Woman claims display was electioneering ploy

By Mel Hyman

The Albany County Board of Elections received a complaint on Primary Day last week about possible electioneering within 100 feet of the entrance to a polling place.

The polling place in question happened to be the Bethlehem Town Hall. Cathy Rogowsky, deputy Republican election commissioner for the Albany County Board of Elections, confirmed that a complaint was received over the telephone from a town resident claiming that posters, newspaper articles and literature supporting the Republican Town Board's position on the water issue was inappropriate.

The caller told Rogowsky that she felt the posters were unethical because the question of whether to build a new $13.9 million water plant was a hot political issue in the town, and two candidates on the primary ballot that day happened to be on opposite sides of the issue.

Republican board member Doris Davis, who supports construction of the facility, and Democrat William Burkhard, who opposes the project, were vying for the Conservative Party line in the November election.

"We didn't feel it was a political issue because it was not a question on the ballot," Rogowsky said. "(The complainant) mentioned that one (candidate) was for and one was against, but we (election board administrator Joyce Carroll) both felt that after we talked to the town clerk (Kathy Newkirk) that it was not a political

Slingerlands man looks to keep street names

By Mel Hyman

What's in a name?

As far as Harvey Westervelt is concerned and just about everyone else living on Bridge Street in Slingerlands — plenty.

Because the Emergency 911 system will soon be online in Bethlehem and throughout Albany County, it's been necessary to rename streets with duplicate names so that police and emergency vehicles can be dispatched to an address quickly and without confusion.

Westervelt believes he has the perfect solution: just add north, south, east or west as a suffix for streets with duplicate names and you could avoid making people apoplectic.

Bridge Street in Slingerlands goes back to 1906 or 1909, Westervelt said, long before the Bridge streets in North and South Bethlehem came into existence.

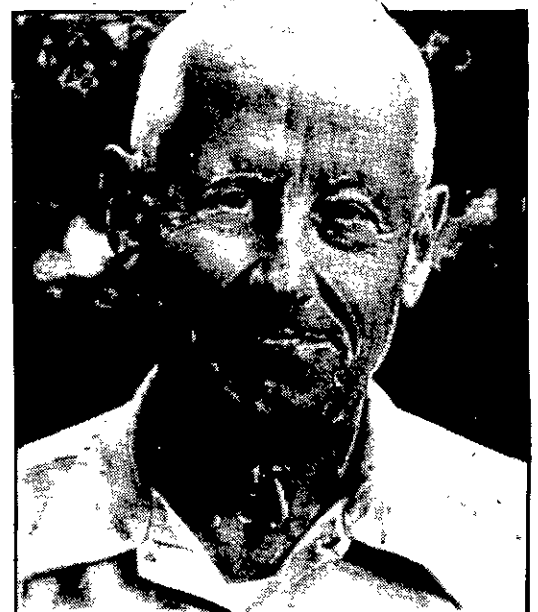

"We may not have the real estate in terms of acreage, but this is a nugget over here with homes going back to the mid-19th century that I just assume we don't want to see disappear into history."

With 12 of the 13 residents signing a letter in support of Westervelt's idea, Town Supervisor Sheila Fuller has put a hold on changing Bridge Street in Slingerlands to Pelzer Place until she has an opportunity to receive comments from everyone impacted in street name changes — not just in Slingerlands but throughout the town.

There are a number of older people living on Bridge Street in Slingerlands who would find having to change all their legal papers, deeds, stock certificates, etc., — "a monumental headache," Westervelt said.

Bridge Street received its name when a bridge was built over the old D&H railroad. "We were here first," he quipped, "I believe we have squatter's rights."

Harvey Westervelt

Fuller said her phone has been ringing nonstop since the street name changes were originally announced in The Spotlight.

"I don't blame them one bit for being upset," she said. "One way or another, it will need to be resolved."

Master plan public hearing

The Bethlehem Town Board will conduct a public hearing on a proposed master plan on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m.

This will be the first opportunity that town residents have to comment on the final version of the plan as drafted by the town's Land Use Management Advisory Committee.

Supervisor Sheila Fuller said that everyone who wants to be heard at the Oct. 19 meeting will be given the opportunity, and if necessary, the hearing will be extended over to another night to accommodate any overflow.

After the hearing is complete, the board will decide on the length of a public comment period, during which time written comments on the document can be submitted to the board.

Once the public comment period is finished, the town board will begin the environmental review process. Final action on whether to reject the document, adopt it in part, or adopt it in its entirety, is not expected until 1995.

Once the town board takes final action, the master plan recommendations, which deal with all aspects of planning and development in the town, would have to be incorporated in the town zoning ordinance before they carry the force of law.

Public hearings on the draft version of the master plan were held at five locations in the town during December 1993 and January 1994.

Cops make DWI arrests

Three local people were arrested for driving while intoxicated this past week.

Mark E. Buxton, 36, of 446 Onesquethaw Creek Road, Feura Bush, was stopped on Wednesday, Sept. 14, and charged with DWI, State Police said. Tprs. Alton Ostrander Sr. and Robert Missenis made the arrest.

Buxton was released pending an Oct. 4 appearance in Bethlehem Town Court.

Sean T. Gallogly, 21, of Feura

Bush, was apprehended after a traffic stop on Route 396 in Selkirk, State Police said.

He was issued traffic tickets besides a citation for DWI and released pending an Oct. 4 appearance in Bethlehem Town Court.

Erin E. Murphy, 24, of Creble Road, Selkirk, was stopped at 1:12 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 17, after a property damage auto accident on Route 9W, police said.

She was released pending an Oct. 4 appearance in town court.

Man charged with theft

An employee of a local business took his boss to the cleaners last week, police said.

Stevie Williams, 31, of 560 North Pearl St., Albany, was arrested on Saturday, Sept. 17, and charged with petty larceny and fourth degree grand larceny, according to Bethlehem Police Lt. Frederick Holligan.

Williams allegedly stole several thousand dollars from the owner of Handy Dandy Drive-in Cleaners at 240 Delaware Ave. He was caught rifling through the store owner's vehicle and is also believed to have stolen from the business itself, police said.

He was remanded to the Albany County jail pending a future appearance in Bethlehem Town Court.

Farmer's pigs on the loose

Local farmer Dominick Cubello just can't seem to keep his animals from roaming.

Cubello, 58, of 22 Hoffman Ave., Albany, was arrested by Bethlehem Police last week and charged with two counts of criminal nuisance, police said.

Cubello was charged because he allegedly allowed several of the pigs on his Oakwood Road farm to get loose and enjoy a picnic on some neighbors' lawns.

The pigs "caused extensive damage to some lawns on Dumbarton Drive," said Police Lt. Frederick Holligan. He was released on $200 bail pending a future appearance in town court.

Cubello was cited for similar offenses when several of his sheep got loose in February 1993.

Deputies make DWI arrests

Sheriff's deputies from the Voorheesville patrol made two arrests for driving while intoxicated recently.

Deputies arrested Gerald Webster, 41, of 245 Maryland Ave., Rensselaer, for DWI on Sept. 10 at about 10:30 p.m.

Webster was allegedly sleeping in his car on West Yard Road in Feura Bush, deputies said. He is due in New Scotland town court on Oct. 13.

Deputies also arrested Thomas Hudson, 33, of 4 Quarry Road in New Scotland, for DWI after stopping him Sept. 13 at about 1 a.m. for insufficient headlights on Route 32 in Bethlehem. Hudson faces other traffic charges as well.

New Scotland plans for more home businesses

By Dev Tobin

New Scotland will encourage home occupations and discourage businesses that could cause environmental problems, according to a review of the town's business zones by the zoning law committee.

Councilman Scott Houghtaling presented recommendations on generally minor changes to commercial/industrial zones based on the town's recently completed master plan.

"The response from the public to the master plan was that they liked the rural nature of the town," Houghtaling said. "One way to keep the town rural is to limit commercial growth to the center hamlet, commercial and industrial zones."

Houghtaling proposed, and the committee approved, adding home occupations as a permitted use in center hamlet zones in Feura Bush, Clarksville and New Salem.

"Home occupations are the wave of the future, and we want to make it clear that they are a welcome addition in commercial zones," Houghtaling said.

The committee also approved, on Houghtaling's recommendation, adding day care centers and medical clinics as permitted uses in the center hamlet zones.

Also in the center hamlet zone, the committee agreed to include personal service outlets as a special use, but decided to exclude dry cleaners from that category because of environmental problems with the disposal of dry cleaning solvents.

Home occupations are the wave of the future, and we want to make it clear that they are a welcome addition in commercial zones.

Scott Houghtaling

For the town's one commercial zone, along Route 85 in the area of the Route 85A intersection, Houghtaling recommended, and the committee approved, adding day care centers and home occupations as permitted uses.

The town's three industrial zones, clustered in the eastern part of town along the Conrail and Delaware & Hudson rail lines, make sense only if businesses can have access to the railroads, noted Planning Board Chairman Robert Stapf.

The central industrial zone, along New Scotland South Road, might not be necessary if there is no access possible to the Conrail line, Stapf said.

The northern industrial zone, in the Route 85A/Hilton Road area, might need to be reduced somewhat to protect the recharge area of the new Orchard Park Water District, Stapf added.

