Justice Center withholding information

Center wrongfully redacted information to Disability Rights NY

By JIM FRANCO
francoj@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY— A federal judge ruled on Wednesday, Feb. 28, the Justice Center for the Protection of People with Special Needs unlawfully redacted information on records it provided to Disability Rights New York.

“The Justice Center must now comply with federal law and stop undermining our Congressional mandate to protect and advocate for people with disabilities.” Tim Clune, DRNY executive director.

DRNY is the entity designated to advocate for the disabled in this state and part of that charge is to investigate aspects of all allegations of abuse against the disabled that are brought to its attention.

It received four such allegations in 2013 and 2014.

In 2013, the Justice Center opened its doors with a similar mission – to investigate allegations of abuse against the disabled in state run or state funded facilities, except it is empowered by the state Legislature rather than Congress.

The Justice Center investigated the four cases mentioned above, but DRNY, acting in its oversight duties, requested records from the Justice Center. The records were turned over – months after the initial request – but were heavily redacted.

DRNY, in its Jan. 9, 2015 lawsuit, claimed it cannot adequately conduct its oversight duties with redacted records.

Judge Gary Sharp, in issuing a summary judgement page decision agreed.

“Specifically, the New York State Justice Center for the Protection of People with Special Needs violated the Developmental Disabilities Assistance Bill of Rights Act of 2000 and the Protection and Advocacy for Individuals with Mental Illness Act of 1986 by redacting information from records provided to DRNY, withholding records relied upon in conducting investigations and failing to timely comply with disclosure obligations” according to the ruling.

Spokeswoman Christine Buttigieg said Justice Center officials are reviewing the decision.

The Justice Center did provide records, but claimed it had the right to redact certain information that Sharp, in his decision, said was a violation of federal law and the Justice Center will likely have to send the documents that are not redacted and do so in a more timely manner than it provided the redacted copies.

Town of Guilderland judge arrested

Sherwood, business partner allegedly stole over $4M from clients' trusts

By ALI HIBBS
hibbsa@spotlightnews.com

GUILDERLAND — On Friday, Feb. 23, the state attorney general's office announced the arrest of lawyer and town justice Richard Sherwood for allegedly stealing more than $4 million from family trusts he and an associate were responsible for overseeing.

On Tuesday, Feb. 27, the state Court of Appeals notified Sherwood he is suspended from serving on the Guilderland bench, without pay, pending review by the court during its March session. Sherwood is now barred from any non-public areas at town court and is not allowed to access any court documents. Represented by William Dreyer, of Dreyer Boyajian LLP, he pleaded not guilty to all five felony counts in the complaint accusing him of grand larceny, scheme to defraud and criminal possession of stolen property.

According to the complaint, Sherwood and his associate, lawyer and financial advisor Thomas Lagan, provided estate planning and related legal and financial services to Capital District philanthropists Warren and Pauline Bruggeman and Pauline Bruggeman's sister, Anne Urban, since at least 2006. Each of the Bruggemans created a revocable trust, which contained sub-trusts designed to provide for Anne Urban and Pauline's other sister, Julia Rentz. Other funds were to be awarded to Anne Urban and Julia Rentz outright upon the deaths of the Bruggemans.

In 2011, an ailing Urban reportedly gave considerable control of her estate to Sherwood and Lagan, naming them trustees on a trust drafted by Sherwood. The same year, the lawyers reportedly induced an attorney for Rentz, who was living in Ohio with dementia, to transfer nearly $3 million in assets to the Urban trust under their control with the understanding the money would be donated to charity.

Anne Urban died in February 2013, at the age of 92, and Julia Rentz, the last surviving heir, died at the age of 95 in September of the same year. Following

SHERWOOD

Urban's death, residual trust funds were supposed to be distributed among six charities named by Pauline Bruggeman but, according to the complaint, were kept by Sherwood and Lagan.

Each man has a Trustco Bank account into which millions of dollars of allegedly stolen money was deposited in 2015, according to the complaint. The accused also hold a joint bank account at NBT, under the name Empire Capital Trust, containing more than $1 million that was "wrongfully taken, obtained, or withheld from the Pauline Bruggeman Revocable Trust, the estate of Anne S. Urban, and Julia Rentz."

While the complaint indicates the men moved more than $7 million into accounts they controlled, a spokesperson for the state attorney's office said the total amount actually stolen is nearer to $4 million.

According to Investigator Mark Spencer, during an interview at the law office of Mazzotta, Sherwood & Vagianelis on Wednesday, Feb. 21 of this year, Sherwood admitted "in sum and substance" to conspiring with Lagan to deceive the Ohio attorney and using the Urban trust to steal the money and that the men divided the money. According to Spencer, Sherwood said that Lagan devised the scheme and the wording of the trusts, but that he drafted the necessary documents.

Since the arrest, Sherwood's name has been removed from the website of his law firm, where he specialized in estate planning and elder law, and the firm, now known as Mazzotta & Vagianelis, has indicated he no longer works there.

A former vice-chairman of the Albany County Airport Authority and chair of the Albany County Ethic Commission, Sherwood has also worked as a clerk for the state Supreme Court and in the U.S. Attorney's office in Albany. He worked for 14 years as town counsel in Guilderland before he was elected to the newly-created third justice position in 2013. He was re-elected last fall.

Town Justices John Bailey and Denise Randall will take over Sherwood's cases in the near-term, according to Town Supervisor Peter Barber.

