Local tattoo shop raises money for charity in unique way

By ALI HIBBS

DELMAR — A local tattoo shop is giving back to the community, but this act of kindness is not for the timid.

Each month, Resolute Tattoo at 316 Delaware Avenue in Delmar, is choosing a charity to which it will donate the proceeds of its Get What You Get for Charity fundraiser, in which daring tattoo enthusiasts pay $100 to randomly select a capsule from a machine and then get the tattoo they pull out of the capsule—whatever it is. Only in its second month, Get What You Get has already raised well over $5,000 for charity.

■ POLICE, COURTS AND EMERGENCY CALLS

Wanted man taken into custody after foot chase

COEYMANS — Troopers from the New York State Police barracks in New Scotland arrested 26-year-old Joseph S. Persico on Sunday, May 20.

Troopers reportedly determined that Persico, who was wanted on an active state parole warrant, was in the Coeymans area. According to state police, Persico fled on foot from a residence on Alcove Road when troopers arrived. With the assistance of the Albany County Sheriff’s Department, the Coeymans Police and the NYS Park Police, Persico was found a short time later hiding in a wooded area near the Alcove Reservoir where he was taken into custody.

PERSICO

Persico was lodged at the Albany County jail on the warrant, and is now in state parole custody.

Former property manager charged with felony larceny

GUILDERLAND—On Thursday, May 24, Jamie L. Bonkoski, 41, of Cohoes, was arrested for second-degree grand larceny, a class C felony. It is alleged that Bonkoski, while working as the property manager at Deer Valley Apartments, located at 11 Farnsworth Drive in Guilderland, stole in excess of $50,000 by making unauthorized personal purchases using the corporate checking account, stealing renters’ security deposits and fees, and receiving personal services from tenants in lieu of rent.

She was arraigned in front of Guilderland Town Judge Napierski, who set bail at $5,000.

27 arrested at Capitol, more protests expected

ALBANY—On Monday, May 21, approximately 200 protesters from the New York State Poor People’s Campaign converged on the state Capitol after marching down Washington Avenue in Albany. Once inside the building, protesters blocked the entrances from Washington Avenue, State Street and a tunnel from the concourse. As a result, 27 arrests were made by state troopers for disorderly conduct, a violation. These subjects were released with appearance tickets returnable to the City of Albany Court.

One of the individuals, Peter G. Heltzel, 48, of New York City, was arrested for disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, a class A misdemeanor, and second degree assault, a class D felony, after he actively resisted being taken into custody and allegedly injured a state trooper.

Both the injured trooper and Heltzel were treated and released from Albany Memorial Hospital.

Heltzel was held at Albany County jail and arraigned the following day in the City of Albany Court.

More protests are expected in the coming weeks.

■ EDUCATION

Excelling at excellence

State recognizes two BCSD teachers for their dedication to education

BETHLEHEM—Two Bethlehem educators received 2018 Empire State Excellence in Teaching Awards earlier this month. Bethlehem Central Middle School Spanish teacher Shannon Lundgren and Eagle Elementary School fourth grade teacher Julianna Palomba were both recognized for classroom innovation and a commitment to sharing best practices with fellow educators.

Gov. Andrew Cuomo created the Empire State Excellence in Teaching Program in 2016 to support exemplary teachers across New York state who “foster creativity, instill a love of learning, motivate students to maintain high expectations and academic goals, and make a difference in the lives of students.” The program recognizes 60 teachers from around New York state who work to prepare a new generation of learners for the future.

Lundgren, a longtime teacher at the middle school, coordinates the district’s Teacher Mentor program, which pairs veteran educators with new teachers to provide support, encouragement and understanding in an effort to ensure their success in the classroom.

Lundgren not only learned that she had been selected for the honor, but was also presented with the award on Monday, May 7, in front of a packed room during a regularly scheduled faculty meeting. The surprised teacher received a standing ovation from both faculty and staff, along with a surprise visit from her husband, David.

Daniel Fuller, assistant secretary for education under Gov. Cuomo, presented Lundgren with the award.

“Teachers of excellence hold high expectations for every student and provide access to higher levels of learning for all,” said Daniel Fuller, Gov. Andrew Cuomo’s assistant secretary for education. “We want to acknowledge these teachers, we want to thank them, give them a prize and have them tell their stories so others can be inspired by them.

“And now it’s happening at Bethlehem Middle School,” he said.

Lundgren received $5,000 to use for professional development purposes, in the form of an oversized cardboard check presented by Fuller and the Governor’s Capital Region representative Jeff Quain.

While Monday’s award presentation was a surprise for Lundgren, school leaders — including BCMS principal Mike Klugman — learned the good news the previous week, and were asked to keep it under wraps until the formal presentation.

“Shannon is extraordinarily deserving,” said Klugman. “While her work in her classroom continues to be exemplary as is her work with our new teachers, she also remains passionate about her own learning. Her learning curve is phenomenal because she is immune to complacency.”

At Eagle, students and staff from every grade assembled in the gym on Monday, May 21, for Palomba’s surprise announcement. Principal Dianna Reagan also arranged for her family to be present for the award presentation.

“Since Julianna first walked into Eagle as a student teacher, she has been energetic, happy, dedicated and just loves being with kids,” said Reagan. “Over the last two years, she has grown to be an outstanding educator who goes above and beyond to make learning meaningful, challenging and joyful.

