INDIAN ARTISTS TO DEMONSTRATE CRAFTS

Six American Indian craftspeople will be demonstrating their crafts for four days at the 8th anniversary celebration of American Indian Treasures, 2558 Western Avenue, Guilderland. The Festival of Crafts will take place on Sept. 18 through 21, Thursday through Sunday, with all the craftspeople demonstrating from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day.

Participating will be Rameijio Rosetta, renowned Pueblo silversmith from Santo Domingo, New Mexico; Arlene Begay, Navajo weaver from the Four Corners area of New Mexico; Mary Adams and Margaret Torrence, nationally known Mohawk basketmakers; Richard Chrisjohn, well-known Oneida carver, and Tom Two-Arrows, Lenni-Lenape painter with a national reputation. In addition to the craftspeople, an outstanding Indian craft expert, Wayne Bailey of New Mexico, will be present to appraise old Indian items free of charge.

All of this is planned by Lillian Samuelson, manager of American Indian Treasures, as a public service to the community, in answer to the often voiced comment that people would like to see Native Americans creating their crafts. It is her hope that the community will take full advantage of it. The craftspeople will be demonstrating in a tent outside the shop, and there is no admission or obligation of any kind.

Systematic Savings Bonus Account

Whatever you're saving for our SSBA will help you get it faster.

Here's how it works: open your account by promising to save a certain amount each month. Your savings automatically receive our  $5\frac{1}{4}\%$  dividend, the highest allowable on regular savings accounts.

If you make your promised deposits faithfully for the first 12 months, your savings will now qualify for a  $\frac{1}{2}\%$  bonus dividend. The bonus is retroactive to the day you opened your account and continues for the next 36 months as you save systematically.

From the 49th month on, with continued systematic savings, you will receive a second  $\frac{1}{2}\%$  bonus dividend (1% total bonus now) that will go for another 48 months (a full 8 years of bonus dividends).

Should you need access to your funds at any time after the first 12 months, you may close out the account without forfeit of earned bonus.

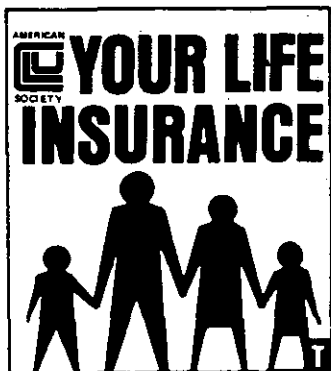

Check in to SSBA at West End Federal... it can help you get the things you want, faster.

during the summers, and portraits or nudes in the winter.

The exhibit in the glass display case near the Circulation Desk has something of a Bicentennial theme. It is set of Presidential Medals covering the period 1789-1968. President Ford and President Nixon are not included in this set.

Prepared by the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, the national society of life insurance professionals who have earned the C L U designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. I bought my life insurance policy two years ago, but that was before I had a brother-in-law. He says he can get me a better deal somewhere else. Do I lose anything if I change policies?

A. You might. If somebody suggests you drop your old policy and get a new one, get the proposal in writing. Then talk to your own agent. See if your old policy can be changed to suit you.

The reason for all this is that the longer you hold whole life policies, the more valuable they get. With a new policy, you might lose value. Also, when you buy a life insurance policy there's a contestable period, two years during which the company can question the statements you've made in your application. So, you'd have a new contestable period in your changed policies.

If you think your old policy doesn't suit your needs anymore, your agent can help you adapt it. And it's best not to change your policy without his advice.

NEWS OF HEALTH

GOOD NEWS ABOUT HEALTH RESEARCH

REPLACEABLE PARTS FOR PEOPLE

Thanks to modern plastics, there is now a full catalog of spare parts for the human frame that is not only remaking people's bodies, but their lives as well.

Arteries, heart valves, hand joints, toe joints, hips, chins, ears, are only a few of the artificial parts that are now available in unlimited quantities and sizes, and can be stored as easily as any other off-the-shelf medical product.