Sherwood came under scrutiny several years ago, according to Mark Grimm, who represents Guilderland on the Albany County Legislature. "In 2008," he wrote in an email, "when I was a Guilderland Town Board member, Sherwood negotiated a $540,500 assessment reduction for Walgreens at routes 20 and 155. This reduction cost Guilderland School District taxpayers alone more than $10,000 a year. The man who signed the mortgage for the Walgreens property was listed then as a lead partner in the law firm where Sherwood was a counsel. Sherwood did not disclose this connection to the Board." Grimm complained that not enough was done by town Democrats at the time, calling the resultant investigation "a farce" and claiming then-Supervisor Ken Runion "white-washed" the affair.

Lagan, who currently resides in Cooperstown, where he reportedly owns multiple properties, is being represented by Ryan Miosek, an attorney from the area.

No court dates have yet been set in the case. Following the conclusion of the criminal proceedings, Sherwood could face sanction or removal by the State Commission on Judicial Conduct.

In January 2015, district voters approved a $30.09 million capital project, a two-part plan that included construction of the new high school gymnasium, tennis courts, soccer fields and a new multi-purpose building, as well as reconstruction or renovation to various district buildings and facilities deemed necessary for health, safety, accessibility and code compliance.

According to Rob Stewart, the project manager for Turner Construction, the project has remained largely on schedule, despite frigid winter temperatures and state Education Department approval delays. In May, the conversion of the existing gymnasium into a multi-purpose building with a choral suite will begin while other interior renovation work will continue over the summer while students are not in the buildings.

"Significant renovations here at the high school," Stewart said during a February 6 Board of Education meeting, "as well as the parking lot out behind the gymnasium, and the new canopy at the front entrance."

"There will be an awning that starts at the main entrance and comes almost all the way out to the roadway with a big RCS out in front," RCSCSD Superintendent Brian Bailey later explained. "So people will have a clear understanding of where the entrance to the school is. And that will extend to renovations of the high school lobby, the high school main office and about half of the existing gymnasium is going to be repurposed—they're going to build a music performance suite and an additional classroom in that space." The other half, he said, will serve as a single-court practice gym.

"Our music program outgrew their space many years ago," said Bailey. "So to be able to come up with a new rehearsal space for them will be great."

The new softball/soccer fields, which School Board President James Latter noted have been strewn with equipment, will not be fully finished this summer as originally anticipated due to difficulty with the soil on the property, according to Stewart. While they will be usable, he said, they will not be sodded until just prior to use in the fall. (Bailey assured Latter that alternate fields have been secured for spring softball teams.)

The majority of phase II, which began last summer, is expected to be ready for functional use by the time classes begin in the fall. (Renovation of the kitchen/cafeteria/receiving area at the middle school will not be completed until next fall.) While ancillary systems, aesthetic touches and minor repair work may not be entirely complete, according to the district, required life safety systems will be in place and spaces will be ready for occupancy.

While phase III remains under review by SED, said Edwin Anker, a primary architect at CSArch, he expects to receive approval any day. If that happens as expected, the work will be bid out in the spring and should be completed by the fall of 2019. Phase III will not only involve renovations to the middle school's Family & Consumer Science and Art classrooms, but also include renovations and miscellaneous infrastructure upgrades at both elementary schools.

Phase I of the project saw improvements to A.W. Becker and Pieter B. Coeymans elementary schools, including: upgrades to the library; window replacement; HVAC upgrades; new boilers; electrical service replacement; and athletic upgrades. In addition to a variety of other improvements, the high school/middle school

"We're hoping to make it more attractive. The problem with brick block buildings is that they don't have a lot of curb appeal, necessarily."

— Brian Bailey,
RCSCSD Superintendent

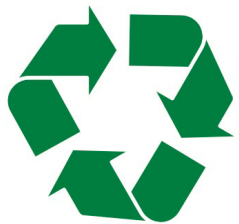

campus received a new synthetic field and auditorium upgrades, while the district's bus garage got a new roof, overhead doors, propane filling station and access road.

One of the most obvious changes, said Bailey, has been the relocation of the tennis courts from the back of the high school to the field between the middle school and Route 9W. The district has plans to install wind blocks with the RCS logo facing 9W, which it will also install on the fencing surrounding the stadium at the north end of the campus. "We're hoping to make it more attractive," he said. "The problem with brick block buildings is that they don't have a lot of curb appeal, necessarily."

Other improvements are less obvious but still needed, such as the boilers at the elementary schools. "Nobody can see that," said Bailey, "but that is a huge infrastructure renovation." He explained that school districts generally pay for expensive maintenance and needed capital improvements by planning large capital projects that are put before voters and taking on debt that is then paid off over a period of time as part of the district's budget. When that debt is nearly paid off, another capital plan is devised, which should address district needs, enrollment and finances.

Capital projects tend to occur in RCSCSD approximately 15 years apart, which corresponds with the approximate lifetime of the debt taken on to complete those projects. "What happens is," said Bailey, "if everyone has their heads on straight, two or three years prior to the debt rolling off, they start having conversations about how the district will maintain a level budget."

Voorheesville wins Section II title

By JIM FRANCO

francoj@spotlightnews.com

TROY — The Voorheesville girls basketball team kept its Cinderella post season going by winning a thriller against the No. 1 seed Tamarac to win the Section II, Class B championship by a score of 51-46.

The Blackbirds will now play the winner of Section 10's Canton and Section 7's Northeastern Clinton on Saturday, March 10. Opening tip is set for 10 a.m.

The No. 6 seed Blackbirds didn't finish the Colonial Council season at 500, going 6-7 in league play and 10-9 overall.