“She is a teacher who constantly wants to better her teaching skills and enjoys working with others to be the best she can be. We are extremely lucky to have such a talented teacher at BC.”

Palomba also received $5,000 for professional development, which also came as an oversized cardboard check presented by Fuller, himself a BCHS graduate, and the parent of a Hamagrael student.

“I am pleased, honored, and humbled to accept this award with my Eagle family whom I admire and appreciate so much,” said Palomba. “I want to thank my students for making me love teaching more and more every day and to my colleagues for keeping me afloat my first few years teaching.

“And, of course, thank you to my family for always supporting me and being here,” she said. “I am blessed to be acknowledged in this way and my heart is full.”

Educating the board

Outgoing Bethlehem Board of Ed member shares what she learned in nine years

By ALI HIBBS
hibbsa@spotlightnews.com

After serving nine years on the Bethlehem Central School District Board of Education, outgoing member Charmaine Wijeyesinghe had some insight and advice for the two incoming members who will take their seats in July.

She decided to leave the board after this term, she said, because, "There were other things I wanted to do professionally and I felt like it was time to dedicate more time and attention to that." While she noted the fact that her youngest will be graduating from the district this year, she said that wasn't the deciding factor.

Serving as an effective board member requires a significant time commitment, explained Wijeyesinghe. "Some people think it's just meeting twice a week, but we all serve on committees and have to take the time to review materials between meetings. So it is a substantial commitment and it made sense for me to be going at this time so I can spend time doing other things."

"For the most part, I enjoyed my time on the board. I've had some great colleagues over the years. I gained a lot of good friends and a real appreciation for the complexity of the organization. And, it's a great way to do community service."

"I jokingly tell people my hair was black when I started," she said with a smile.

Wijeyesinghe joined the board after attending meetings for more than a year in an effort to get them to paint Elsmere Elementary School, where she served as PTA president at the time. "And, as you know, the public comment period for issues not on the agenda is at the end of the meeting. So I sat through a year and a half of meetings. And after watching them and seeing that, wow, they're covering lots of different issues, I thought, I could do this."

During her time on the board, Wijeyesinghe said that she gained an appreciation for the complexity of district operations. "It is a complex organization with lots of moving parts, but understanding how many parts and how many people contribute to this district was a great gift," she said.

"I would tell board members to continually seek out opportunities to understand the role of the board," she said. "A lot of community members will say they're interested in joining the board because of a single issue. Being a board member is not a single issue. It's not defending a single school, it's not watching out for a single area of the program like athletics or theatre. It's being

The Senior Prom

GUILDERLAND — The Grand Rehabilitation and Nursing at Guilderland held a “Senior Prom” for 75 of its nursing home residents and their families last week. The event, which celebrated National Nursing Home Week, featured assistance with dressing up, makeup application and hair styling; a professional photography session; a crowning of the prom’s “king” and “queen”; live entertainment; and an elegant banquet.

“The goal of the Senior Prom was to give our residents a chance to get dressed up and have a good time together,” said Chelsea Hanna, director of recreation, The Grand Rehabilitation and Nursing at Guilderland. “We also wanted to evoke nostalgic memories of past proms and dances that they have experienced.”

Free kayak Eco-tour of Hudson

GLENMONT—Did you know that the entire eastern edge of Bethlehem is bordered by the Hudson River?

Nature along the Hudson in Bethlehem can be grand (bald eagles), subtle (umber shadowdragon dragonflies) and crazy (fish that can climb waterfalls). Join Bethlehem ecologists and town staff for an easy, guided paddle on the Hudson River and its tributary, the Vlomankill, this summer.

From the comfort of your kayak or canoe, you can learn about our local fish, birds, the watershed, and even see a small waterfall.

Last year's kayakers spied turtles basking on logs, a Green Heron, and a soaring Bald Eagle.

This free public program is part of a broader public engagement program that coordinates with Bethlehem's open space planning initiatives. The best part of this program is realizing the abundant natural beauty of our town's waterways.

Registration is required for the four kayak tours, offered on the following dates and times:

Saturday, June 9, 12:30-2:30 p.m.

Thursday, June 14, 5:00-7:00 p.m.

Saturday, June 23, 1:00-3:00 p.m.

Friday, July 13, 4:30 - 6:30 p.m.

Email Karen Shaw, the town's Open Space Coordinator at kshaw@townofbethlehem.org at least one week prior to the tour you wish to attend. Be sure to include your name, phone number, and confirm that you have your own kayak, paddles and personal floatation device.

Participants must be proficient paddlers, as guides will provide ecological information, not boating instruction.

Kayak tours will begin at the kayak launch at Henry Hudson Park. If you don't have your own kayak, Upstate Kayak Rentals offers rental boats for a fee and can be reserved online at www.upstatekayakrentals.com.

Financial disclosure

Comptroller Michael Cohen presents 2017 financial report, outlines future considerations

By ALI HIBBS
hibbsa@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM — The Town of Bethlehem was left with less of a budgetary surplus after 2017 than it has had in years past.

Town Comptroller Michael Cohen said there was no need to worry when presenting the information to the Town Board on Wednesday, May 23; however, it is the first time in four years the town's fund balance has dipped below the maximum percentage identified under a spending policy it established in 2012.