Houghtaling said that a catch-all clause in the current law allowing any manufacturing uses in the industrial area should be reworded to eliminate vagueness and spell out what kinds of low-environmental-impact industrial uses will be allowed.

The zoning law committee, composed of Houghtaling, Stapf, Councilwoman Victoria Ramundo, Building Inspector Paul Cantlin and planning and zoning boards attorney Michael Mackey, is reviewing the town zoning law in light of the master plan, and will recommend amendments for town board consideration early next year.

The committee meets on the second Wednesday of the month at 7 p.m. in town hall.

V'ville to host county volunteer firefighters

By Dev Tobin

Thousands of volunteer firefighters, their families and friends, will swarm into Voorheesville this weekend, as the Voorheesville Fire Department hosts the Albany County Volunteer Firemen's Convention.

"We want to bring the community together as we did in 1987," the last time Voorheesville hosted the event, said Bill Smith, the department's convention chairman.

A long weekend of activities has been two years in the planning, according to Ray McDermott, a company lieutenant who handles communications for the department.

"We try to provide a broad range of entertainment for firefighters, their families and the public," McDermott said.

Wednesday and Thursday are devoted to meetings and activities for firefighters and auxiliary members.

The convention really gets going Friday with the Mardi Gras parade down Maple Avenue, stepping off from routes 85A and 155 at 6:30 p.m.

More than 20 floats surrounded by firefighters in costume illustrate firematic themes from a comical perspective, he said.

Friday night after the parade, the carnival and Las Vegas-style gambling will begin at 8 p.m. behind the firehouse on Altamont Road.

The carnival features games of skill, rides, a dunking booth, and all kinds of food and drink, he added.

Music for listening and dancing by High Rise will also be on tap Friday night.

Saturday, the full-dress parade with more than 40 departments from Albany and surrounding counties and 13 marching bands steps off at 2 p.m.

Grand marshals for the parade are Evelyn Berger and Ethel Smith; the two remaining charter members of the Voorheesville auxiliary.

"The full-dress parade is an opportunity to show off equipment, uniforms and marching ability," McDermott said.

Most of Maple Street in the village was resurfaced in the past week, so the dress parade will look especially sharp, he added.

The carnival and gambling begin again after the parade at about 3 p.m., and run through the night.

WPYX will broadcast from the carnival, and Change of Heart provides the musical entertainment Saturday night.

Village officials have put out the welcome mat for area firefighters.

"We're looking forward to it. The last time they were here, it was a really nice community celebration," said Mayor Edward Clark. "It's an end-of-summer chance to go out at night, see neighbors and have a good time with the parades and the carnival-type atmosphere."

McDermott said that, between the participants and the public, more than 4,000 people can be expected in Voorheesville on Saturday.

The department will host the convention again in 2002 to mark its 100th anniversary, he added.

NS fire pension vote postponed

By Dev Tobin

Volunteers in the New Salem and Onesquethaw fire departments will have to wait two more weeks to see if voters will approve a pension plan.

Originally set for Oct. 5, the vote will now be on Oct. 19 because legal notice requirements could not be met by the earlier date.

The New Scotland town board met last week in a special session to approve the resolutions that will be on the ballot.

Supervisor Herb Reilly said that the resolutions needed a lot of work to be ready for legal publication.

"The resolution we received was really flawed," he said. "I've never seen anything like it in my life."

The pension plan will cost $484 per firefighter, which comes out to an estimated first-year cost of approximately $38,000 in Onesquethaw and $32,000 in New Salem, according to Anthony Granito of the New York State Association of Fire Chiefs, which advises local departments on setting up pension programs. The cost would go down in subsequent years, he added.

There are currently 52 active members in Onesquethaw and 42 active members in New Salem.

Granito said that, according to state law, firefighters would have to accumulate points by attending fires, training sessions and company meetings in order to qualify for the pension.

In the Elsmere department where Granito is a member, the minimum qualifications include attendance at 20 two-hour training drills, 12 company meetings and at least 10 percent of the department's emergency calls.

The two New Scotland departments will likely have a similar menu of requirements for pension qualifications, he said.

The money paid into the pension program for each firefighter can be taken out at age 65 in one lump sum or at a certain amount per month until the principal and interest are exhausted, Granito said.

The fire departments will hold public hearings on the pension plan Wednesday, Oct. 12. The Onesquethaw hearing will be at 7 p.m. in the Clarksville Firehouse on Plank Road; and the New Salem hearing will be at 8:30 p.m. in the New Salem Firehouse on Route 85A.

On Oct. 19, voting will be from noon to 9 p.m. in the Clarksville and New Salem firehouses.

Bible study group going strong

By Susan Graves

Five years ago, Pat Lovelace of Delmar felt a "burden" to reach out to women in the community to help them grow in their faith.

Lovelace, a member of the Bethlehem Community Church, said the first thing she did to fulfill her burden or mission was to help organize seminars that proved to be popular for women of many faiths. "We had quite a big turnout — between 200 and 300 women," from at least 10 different religious denominations, she said, and from there, the group decided to follow up with weekly Bible studies.

The Women's Common Unity Bible Study has been going strong ever since with 50 to 60 members attending the sessions that will begin this year on Thursday, Sept. 29.

Incorporated in the study sessions are prayer seminars including conversational prayer. "Some women have never prayed out loud," said Lovelace. The idea behind conversational prayer is simple. "All we have to do is put into words feelings that are in our hearts," she said.

"For a while before I joined, I was in quite a depression," said Dottie Richman, who added that she has enjoyed "mental, emotional and spiritual healing," since she joined the group.

"Really what drew me there was the love — it's real," Richman said.

Karen Ainsworth, a core group leader, said she joined the group at a time in her life when she felt a need to grow in her faith. "I had just prayed and asked, and I've been doing it ever since," she said. Ainsworth leads one of the core groups who each consider different books of the Bible. Group members have study books and work on weekly assignments.

Richman said women from the community are welcome to join the group regardless of church affiliation or lack of it. Lovelace said several "unchurched" women have attended sessions. "There are at least 10 churches represented" with as many translations of the Bible, Ainsworth said.

"We focus on what we have in common," said Lovelace.

Classes are held at the Bethlehem Community Church on 201 Elm Ave. and run from 9:30 to 11:15 a.m. and 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. Registration is $15.

There is child care available for $15 for one child and $20 for two or more children. In addition, there is a children's program for 3-and-4 year-olds.

To register, call Cindy Morrison at 475-9573.

Gardening contests coming up in Delmar

The Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Game Farm Road in Delmar will host the Men's Garden Club/4-H Giant Sunflower and Big Pumpkin Contest from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24.

Matters of Opinion

Persistence pays off

Editorials

Congratulations are due town government, the Senior Housing Committee and the Albany Catholic Diocese for persisting in their belief that affordable housing for the elderly should be built in Bethlehem. The Department of Housing and Urban Development last week came across with a $3.27 million grant to construct 50 apartments for single persons and couples who are over 62 and on limited incomes.

Since the mid-80s officials have tried to bring such a project here. Bethlehem's application has been pending in Washington since 1992. At first there was just a report from the housing committee documenting the need. Many towns would have said, that's nice, and put it on a shelf. But in this case the report attracted the interest of DePaul Management, the Diocese's housing arm which, in turn, filed the grant application. Town Senior Services Coordinator Karen Pelletier supplied the documentation. After the first site proposal had to be withdrawn because of opposition from neighbors, DePaul and the town kept at it, finally selecting six acres adjacent to the Beverwyck Retirement Community. All that remains before construction can begin is for the planning board to approve siting and the building plans.

It took eight years, patience and persistence but the job got done. And Bethlehem is a better place to live because it did.

Students and work

Voorheesville's school system announced the other day it had received a $40,000 grant to help students obtain "an up-close-and-personal look at the real world of work." State Education Commissioner Thomas Sobol went on to say the funds are "to develop a system that will prepare all students... for meaningful careers."

Beyond that the program, called Workforce Preparation, talks about enhancing students' "workplace knowledge," of "infusing a workplace strand into the district's social studies curriculum" and about "constructing an integrated data base of regional work and career opportunities." A focus will be "entrepreneurship and engineering with a multiple learning styles approach."

Now we don't understand all that bureaucratspeak. But the plan seems to be to get students thinking about preparing for their future as early as possible and we're all for that. But we do hope that while they're at it the people behind all this will remind students that traditional middle class jobs have been, are and will continue to disappear in our economy. Building a meaningful career increasingly will require highly specialized degrees or skills. Of course, economists also predict demand will increase along the minimum wage rung of the ladder. A section of the "workplace preparation" agenda should focus on those facts, too.

Good show!

A tip of our cap goes to New Scotland supervisor Herb Reilly and the town board for adding $3,300 to the coffers by moving the town's accounts from Key Bank to OnBank.

We agree with Beverly Filkins, manager of the Key Bank branch in Voorheesville, that, all things being equal, the town should do business with an in-town office which employs local people and supports town activities.

But all things were not equal and Key Bank would not match OnBank's interest rate, which was almost a percentage point higher. Yes, town employees now have to drive to OnBank's Guilford office to make deposits and cash their paychecks. But if officials can find a few more savings like this, residents eventually will see the benefit in their tax bills.