The low seed didn't bother Head Coach Robert Baron.

"The Colonial Council is a tough, great league and we do beat each other up and there were some teams who we lost to who deserved to be seeded ahead of us," he said. "But in the long run, we knew we had the talent and we put in the hard work to get where we are today."

Once the sectionals started, the Blackbirds got by the No. 11 seed Johnstown, then No. 3 seed Cobleskill-

Richmondville and No. 2 Mechanicville and then beat the top seed in a back and forth thriller on Saturday, March 3 at Hudson Valley Community College.

"It was about as evenly a matched game as you could get" Baron said.

Tamarac had a two-point lead after one and it was all tied up, 29-29 at the half. And then it was tied at 40 after three.

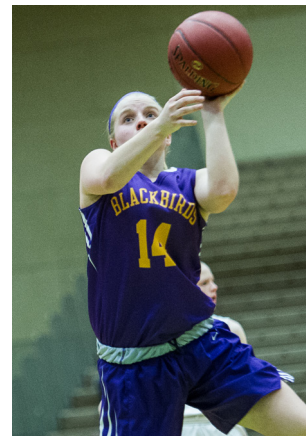

"In the fourth quarter it came down to foul shooting," he said. "We were not making them at the beginning, but we made them down the stretch and the girls kept their composure and didn't make many turnovers."

Emily Burke, the tournament MVP, and Rebecca Clair had 16 each for the Blackbirds to lead all scorers while Olivia Barringer had nine points and Victoria Konicki chipped in seven. Leah Weber had three to round out the scoring for Voorheesville.

Burke went 11 for 12 from the line.

Emily Erickson and Renna Poulin had 14 each for Tamarac and while Kayla Doody had 10.

Bethlehem Hockey wins first ever Section II title

Eagles then lose to Massena in Regionals

The Eagles hockey team won its first ever Section II title on Feb. 27 by crushing LaSalle 7-0, at Union College.

But, on March 3, in the first round of the Division I New York State Tournament, Massena returned the favor and beat The Eagles 8-3 at the Bethlehem Area YMCA.

Bethlehem entered the post season as the No. 1 seed with an undefeated 11-0-2 record in league play and going 17-3-2 overall.

Against the No. 2 squad from LaSalle, Thomas Liebold had a hat trick, Mike Bievenue had a goal and two assists, Dylan Kowalsky had a goal and an assist, Justin Chenaille had a goal and an assist and Pat Engelbride had a goal and an assist.

Senior goalie Alex Breiner got the shut out for Bethlehem.

On March 3, The Eagles jumped out to a 1-0 lead in front of a sold out, boisterous home-team crowd. But it was all downhill from there.

Massena, the Section X champs, scored the next three to take a 3-1 lead into the second period, and then three more in the second and two in the last to win the game 8-3.

Liebold had two goals for Bethlehem and Justin Chenaille had a goal and an assist.

Breiner had 21 saves in goal.

Bethlehem girls beat Shen, fall to Colonie

Season ends after upsetting Plainsmen in first round

The No. 4 seed Bethlehem girls basketball team upset Shenendehowa on Tuesday, Feb. 27, but then got beat by a determined Colonie team in the Section II, Class AA finals.

After starting the season 2-5, Bethlehem was on a 14-game winning streak before squaring off against Shen, which was the No. 1 seed for a reason, at Guilderland High School.

But, with both teams coming into the game playing solid basketball, The Eagles just outplayed Shen - on both ends of the court.

Four players scored for Bethlehem: Molly Kirby had 17, Julianna Okoniewski had 12 and Maggie Kirby and Tessa Hughes had 10 each.

Alexandra Tudor had 17 to lead Shen while Cameron Tooley had 10 and Kaitlyn Watrobski had five.

It was a different story on Saturday, March 3, at Hudson Valley Community College.

Colonie, the No. 2 seed, was the determined team and it jumped out to an early lead and never looked back. The Raiders won the game in decisive fashion, 67-49.

Colonie's Aliyah Wright led all scorers with 23 points while Alivia Paeglow had 17, Sareena Dicerbo had 13 and Erin Fouracre had eight.

Bethlehem was led by Maggie Kirby with 15 points and Molly Kirby with 10. Ava LaClair and Hughes had seven points each and Okoniewski chipped in four.

"They came out focused and ready to play and all the credit goes to Colonie," said Bethlehem coach Matthew Bixby. "They were very well prepared and they executed very well."

Colonie will play in the regionals on March 10 at HVCC.

■ LIFE TIP

Check your engine

Engine troubles are many drivers' worst nightmares. Whether they occur out on the road or they prevent drivers from leaving their driveways in the morning, engine troubles can quickly derail plans and cost drivers substantial amounts of money.

Thankfully, engine troubles are often noticeable long before cars break down. Drivers who learn to recognize the signs that suggest engines might be in need of work can avoid being stranded on the road or at home.

- Vehicle shaking: One telltale sign of engine trouble is when a vehicle shakes while it's moving. Drivers of old cars and trucks may not expect the smoothest of rides, but cars that shake, sometimes violently, could be experiencing problems. Sometimes a car might shake if its spark plugs need replacing. That's an easy, inexpensive fix that drivers can do on their own in a matter of minutes. A more serious cause of the vehicle shaking could be problems with its timing belt or fuel intake system. Drivers who inspect and/or replace their spark plugs but notice their vehicles are still shaking should take their cars into their mechanics immediately.