The fund balance percentage is calculated by taking the unassigned fund balances at the end of each year, as a percentage of the following year's budgeted appropriations. In 2012, the town decided that 15 percent is optimal and 20 percent should be the maximum. Conversely, the minimum is set at 7 percent.

Beginning in 2013, the town has been able to maintain the maximum balance at the end of each year in each of its funds—general, highway, water and sewer. When the fund balance exceeds 20 percent, the additional money is put into a capital reserve fund to be used for infrastructure projects, thereby reducing the amount of money the town has to borrow to pay for those larger projects.

While, “despite weather-related challenges,” the town still ended 2017 with a net surplus across all four funds, the balance in the general fund dropped to 17.3 percent due to increased debt service costs, primarily related to two things:

Appropriations grew by $849,000 due to the renovation of the Adams Street building to be used by Delmar-Bethlehem EMS and the Delaware Avenue Streetscape Enhancement project, as well as increased police operating costs after the department added staff; and

The town pre-paid a $992,000 workers comp invoice, which allowed savings of 2 percent, but rendered that money “non-spendable.”

Cohen discussed several changes that affected town finances throughout the year: bad weather, which required more highway resources and reduced solar power generation; decreased mortgage taxes, which Cohen called “very difficult” to predict, and decreased composting sales; decreased water and sewer revenues; and a variety of other variables, none of which were entirely unexpected.

Cohen also spoke about the current fiscal year and beyond. New debt payments will cost $561,000 annually, across all four funds, beginning this year and lasting through 2042—“Long after I’m gone,” he said. The final payment on a 10-year police pension bond, however, will be made this year, freeing up $263,000 in the general fund annually.

Based on a consumer price index projected to be “quite a bit” above 2 percent, Cohen said he expects the calculated 2019 tax cap will be 2 percent — the first time the town has been able to levy the full 2 percent — since 2013. A 2 percent tax levy increase, he said, would net the town approximately $274,000 to be shared across all four major funds, as

- Nonspendable – Not in spendable form such as prepaids and inventory
- Restricted – Constrained to being used for a specific purpose by external parties (state, federal, private donor, creditors)
- Committed – Constrained to being used for a specific purpose by the highest level internal decision making authority
- Assigned – Amounts intended for a specific purpose
- Unassigned – Will only be found in the General Fund

- Unassigned – You’re single and playing the field
- Assigned – You’re in a dating relationship and being pressured
- Committed – You’re married (for better or worse)
- Restricted – Court-ordered child support; you don’t pay it, an outside party will compel you.
- Non-spendable – That $50 that your brother-in-law borrowed three months ago and still has not paid you back well as the EMS fund. That amount, he explained, is a little more than half of what it would cost to give town employees a 2 percent cost-of-living wage increase.

Cohen also noted that an expected savings of $73,000 has not materialized in 2018, as the progress on a tri-county shared emergency dispatch and records system spearheaded by Albany County Sheriff Craig Apple has been stalled.

Upcoming projects expected to incur more debt include replacing gutters at the town pool complex, installation of a roundabout on Route 9W, replacement of water mains and upgrades to the Clapper Road Water Treatment Plant.

Volunteers needed for senior-friendly community garden

Do you miss getting your hands dirty but don't want the full responsibility of a garden? Bethlehem Senior Services has been granted a “Senior Friendly” plot in the new Community Garden at the Elm Avenue Park, with the goal of growing fresh organic vegetables to donate to the Bethlehem Food Pantry. We are looking for volunteers to care for the garden during the summer until harvest time. If you have a particular skill or you just want to help out occasionally with different tasks, we can always use your help and find a way for you to get involved.

The Garden is a 10 x 20 foot plot with access to tools and water. There will be one chair-high raised bed and several lower raised beds. This is an opportunity to enjoy the beauty of a garden while helping the community. Studies show that gardening is good for your overall health and soul. Transportation may be available. This is a physically intense activity.

Please contact Heidi Ziemke, 518-439-4955 x 1169.

■ IN BRIEF

Chamber trip to Ireland discount extended to June 15

DELMAR — The Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce and Chamber Discoveries are presenting an 8-day journey to Ireland. Ireland is located in the North Atlantic and is the third largest island in Europe. The island has lush vegetation due to its mild but oceanic climate, and Ireland is free of the temperature extremes we experience here in the Northeast. Experience the Cliffs of Moher, one of Ireland's most visited sites, and Galway, a harbor city located on the West coast. The trip includes two castle visits - Kilkenny Castle and Bunratty Castle - as well as an excursion to Dingle and a visit to the Rock of Cashel. There is also an optional two day Dublin post-tour excursion.

The eight-day trip begins on Thursday, October 18, and includes round trip airfare from New York City, round trip transfers between airports and hotels, 6 nights of first class hotel accommodations, daily breakfast and tours.

The $200 Book and Save discount has been extended until Friday, June 15.

For full Itinerary and Reservation Form, see the brochure by following the link on the Chamber's website at <http://business.bethlehemchamber.com/>.

The trip is open to anyone in the community that is interested in travel. Space is limited, sign up early for a discounted rate and to reserve your seat.

P.O. collects over 10,000 lbs of food

Town Board member and Elsmere volunteer Jim Foster helps to unload donations at Town Hall with fellow firefighters

BETHLEHEM — Every May, letter carriers across America collect food donations from their postal customers for the National Association of Letter Carriers Stamp Out Hunger National Food Drive — the largest one-day food drive in the nation.