Small business still waiting for New York's 'new direction'

The writer of this Point of View is vice president for public affairs of Support Services Alliance, a small-business group headquartered in Schoharie that provides advocacy, services and information for its members.

By Gary Swan

If lawmakers thought they were sending small business an encouraging signal when they adopted the state budget in June, their message appears to have missed its mark.

A recent statewide survey by SSA (Support Services Alliance, Inc.), a business group of 9,000 small companies, reveals continuing unrest and uncertainty about New York's business climate despite recent changes in the tax law that lawmakers said would spur new economic growth.

Asked to evaluate how the 1994 tax cuts will benefit their business, 48 percent of some 600 responding small businesses (from 52 counties) said the tax changes will be of "little benefit"; 34 percent said "no benefit"; only 6 percent said "moderate benefit"; while one-half of one percent (.5 percent) said "large benefit."

Asked how the outcome of the state budget affected their thinking about the future of New York as a hospitable place for their business, 41 percent of the small businesses responding said they were "discouraged"; 46 percent said they were "very discouraged."

If lawmakers expected the new state budget to inspire economic expansion by small business, they may be waiting a long time for the boom.

When the small business owners were asked to think about New York State as a place to live, work and do business, and to express their feelings about the state's current direction, 87 percent said New York State is heading in the wrong direction; 5 percent said the "right direction." Only 4 percent said they believe things will get better; 63 percent said they believe things will get worse; 28 percent perceive no change.

What's behind this apparent frustration and disillusionment in the small business sector?

First, there is a sense among small business that recent tax changes were skewed more toward the benefit of large businesses and industries. That's not to say it is undeserved. Small business supports the notion that larger companies need relief considering the billions of dollars in new taxes and fees that have been enacted in recent years.

Still, there's a feeling that some tax reform must selectively target "mom and pop" businesses, where the greatest economic expansion and job creation in our economy historically occurs. After all, of the approximately 449,000 small businesses of record in New York State, some 401,000—or nearly 90 percent—employ 19 or fewer people.

When small business observed the prolonged budget-making process at the State Capital, they concluded that it was mostly "business as usual." Spending in the new state budget increased at more than twice the rate of inflation. When policy-makers were handed a $1 billion surplus, they chose to direct most of it toward new spending—rather than use it to rejuvenate our business climate to encourage new jobs and economic growth.

Simply stated, many in small business have not seen enough (if any) change in New York's priorities and economic policies to give them confidence in the state's future.

What's more, the belief has been growing among small-business people that they are generally being taken for granted by their representatives in government.

There's some empirical evidence to support that view. When SSA examined the 792 bills that passed both houses of the state Legislature this year, we found only 14 that can be described—even charitably—as attending to small business concerns. The number was similar last year.

Asked in the recent survey whether they believe that state lawmakers have a specific bipartisan agenda to address the issues and irritants that confront small business, 80 percent said they perceive no agenda; only 8 percent thought there is one; 12 percent were uncertain.

To some, the term "bipartisan agenda" may be an oxymoron. Yet more and more small-business people are looking for exactly that from their elected and appointed officials.

Small businesses feel captured on a downward slide and they want action to improve their survival rate.

Many others that have lost jobs in larger industry and who would start a small business are deciding against taking the ride altogether.

The upcoming elections provide candidates a prime opportunity to respond to small business frustrations. Whether they will do so is difficult to predict.

We 'missed the point'

Editor, The Spotlight:

With regard to your Sept. 7 article, "What Price Discipline?" you seem to have missed the point as to why the high school is changing its discipline code.

To search and seize those under reasonable suspicion protects the 98 percent of the student body you mention as those "who still go to school to learn." It is unfortunate that the school must enact these measures, but when a small number of students place the entire school environment at risk, it is necessary.

The school environment pays no price for searching a locker or asking students to submit to drug tests. The school environment receives the dividends of a safe and productive atmosphere.

Do we lose some kind of inalienable right by allowing such infringements? Our school environment loses no more from these procedures than when we must submit identification to acquire a loan from a bank. It compromises us no more than when we are asked for identification to borrow a library book or order merchandise.

All of the above procedures are not examples of infringements on our rights, but are ways honest and innocent people are protected.

Water controversy crosses party lines

Editor, The Spotlight:

Clearwater for Bethlehem is not a political group. It is a citizens' group comprised of people from ages 17 to 70 who are concerned about the health risks, financial burden and engineering design of the Hudson River water project. Others have joined because of their outrage at the way our Town Board treated residents at the July 13 public hearing.

Item: Clearwater does not consider water to be either Republican or Democratic. No one needs to be an expert to realize that the Bethlehem water intake will be located downstream of the discharges of several sewer treatment plants as well as many industries which are among the largest dischargers of chemicals into the Hudson. Also, according to the Department of Environmental Conservation, there are one to two significant spills on the river each year in this area.

Item: The entire Hudson River has been declared a Super Fund Site by the Environmental Protection Agency and has also been placed on its National Priorities List because of the hazardous waste problem caused by the 1.1 million pounds of PCBs in the river. The EPA is in the process of evaluating whether or not to dredge the river to remove the PCBs. Bethlehem will become involved in the dredging question. There is no doubt that the Hudson is not a clean source of water and will require extensive and expensive cleanup. We will be relying on testing and monitoring for the specific analysis of the more toxic contaminants such as PCBs. Tests for PCBs will only be done quarterly. Glycol, which is known to be present in the river, will not be tested for at all. Other tests will only be performed once per year.

Item: Thomas Canole, the Treasurer of the Albany Water Board, came to the July 13 public hearing. He publicly refuted the Town Board's assertion that Albany was unwilling to negotiate. Albany has always been willing to renegotiate the Bethlehem contract, but the Town Board was unwilling to negotiate to the point of actually establishing a rate. Therefore, no true cost comparisons can be made.

Letters

Item: Regionalization means a sharing of resources to solve common problems. It recognizes the fact that it is not fiscally reasonable for each community to try to be an independent entity. It does not mean each community has its own water treatment plant, its own incinerator, its own landfill, its own everything.

Item: As a citizens' group, five members of Clearwater met with officials from the Department of Health on Tuesday, Sept 13. In a letter dated Apr. 27, 1992 we learned that the Department of Health made the following recommendations:

"That steps should be taken by the Town of Bethlehem to primarily serve the industrial area from the water plant."

"That the Town of Bethlehem should further investigate the feasibility of long term purchase of high quality water from the City of Albany before proceeding with the Hudson River source which is a less desirable source."

"Item: Mr. DeCecco, in his Sept. 14 letter to The Spotlight, asks what can be done at this state of the project. The Town of Bethlehem can still implement the initial recommendations of the NY State Health Department and sell the Hudson River water to industry and use a more desirable source of water, the Alcove Reservoir, for supplemental residential drinking water."

Item: After reading Mr. DeCecco's statement about the purity of the water from the Hudson, we immediately contacted the NY State Health Department and read to them his statement as well as the statement from the recent Bethlehem Highlights which claimed the water was pure enough to drink before treatment the spokesman for the Health Department replied, "No. I cannot agree with that statement."

Item: Cost: There is a cost overrun on this project of $3.2 million which will actually cost an additional $8.6 million over 28 years according to the Town's amortization schedule. This is a 45 percent increase. The Selkirk Cogen contract was signed prior to the cost overrun and does not reflect any of this additional financial burden. There has also been an overestimation of revenues to support the new project and an underestimation of operation and maintenance expenses. For example, the Town's Vly Creek plant costs $1.0 million to operate. The estimated expenses for the new, more complex plant are only $450,000.

We urge all residents to read the reports on file in the Town Library, especially the Dunn Corporation geologic report. In this report you will learn as we did, "To assure acceptable water quality, this system would have to induce recharge almost exclusively and directly from the Hudson River itself and not from the aquifer." It further states, "To be successful, this system would have to be isolated from the deeper portion of the aquifer and groundwater of unacceptable quality." (p. 31)

Of course, we expect these attacks on our credibility to continue, but that will not change the facts. We are trading a superior source of water for one that is a highly contaminated source.

He'll help search the lockers

Editor, The Spotlight:

For someone who has never had anything positive to say about Bethlehem Central High School, I am not surprised that you find fault with the parents efforts to "make BCHS a safe, orderly (and) disciplined school." Dr. Jon Hunter, the principal of Bethlehem Central High School, is implementing policy changes developed by parents, teachers, and students.

I entrust my children to the Bethlehem Central Schools and I expect that their rights to a quality education will be honored. Your child's basic freedom to bear arms (or smoke in the school lavatory) is of little concern to me. I for one will be standing right next to Dr.

Hunter in order to search lockers to find that "Uzi" you claim your child has a right to bear. I know of quite a few other parents who will be available to help improve the quality program we have at the high school.

Take the time to visit the high school. Write about some of the positive things that are planned for the coming year. If you truly "support responsible behavior by students, teachers and parents," you owe it to your readers to research the facts before getting up on your soap box.

Thank you

Editor, The Spotlight:

Many thanks (to the Delmar Rescue Squad) for coming to my father's aid several times over the past years. You are a highly trained and dedicated group of men and women, and we in Delmar are very fortunate. I will never forget your many acts of kindness.