- Sudden gas mileage reduction: Drivers who notice they're not getting as much bang for their gas bucks as they used to might have engine troubles to blame. According to Pep Boys, a dropoff in gas mileage might be indicative of an issue in the compression stroke of the engine. Such an issue can typically be fixed by having the fuel system serviced, which will clean the fuel system and can help restore the vehicle's performance and reduce emissions.

- Noises: If driving has become as noisy as a rock concert, drivers should take heed that this could be indicative of engine trouble. Pep Boys notes that noises typically indicate abnormalities in the combustion flow. Such noises may include knocking, hissing and popping. Vehicles making these noises should be taken to a mechanic immediately.

- Stalling: Vehicles that jerk or stall also may be experiencing engine troubles. While old spark plugs might be the culprit, stalling or jerking may indicate clogged fuel lines or fuel filters. Such issues may also be traced to issues with the vehicle's computer system. Bring such issues to the attention of a mechanic, and reduce their frequency with regular oil changes.

Reader: Stop for pedestrians

The Spotlight editorial of January 17, 2018 touched on an important issue for me as a member of the Town of Bethlehem's Bicycle and Pedestrian Safety Committee. Yes folks there are a group of people volunteering their time to try and improve the safety of residents who use our streets.

We also have observed the failure of vehicles to stop for pedestrians in the crosswalks of our town roads. Last year I participated in an annual survey to observe the vehicle pedestrian interactions at the marked crosswalk in front of the post office on Delaware Avenue. The survey was conducted between the hours of 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and again from 3 to 5 p.m. During that time I personally observed over 35 percent of vehicles failing to stop for a pedestrian attempting to cross the roadway in the crosswalk. In the 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. session it was raining and one would think that a driver in a warm dry vehicle would stop for a pedestrian standing in the rain trying to cross the street. Apparently not!

So why the failure to stop? Are you unaware of the vehicle and traffic law that informs you that you must stop? That law has been in effect for over 20 years! It is in section 1151 of the Vehicle and Traffic law and it imposes three points, a penalty and a state surcharge. Is it really worth it to not take a moment to stop for a pedestrian? The Bethlehem Police Department issued seven tickets last year for this violation. Driving while distracted? Sure, we all have seen many drivers using hand held devices and not paying attention. In a hurry? Of course the kids are late for soccer practice. All of these are just excuses! Pedestrians are vulnerable road users. They do not have a steel roll cage, air bags or seat belts.

Perhaps the police department may need to issue more tickets in order to make the point. Perhaps a better way is for all of us to become more responsible drivers and understand that pedestrians have rights and need to feel less threatened by the increasing number of vehicles in our town. Perhaps we need to get out of our vehicles, walk more and begin to better understand what it is like to be a pedestrian. In doing that we can also make a small step in another way by driving a little less and helping Bethlehem to become a more sustainable community.

The Spotlight welcomes feedback on this editorial or any other hot topics in the news. Email us at news@spotlightnews.com.

Make everyday count

Your life is a gift from heaven.

You should manage it with much thought and care. Sit down and contemplate where your values may lie. Ask yourself if they are virtuous and meaningful. Now you are ready to prioritize your objectives and goals.

Selfless and not selfish agendas are usually more fulfilling. You will find that when you give, you get. The love in your heart can serve as a real trustworthy compass and a dependable navigator.

Money is not the name of every single game. It can sometimes distract us from our core integrity. Try not to let money influence all of your decisions. However, keep in mind, being frugal, but not cheap, is an intelligent quality to possess. It is a shame our government does not exercise that kind of discipline when spending tax dollars.

Focus in on your goals and make them materialize. If you try hard and shoot for the stars, you may at least reach the sky. A half of a pie is better than nothing. So be persistent in pursuing your target. Worthwhile gains are not always realized in a day.

Patience is a virtue. So outline your battle strategy and make it happen. Setbacks can sometimes occur. Do not get defeated. Hopefully your successful days will outnumber the bad ones.

Nothing is worse than not even trying. Do not leave anything on the battlefield. So get yourself started because time is a thief.

Our Heavenly Father put you here for a reason. Serve him by serving others in an uplifting way. You will make yourself better by building up others. Have a game plan and make every day count.

Stars to shine at Songfest

Moriah Formica featured for Songfest At The Egg for 518Day

ALBANY — On the day many in the Capital District will celebrate the arts on social media with the #518Day tag, The Egg presents an event featuring the art of songwriting.

The annual local music showcase 518 Songfest returns on 518 Day to the Swyer Theater at The Egg, on Friday, May 18, at 7 p.m.

Advanced reserved seating tickets are $9.77, $15 and $20. Tickets are available now through The Egg Box Office or online at theegg.org.

Songfest is a unique live concert experience, in that the artists get to perform their songs, as well as talk a bit about their music and experiences as creators and musicians. Featured this year is Moriah Formica, a near Final 12 contestant on Season 13 of NBC's The Voice.

Other artists involved are 518 favorites Super 400, playing a rare acoustic set, and up-and-coming singer/songwriter Sydney Worthley, along with Sandy McKnight's Pop-Clique and the event special guest, Grammy Award-winning songwriter Julie Gold ("From A Distance"). Along with performing, they will also be interviewed about their songwriting process, motivation, and experiences, from Exit 97.7 WEXT on-air personality Dave Michaels and Andy Gregory, host of The Local 518 Show on Exit 97.7 WEXT.

"We want to remove the barrier between audience and performer," said McKnight, who has produced other local music shows at The Egg. "We think that if the audience gets to know them and what makes them tick, they'll have a deeper connection to their music, and more reason to follow their progress. It's a chance for the artists to make new fans and connect with their audience."