In Bethlehem, the Bethlehem Food Pantry, located at Town Hall in Delmar, receives the food collected by mail carriers at the Delmar Post Office. According to Jane Sanders,

"This is a community effort and it goes so smoothly due to the volunteers."

— Jane Sanders
Director of Bethlehem Senior Services

director of Bethlehem Senior Services and a pantry manager, there were 10,500 pounds of food delivered this year.

Volunteers from the Elsmere Fire Company brought their trucks to deliver the food on Thursday, May 24. Firefighters loaded huge bins of food onto their trucks and hauled them into Town Hall, where 12 volunteers from Senior Services checked and sorted items.

"The Bethlehem Food Pantry is now well stocked with the basics for the next few months," said Sanders. "This is a community effort and it goes so smoothly due to the volunteers. It saves us hours of time and energy when the Delmar Firefighters bring the food over to Town Hall."

There are about 55 families of all ages who access the Bethlehem Food Pantry, which is a member of the Food Pantries for the Capital District. Donations of cereal, canned fruits, cleaning supplies and personal care items are always welcome. If you have questions about the Bethlehem Food Pantry, whether it is how to access the service or what food is needed at a particular time, please call the Bethlehem Senior Services Department at (518) 439-4955, ext. 1176.

Led by letter carriers of the NACL, with help from rural letter carriers, other postal employees and other volunteers, the Stamp Out Hunger National Food Drive has delivered more than one billion pounds of food over the past 25 years.

Educating the board

mindful of the district's commitment to all its programs, it's being mindful of the commitment to the staff and faculty, and you have to be cognizant of the needs of the community, too. So, understanding the role of the board is a fundamental thing that people have to learn and maintain foremost in their minds."

According to Wijeyesinghe, the Board of Education has three major functions: developing policy, approving a budget and overseeing the district superintendent. "The superintendent is our employee," she explained, saying it's the board's responsibility to hire, supervise and, when necessary, fire the superintendent. "The superintendent is answerable to the board.

Every year, there's an evaluation process that is ongoing throughout the year. At the end of the academic year, any contract extension or raise in salary, which is a matter of public record, is done by the board."

To serve effectively, Wijeyesinghe recommends that board members take advantage of various training opportunities throughout the year, offered by state and capital area school board associations such as the New York State School Boards Association, which holds regional sessions throughout the year and holds a statewide conference each fall. She also said to not be afraid to ask questions.

"It's important to be informed," she said. "So if you don't know, keep asking questions. Even though sometimes votes are pressing, try not to vote if you don't understand. Don't vote if you don't have enough information."

While votes are often taken several at a time and without much conversation during the bimonthly meetings, Wijeyesinghe said that thoroughly reviewing the materials between those meetings is extremely important. More divisive or complicated issues can sometimes require more public conversation, she noted, saying that she might even prompt conversation or ask questions she knew the answers to at times when she felt the public might need more understanding of the issue at hand.

"I gained a huge understanding of education," she said. "And not only that, my family did. Because when my kids were younger, we went through a couple of really tough budget cycles. And it's all public, so I could discuss it at the dinner table with them.

"For the most part, I enjoyed my time on the board," Wijeyesinghe said. "I've had some great colleagues over the years. I gained a lot of good friends and a real appreciation for the complexity of the organization.

"And," she added, "it's a great way to do community service."

Good inking

“We do as much charity as we can,” explained Holly Robinson, one of Resolute Tattoo’s owners. “Last week, we did a Mother’s Day flash. We put together a sheet of mom tattoos and we donated the proceeds to benefit the Prevent Cancer Foundation.”

The Get What You Get for Charity fundraiser serves two purposes, she said. Resolute chooses a worthwhile charity to donate the proceeds to each month while promoting classic tattoos at the same time.

“It’s kind of a way to get them out into the world and remind people that they exist and that they’re really awesome,” said Robinson, who has several books of classic designs lying around the place. “So, we wanted to give back in a cool way. Plus, it invites sort of a fun kind of person. Because the uptight are not going to be okay with getting whatever tattoo comes out.”

She said it tends to bring in those who already have multiple tattoos. “There’s some pretty wacky stuff in there,” she said, looking at the capsule machine. “I kept it tasteful, but there’s definitely some weird stuff in there.” A crying baby face ended up on one man’s chest and a pregnant hula girl now adorns another woman’s ankle. “She was aghast when it came out,” Robinson said, laughing. “But she was like, ‘I’m gonna do it no matter what comes out!’ And she did.”

“The most exciting part is watching them see what they’ve gotten,” said Dan Belcher, another tattoo artist and owner at Resolute, as well as Robinson’s fiancé.

Carly Hillmann, of Altamont, pulled a devil’s face out of the machine on Wednesday, May 23, and said, “I love it!” before becoming the 51st “daring and caring” customer in about as many days to let fate choose her tattoo.

“That one’s awesome,” exclaimed Belcher.

“That is a classic Jerry piece,” said Robinson, referring to a style made popular by a former Navy man named Norman Collins, aka Sailor Jerry, in Hawaii during World War II. Collins combined vivid color, bold (and, often, bawdy) iconography and the techniques of Japanese tattoo masters to come up with a new style of tattooing. He was also innovative on a technical level, pioneering modern tattoo machines, sterilization techniques and purple ink.