Thanks also (to the Bethlehem police) for the flowers and for taking the time to say goodbye to my dad. A special thanks to officer Ray Linstruth for his compassion and assistance at a time when it was needed most. He is an outstanding person.

Register, vote

Editor, The Spotlight:

When it comes to voting, many New Yorkers still don't believe they can make a difference. Voter registration and participation in New York State continue to lag behind most other states with only 67% of our voting age population being registered to vote.

The fact that nearly one third of our population is not participating in the democratic process is a statistic that should concern us all. In an effort to strengthen our democracy, the New York State Board of Elections is working to promote voter registration and participation in New York State. Anyone who needs a registration form or who has other questions about registering should call 1-800-FOR-VOTE prior to October 7. The October 7 cut-off date provides enough time to register for the November 8 election.

Please join this campaign. Register. And Vote.

Your Opinion Matters

Animal rights steeped in 'ethereal rhetoric'

Editor, The Spotlight:

Once again animal rightists have demonstrated their inability to meet legitimate criticism with plausible answers. Both Michael Markarian and Michael Wheelless (The Spotlight, Aug. 24) used the tactic of ignoring the issues I raised, and, as an alternative chose instead to preach more of their ethereal rhetoric.

Since most people discard newspapers a day or so after they are read, a refresher is in order. A purpose of my letter was to dispute a circus animal abuse claim by Marion Stark of The Fund for Animals (FOA) by pointing out that laws exist to control and monitor animal use; if legal abuse occurred circuses would be unable to operate.

Markarian and Wheelless did not refute nor even mention these statements.

I also questioned the correctness of the animal "rights" movement (especially as pertaining to wildlife) by quoting statements made by the founder of FOA. He suggested actions that would be taken (if he were King) to separate predators and prey, and that control of animals, including humans, would be achieved by sterilization and implant. Such preposterous statements could only be believed by someone totally devoid of any knowledge of wildlife biology and ecology.

Again, neither Markarian nor Wheelless refuted nor acknowledged these comments.

It is interesting to note that Michael Markarian begins his letter by saying: "... Dell seems to believe it is appropriate to capture and abuse animals for entertainment purposes..." I challenge Mr. Markarian to quote anything I said that conveys the essence of that statement. It also might be of interest to know that, for decades, replacements for most old circus animals are (the offspring) of circus or zoo animals rather than animals newly captured in the wild, as Markarian stated.

Michael Wheelless' letter is fascinating as being the first admission I have seen that "the animal rights movement has no rules..." The only other indication that the movement lacks cohesion appeared in an editorial in the Jan./Feb., 1990 issue of The Animals' Agenda, which is the main animal rights periodical. Mr. Wheelless seems to consider confusion as a plus whereas the editorial saw it, more correctly, as a minus: "We are still struggling with ideological minutia (not to mention the practical applications of an animal liberation philosophy), and, more important, have yet to articulate a clear vision of what a humane, life-affirming, environmentally sound future will be like." Last September, The Animals' Agenda sponsored a planning conference to which national animal rights groups were invited. A committee was established, which will (begin the search for such a vision).

The animal "rights" movement was 15 years old when that meeting was held. Now, nearly five years later, the movement still lacks rules and cohesion. And, more importantly, because of overactive and unrealistic emotions and inaccurate impressions of wildlife ecology, leader-activists will never be able to articulate a clear vision of an environmentally sound future. Rightists refuse to learn how the animal kingdom functions because the immutable animal deaths that are constantly taking place in nature are contrary to their theories. Predators must eat other animals or perish. Mother Nature's methods of population control, primarily the predator-prey system, have prevailed for millions of years. The only way a wildlife community can remain stable over time is for as many individuals in each species to die as are born or hatched each birth cycle.

Why worry about a movement that is bound to wither away after making enough mistakes? Because if public apathy continues to allow targeted actions to take place, (example: termination of deer hunting) immense damage will be created to deer and their habitats, including human food sources. Such damage will take decades to repair. At the same time it would destroy the source of monetary support for all wildlife work, both game and non-game.

Surf's up at Delaware Ave. shop

By Mel Hyman

You won't find any surf boards at the newly opened Sand Jamm Surf Shop on Delaware Avenue.

That's because owner Stephen Mendel is selling clothes, sandals, watches, backpacks and quite a lot more — but not surfboards. In a few months' time he might have a few around just for ambiance.

But for now he wants people to know that he's not selling "the beach," but rather what goes along with it.

His first Sand Jamm sports shop opened about three years ago on the boardwalk in Wildwood, N.J. Business has been good, so he figured he'd try his luck here in Delmar with the same type of stylish, yet casual sportswear.

Mendel says people can't buy the apparel lines he's offering elsewhere in the Capital District. He's also banking on the belief that people would prefer to shop locally, if they can rely on excellent service and no hassles.

A graduate of Bethlehem Central High School, Mendel spent 11 years in the retail business in Delmar before starting his own business in New Jersey. He's glad to be back in the area and plans to keep both stores going, although the Wildwood business is seasonal, running from April through October.

With the arrival of cool weather, Sand Jamm will carry a full line of winter sportswear as well including snowboard clothing, sweaters, pullovers and jackets.

For skateboard enthusiasts, skateboard apparel is on its way including those double and triple reinforced sneakers you need to keep your ankles from buckling.

The white, colonial style building that houses Sand Jamm may not be that visual from the street, Stephen Mendel shows off some of his beach fare.

Doug Persons

but if you can remember that it's close to the Dunkin' Donuts on the same side of Delaware Avenue, you be doing just fine.

Once you arrive at the store, you certainly won't get the feeling of being in a mall. Mendel is trying to keep the atmosphere low-key, and laid-back.

If you're a music buff, perchance, you might also want to check out the compact discs Mendel has in his showcase. He is offering some limited edition live concert performances by groups such as the Grateful Dead, Pearl Jam, Nirvana, Smashing Pumpkins and Phish.

The Spotlight remembers

This week in 1984, these stories were making headlines in The Spotlight:

- Barbara Pratt Mladinov was named director of the Bethlehem Public Library. Mladinov, a Delmar resident, had been assistant director of the library since 1981.
- Seven area students were honored as National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists. The seven were Theodore Harro, Philip Kaminsky, Kathleen Manzella and Lori Schimanski from Bethlehem Central High School; Andrew Guthrie from Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk High School; Charles Roth of Voorheesville from Albany Academy; and Andrew Friedman of Slingerlands from Doane Stuart School.
- Michael Bartholomew of New Scotland won a $70,000 contract to construct an addition to New Scotland Town Hall.
- Leading players on the Bethlehem Central varsity football team were quarterback Steve Mendel, running backs Jeff Masline and Jon Tonetti, end Chris Oberheim, lineman Stefan Weinman and cornerback Ed Perry Jr.

Bethlehem seniors flock to college level courses

By Dev Tobin

What began last year as an experiment in lifelong learning is fast becoming a popular local institution.

The concept of college-level courses offered off-campus at sites and times convenient for senior citizens has really taken off in Bethlehem, according to Helen Adler, a retired Bethlehem Central High School teacher who coordinates the program.

This town is full of retired people, who are part of the best-educated older generation we've ever had.

Helen Adler

"Last year, I hoped for 13 enrollees for each course, so we could at least pay the professors the pittance they were asking for," Adler recalled. "Instead of that, we got 180 people in three courses. The need is out there. This town is full of retired people, who are part of the best-educated older generation we've ever had."

The senior students were more than mere note-takers in class,

Helen Adler

Adler said.

"Every teacher said the adult students' response was stimulating," she said.

Max Lifschitz, who taught two music courses last year, said in a university publication, "People are there because they want to be there, not to fulfill a requirement. They are very attentive and ask very intelligent questions. Hardly anybody misses a class."

Adler emphasized that the program is self-supporting, although the fees are much less than for similar courses taught on-campus for non-university students.

This fall, the Bethlehem Humanities Institute for Lifelong Learning, in cooperation with the Bethlehem Central School District, will offer four courses for the first time, all taught by University at Albany professors.

The seven-week courses are "The Bible as Literature," taught by Rudolph Nelson; "Poetry: What Is It?," taught by Sandra Fischer; "Musical Conversations: Impressionism and the 20th Century," taught by Lifschitz; and "Critical Points in American History," taught by Richard Kendall.

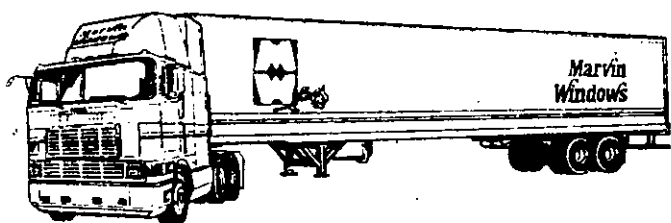

Adler said that this fall's courses are a little more esoteric than last year's, since a survey of last year's students showed interest in subjects like poetry that are a little off the beaten path.

The Bible course meets Mondays, and the poetry course meets Tuesdays, from 10 a.m. to noon at Bethlehem Town Hall, 445 Delaware Ave.

The music course meets Wednesdays, and the history course meets Thursdays, from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m. at Bethlehem Central High School, 700 Delaware Ave.

The courses all begin next week, and registration can be made by calling 439-3102 by Friday at 5 p.m. Fees are $30 per course for Bethlehem school district residents and $35 for non school district residents.