One of the important virtues of artificial implants is that they short-circuit the ethical, moral and legal dilemmas and the agonizing decisions that surround the use of human and, to a lesser extent, animal transplants. Research has already demonstrated a number of substances that the body is unlikely to reject, among them silicone elastomers, such as Silastic and Teflon, Dacron and Vitallium.

Attachable devices are available for patients who have lost features as a result of cancer or accidents. There are a small number of craftsmen around the country who create artificial, yet lifelike, replacements for noses, ears, cheeks, and fingers and toes. These devices are made of vinyls, various silicone elastomers, acrylics and they are sculptured, molded, custom fitted, and painted to match the patient's complexion, even including moles, freckles, hairs and pores.

Not even the brain is off-limits to today's spare-parts researchers, and the development of artificial replacements for diseased bodily components has become the fastest growing area of medical research today.

Religion and the Revolution

The story of the American Revolution is interwoven with the patriotism and courage shown by members of the colonial clergy. From the American point of view, freedom of religion, as well as political and economic rights, was clearly at stake in the revolutionary struggle.

Today, the role of religion in the American Revolution is being revived in the historic old churches of Delaware, where American religious heritage has lain dormant in the silent churchyards and shrines for the last 200 years. At the Welsh Tract Baptist Church outside Newark, the military and religious conflicts are dramatically united near the site of the only Revolutionary War engagement fought on Delaware soil.

In early September, 1777, one of the first Stars and Stripes was unfurled in land battle at Cooch's Bridge. Here Washington's troops attempted to delay the British redcoats at the creek while the Commander-in-Chief and Lafayette hurriedly assembled Continental Army units for the defense of Philadelphia.

Outnumbered, the Americans retreated along an old colonial post road and reassembled at the Welsh Tract Church. The advancing British continued their fire, and one cannon ball passed through the church.

Two centuries have witnessed few changes at this oldest primitive Baptist church in the country. The fundamentalist religion is still preached on one Sunday each month by self-taught elders in the severely plain meeting house, where the cannon's scar remains evident in a bricked-over portion of the wall.

Old Welsh Tract Church is one of 16 historic attractions on the "George Washington Country Heritage Trail," a self-guided tour of the five mid-Atlantic states, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and Washington, D.C., that visits sites associated with the life of the First President. A side trip to other Delaware churches—all within two hours' driving time—offers an interesting Bicentennial tour of religion in colonial America.

Nearby is New Castle, a small town which served as the capital of Delaware in the early Revolutionary War era and today retains much of its colonial charm. It is believed that William Penn stood on the present site of Immanuel Episcopal Church in 1683 to conduct the solemn "livery of seizen" ceremony, accepting "turf, twig, soy, and water" to symbolize his taking possession of Pennsylvania and the three lower counties on the Delaware River.

Across the village green stands New Castle Presbyterian Church, its interior restored to an authentic pre-revolutionary appearance. In March of 1706, the year Benjamin Franklin was born, the Presbyterian minister from New Castle met with six others from the middle colonies to organ-

The mother church of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware. Immanuel Church stands on The Green in historic New Castle.

TRAVELING WITH KIDS

The stewardess may not be your babysitter, but she'll be happy to lend a hand warming bottles and preparing special food. Simply tell her what you'll need before takeoff, so she can help you before she gets tied up serving meals.

At airports, ground hostesses will help you to and from the aircraft and see that you are made comfortable while you wait for your flight.

You may not think it's possible to take an economical vacation with children—but you can. If you stay at Holiday Inns in the U.S. or abroad, children can stay in their parents' room for free unless extra beds are required. And, at all Holiday Inns, there's free parking — a budget stretcher for the adults involved.

***

Need a babysitter once you've arrived at your destination? A good source is the concierge or desk clerk. He usually has a list of reliable ones right at his desk. If that fails, call the local university. The faculty member in charge of student affairs will be happy to give you the name of a trustworthy student.