Hillmann said she heard of the fundraiser and is a fan of the charities they’ve chosen, and she was inspired to take advantage of the opportunity to benefit a good cause and add a little art to her life. “I love dogs,” she said, noting that the tattoo would be benefiting Upstate Underdog Rescue.

Those who would really prefer not to permanently ink themselves with the tattoo they receive are welcome to try again for another $20. According to Robinson, one individual ended up spending $200 before they got one they liked. But, she said, most customers are happy well before that point.

The fundraiser has been so successful that Resolute has begun taking appointments. Walk-ins are still welcome, but there’s no guarantee an artist will be available. In June, proceeds from GWYGFC tattoos will go to Street Soldiers, an organization dedicated to helping the homeless.

“You can always use another tattoo,” said Hillmann.

Successful blood drive at RCS

COEYMANS — The Ravena Coeymans Selkirk School District recently announced an auspicious distinction resulting from a recent blood drive hosted by its high school earlier this month.

The RCS Natural Helpers/Student Volunteers sponsored an American Red Cross Blood Drive on Thursday, May 17.

Students, faculty and community members came together to collect more than 33 units of blood. The district said the amount collected on that day could save more than 99 lives.

LIBRARIES

Lifelong learning with coffee and chat

Our goal at the library is to provide patrons with plenty of lifelong learning opportunities, and the Coffee and Conversation lecture series for adults delivers. We work hard to keep the series fresh and exciting, with a variety of presenters and topics – from the American musical to beekeeping and everything in between. If you haven't yet joined us for one of these exciting talks, now is the time to stop by and see what it's all about.

This Friday, June 1, at 1 p.m., amateur historian and Grant Cottage tour guide Steve Trimm will present "Mahican, Mohican, Mohegan?" a discussion of the Native American tribe that was once a force to be reckoned with in the Hudson Valley, with a nation that once stretched from Dutchess County to Lake Champlain. Who were they? Where did they go and why? Trimm will answer these questions and more.

The following Friday, June 8, join us for "History of the Hudson River Valley." Enjoy a talk with Vernon Benjamin, Hudson River Valley historian and author of "The History of the Hudson River Valley: From Wilderness to the Civil War" and "The History of the Hudson River Valley: From the Civil War to Modern Times."

Rounding out the month is a Coffee and Conversation program on Friday, June 15, titled "The Joy of Trains." Local author and entertainer Chuck Oates will tell stories, sing songs and share video clips celebrating the historic railroads of the American West.

The Coffee and Conversation series is co-sponsored by Bethlehem Senior Projects, Inc., and programs are free and open to everyone. They begin at 1 p.m. and last about 60 minutes with a coffee and social hour following. The series is co-sponsored by Bethlehem Senior Projects, Inc.

Call (518) 439-9314 or visit www.bethlehempublib.org for more information.

Read It Forward

Teens, it's Read It Forward time again at the library! This year, the featured book is "Beneath" by Roland Smith. The novel is a fast-paced thriller that follows Pat O'Toole as he searches for his brother, Coop, who has run away after a big fight with his parents. With little in the way of clues, Pat must locate and bring home his brother, who has joined a secret society living beneath the streets of New York City.

No due dates, no late fees, no worries! Just read the book, tell a friend about it, and pass it on. A limited number of books will be available at the library.

For details, see the guidelines found in each book, visit www.bplteens.org or stop by the desk in the Children's Place. Keep the reading chain going this summer, and tell us what you think about the book. This is a collaborative project with the Upper Hudson Library System.

Be a summer volunteer

We're looking for volunteers who will be in grade 6-12 in September to help with our summer reading program. Our teens staff the summer reading desk, assist with online submissions, read to children, review books, and help with programs and activities. Applications are available online at www.bplteens.org and in the library. They will be accepted until 9 p.m. June 4 or until all positions are filled. Volunteers must attend an orientation session.

Just for fifth-graders

Middle school can seem like an awfully big place when you don't know that many people. That's why the library is holding a special event just for fifth-graders Thursday, May 31, from 3:45-4:45 p.m. At "Tween Fuse Beads," fifth-graders from all of the Bethlehem schools can come together, mingle, and make some crafts with teen librarian, Tori. Snacks will be served! Now when school starts up in fall, it won't seem so full of unfamiliar faces.

All events are free and take place at Bethlehem Public Library, 451 Delaware Ave., Delmar. For more information, call 439-9314 or visit bethlehempublib.org.

Monday, June 4 Intro to Microsoft Excel

HEALTH REPORT

The growing threat of vaping

Cigarette smoking continues to decline among pre-teens and teenagers according to a survey from Monitoring the Future. But the number of young people who are vaping or smoking e-cigarettes has increased. This underscores the importance of greater education for youngsters and their parents about the potential hazards of vaping.

A study from researchers at the Department of Psychiatry at Yale University School of Medicine that was published in the journal Pediatrics found the rising frequency of e-cigarette use was a significant risk factor for future conventional cigarette use. In the study, researchers surveyed 1,408 Connecticut high school students three times, in autumn 2013, spring 2014 and autumn 2015, on their use of e-cigarettes and traditional tobacco cigarettes. Teens who used an e-cigarette within a month of participating in the survey in 2013 had seven times greater odds of smoking tobacco cigarettes in 2014. A year later, e-cigarette users were more than three times more likely to smoke tobacco cigarettes.