Becoming a better implant candidate

Some patients' mouths do not have ideal bone or gingival (gum) tissue to allow placement of dental implants. There are specific surgical procedures that can be performed to improve the patient's mouth and make them a better implant candidate.

A common problem is the jaw bone is not big enough to hold the implant. A bone graft procedure can be performed to increase the jaw height and width. The bone that is used may be synthetic bone, treated freeze-dried bone, or can be taken from your own jaw or hip. The new bone is then packed around your jaw, the gingival tissue is closed and the bone begins fusing with your jaw. Sometimes a membrane is placed over the bone graft to protect it from the ingrowth of gingival tissue thereby allowing the new bone more time to grow and mature.

low (lacks height) and there is not adequate bone to place the implant. A sinus lift procedure can correct this by lifting the sinus membrane and adding height to your jaw bone with a bone graft.

Another commonly encountered situation is the lack of healthy attached gingival tissue to the bony ridge. A gingival graft procedure is performed by taking gingival tissue from one area of the mouth and transplanting it to the deficient area on the ridge. These procedures, and others can help patients become better implant candidates.

issue. She (the complainant) was then referred to the state Board of Elections.

David Flanigan, a spokesman for the state Board of Elections, said state election was specific in that no reference to a particular candidate or party could be made on posters, placards, buttons or banners.

Regarding the literature posted near the entrance to the Bethlehem Town Hall, Flanigan said, "You're talking about a subtle issue here. One way or the other it would be up to the (state) commissioners to decide if it constitutes electioneering."

Republican Supervisor Sheila Fuller said she happened to overhear the complainant while working at the town hall on Tuesday, Sept. 13, and she directed Newkirk to call the county board of elections for a ruling.

Fuller said she was not surprised at Rogowsky's decision. "To tell you the truth, I thought (the complainant) was kidding. There were Democratic as well as Republican (election) inspectors there that day and they didn't have a problem with it.

"What's political about it? It's an educational tool for the community. (The posters and literature) have been up since July 5. I was the one who asked (town public works commissioner) Mr. (Bruce) Secor to place them in the building."

Town Democratic chairman Matt Clyne, a practicing attorney who brought first brought the water issue to the fore during the 1993 race for town supervisor, said while the posters may not technically be a violation of the election law, they were inappropriate and could be intimidating to people, particularly those entering the town hall to vote in a townwide election.

"They should have been taken down long ago," he said.

Five Rivers a busy place for the next several weeks

"Early Birder" bird walks will be offered every Thursday at 7:30 a.m. through Oct. 13 at Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Game Farm Road in Delmar.

Center naturalists will serve up tricks and tips to aid the beginning birder in identifying a variety of feathered friends.

Participants are encouraged to bring field guides and binoculars, although the center does have equipment available for loan.

The Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Game Farm Road in Delmar will host the Men's Garden Club/4-H Giant Sunflower and Big Pumpkin Contest from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24.

In addition to the contests, there will be environmental displays, games and activities for children. The event is open to the public.

The Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Game Farm Road in Delmar will host a program for teachers on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Center naturalists will discuss how to design outdoor sites to attract wildlife in urban or rural areas.

Completion of Project WILD (Wildlife In Learning Design) is required for the program. For information, call Five Rivers at 475-0291.

IF IT HASN'T STARTED HEALING
IN A MONTH, IT'S NOT HEALING.
IT'S GETTING WORSE.

A bandage can hide a wound, but it can't make it go away. The fact is, a wound that takes more than a month to heal runs the risk of infection, gangrene, and even amputation. The answer isn't just to wrap another bandage around it. The answer is to get help now. The Wound Care Center® has a dedicated staff of doctors and nurses who are experts in wound care. We offer a unique and focused program of treatment that will be matched to your individual needs.

If you have a wound that won't heal, ask your doctor about the Wound Care Center or call us directly.

(From Page 1)

A letter from Police Lt. Richard Vanderbilt to the residents of Center Lane, Grove Street, Maple Avenue and Orchard Street asks people to discuss the matter with neighbors and submit suggestions by Sept. 30 so that we may have the new names in place by the implementation of 911 in October.

Fuller said once all the responses are received she will discuss the problem with Vanderbilt and make a recommendation to the town board on what changes should be made.

"I'm sticking up for the old people because I'm getting old myself," longtime Bridge Street resident John Hutchinson told the board last week. "Why put them through all this inconvenience?... There comes a time when you get tired of being treated like people on the wrong side of the tracks."

Riverwalk emphasizes environment, fitness

The Hudson Valley and Mohawk Pathways Girl Scout councils have scheduled Riverwalk, an educational program for families, on Sunday, Oct. 2, from noon to 5 p.m.

The event will focus on the environment, as well as health and fitness. Attractions will include boat rides, nature and conservation programs, crafts, and health and fitness activities. Refreshments will be available.

Lecture series slated

Professor Rudolph Nelson, recently retired from the University at Albany English Department, will present a series of four lectures, Creation, Alienation, Redemption: Studies in Genesis 1-3, the Joseph Story and the Book of Job at the Presbyterian Church in New Scotland.

The series begins on Tuesday, Oct. 4, with sessions on Oct. 11, 18 and 25. All sessions begin at 7:30 p.m.

Each of the hourly sessions will deal with Old Testament materials as literature in historical contexts, with particular concern for their relevance to modern life. The sessions are free and open to the public.

Nelson's primary interests are in American literature, with a continuing concern for the development of evangelical theology in American thought.

His book, The Making and Unmaking of an Evangelical Mind: The Case of Edward Carnell, was published in 1987 by Cambridge University Press. He is currently writing a novel set in Guatemala with political and religious thematic material drawn from his travels there.

Diligent to dig into 'art of composting'

Successful composting is just like baking a cake, and an upcoming workshop at the library can teach you the perfect recipe. On Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 7 p.m., David Diligent of Cornell Cooperative Extension will discuss the basics of The Art of Composting in the community room.

Household food and yard waste composting will be covered as well as "compost critters" and biology, different compost "recipes," various types of holding and turning units and the use of the resulting black gold in the garden.

Join us for an informative evening on how to take advantage of autumn's abundance of leaves and learn how to reduce yard and household waste.

An evening of preparation for the SATs for high school juniors is set for Tuesday, Oct. 4, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Participants will learn how to recognize traps and avoid wrong answers and how to use powerful analogy techniques when taking the test. The session is also helpful for parents who will learn how the SATs fit into the admissions process. The seminar is free, but advance registration is required.

For information, call the reference desk at 765-2791.

Job counseling appointments are still available. The program will end on Sept. 29, so call today to make an appointment for an hour-long individualized session.

The popular life stories memoir writing classes will be led this year by Susan Riback. Call 474-0151 for details on the program set to begin on Saturday, Oct. 1, at 10 a.m.

Local artists to offer seminar

Four local artists will share their art experiences while growing up at a seminar, "The Child as Artist, The Artist as Child" at the library on Sunday, Sept. 25, at 2 p.m.

Learn the positive influences and common roadblocks a child encounters from the artists who will address issues such as whether or not talent is inborn or developed. They will also consider what the role of the parent is and what students need to know to reach their full artistic potential. Artists Len Tantillo, Hy Rosen, Mark Greenwald and Lynn Finley will conduct the seminar.

Tantillo works in acrylics and painted the mural for Albany's Key Tower. Greenwald, a Delmar resident, is a professor of art at the University at Albany and exhibits his work in New York City.

Photographer and artist Finley has a studio in Delmar and Glenmont resident Rosen was an editorial cartoonist for the Albany Times Union for many years.

Complementing the program is an exhibit of art by 14 children organized by Margo Rosen. Twenty-four pieces of the children's work have been professionally matted and framed. The project was supported by local businesses.

Lynn Finley

Forty-five watercolors of Bill Byron are also on display in the foyer gallery this month. Byron has a master's in fine arts and is a retired state Department of Mental Hygiene official. He uses a technique he calls abstract naturalism he describes as "macro focus images of the real world designed to suggest flowers, buildings, land, sky, rocks or just my thoughts."

The exhibit includes florals, landscapes and scenes of downtown Albany, one of Byron's favorite subjects. He is a member of the Oakroom Artists, Central New York Watercolor Society and the Bethlehem Art Association.

A case exhibit of 17 ceramic pieces of Jan Treadway is also on display this month.

Parents will want to attend "Education Funding 101: Planning for College," a free workshop by Betty Bergan of Waddell and Reed Financial Services on Monday, Sept. 26, at 7 p.m.

Bergan will explain why it is crucial for parents to begin planning now for their child's education. She will describe how to anticipate college expenses and offer ways to meet future needs. Reservations are required.

If the terms health care proxy and living will are confusing to you, you might want to attend a discussion on Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. Sue O'Keefe, director of social services at Good Samaritan Nursing Home, and Diane Magee, director of nursing, will lead a comprehensive discussion of "Health Care Proxy and Living Will Update."

Do not resuscitate orders and disabilities in the home will also be discussed.

To register, call 439-9314.

Clearwater schedules petition drive at park

Clearwater for Bethlehem will hold a petition drive at the Elm Avenue Town Park on Saturday, Sept. 24.

The group is opposed to the town's plans to switch the drinking water supply from the Alcove Reservoir to a source connected to the Hudson River.

