trust Co., said consumer credit outstanding for U.S. banks rose by more than $9.7 billion from 1972 year-end figures.

With nearly $70 billion in credit outstanding at the beginning of 1974, banks continue to serve as the nation's installment lending leaders, a role attained following the expansion of consumer credit at the end of World War II, he added.

Lang, who is also a member of the Advisory Board of the American Bankers Association Instalment Lending Division, noted that at year-end, the total consumer credit extended by all other lenders, such as finance companies, credit unions and retail outlets, amounted to less than $78 billion.

Direct and indirect automobile loans accounted for the largest single portion of bank credit outstanding on Jan. 1, totaling more than $31 billion. This is an increase of more than $4 billion from the same reporting date last year, Lang said. Indirect loans are those made by a bank through a car dealer, primarily for customer's convenience.

Personal loans, including check-credit, were second in volume, amounting to more than $14 billion, a gain of almost $1.4 billion over the 1972 year-end figures. Check-credit lets the consumer borrow simply by writing a check against a pre-arranged "line of credit" established earlier with a bank.

Lang said home repair and modernization loans rose by $438 million to approach the $4 billion mark.

Miscellaneous credit — loans for everything from home appliances to vacation cruises — registered an increase of almost $4 billion, totaling nearly $20 billion, he said.

A Delmar small business firm has been awarded a $32, 168 contract by the Watervliet Arsenal purchasing and contracting office.

Local Boy Completes Bankathon

A nine-year-old Delmar boy was among 207 runners who completed the entire 15.55 miles of the Sunday, March 31, Bankathon, from Schenectady to Albany.

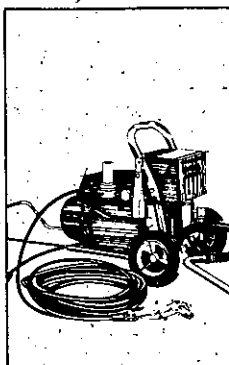

The amazing accomplishment by Steve Warren of Game Farm Road was brought to light as officials reviewed timing records for the Adirondack District AAU Open Championship race sponsored by the National Commercial Bank and Trust Company.

A special trophy will be presented to Steve, as the youngest runner to finish the 25-kilometer jaunt. Steve completed it with his father, William A. Warren, 37-year-old State Health Department research scientist.

Steve, a student at Slingerlands Elementary School, started running about six months ago, when his father resumed his former running routine.

Father and son have run a total of about 300 miles since then, the senior Warren said.

it also helps prevent synthetics and permanent press fabrics from clinging because of static electricity and it helps them dry smoother and less wrinkled.

In some cases the use of too much fabric softener may result in a loss of absorbency. If this occurs, simply skip the use of fabric softener for one or two washings.

The amount of fabric softener to use depends on the size of the wash load. For an average load, one to two capfuls of NuSoft fabric softener are recommended. When using nonphosphate detergents, especially in hard water areas, it may be helpful to use up to one capful more than usual in each load to overcome harshness.

CLOCKS THROUGH THE AGES

Records indicate that the first mechanical clock was built around 1630. It was made of iron, with a 500-pound weight, a gear train and one hand showing the time. A crude device called the "crown wheel and foliot" controlled its motion. The clock erred by about two hours a day.

Galileo proved in 1583 that successive swings of a pendulum take place in equal intervals of time. In 1656, Christian Huygens used the pendulum to control the rate of motion of a weight-driven clock. With the addition of the escapement designed by Robert Hooke, pendulum clocks became accurate timekeepers for the first time.

Pendulum clocks for the home were brought to perfection during the "golden age of English clockmaking" (from about 1680 to 1820). First, the brass movements were covered by hoods with the pendulum and weights exposed. Later they were in tall floor or hall cases, which were nicknamed "grandfather." The minute hand was added to the dial before 1680. A few years later, the second hand was added.

These tall clocks were equipped to strike the hours. Some also had chiming and musical attachments as well as moon phases and calendars. They were so exact that the principles of design and construction have remained unchanged after 280 years. American clockmakers of the 18th and 19th centuries produced many attractive types of grandfather clocks.

Today Bulova updates a classic pendulum clock into an ultra-modern electronic wall timepiece. The stark white, recessed case is crisply contrasted with an ebony face.

Numerals are not to be found anywhere. Instead, radial lines cut the dial's surface and a circle of white indicates the 12 o'clock position. The cord has disappeared as well... the electronic movement operates on a standard flashlight battery for more than a year.

When it comes to handsome decoration as well as telling time, this clock is sublime.

Wandering & Wondering . . .

VINCENT AMODEO! Here is a man we've known for almost 30 years, a man whose big, red fruit and vegetable produce truck is a familiar sight all through this area. We first met Vince when he supplied produce to Peter Engel's Trading Port or Post which was located at the foot of the ramp as you came off the Dunn Memorial Bridge into Rensselaer. Vince has been a wholesaler of produce to the small, independent markets throughout the area for years and years. Today he has to travel more miles to sell his wares because the independent grocer is getting to be a scarce commodity.