Vaping ads may be enticing kids, too. Cigarette ads glamorizing smoking have all but vanished. However, vaping ads are becoming more noticeable. According to a National Youth Tobacco Survey, about seven in 10 middle and high school students were exposed to e-cigarette advertisements in 2014, when the vaping trend began to explode.

Even though e-cigarettes are marketed to be safer than traditional cigarettes because they purportedly contain fewer chemicals and harmless water vapor, some experts say this isn't the case. No federal agency oversaw initial development of the e-cigarette industry, so no standards exist — although this may be changing soon. One Food and Drug Administration review of 18 different e-cigarette cartridges found toxic and carcinogenic chemicals in some but not others. Also, some products that were labeled to be nicotine-free actually did have nicotine.

The American Lung Association says some e-cigarettes use diacetyl, a buttery-flavored chemical once used in food production like popcorn. When inhaled, diacetyl causes bronchiolitis obliterans — more commonly referred to as "popcorn lung." This is a scarring of the tiny air sacs in the lungs that results in the thickening and narrowing of the airways.

Vaping may seem like a harmless trend, but parents should be cognizant of the threats it poses.

Students place in stock market competition

COEYMANS — Two members of the RCS Middle School Stock Market Club, Maria Morrow and Lauryn Reville, placed in the top three of students in a state-wide (excluding Long Island) stock market competition. The competition gave students an imaginary sum of $100,000 to spend how they see fit on stocks.

Morrow and Reville then monitored those stocks from September until the end of April competing with students across the state throughout the process. They learned important skills such as when it is best to buy or sell, and how to manage money and their portfolio.

"It's a great way for students to get their feet wet into a "real-world" economic situation," club advisor Erin Sawyer said.

The club also discussed current trends and events that can impact stocks.

Three RCS students inducted into honor society

COEYMANS — Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk students, Andrew Clark, Julianna Proctor and Demetreus Todman were among forty Capital Region BOCES Career and Technical School CTE students inducted into the National Technical Honor Society on Monday, May 21.

An Apology to Grand Marshall Joseph VanDeloo

Being named The Grand Marshal of the Bethlehem Memorial Day Parade is a big deal. Recipients of this honor are named because, according to Legion Commander Lyle Maddock, "The grand marshal is someone the community should recognize for their achievements," noting VanDeloo's service and subsequent years working as a local sales manager. The honor is generally bestowed on one of the Legion's older members, as well as those who have held leadership positions in the organization.

Mr. VanDeloo fit that description and we were proud to feature him on Page One of The Spotlight last week.

Unfortunately, we made an error in our coverage. This error was in the most basic function of our news gathering.

We messed up his name.

We cannot fix a print edition that is already mailed to the community. It reminds me of the famous "Dewey Defeats Truman" Chicago Tribune headline in 1948, when the paper just blew it.

Our mistake may not seem as grievous an error as getting a presidential election result wrong, but in our world as a community-news organization, it is equal or worse than that. The Memorial Day Parade is a very big deal in our town and it should be.

We want to apologize to Joseph VanDeloo, his family, his friends, our readers, and members of the local veterans groups which chose him for our mistake.

He deserves all the honor that comes with being named the grand marshal of the parade that celebrates all our veterans.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

911 bill is about Civil Rights

It is hard to fathom that the 911 call systems are being bypassed for people with disabilities regarding medical emergencies, physical and sexual assault crimes and even deaths, but it is true.

Upwards of one million people with disabilities who live in state run or private mental health facilities and group homes all across New York state do not have equal access to 911 first responder medical and police services and assistance.

There is no law in place currently to protect and save the lives of our most vulnerable, until the vital 911 Civil Rights Bill S4736B/A6830A is signed into law. This legislation will finally require mandated reporters to call 911 for all medical emergencies and when a crime is being committed against a person with a disability.

The 911 call systems were put in place decades ago, in the '80s throughout New York and our country to provide everyone swift emergency assistance, usually within seven minutes or less, but the disabled have been treated unequally and denied equal access to 911 services.

In New York state the number one known documented reason for what are being called "untimely" deaths is staff in these facilities and group homes not calling 911 when there is a medical emergency. This is very important for everyone to grasp, only imagine if this was you or your child in an emergency medical situation and no one called 911?

As the writers of The Colonie Spotlight editorial said this is a matter of common sense, but it also is without a question a Civil Rights and discrimination matter.

Our state's Constitution under Article 1 of the Bill of Rights Section 1 states, "No member of this state shall be disfranchised, or deprived of any of the rights or privileges secured to any citizen thereof..." 911 emergency first responder assistance is an equal privilege that can no longer be denied our most vulnerable. In the same portion of our constitution under (equal protection of laws; discrimination in civil rights prohibited) Section 11 it states, "No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws of this state or any subdivision thereof." A person with a disability cannot have equal protection of the laws when

If you've never been to Lupine Fest, you need to: You'll experience a celebration of our local wildlife at the Capital Region's globally rare, nationally significant, and locally distinct Albany Pine Bush. Enjoy live animal shows, wildlife workshops and nature walks. Discover the unique wildlife that calls this rare habitat home through hands-on activities with community partners, music with the WhipperSnappers and B95.5, games, crafts, vendors, the Library, and more! ## Learn to Bake Off-Grid Grains

Curious about flour? Then come to the Library on Saturday, June 2, at 11 am, and study grains. You'll learn about the structure of grain kernels, the different types of grains, and milling styles and leavening processes. You'll find out what is known and not known about nutrition of bread and grains, and be able to interpret the myths and facts swirling about our daily bread.