Clearwater's goal is to garner 4,000 signatures on a petition by Nov. 1.

For information, call 439-7573.

Hollyhock sanctuary opens new exhibit

The Audubon Society's Hollyhock Hollow Sanctuary at 46 Rarick Road in Selkirk has a new exhibit on water quality and aquatic wildlife.

Church to hold sale

The Community United Methodist Church on Route 85 in Slingerlands will host a rummage and bake sale on Saturday, Sept. 24, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A special bag sale will take place at 1:30 p.m.

For information, call 439-5968.

Teachers get chance to learn about insects

The Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Game Farm Road in Delmar has scheduled a workshop for teachers on Thursday, Sept. 29, from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Participants will be introduced to the world of insects, their adaptations, natural history, behavior, and their importance to the food chain.

The program is part of a fall series of environmental education workshops designed for teachers. Handouts, such as posters and fact sheets, will be available at each workshop. A short classroom session will be followed by hands-on projects outdoors.

For information, call Five Rivers at 475-0291.

Cub Scout sign-ups set in Slingerlands

Boys attending Slingerlands Elementary School are invited to attend an information and registration session on Cub Scouts on Monday, Sept. 19, in the school's cafeteria from 7 to 8 p.m. The school is located on Union Avenue in Slingerlands.

First-graders can join the Tiger Cubs, a parent-assisted program. Second-through fifth-graders are eligible for the Cub Scout program.

For information, call Susan Schell at 439-2945 or Mary Regal at 475-1705.

Winning form

Community service is what we do

By Richard Ahlstrom
Spotlight Editor and Publisher

The Spotlight is a community newspaper, and its mission of providing news of local events and people is a community service we perform week in and week out.

This week, our community service mission moves to the forefront, as we present an updated Guide to Community Services that range from government to parks, from health facilities to emergency phone numbers.

The 1994-95 guide is a handy, reliable, year-round resource that will help readers fully enjoy life in the towns of Bethlehem and New Scotland.

In compiling this guide, we appreciate the valuable assistance from many public and private officials, and from the local businesses whose advertising supports the public service information.

Richard Ahlstrom

If you're ready to leave alcohol & drugs behind, we're ready to help. Now. Today.

At Al-Care, we're here with chemical dependency programs you can start right away.

Not a week or month from now, but today. It's as easy as calling 456-8043.

And when you call Al-Care for treatment of an alcohol or drug problem, you won't find a one-size-fits-all treatment program.

Our counselors use their professional training and personal life experience to get to know you and your personal recovery needs first... before recommending any treatment. Then when we do make recommendations, it will be for a program tailored to your specific needs — that ay we never treat too much, or too little.

Providing innovative, effective treatments.

Our unique mix of what's best in both old and new ways of treating chemical dependency has earned Al-Care international recognition. That's why our directors have been asked to train staff and consult in developing treatment programs throughout Europe and North America. You'll find that the programs we have developed combine leading-edge ideas with tried-and-true methods.

Our programs involve your entire family, because we understand how your problems have affected them, too.

We offer innovative services, such as acupuncture detoxification to help curb cravings, and ease the pain and discomfort of early recovery. Plus, our individual, group, and family counselors are not only fully trained professionals, but have been there themselves and know firsthand what you are going through.

Best of all, our services are designed to be short-term, and often our outpatient treatment requires just a few hours of your time a week, so that you get the help you need without interfering with your work or family life. Plus our services are covered by most insurance companies, and we offer easy payment plans.

Take the first step to a better life — and call now for a free phone consultation.

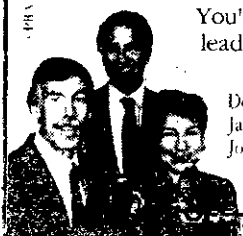

At Al-Care we've been helping people successfully overcome drug and alcohol problems for over ten years. We care and we want to help. Take the first step today. Call 456-8043 for a free and confidential phone consultation.

1979: TECHNOLOGICAL LEAP.

1994: FORWARD TWO-AND-A-HALF SOMERSAULT WITH A TWIST.

The original Saab 900 had front-wheel drive, a turbocharged engine and a rigid steel safety cage years before most cars.

Now we're introducing the springboard for a whole new era of Saab technology, the totally redesigned 900. It's available with our muscular new four-cam V6*, an improved safety cage that stiffens the car's body more than 50% and a total of fourteen brand-new patents pending in all.

See us for a Saab 900 test drive. SAAB

on your side of the fence!

AERATION is a process which relieves compaction of the soil and allows oxygen and water to enter the root zone. Tines penetrate the soil and eject cores onto the lawn surface. After aeration, your lawn will hold moisture longer, so that you can water less often.

— WHY AERATION? —

• Provides root zone with needed oxygen.
• Stimulates root growth and improves fertilizer absorption rate • Increases turf's strength and disease tolerance • Creates a perfect environment for new seed to germinate when combined with overseeding

Religion is important part of Bethlehem history

Looking back over the past two centuries, we see that religion has been important in the lives of our predecessors.

Even before the formation of Bethlehem, Kiliaen van Rensselaer, the first patroon of Rensselaerwyck, made arrangements in 1632 for Sunday religious services in the colony.

Among his instructions for the inhabitants was the following: "Every Sunday and on the usual holidays, they shall come together to read aloud some chapters from the Holy Scriptures, for which purpose a Bible is herewith sent to them."

Police chief patrolled with his bulldog

Bethlehem apparently saw the need for at least four to five constables from 1794 through the early 1900s. One of the last constables in town, and the forerunner of our present police department, was David R. Main, who was appointed in October 1924 to fill a vacancy.

Many older residents remember Constable Main, and humorously recall that he could not drive a car; he patrolled the town on foot with his pet bulldog. 1941, Main was appointed chief of police.

BC offense hampered by injury to Noonan

By Joshua Kagan

The woes of the Bethlehem football team (0-3) continued Friday, Sept. 16, as the Eagles lost 2-0 to the Columbia Blue Devils in a defensive struggle.

The lone score came in the second quarter on an Eagle fourth down deep in Bethlehem territory when the snap sailed out of the end zone for a safety.

The Eagles threatened to score more than the Blue Devils. Bethlehem drove inside Columbia's 10-yard line on its first drive of the game, only to give the ball up on a fumble.

It seemed as if BC would pull the game out on their final drive, but the Eagles turned the ball over on downs deep in Columbia territory, ending the game for all intensive purposes.

"We moved the ball and had some scoring opportunities. We just didn't score," BC coach John Sodergren said. "We did move the ball on the ground. Rick Sherwin had his best game."

Bethlehem was hurt by the loss of starting running back Brendan Noonan, who will not play for the rest of the season because of medical reasons. Jeremy Kawczak and Matt Quackenbush, who was called up from the junior varsity team, split playing time in Noonan's position.

"I don't think it affected our offense as much as it affected our mindset," Eagle offensive lineman and middle linebacker Keith Riccio said. "He was an integral part of the team."

"We were a bit inexperienced in that spot," said Sodergren.

Defensively, Bethlehem didn't allow Columbia many opportunities. The Blue Devils only crossed the 50-yard line once.

"I don't think they're as good as us," Riccio said. "I think we had some mental mistakes and bad calls by the referees that hurt us."

The meat of Bethlehem's schedule is coming up in the next several weeks. The Eagles play Bishop Maginn, Catholic Central, Amsterdam and Christian Brothers Academy, beginning at Maginn on Friday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p.m.

"Our defense is very good," said Riccio. "I don't think any team we've played has run that well against us. I think we can be competitive."

We just need to keep working hard and getting better," Sodergren said. "That all we can do."

BC stops Scotia

By Janice Gallagher

The Bethlehem boys varsity soccer team kicked off its season with a 4-1 victory over Scotia Saturday at home.

Junior Tim Wenger scored first for the Eagles, but Scotia countered to make the game 1-1 at halftime. In the second half, senior Willie Sanchez lofted a direct kick onto senior Scott Geiss' foot. Geiss tucked the ball into the corner of the net for the go-ahead goal. Senior Kevin Rice scored the third BC goal and Wenger delivered his second goal of the game to complete the scoring.

Scotia's star forward, John Maybee, was held to one goal by senior Jason Hihm's tough defense. Several yellow cards were issued in the tightly called match.

"It was a good team performance, including those that came off the bench," said Bethlehem coach John Bramley. "There was a tremendous team spirit that is very rare these days."

Senior co-captain Dave LaValle agreed. "It was incredible. It seemed like the whole team pulled together."

Bramley said that this team will be competitive with all the Suburban Council teams, largely because of the team's spirit of cooperation.

"This win helps us to send a message to the rest of the Suburban Council that we will be a contender," LaValle said.

VV breaks into the win column

By Joshua White

The Voorheesville football team earned its first victory of the season Saturday with a 22-12 win over Tamarac at Buckley Field.

In their third week of play, the Blackbirds used a balanced attack, which included running and passing. The 'Birds didn't waste any time as junior running back Lon Bullinger led the first drive of the game with a 36-yard jaunt into Tamarac territory.

Junior running back Sean Devine finished off the drive with an eight-yard run into the end zone.