The event is a fundraiser for Exit 97.7 WEXT, the Capital District's listener-supported roots and rock radio station, and Columbia Arts Team (CAT), a non-profit arts company that showcases local original music and brings arts programs into area schools. WEXT and CAT are both committed to exposing local, original music as part of their mission. All contributions are tax deductible.

The Swyer Theater at The Egg will open its lobby at 6 p.m. to allow attendees to browse the booths of the performers and sponsors. Seating will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the show begins at 7 p.m.

Reserved seating tickets will be available on day of show. 518 Songfest is sponsored by The Spot 518, Camelot Print & Copy Centers, and Exit 977 WEXT.

Moriah Formica is on her way up. At the young age of 16, her debut album/EP was released July 2016. The original collection of work showcased her talent and creativity as a truly unique vocalist, musician and songwriter. She had the privilege of working with some amazing professionals and nationally recognized musicians in the production of her EP. Through her experience, she learned invaluable lessons that have made her a more skilled, focused and confident performer. She remains open and energized to continue her journey.

Super 400 began when guitarist Kenny Hohman and drummer Joe Daley unexpectedly met bassist Lori Friday during a Monday night blues jam. The three made a date to jam in a Troy warehouse, and after 45 minutes, Super 400 was born. With a classic 'power trio' approach to its live show, they take up the sonic space of an airplane hangar, rocking to the heavens, adding vocal dynamics and a spiritual synergy causing the sound to swell to the bursting point. The band has become one of the most loyally followed rock bands in the Northeast, and the fan base is constantly growing. In fact, the mayor of Troy gave Super 400 its own official holiday, 'Super 400 Day', February 25, in 2008 to recognize the band's musical achievements as well as the love and support the city has shown for them.

Sydney Worthley is a shining young singer/songwriter from New York's Capital District who melds country, pop, folk, and rock into a sound all her own. Sydney's debut album, Strong, is a 14-track roller coaster built on strength, courage, and perseverance. From the warm opening guitar riff of title-track "Strong," to the brooding refrain of "Better Than You," to the rock anthem "Part of Me," "Strong" takes a powerful stance in the face of tremendous loss and heartbreak.

Julie Gold is a New York Songwriter best known for Bette Midler's version of her song "From A Distance" which won the Grammy for Song of the Year in 1991. Other artists who have recorded her songs include Patti LaBelle, Patti LuPone, Lea Salonga, Andrea Marcovicci, Carol Woods, Sinead O'Connor and Kathie Lee Gifford. Gold has served on The Board of Governors for NARAS and is a guest artist for Lincoln Center's prestigious Meet the Artist Series. She performs and gives motivational speeches around the country.

Sandy McKnight is a veteran singer-songwriter, writer, producer, having had over 500 songs published, 200+ recorded and covered by various artists, and produced hundreds of recordings for other artists.

Albany Symphony Orchestra

Adventurous

“Your audience is amazing,” Kuwabara recalls O’Neill saying off stage. She asked why, and he said he didn’t expect to see such a reaction to a new viola concerto. It’s one of Kuwabara’s first memories since taking over as the executive director of the Albany Symphony Orchestra.

“They are very deep listeners,” David Alan Miller said. “A lot of musicians also who have played in New York, Boston and other cities are often struck by how serious and focused, concentrated our audience listens and how they respond to pieces. We have a really passionate following.”

Miller was named Albany Symphony’s music director more than 25 years ago. Since that time, the little orchestra from upstate New York has developed a reputation recognized throughout the music world for quality and innovative music. Kuwabara observed it from a distance while working with orchestras from larger cities in St. Louis and Chicago. “It punches above the waist,” she said. Coming in with a relatively small town budget and walking out with prestigious accolades from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, or even a Grammy Award. It does this by being adventurous.

“That’s something we believe sets us apart from a great number of orchestras, generally, and regional orchestras in particular,” said Miller. “We really are pushing to try to find, invent, nurture the orchestra of the future through living composers, new kinds of projects and interaction with different kinds of artists.” Miller goes on to name the American Music Festival, Dogs of Desire and Water Music, NY as further examples. “We’re really trying to be as adventurous as an orchestra can be.”

While each season will comprise familiar pieces of work from the mainstays of classical music — Tchaikovsky, Bach and Beethoven — a year is best defined by the contemporary composers who come to play. Last month, the ASO announced details of its upcoming season at Albany’s Reel Seafood Company on Wolf Road instead of at the Palace. One, because just the week before, Miller shared with local media that his orchestra was invited to play the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. next month, so he thought a different, relaxed setting was in order. Another reason, as the ASO comes out of a water-themed season that included a tour along the Erie Canal, he has a sense of humor.

The 2018-19 season opens Saturday, Oct. 13 with a world premier from composer Viet Cuong. The performance will mark Cuong’s return to Albany, after having premiered another piece commissioned for last year’s Water Music, NY. That piece from the young composer, now finishing a doctorate at Prince University, demonstrates the daring, avant garde production customary to the ASO.

“He had the show stopping central event of the American Music Festival about the elements,” said Miller. “All about the elements. About sun, water and wind.” Cuong orchestrates music and visual play for live audiences. Last year, through Sandbox Percussion, four percussionists performed while standing at the four cardinal points around a single snare drum. Proceeding in unison to play the drum as they gradually walk faster around, mimicking the action of a windmill. “We just loved having him, so we invited him back. Very theatrical, his music,” said Miller.

Just what Cuong will compose next for October is anyone’s guess. Miller said the ASO only just commissioned for another piece of work. He’ll be writing the piece over the next several months.