You'll bake hoe cakes from freshly ground grains, and leave with a full belly and a good understanding of how to approach grains as a baker. Your presenter is Troy-based author Amy Halloran; she'll also sign and sell copies of her book, "The new bread basket: how the new crop of grain growers, plant breeders, millers, maltsters, bakers, brewers, and local food activists are redefining our daily loaf."

Please register for this class by calling (518) 456-2400, ext 3, or by going online to guilderlandlibrary.org.

Need a Place to Study?

Finals are tough, Regents Exams are tougher (maybe), but what can be toughest is finding a place where you can get together for a group study, or a quiet place to focus on your own. That's why we're turning the Guilderland Library's Normanskill Room into a Study Space just for you and your friends. No need to sign up, just show up. The Study Space is open for you from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday, June 4; Tuesday June 5; Tuesday, June 12; and Wednesday June 13. Bring snacks.

Staff Development Day

The Library will be closed all day Wednesday, June 6, for Staff Development Day. This is when we take a break from our day-to-day responsibilities to train in new skills, polish old ones, and spend a few hours in team-building activities. We thank you for your understanding as we take this day to regroup so we can serve you better.

In the unlikely event you have something due on June 6, no worries. Just return it fine-free the day after. As always, our online library – where you can renew items, request materials, and do online research – is always open at www.guilderlandlibrary.org.

3-D Geometric Origami

Come to the library on Friday, June 8, at 7 p.m., and spend an hour or so learning the beautiful Japanese art of paper folding into 3-D geometric shapes. Get a great feeling of accomplishment from making geometric paper objects with your hands! Supplies will be provided. Beginners are welcome, and experienced paper-folders are invited to share their skills.

Please register for this class by calling (518) 456-2400, ext 3, or by going online to guilderlandlibrary.org.

911 bill is about Civil Rights

they are a victim of a physical or sexual assault crime or a homicide; the local police, laws, the criminal justice system and courts are completely bypassed.

The 911 Civil Rights Bill was drafted by myself with the help of others to rectify this gross injustice, to save countless innocent lives, to end decades of discrimination against the disabled and ensure the prosecutions of individuals who rape, assault or take the life of a person with a disability.

I have requested of the last four governors to ensure 911 for the disabled, personally meeting with three, since my precious son, Jonathan, died 11 years ago. Jonathan died because he was denied 911 emergency services. I have requested Bethlehem town leaders to send in a letter of full support for the 911 Civil Rights Bill and as a Bethlehem resident for almost all of my life, I would ask that you would please do so as well, or please call our state leaders. Together, we can bring about great changes and save many lives.

Los Lobos to play Cohoes

The Spindle City will be doing 'La Bamba' in the streets

COHOES — Guthrie/Bell Productions will present Los Lobos at The Music Hall on Sunday, July 22, at 7 p.m.

Los Lobos were already East L.A. neighborhood legends, Sunset Strip regulars and a Grammy Award-winning band by the time it recorded its major label debut "How Will The Wolf Survive?" in 1984.

Although the album's name and title song were inspired by a National Geographic article about real life wolves in the wild, the band—David Hidalgo, Louie Perez, Cesar Rosas, Conrad Lozano and Steve Berlin—saw parallels with its struggle to gain mainstream rock success while each member maintained his own Mexican roots.

Perez, the band's drummer, once called its powerhouse mix of rock, Tex-Mex, country, folk, R&B, blues and traditional Spanish and Mexican music "the soundtrack of the barrio." Three decades, two more Grammys, a worldwide smash single ("La Bamba") and thousands of rollicking performances across the globe later, Los Lobos is surviving quite well — and still jamming with the same raw intensity it had while playing in that garage in 1973.

Around the time of the band's last big anniversary Rolling Stone magazine summed up that distinctive, diverse and spontaneous Los Lobos aesthetic perfectly: "This is what happens when five guys create a magical sound, then stick together for 30 years to see how far it can take them."

ESYO names new music director

Fellow of the Curtis Institute of Music appointed to position

SCHENECTADY — The Empire State Youth Orchestra board of directors has announced the hiring of a new music director after an extensive global search. Members of the board appointed Carlos Ágreda to the position. He will come to the Capital Region in early June and take over for Music Director Helen Cha-Pyo as she closes out the season after 16 years with the organization.

According to Abbe Kovacik, chair of the EYSO board, "Mr. Ágreda is simply an amazing musician," who emerged from a pool of more than 70 highly qualified candidates as the clear choice. "He has talent and technique. We were impressed by the fluency, brightness and energy of this exceptional candidate. His conducting demonstrates flexibility and expressiveness. He is thoughtful and humble; insightful beyond his years. He is affable and engaging. During his audition he clearly connected with the youth. Mr. Ágreda has limitless potential and talent, and combined with his already considerable experience, he was clearly the ideal choice," said Kovacik.