SEPTEMBER, 1975: SCHOLARSHIP MONTH

"Bicentennial Seniors," a nationwide $112,000 scholarship program for high school seniors who will graduate with the Class of 1976, is being launched this month by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

One national winner will receive a $10,000 scholarship and 102 state winners will receive $1000 grants under the program.

Winners will be selected first locally, then on a state-wide level. Two graduating seniors will be chosen in each state and the District of Columbia. Each of the 102 winners will also receive an all-expense-paid trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, from January 16 through 19 to attend seminars and hear noted speakers discuss educational and social issues facing this country today. The national winner will be selected during the Williamsburg conference.

Students taking part in the "Bicentennial Seniors" competition must demonstrate an understanding of America's past and possible directions for the future and an involvement in the social and community issues faced by America today.

Competition will include the preparation of a minute-long television script to be patterned after the CBS television network's 200 years ago today "Bicentennial Minutes"; a commentary discussing the significance of the "minute" for today and the lessons it contains for

SHOULD AMERICA POSTPONE ITS BICENTENNIAL?

Some Americans have mixed feelings about the celebrations planned for our nation's 200th birthday. They find it hard to get into a festive mood when the memories of Watergate and Vietnam are still fresh in their minds. Some critics of Bicentennial observances have gone so far as to suggest plans for these events be put on the shelf until America can heal the wounds it has inflicted on itself and others.

One national religious communications organization has a different approach. For its annual advertising program beginning in the fall of 1975, Religion In American Life is recommending as its theme for all the media that we "Welcome God to America's Bicentennial..." that each of us "Practice what you pray." By urging Americans to return now to the high moral principles on which our nation was founded, it is suggested that we "Keep it growing for 200 more years."

Can such a message have a positive effect on the quality of America's Bicentennial celebration? Religion in American Life thinks it can.

ENNIAL RATION DAYS

The idea for the message comes from representatives of RIAL's 43 cooperating national groups (Catholic, Jewish, Orthodox, Protestant). It has been put into print and broadcasting forms by its volunteer agency, Compton Advertising, Inc. As one of The Advertising Council's annual campaigns, RIAL receives as much as $27 million worth of space and time contributed by the media to carry the message as a public service.

If you would like to see this message used more widely in your community, write for the Bicentennial mass media kit which contains the materials you need to interest local broadcasters, publishers, and transit advertising companies. Send

DO-IT-YOURSELF AND SAVE

By Joy Miller

A leaky faucet can cost upwards of $15 to get fixed — 5 cents for the rubber washer and $14.95 for the plumber (when you can find one) to install it.

You could have probably done it yourself and saved. All it takes is a little time, a little initiative, and a little knowledge. And that's the way most household repair and remodel jobs are.

Of course, it's proper to render unto the professional that which is the professional's. Few homeowners are competent electricians, for example, and major plumbing jobs are the province of those who really know what they're doing. In most communities local codes make certain a professional is called for those types of jobs.

For the weekend handyman (and handywoman) there are any number of tasks that, if approached right, aren't tasks at all ... they're fun. The secret is in being prepared.

When you're painting, select a good quality latex or oil base paint. Follow the manufacturer's directions scrupulously. Specifications for a certain type of brush and the always-present recommendation to stir frequently, to name two instances, are there to assure that the paint performs as you'd expect it.

Carpet and vinyl flooring installations used to be "hands off" areas for do-it-yourselfers, but not any more. According to Armstrong, which manufactures a wide range of home interior products designed to be installed by the homeowner, do-it-yourselfers can save a lot of cash on those projects. And, in the bargain, they also enjoy the personal satisfaction of having done it themselves.

Economically speaking, we're hearing that the worst is behind us and that there are brighter days ahead. But the enterprising do-it-yourselfer — who has taken the old "A penny saved is a penny earned" motto to heart — is apt to say, "Brighter days ahead? Today looks fine to me!"

TREES IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Charter Oak.

Perhaps the most famous tree in American history, this great oak provided a hiding place for the charter of the Connecticut Colony when King James II demanded its surrender in 1687. The tree, which stood near Hartford, Conn., blew down in a gale in 1856.