“We’re excited to learn along with the audience,” Miller said, with a chuckle. “Hopefully a few days ahead. We love the sense of adventure, because it keeps us engaged, and hopefully keeps the audience engaged, as well.”

Music with heart

More to the show than just music at Annual Dustin Mele Memorial

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

TROY — For eight months out of the year, Joe Mele has things under control. It's those other three months of the year when he feels tested.

Once Christmas is over, he said, he starts planning for what has become the biggest party in town. That's usually when the questions start rolling in. People start asking what bands will be playing, and when it's going to be. As the weeks draw closer those questions build along with the anticipation for the date.

"The energy that I'm expending on with this kind of goes away," said Joe, as he, his wife Jenn and daughter Lindsay work towards preparing for the The Dustin Mele Memorial Concert. This year, bands will include Soul Sky, Super 400 and Emerald City. The night is to also include a reunion of the The Burners UK original lineup, of which Joe will play guitar. But, "It's kind of a double-edged sword," he said.

"Yeah, I need to do this," said Joe, "but it just brings up more people talking about it, and asking me about it. So, it's 50 percent I feel great about doing this, and the other 50 percent it brings up all these feelings I try to control during those six to eight months of not doing this." He said he's toiled with the idea of not doing the concert. A feeling that lasts a few days, sometimes a few weeks. Maybe if the concert doesn't go on, then people will stop talking about it, and if people will stop talking about it, maybe the feelings will go away. But, "The way I feel about it will always be there."

According to the World Health Organization, over 300 million people suffer from depression globally. Less than half of those dealing with it receive any form of treatment. Depression is the leading cause of disability and at its worst — as was the case for Joe's son, Dustin — it can lead to suicide. Nearly 800,000 people die due to suicide every year. Suicide is the second leading cause of death in 15- to 29-year-olds.

People dealing with mental illness or battling through thoughts of suicide can feel alone, said Jenn.

"We know how people feel, and they're not alone in feeling thoughts of suicide or any other kind of mental illness," she said. "It's not something that's unique to them. There are people who understand. There are people who are in their community who feel this way, and that there are programs out there that they can reach out to for support."

Proceeds from this years Memorial Concert will support three organizations, the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention; National Alliance on Mental Illness; and Rensselaer County Mental Health Intervention Services.

Past concerts have been credited as top musical events, and have drawn more than 2,200 people. In total, the concerts have raised $24,500 to benefit the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention's (AFSP) suicide awareness and prevention programs, making the Dustin Mele Memorial Concert one of its top fundraising teams in upstate New York.

"It's just keeps us busy on the positive side," said Joe. "To take this tragedy that wants to drag you down into depths you have no idea how deep it goes... and hope this money we raise is just going to help somebody. ... It saved me. It will be five years ago this March. If I didn't have this outlet, with the support of the musical community, and be able to do this concert and raise money in my son's name, I don't know what I would do."

This year's concert will feature 50/50 raffles and a Chinese Auction. Proceeds

"It's just keeps us busy on the positive side. To take this tragedy that wants to drag you down into depths you have no idea how deep it goes. . . and hope this money we raise is just going to help somebody."

— Joe Mele
father of Dustin Mele

from the auction and raffle will benefit a cancer recovery fund for Dustin's cousin, David Mele. David, who bears a striking resemblance to Dustin, was diagnosed with stage 2 cancer last February and has spent most of the year fighting an aggressive form of cancer.

For those unable to attend the concert but would still like to donate, visit <http://afsp.donordrive.com/participant/DustinMele>. Online donations will be donated to AFSP.

HOROSCOPES

March 2018 Week 1

ARIES - MAR 21/APR 20

Aries, you are inspired and ready to take on the world. Make the time to thank the people who spurred your motivation, then get moving toward your goals.

TAURUS - APR 21/MAY 21

Taurus, your positive outlook can help not only you, but also others. Where some people only see problems, you see all the possibilities lying ahead of you.

GEMINI - MAY 22/JUN 21

Gemini, everyday things seem magical to you this week. This may be because you're looking at the world through the haze of happiness spurred on by new love.

CANCER - JUN 22/JUL 22

Cancer, you have been biding your time, but the moment to take a calculated risk has finally arrived. Since you have done some thorough research, it should be smooth sailing.

LEO - JUL 23/AUG 23

Transparency is your middle name this week, Leo. Others know just what is going on in your life and in your head. This may encourage others to be more open.

VIRGO - AUG 24/SEPT 22

Virgo, since you don't want to be misunderstood in any way, you need to be very careful in how you express your thoughts this week. Clarify details, if necessary.

LIBRA - SEPT 23/OCT 23

Chances for success in all areas of your life are magnified by your innovative spirit, Libra. Keep the good ideas flowing and bring others into your future plans.

SCORPIO - OCT 24/NOV 22

Confidence is on the rise, Scorpio, and that may lead you to take a few risks. There may be great gains to be had, or not much change. However, it can be worthwhile to try.

SAGITTARIUS - NOV 23/DEC 21

Intentions aimed at distant goals may keep you busy in the long run, Sagittarius, but this week direct your focus to items that will provide the most immediate results.

CAPRICORN - DEC 22/JAN 20

Capricorn, you have enough sense to balance your imagination with reality. Take your clever ideas and figure out a practical way to make them work.

AQUARIUS - JAN 21/FEB 18

Aquarius, although the destination is in view, you have not yet developed a plan to get there. Be sure you include integrity in your decisions and skip shortcuts.