Rewarded by their strong defense, the 'Birds received the ball again. Junior quarterback Tom Iarossi completed a 55-yard pass to junior split end Brandon Emerick for another V'ville score. Devine's run added a two-point conversion as the 'Birds jumped out to a 14-0 lead.

Tamarac responded with a second quarter TD, which made the score 14-6.

V'ville came right back, however, with a drive highlighted by a 20-yard touchdown reception by Dan Rissacher for 22 yards. Sean Devine's run once again gave V'ville a two-point conversion.

Coach Joe Sapienza was pleased with his team's effort on Saturday. "I think our players showed a strong sign of maturity in the win. Every week the younger players always seem to step it up. I'm hoping this will continue throughout the rest of the season."

"Sean (Devine) played a super game," the coach added. "As a junior, Sean is probably one of the best finesse runners in the league. Our offensive line including Mike (DiDomenico) and Shawn (Wright) did an outstanding job creating holes for him."

Iarossi was also impressive as he threw for 112 yards. "Tommy came ready to play this week," Sapienza said. "He made good reads and went from preseason to midseason form in one week."

Junior running back Sean Devine, left, helped key the Blackbirds first win of the season, 22-12, over Tamarac.

V'ville boys off to a fast start

By Kelly Griffin

The Voorheesville boys soccer team has a winning record after only one week of play.

The squad picked up two wins in three outings last week. Victories were over Lansingburgh and Watervliet, and an overtime loss came at the hands of Waterford.

Voorheesville faced a powerful Waterford team on Friday, Sept. 16, at home. "We knew that they would be good," said Voorheesville coach Bob Crandall. "And we played very well against them. But we had some really strong scoring opportunities that we just didn't finish."

The Blackbirds controlled the ball throughout the game. "We kept it on their half of the field 85 percent of the game," said Crandall.

The game was still scoreless at the end of regulation time, and again after the first overtime session. Then, during a scramble in Voorheesville's goalbox, a Waterford player outjumped the Blackbird defense and headed in the game-winning goal.

Soccer

"It was a heart-breaking loss," said Crandall, "but I think it can be a positive experience if we can learn from it. We can gain a lot from losing a game like this."

Versus Watervliet last Wednesday, the 'Birds had a very strong offensive performance. They netted four goals in each half against a rather weak Watervliet team. "We controlled the game," said Crandall. "We outshot them 21 to 0."

Junior Chris Dutkewicz had a hat-trick, and Glenn Jorgensen, Brian Lancor, Greg Sanderson, Kevin Burns and Adam Keller all had single goals. Mike Beadnell posted a shutout in goal for V'ville, and wasn't forced to make a single save.

The previous Monday, Sept. 12, the Blackbirds challenged Lansingburgh on their home field. Voorheesville outscored its opponent 4-3, while also playing a very solid defensive game. Sanderson and Keller scored on head-balls, Bryce Fortran on a corner kick, and Burns on a rebound.

Keepers Mike Beadnell and Andy Pakenas split a quiet game in the goal. Between them they had one save.

"For our first game, I think we played fairly well," said Crandall. "We didn't capitalize on offense as much as we should have, but will improve as the season goes on."

"Overall, I was very pleased with the team last week. We are a very deep team. Everyone who went out on the field for us played well and with a lot of intensity. If we can maintain that intensity, we're going to go a long way," Crandall said.

This week, Voorheesville will go up against Schalmont on Thursday away, and will finish up the week by travelling to Averill Park on Saturday morning.

Hoop clinics slated

For the second time this year, regional basketball players will have an opportunity to improve their form.

On Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 1-2, more than 100 of the region's top players will learn college level skills under the direction of College of St. Rose coaches Brian Beaury, Don Bassett and Chris Koch, among others.

College referees will monitor game action under the direction of Jim Burr of the Big East.

There are still openings. Information is available by having your high school coach call 458-3793 or 458-5495.

Disputed goal sends girls to first defeat

By Jacob Van Ryn

On Thursday, Sept. 15, the Voorheesville girls varsity soccer team suffered its first league loss of the season to Colonial Council rival RCS (Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk).

RCS scored the only goal of the contest when Jennifer Jones put in a header with 40 seconds remaining in the first of two overtime sessions. However, Jones' goal was questionable. Voorheesville goalie Angie Berg had the ball in her possession, but the referee ruled that the ball had broken the plane of the goal. 'Birds coach Jim Hladun was very disappointed with the way his team played and the outcome of the game.

"We had so many opportunities to put the ball in the net," said Hladun. "There was no concentration by our team. It took us 30 minutes just to wake up and begin playing. They beat us to the ball and did everything they possibly could to win the game. I guess they (RCS) just wanted it a little more than we did."

The bright spot of the game for the 'Birds was the play of Berg, who had 29 saves in a losing effort. "She did a great job for us," Hladun said. "She made a lot of tough saves, showed a lot of hustle and never gave up."

Hladun expressed his disappointment with the outcome of the Ravena game, but remains optimistic about his team. "It's still early in the year, and once this team learns to play with each other, we will be very good."

Earlier in the week, the 'Birds opened their league play with a convincing victory over Holy Names. The 'Birds played well and out shot Holy Names 16-1 in the first half. In that first half, Emily Geery scored off a nice set-up pass by Jane Meade.

In the second half, the 'Birds scored twice more, propelling them to a 3-0 win. Reagan Burns and Kristin Conley scored the goals for the team.

It was Reagan's first varsity game and her goal was scored on "one of the nicest shots I've ever seen," Hladun said. The ball was shot from about 20 yards away on the right side of the field. "I'm not sure if it was a pass or a shot, but we'll certainly take the result."

Hladun is also pleased with the way four of his underclassmen are playing at this point in the season. He said Burns and Meade are playing quite well, and that the play of sophomores, Jerr Adams and Erika Jackstadt has been outstanding as well.

In the upcoming week, the 'Birds play a team that is favored to win the league title — the Mechanicville Red Raiders.

RCS (3-0) continues clutch play

By Kevin Van Derzee

The Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk football team improved its record to 3-0 on Saturday, Sept. 17, with a 13-7 win over Albany Academy.

"The team played very well under very tough conditions," said coach Gary VanDerzee. "The defense came up big all afternoon keying our victory."

After exchanging punts with the Cadets, Kevin Latant recovered an Albany Academy fumble on the Cadet 35-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, quarterback Steve Burns connected with Senior tri-captain Jim Pasquini on a 30-yard pass to the five-yard line.

On the next play from scrimmage, Burns threw a five-yard touchdown pass to senior Dean Hodson. The extra point attempt by Jeremy Stanton was successful, making the score 7-0.

The first real defensive test came when the Cadets intercepted a Burns pass and brought it down to Ravena's 11-yard line. After three plays, the Cadets had lost four yards and attempted a 32-yard field goal that sailed wide right leaving the score at 7-0.

Following a Cadet touchdown and an Indian punt, the defense came up big once again. With about 30 seconds left on the clock, Albany Academy tried to run out the clock, but on the first play from scrimmage Mike Reinisch recovered a fumble on the 19-yard line with six seconds left.

Stanton then tried a 35-yard field goal that was a foot wide to the right, keeping the score 7-7 at halftime.

The two teams battled to a stalemate throughout most of the second half, exchanging punts until there was about six minutes left in the game.

At that point, Academy had a third down with four yards to go at its own 26-yard line. Linebacker Bill Wooten pressured the Cadet quarterback, who threw an errant pass that was intercepted and run back 26 yards for a touchdown by defensive tackle Jeff McDonald.

After a bad snap, the extra point attempt failed, leaving the score at 13-7.

The outcome was sealed when Chester Bolinger recovered the last of Academy's four fumbles and the offense ran the clock out for the victory.

VanDerzee was obviously pleased by the way the team has played thus far, but he was cautious about the upcoming game on Friday against always-tough Hudson.

"Hudson has played well in their first three games giving up only one touchdown," he said. "We are going to have to play a tremendous game to win the game."

The game against Hudson, the Indians' homecoming game, starts at 7 p.m.

BC harriers do well at Johnstown

By Zack Beck

The Eagles have finally landed and are running full speed ahead, as Bethlehem's cross country squads turned out solid performances at the Johnstown Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 17.

Leading the way were the girls, who racked up a third place finish and 84 points. Top finisher Cara Cameron placed eighth, while Kelly Youngs came in 15th.

Rounding out the Bethlehem

Cross Country

contingent were Katy MacDowell, Jill Foster and Betsy Hallenbach, placing 17th, 21st and 22nd, respectively.

The varsity boys team notched a fourth place finish on the strength of 81 points.

The top five finishers for the boys were Andy Sajdak placing eighth, Scott Rivard 14th, Matt Clemente 17th, David Austin 20th and Adam Bender 22nd.

BC's cross country team continues its season on Saturday, Sept. 24, at the Guilderland Invitational. Coach John Nyilis believes this competition will be one of the year's most important.

Running well for the freshman squad were Tim Kavanaugh, Andy MacMillan, Scott Rhodes, Chris Schaffer and David Harvey.

A good sport

Jim O'Keefe was awarded the sportsmanship award for his team, Tucker Anthony, which won the Babe Ruth Prep Division this year.

BCMS picnic brings community together

Everyone wore color-coded name tags provided by their teams. Parents mingled on blankets. Children played new games. Young and old enjoyed Ben & Jerry's Peace Pops. Teachers chatted with parents in a relaxed setting.