Daniel Boone's "Bar" Tree.

This was a beech which stood in northeastern Tennessee until 1917. Boone, probably the first man to explore the forests of the Middle Appalachians, carved this inscription on the tree: "D. Boone called A BAR On Tree in THE YEAR 1760."

Indian Trail Tree.

To mark a trail for hunting or trading, Indians often bent young trees over and tied their tips to the ground. Frequently, these trees took root a second time, as did this one, now preserved in a park near Evanston, Ill.

Sailor's Sycamore.

As far back as 1800, sailing masters used this tree to locate their anchorage as they came into Santa Barbara, California. These drawings are part of the St. Regis Paper Company exhibit, "Man & Nature." Over half a million people have seen the art in cities where the company has packaging, paper and construction products operations. The company plants about 25 million seedlings a year, some of which may become historic trees of the future.

Dueling Oak.

In the early Creole days of New Orleans, honor was delicate, and almost any real or fancied slight was an excuse for a duel "under the oaks." This live oak in New Orleans' City Park is a memento of that era.

Indian Literacy Helped By New Typing Device

American Indian children, studies have shown, learn at a faster pace if they have been given a pride in their own culture.

Newly-developed typewriter elements, which make it possible to type the related Athabascan Indian languages, will not only encourage these children but will further literacy among Indian peoples of all ages. Athabascan languages are spoken by tribes from Canada and Alaska to the U.S. Southwest.

Now text materials in Navajo, Apache and other related Indian tongues can be prepared on all IBM "Selectric" Typewriters. All that's needed is one of the newly created type elements, made up of the Roman alphabet and five special symbols, which were recently introduced by the Office Products Division of International Business Machines Corporation.

The elements are named Diné, an Athabascan word which identifies the people who belong to these related cultures. It means "the people," "ourselves," or "man."

The new typewriter elements were developed by IBM in conjunction with 'AK'E'ELCHIGI, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting literacy among Navajo and other Indian peoples, and to preserving their oral and written languages as important literary modes.

A new plant to be built south of the border will help to fight inflation on both sides of the border.

The efficient new hydro-fluoric acid plant, which will be one of the largest in the world, will make a chemical used in producing stainless steel and in removing certain deposits on steels before they are processed.

The new plant, which will be built by DuPont at Matamoros, Tamaulipas state, will supply both domestic and international markets. When it is in full production it will generate foreign sales of $25 million annually.

DuPont, which has had operations in Mexico for 50 years, currently has investments there totalling $216 million and employs 5,000 persons. Its investments in Mexico will increase by 25 percent over the next few years, according to Irving S.

vegetable and flower plants. There are several solutions to the problem. In one of the large display gardens in the East an extremely high chain link fence was put up completely surrounding the garden. It was tall enough so that deer couldn't jump over it.

Deer are a problem in the winter.

Fencing can also be used for the summer problem of rabbits. The fence does not have to be as tall, but the wire should go down into the soil several inches because if a rabbit is hungry it will burrow under a fence.

Rabbit repellents are also used. I have seen some folks scattering moth balls around the perimeter of their gardens. They seem to work for a time, but unfortunately after a heavy rain the moth balls get covered with soil and lose their effectiveness.

The organic fertilizer dried blood is another repellent frequently used. But this has quite an odor that is unpleasant to some people, especially if the garden is close to the house. And, again, after a rain this loses its effectiveness and you have to apply more.

I recently heard of something that sounds as if it has possibilities. The idea, I understand, came from England. Here's what was done. A burlap bag was soaked in the wood preservative creosote. This was then dragged around the edge of the garden. The rabbits, it is claimed, came up to this "barrier" and turned away.

This may be worth trying. But remember — creosote can damage plants. It should be kept away from the "growing" soil and applied only on the edges of the garden.