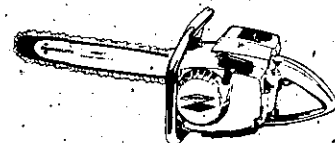

On certain days of the week, he goes into Feura Bush and then over our road to South Bethlehem. The day of the big snow, Vince came over our road, hit that treacherous curve that is about 100 yards to the north of us and slid into the ditch, then down into the wooded area where the big, red truck came to rest on its side. Vice was trapped in the cab until help arrived — and, even though unhurt, the old man was really upset. Two NYS Troopers helped to calm him down and get things in motion to help him out. And for the record, we want to say that we never saw any more expert job than at which was performed in getting the truck back on its wheels and the road. The Troopers call Bleau's Towing Service and when they came with one huge and one smaller tow truck, they hooked on in a way that eased the truck back on its wheels without even a jar or jolt. A man who knows machinery and how to make it respond to his every touch is a joy to watch.

This whole story was put here with the idea of leading up to a rather annoying fact. Some years before we bought our home on South Road, Albany County had planned to straighten this road out and make it less dangerous. That was probably at least 15 years ago. Someone on the road held out for more money than the County felt the right of way was worth, so the idea was shelved. Three or four years ago, the County came through again and renewed the old contracts. Again, someone held out. So again, the plan was shelved.

What bothers us the most is the fact that one person can hold up work on a road that is always (day and night) a potential killer because of the crazy curves. Because of a few hundred dollars that the County won't spend and the owner of the property insists upon receiving, a road is allowed to continue its criminal activities. There's something wrong with someone's thinking.

One final note: Peter Engel retired several years ago after faithfully serving Rensselaer families the finest in groceries for a long time. Today, he's recuperating from a rather serious illness at his home in Florida. Locally, the Engel name is still a fixture as his son, Howard, is the operator of the Engel Insurance Agency in Selkirk.

AND SPEAKING OF LOCAL PEOPLE who are doing a great job: Jim Howard and Jerry Jonas are two.

We had stayed close to the hearth all winter so we had no idea of what the new Garden Shoppe was like. The other day we decided it was about time that we had a look. Now remember, we'd seen the plans and knew that it was to be a huge complex — but we weren't prepared for what we saw. From a tiny sales room, the Garden Shoppe today has assumed the proportions of a super market. All of those items that never could be squeezed in before are there in profusion today — wide choice, complete range of varieties — an undertaking that's truly mind boggling. Then there's the huge greenhouse —! It's no use — there's just no way to describe it in words. It has to be seen to be believed!

It's not all done yet — in fact, the target date for the Open House is scheduled for around the 1st of May — but it's all there and it's wonderful!

Jerry Jonas, Landscaping Contractor, was almost a minus quantity when the first issue of the Spotlight was published. Jerry, at that time, worked from his home in the Second Avenue section of Albany. Then he bought the piece of swampland on the Feura Bush Road and slowly — ever so slowly — began to transform it into the fairyland it is today. First, fill was drawn in; then came the planting of a few trees and shrubs. Eventually, a tiny building was erected. Gradually it became a retail store and people found that Jerry stocked what they wanted. Back-breaking work and the patronage of the local people built this business to the point where Asgrow's lawn expert, Jim Howard, joined Jerry. These two are a real team — and from that moment, things really began to happen. And they've been happening ever since. The result is now visible and you can see it any time you choose to drive over. If you're a stranger, ask for Jim Howard and tell him we sent you.

WASHINGTON'S SIMPLE SIMON appeared on the "Today" show recently and said that the gas shortage is now over and everyone can plan his summer vacation to include any amount of driving. There'll be plenty of gas available!

That paragraph just about says it all — but we can't resist the comment that the only gas shortage we had was one contrived so that Washington and the oil companies could almost double the price. Just one more dirty trick on the American public.

The Light Touch

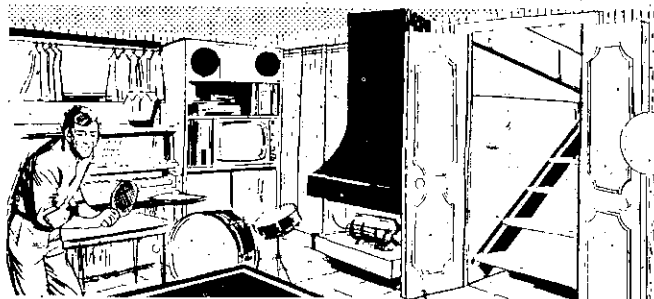

"Teenagers," says a father, "are also parent-agers."

He that thinketh by the inch and talketh by the yard, let him be kicketh by the foot.

Speed-reading is a necessity these days — or you'll never get off the freeway.

Our friend was studying to be a tree surgeon, but he had to drop out — couldn't stand the sight of sap.

Don't drop out — drop in to Delmar True Value Lumber for a look at our Bilco Door Display.

Don't move! Open your basement.

Is your family pinched by a shortage of living space? Chances are the space is right there in your basement. The first step in converting a seldom used dead end into a basement for living is by adding a direct accessway to the outside with a modern Bilco Door. You'll then have a basement just as convenient and livable as the whole upstairs.

Let us show you how to add a complete new accessway to your home with a modern all-steel Bilco Door and Stair Stringers. You'll like the Bilco Doors' weathertightness, ease of operation and the way it's built to last. And we have all the other materials you'll need.

Stop in and see our display. We'll give you free literature on how to do it. Or, we can suggest a man to install it for you.