It was Sunday, Sept. 11, at the Bethlehem Middle School Sixth-Grade Welcome Picnic. A total of 550 people enjoyed the beautiful weather, and everyone agreed the event was a huge success.

The picnic was sponsored by Middle Works, a Bethlehem Community Partnership task force. The goal of Middle Works is to keep parents involved in their children's school.

The success of the picnic can be attributed to the hard work of several dedicated task force members, including Diane Mojallali, Janet Shaye, Diane Alston, Vicary Thomas, Holly Billings, Barbara Leonard Carkner, Maria Barrington, Debbie Feller, Mary Regal, Vic Carcich, Linda Graf, Bob Salamone and Sharon Felson.

A special thanks to the physical education teachers — Mary Lussier, Nancy Smith and Bob Salamone — for their valuable help with the games. Thanks to faculty members, BCMS Principal Steve Lobban and Assistant Principal David Palmer.

If you would like more information about Middle Works or how to join, call 439-7740.

Obituaries

Wendell M. Sears

Wendell M. Sears, 97, of Hawthorne Avenue in Delmar, died Tuesday, Sept. 13, at the Stratton Veterans Affairs Medical Center Hospital in Albany.

Born in DeRuyter, Madison County, he grew up in Hamilton. He graduated from Colgate University in Hamilton. He later attended Cornell University School of Engineering, and earned a degree in education from the State University of New York.

For 37 years, Mr. Sears was an institutional engineer for the finance division of the state Education Department. He had also worked for the state Department of Transportation and for the city engineer's office in Syracuse.

Mr. Sears was a veteran of World War I and a member and former trustee of the First Presbyterian Church in Albany. He was a member of the University Club in Albany and was a Mason for more than 70 years, most recently associated with the Onesquethau Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Adelaide deGroat Sears; two daughters, Janice Spencer of Seattle, Wash., and Constance Schlothauer of Gillette, Wyo.; a son, Wendell I. Sears of Hatboro, Pa.; six grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Owego, Tioga County.

A memorial service will be scheduled at a later date.

Arrangements were by the Applebee Funeral Home in Delmar.

Nura D. Turner

Nura D. Turner, 89, of Orchard Street in Delmar, died Tuesday, Sept. 13, at her home.

Born in McGregor, Iowa, she received her bachelor's degree in 1928 and a master's degree in mathematics from the University of Iowa. She also had additional graduate training at Brown University, Ohio State University, Virginia Polytechnic University, the University of Florida and North Carolina University.

Miss Turner taught mathematics at the high school and college levels and worked as a statistician in industry and research from 1928 to 1945. In 1946, she became an assistant professor of mathematics at the University at Albany. She was a professor emerita when she retired.

She had published more than 30 articles in academic and lay journals and had given lectures at many national and international mathematics meetings during her career.

She was a member of the Actural Alumni of the University of Iowa, the American Statistical Association of America and the Alpha Xi Delta Social Fraternity. She held a certificate of merit from the Mathematical Association of America.

She was a longtime coordinator of the annual high school mathematics contest sponsored by the mathematics association.

After her retirement, Miss Turner continued to be an active spokeswoman for mathematics education and was instrumental in establishing the USA Mathematical Olympiad. For many years, she chronicled the career accomplishments of former Olympiad winners.

Survivors include a sister, Dr. Constance Turner of Torrance, Calif.

A memorial service will be held in McGregor at a later date.

Local arrangements were by the Applebee Funeral Home.

The program provides students with the chance to improve foreign language proficiency and combine academics with a cross-cultural experience.

Backer graduated from Bethlehem Central High School in 1994.

Before You Choose a Funeral Home Ask Who Owns the Company?

Determine if the name on the sign reflects the actual ownership. Increasingly, large conglomerates are buying funeral homes (seven have been bought by large out-of-town franchises here in the Capital District.) They usually retain the family name of the funeral home thereby making it difficult to determine ownership.

We are locally owned and operated. We offer to our community a wide range of flexibility and the attention to details at the time of need, pre-need or after care for one's services.

Five Rivers Fall Festival offers family activities

Annual event takes kids back to nature

By Eric Bryant

For most of the year, the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center in New Scotland is a quiet and placid place. Trails cut through new and old growth forests. Tranquil fields are occasionally punctuated by the sound of footfalls and the metallic cry of blue jays.

This Saturday from noon to 4 p.m., however, the state-owned environmental center's quiet character will turn a little more festive as the staff hosts its annual Fall Festival, a bonanza of ecologically-based activities aimed at families and children.

"This is our once-a-year open house, when we invite the public in for a whole number of activities," said Five Rivers director Alan Mapes.

This will be the environmental education center's 15th annual Fall Festival, Mapes said. "It seems to get more and more popular each year."

The annual event has drawn between 1,500 and 2,000 people to the Game Farm Road location in past years. Dozens of activities aimed at creating an appreciation and awareness of nature are planned this year.

Activities slated for the Fall Festival include:

- Snowshoeing on the long grass behind the environmental education center.
- An aquatic touch tank, where kids can gently handle turtles and other water creatures.
- Bird identification classes put on by members of the Hudson-Mohawk Birdwatchers Club.

- Judging for the Albany County 4H Biggest Pumpkin Contest.

- A hands-on cider press, where children can help make cider.

- Insect netting and exploration with members of the Five Rivers staff.

- Leaf prints and nature painting with volunteers from the Albany Institute of History and Art.

- A photo exhibit of pictures taken on the grounds of Five Rivers.

- Exploration of the skies through a solar telescope with members of the Albany Area Amateur Astronomers club.

- A presentation on birds by members of the New York State Museum staff.

- A silent auction with items and services donated by 25 local businesses.

"We're hoping to attract folks that may not have been here before," said Mapes. "It's really a great deal. All these things for free, unless you want to buy some cider or something from the bake sale."

The Five Rivers Environmental Education Center is located on Delaware Avenue about halfway between Bethlehem Central High School and the hamlet of Clarksville. Take Delaware Avenue south until you see the center's sign on the right near Game Farm Road. The center is located about one-half mile in from Delaware Avenue.

"We'll be out there rain or shine," said Mapes.

Baseball musical planned for Park Playhouse in '95

Although the area may have lost the Albany-Colonie Yankees for next season at Heritage Park, the Park Playhouse will have Damn Yankees playing at Albany's Washington Park.

With the production of Brigadoon closed barely a month, backers of the non-profit Park Playhouse have selected a musical for next season almost immediately. Artistic director Ven Borromeo announced the title this past week.

Why the rush? Two reasons. One, it's necessary to get the rights pinned down early because of the huge success of the revival of the 1950s musical in New York. Even more important, with the naming of the production at this time, it's possible to spend the next 10 months gaining financial support.

In the past, the musical was announced in late winter and there was a scramble to get community and corporate support in addition to the aid given the open-air theater by the city of Albany.

This past season, Brigadoon's budget was $300,000 and from all reports, there is still some work being done to pay off final bills from this summer's season. The budget for Damn Yankees will be at least as much. The work during the next 10 months will include raising financial aid to insure that there is a good chance of meeting the budget at the end of the season in 1995.

Of the approximately 60,000 people who attended Brigadoon, probably no more than five percent paid the $9 asked for reserved seats. The major portion of the audience was admitted free.

Most of the financial support has to come from community and corporate support. Meanwhile, with the resignation of Michaela Reilly, the theater will be looking for a new managing director. That's another reason to announce early. It will help bring out volunteers to assist a new managing director.

Sunset Boulevard box office opened last week with a rush for tickets

Although group tickets for the upcoming production of Sunset Boulevard on Broadway were placed on sale early in the summer, the box office in New York for individual tickets opened only last week. Advance sales totalled $21 million with a $70 top ticket price.

The rush was as expected. Performances are being sold out rapidly even though the show featuring Glenn Close doesn't open until mid-November. She's now in rehearsal after resting from the Los Angeles production.

The controversy about finding a replacement for her in Los Angeles centered on the composer, Andrew Lloyd Webber, believing that film star Faye Dunaway was not up to doing the role on a steady basis.

Commentators in Los Angeles point out that Close was unable to appear in 12 performances during the Los Angeles run and bowed out of one at intermission because of exhaustion. In New York, she will have to play eight performances a week so the producers are bringing the West Coast understudy Karen Mason to New York to back up Close on Broadway.

Theater Barn finishing summer season with Broadway Songbook revue

As a tribute to 10 years of performing summer theater in New Lebanon, Columbia County, the Theater Barn is ending this season with a revue of songs featured in many of the musicals done during the past decade.

Broadway Songbook features five performers who sing the well-known songs of big Broadway shows as well as the lesser-known numbers from small off-Broadway musicals.

The show runs Fridays through Sundays until Oct. 9. Reservations and information at 794-9073.

Around Theaters!

Out of Sight, Out of Murder, mystery comedy at Maureen Stapleton Theater, Hudson Valley Community College, Friday through Sunday (459-4961)...Lovin' With Legs, dinner theater revue about the 1930s gangster, at Costanzo's Riverside Restaurant, Waterford, Thursday, (Sept. 22 (233-8224))...Breaking Legs at Lake George Dinner Theater, Holiday Inn, through October 14. (668-5781)