PISCES - FEB 19/MAR 20

Pisces, conformity is certainly not your thing. But at some point this week, you'll need to go with the flow. Find a way to make it your own.

Butternut Squash Soup

By STACEY MORRIS
news@spotlightnews.com

Few vegetables are as comforting and nutritious as butternut squash. It has a slightly more mellow taste than pumpkin, but just as much beta carotene and fiber. And they're a little easier to bake – bonus!

Since I'm always looking for ways to make my vegetable intake smooth and creamy, I came up with this amazingly good soup. The batch below is sizeable, but don't worry, it freezes beautifully so you'll have a nice supply of healthy fast food on hand.

Ingredients:

- 2 butternut squashes, cut lengthwise and de-seeded
- 1 can full-fat coconut milk
- 2 teaspoons cumin
- 1 teaspoon coriander
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon siracha or chili powder
- 6-8 cloves of garlic, peeled and halved
- 3 large onions (not purple) peeled and quartered

Light olive oil or grapeseed oil for pan-frying

Instructions:

Preheat oven to 330°F. Using two large, rectangular baking pans with shallow sides, drizzle enough oil in each pan go generously cover the pan's surface. Place butternut squash, flat side down, in one baking pan. Place onions and garlic, distributing evenly, in the other pan. Place butternut squash pan on the lower rack and the onion mixture on the oven's upper rack. Bake for 30 minutes. Remove onion tray and set aside. Check squash to feel if it's fork-tender. If not, continue baking another 10 minutes or until soft. Let cool 10-15 minutes before handling.

When squash is cooled, scoop 'meat' away from skins into a large blender or Vitamix. Discard skins. Scrape onion mixture into Vitamix and add coconut milk. Pulse until smooth. Add spices and pulse until blended. Pour into a saucepan or oven crock and heat until bubbly. Serve immediately. Leftovers will freeze beautifully also.

Resolving to unplug

Get that smartphone out of your bedroom, now

Many people now spend ample time each day texting, posting to social media and watching videos on their smartphones. Devices such as phones and tablets might play big roles in many peoples' lives, and few may realize just how much time they're spending on their devices.

According to Nielsen's Total Audience Report, Americans aged 18 and older now spend more than 11 hours a day watching television, listening to the radio or using phones and other electronic devices. Common Sense Media, a nonprofit focused on assisting people in navigating the world of media and technology, notes that American teens and tweens spend about nine hours using media for enjoyment. Research conducted by Silentnight, a United Kingdom-based bed and mattress company, found that mobile phone usage, at eight hours and 41 minutes per day, in the UK has now exceeded the amount of time people spend sleeping. Sleep experts warn that constant exposure to electronic devices is contributing to poor sleep and can have other negative effects on a person's health.

Cutting back on electronic device usage can prove challenging. However, with some patience and practice, it is possible to wean off devices without digital withdrawal symptoms.

Keep tech devices out of the bedroom. Make bedrooms device-free zones so they don't disturb sleep. Various studies have found the blue light emitted from phones and other electronics can wreak havoc with the body's natural circadian rhythms, reducing melatonin production and causing the body to think it's daylight. Turn off devices at least 60 to 90 minutes before bed to give the mind time to wind down.

Reach for a book. When a diversion is needed, grab a book or another reading material. Keep magazines, traditional books instead of e-books and newspapers at the ready.

Turn off notifications. Eliminate pop-ups and audible sounds. Check posts and emails on your own schedule.

Delay turn-on times. Push back the time that you first turn on a phone or another electronic device by a couple of minutes per day.

Leave phones home when running quick errands. Leave phones at home when stepping out of the house to run quick errands. Follow suit when shopping for groceries or heading to the gym for a workout.

Set limits. Establish a schedule when devices can and cannot be used in the house, enforcing this schedule strictly. When not on devices, get outdoors or engage in physical activity.

A popular new resolution is to cut back on the amount of time spent using electronic devices. This can reduce dependence on technology and help improve overall health as well.

On the road with Young Culture

Albany pop punk band finishes Coast to Coast tour

By PAULA CUMMINGS
nysmusic.com

ALBANY — Vibrant pop punk outfit

Young Culture made its way from the band's hometown of Albany to Rochester in February for the first night of a coast to coast tour. The crew was on the road promoting its sophomore EP "Blue," which was released last fall. NYS Music met up with founding members Alex Magnan and Gabe Pietrafesa just before the show at Vineyard Community Space in Rochester to talk about the release, the tour, the importance of support from friends and family, and a game called Odds.

Paula Cummings: You're on tour for your new EP. Tell me about "Blue."

Gabe Pietrafesa: We recorded last January, about a year ago. We went out to Always Be Genius Studios in Indiana and recorded it with Seth Henderson and Derek Discanio from State Champs. We were there for eight days, did five songs. We had a blast. Now it's out and it's going good. The shows have been really great, and the songs are where we want them to be.

Alex Magnan: It definitely felt like a good follow-up to our first EP "You" because that one we recorded when we were pretty young. We were 17/18 when we recorded "Blue," so it's just more mature than the last one. It felt like the next step.

PC: You recorded with Derek from State Champs. They're from your hometown of Albany, right?

GP: We're homies with the State Champs guys. Derek actually worked with us on our first record, too. He's a friend now and he'll come to us with ideas or we'll come to him with ideas. He just wants to be part of what we're creating because he's been with Young Culture from day one. State Champs has been a big thing in the Albany scene.

PC: Also important are supportive parents, and I've heard that you guys have an awesome band mom.