With summer nearly over, send for my FREE Autumn Seasonal Report filled with tips and suggestions on autumn gardening. Write to Bill Meachem, c/o Johnson Wax, P.O. Box 3788, Grand Central Station, N.Y., N.Y. 10017.

A final note about "big" pests. Moles are frequently blamed for damage to flower bulbs. The moles are innocent. It's the mice. Mice will use the convenient underground runs made by the moles to seek out the choice plant morsels. Moles feed on insects in the soil. To get rid of moles — and the plant-chewing mice — eliminate the soil insects. If there is no food for them, moles will seek other feeding ground.

Dear Bill:

I'm 13 and no professional, but have a great Science teacher. You recommend aerosols like Raid House and Garden. Aren't there chemicals in aerosols that destroy the ozone layer?

*D. Kennedy
E. Boston, Mass.*

Dear D.K.:

Some scientists claim that fluorocarbons, used as a propellant in about half of all aerosol sprays, may destroy the ozone layer. I'm happy to say that Raid House and Garden aerosol contains no fluorocarbons.

BETHLEHEM TO KICK-OFF BICENTENNIAL FESTIVITIES

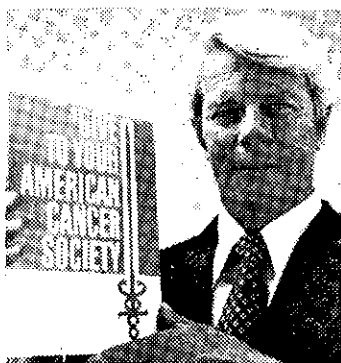

The Bicentennial to most Americans signifies 200 years of freedom and history. However, on Friday, September 19, 1975, residents in the Town of Bethlehem will celebrate 366 years of history through "Henry Hudson Day." It was on September 19, 1609 that Henry Hudson landed in the area which later became known as the Town of Bethlehem. To emphasize the importance of the day, the Bethlehem Bicentennial Commission proudly announces the following program for the day: At 2 P.M. at Town Hall Mr. Neal Moylan, a member of the New York State Bicentennial Commission will present Town Supervisor, Harry Sheaffer with an American Revolution Bicentennial flag and scroll which officially designates Bethlehem a Bicentennial community. This honor has been bestowed on us by the National Bicentennial Administration. Town Hall will be open all day and refreshments will be served from 2 P.M. to 4 P.M. that day. You will see many of the men and women at Town Hall dressed in colonial attire. The public is cordially invited to attend.

At 6 P.M. on Sept. 19, the ceremonies will move down to the town park in Cedar Hill (located off Route 144, Cedar Hill in Selkirk). The program for the evening includes the unveiling of a marker officially naming the area "Henry Hudson Park." Remarks will be delivered by Harry Sheaffer, Town Supervisor and Mrs. Ruth Bickel, general chairman of the Bethlehem Bicentennial Commission. Music will be provided by the Village Fife and Drum Corps. Open to the public.

To help promote an interest in the day, several banks in the town will be distributing buttons to the residents. The button is a commemorative souvenir honoring Hudson's landing in this area. They will be available to the public on Monday, Sept. 15, 1975 at the following banks: Community State Bank, Manufacturer's Hanover, National Commercial Bank and Trust Co., Banker's Trust Co., City and County Savings Bank, Union National Bank, State Bank of Albany, and National Savings Bank. There is a limited supply so hurry to get a souvenir of the occasion.

In closing, the Bethlehem Bicentennial Commission wishes to publicly express its appreciation to the above mentioned banks for their sponsoring these buttons and also thank the merchants in the Town who are sponsoring ads and programs to help make "Henry Hudson Day" a huge success. September 19, 1975 promises to be a day that residents in the Town of Bethlehem will not forget.

"Mission Impossible" star, Peter Graves, is this year's National Crusade Chairman of the American Cancer Society. The handsome actor's mission in his new role is to persuade all adults to have regular checkups. "Anything I can do to alert the public to the importance of health checkups as protection against cancer is something I am sincerely committed to do," says this key volunteer in the fight against cancer.