AM: Both my parents, Mike and Gina, are the greatest souls ever. They just love everybody and they really are into what we're doing. So they're very supportive of it. Every time before we leave for tour they always make us mad food, a big breakfast and food to take.

GP: And any time we have friends' bands, like if Rarity was in town, they'll have them over, let them stay and do their laundry, cook them food. They go out of their way. They're great people.

AM: I feel like they were never doubtful about it. When I was like "Mom, Dad, I want to do music," they were like, "This is the right move, but if you want to do it, you better haul ass and be 100 percent about it." They pushed us to keep doing what we're doing, which is pretty unorthodox. A lot of parents don't do that.

PC: You spend a lot of time on the road. I hear you like to play a game called Odds.

GP: So the rule for Odds is... I'll use (friend and cameraman) Danny as an example. I'll think of a crazy task. I'll be like, Danny, what are the odds that every photo you take tonight you have to close your eyes. Danny will be like one out of ten. And Alex will count us in like 3, 2, 1. And then we both say a number between one and ten, and if we both say the same number, then he has to do [the dare]. If I said four and Danny said six and it adds up to ten, then the odds are reversed, and I have to do [the dare], and he won't have to. We've done some pretty stupid odds.

AM: It's like you're on the road in a van a long time with a bunch of dudes and you've got to keep things interesting sometimes. So we've gone to some

The Plot In You's 'Dispose'

By ZACH HITT
nysmusic.com

The Plot In You premiered its latest album, "Dispose," last month on Billboard Music. Lead singer and songwriter Landon Tewers co-produced the album in Los Angeles with Drew Fulk, known for his work with Crown The Empire and I Prevail.

For the most part, the album backs off the heavy guitars, defiant lyrics, and warmongering breakdowns. Once classified as a metal band, The Plot In You both proves its versatility and bends unspoken rules characteristic in its previous albums, such as 2011's "First Born," instead turning to multiple genres such as pop, rock and electronic.

Dispose opens up with "Rigged," a slow, intense build of a track centered around a few clean, crisp guitar riffs transitioning into a tense progression of Nine Inch Nails style industrial electronic sounds and a chaotic blitz, culminating with Tewers asking the question, "What's left in me? Guess we'll see. Didn't see this coming." This question sets the tone for the rest of the album.

While every track experiments with the extensions of the band's songwriting abilities, such as "One Last Time," and "Paid in Full," Dispose falls victim to the bane of many modern releases: tracks set in a difficult - to - follow order. However, this is not an unforgivable sin as many of the songs stand well on its own to be played as one - offs as opposed to a back to back listen. A few points' deduction, but not a total loss.

In fairness, The Plot In You, takes an exciting artistic risk. While its heavy side still exists in songs such as the anthemic "Feel Nothing," they leave room for a Frank Ocean/Ed Sheeran - type ballad with "The Sound," which introduces a soulful, lounge saxophone solo to accompany Josh Childress' shining, dramatic guitar performance. Tewers plays with this same concept on "I Always Wanted to Leave." Both songs deal lyrically with the stages that many relationships go through: comfort and security, and then betrayal and loss.

The band's unsung heroes, however, are drummer Mathis Arnell and bassist Ethan Yoder, who hold down the basis of this rock/pop - driven album. Songs such as "The One You Love" and "Disposable Fix," both use a building block approach, starting with input from the rhythm section and centering around its pocket. Along with Childress, Arnell and Yoder keep the instruments minimalistic yet intentional. The space left in each song provides a mysterious effect which draws the listener in and allows for the breathing and taking in of fine details in each painting. This is also true for the music videos of the album, "Feel Nothing," "Not Just Breathing," "I Always Wanted to Leave," and "Disposable Fix," all of which Arnell directed.

As its first album with Fearless Records, "Dispose" steers away from the band's signature heavy sound. It's was risky yet calculated contingency away from the band's past work. Dispose has been met with mixed criticism over the band's change to a sound that resembles a shell of its previous work, the songwriting, engineering and production deserve acknowledgment. Whether most fans enjoy these changes or not, some credit must be given to the group for sticking to its intentions and musical wishes. Independent of any previous claims, songs or performances, "Dispose" objectively displays cohesion, weighted movements, experimentation and vulnerable soul. At its worst, it could be a small misstep in a continuing career; at best, a welcomed change in direction, an honest set of thoughts and a passionate description of current events with a unique blend of genres. That is to say, overall, it's a solid effort to which The Plot in You can be proud.

"Dispose" is available digitally and physically at all major platforms.

extremes.

GP: We make an agreement that we don't do odds for the show. We don't do anything that's going to mess with it. That's a big thing.

GP: One time we [dared] our manager Joe to go up to someone after their set and say, "Good set. Not great, though."

PC: You're ending this tour with a hometown show. [The tour ended Sunday, March 4, at Lucky Strike Social.] How psyched are you for that?

GP: So stoked.

AM: We're going to try to sell that one out. It's going to be at a venue called Lucky Strike Social. All the openers for it are friends of ours. The Maloy Brothers, who have never done a full show are going to be the openers. And then we have Perfect Scores. And a band called Viewpoints – they've been doing this as long as we have.

GP: It's going to be two weeks of us playing shows, and then we get to come home to a big hometown show. We haven't done a hometown show in like six months.

AM: That's the best way to do it. You come home and end the tour with a bang.

GP: We're playing so many places we've never even been to.

AM: I was excited to come back to Rochester.

GP: It's cool because not only do we get to play music, we get to travel the world.

AM: What better platform to travel than music.

GP: It's a lot of fun.