Ágreda, from Colombia, has worked with a variety of orchestras, including the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra, the Manchester Camerata, the Curtis Symphony Orchestra, the BBC Philharmonic, the Colombia National Symphony Orchestra and the Liverpool Mozart Orchestra. Most recently, he was a conducting fellow at Curtis Institute of Music, one of the finest conservatories in the world. Ágreda is thrilled to come to the Capital District to serve as ESYO's music director and conductor of the Youth Orchestra. He said, "I am passionate about symphonic music and its power to make society better. I am very excited and honored to take on this responsibility of serving the region through music education. ESYO has a particularly important role because our young musicians are not only future audience members in the area, they are also building our future society and broadening the perception of quality in the arts," he said.

Ágreda received international attention at the age of 22, when he reached the third round in the Cadaqués Orchestra International Conducting Competition 2013, being the youngest and one of the final candidates. He won the competition for young Colombian conductors to conduct the Colombia National Symphony Orchestra in its 2014 season, while he served as music director of the Orchestral Corporation of Colombia.

He has a wide variety of musical interests and repertoire that range from opera to contemporary to Latin-American music. His approach to new music has been cultivated by conducting more than 30 world premieres in the United States, Columbia and the United Kingdom. In the Capital District both ESYO and the Albany Symphony Orchestra are nationally recognized leaders in the category of new music.

"He will be extremely motivational to not only the young musicians, but the institution as a whole," said Kovacik.

'On Your Feet!', the hit Broadway musical, opens tonight at Proctors

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

SCHENECTADY — "On Your Feet!", the jukebox musical based on the life stories of Gloria and Emilio Estefan, was a hit on Broadway and it opens a five-day run tonight, Wednesday, May 30, at Proctors in Schenectady as part of its national tour.

This latest production is more than just another visit by a Jerry Mitchell directed musical. It's a stop by a unique troupe comprised predominantly of Latin performers that celebrates a culture seldom portrayed on stage.

In a 2015 interview with Dance Magazine, "On Your Feet!" choreographer Sergio Trujillo described his efforts to bring authenticity to the stage. That involved visiting Cuba, the Estefan's homeland. There, he surrounded himself within the community, observing dance in the the country's dance halls and on the streets. The attention to detail was not missed by veteran Broadway actress Doreen Montalvo, who plays Gloria's mother, Gloria Fajardo.

"In the movement of this piece, there are so much authentic Cuban moments," said Montalvo. She describes a "magical" number in Act II accompanied by the song "Cuba Libre," which she describes as the "11 o'clock tap number." Ironically, it is not a tap number, she said. However, there is the clacking sound from each dancer as they perform in chapaletas, or wooden slippers.

"Literally, that's one of those things Sergio picked up from the streets of Havana and brought to our show," said Montalvo.

Montalvo said she can associate with the musical's storyline. The character she plays, she said, is her own mother. Like Gloria, her pursuit of a career in theatre was not well received by her mother when she decided to leave her New York City home. She drew from that experience

Must-have supplies for outdoor events

Outdoor venues boast certain advantages over indoor facilities. That is why many concerts, movies, dramatic productions and other types of entertainment frequently take place outside when the weather cooperates.

One advantage to outdoor events is space. Parks or fields typically can hold many more participants than theaters or auditoriums. Cost is another factor. Less maintenance and fewer amenities translates to lower ticket prices — with some outdoor events even being free.

Attending music festivals, outdoor movies or other events outdoors requires careful planning. To increase comfort, certain must-haves are par for the course.

Some place to sit

Depending on space, the venue may allow lawn or beach chairs. Bring something lightweight that is easy to carry. Beach chairs with built-in backpack straps can make it less of a chore to take chairs along. Otherwise bring along a blanket that easily can be rolled up into a bag. Some are even water-resistant so they can be placed on damp grass.

Sunscreen and bug protection

Sunscreen is a must-have for daytime events, no matter the temperature. When the sun begins to set, insects may become prevalent. Keep away biting mosquitoes, gnats and more with insect repellent. If you'll be trekking through trees or high grass, bring a repellent that works against ticks.

Hearing protection

If you attend a loud event, such as a fireworks display or a rock concert, using ear protection is a smart idea. You'll still hear what's going on, but at lower decibels. Plus, you won't head home with incessant ringing in your ears. Also, dust off those binoculars. You may need them for an outdoor concert if you want to see the stage and performers. You may not need them for an outdoor movie if the screen is large enough.

Water and snacks

Concessions may be expensive and far away from your seating area. Pack nonperishable refreshments that will satisfy your hunger and thirst. Water is always best for staying hydrated. Avoid alcoholic and caffeinated beverages, which can make you even more thirsty.

PLAN FOR FUN

Pack appropriately for outdoor events to increase comfort and security.

Hand sanitizer and flushable wipes

Outdoor venues often are serviced by outdoor restrooms. Those portable toilets, depending on maintenance and the size of crowds, may not be the cleanest nor the best stocked. Avoid germs by packing an alcohol-based hand sanitizer and a package of flushable toilet wipes.

Child identification

In addition to having mobile phones to keep in touch with other members of your party, bring along photos (or take a recent one with said phone) of children in attendance. Should kids get lost or separated, you'll have a means to identifying them to others who are helping in the search. Children also can wear temporary tattoos featuring parents' phone numbers. Designate a visible meeting spot if anyone gets lost.

Attending outdoor events can be enjoyable. Bring along the right items and the fun factor is increased.

MUSIC REVIEW

News From Planet Kniffen's 'Dreamland'

By RICK DISOTELL
nysmusic.com

Darryl Kniffen's brainchild News From Planet Kniffen released its debut album "Dreamland" last month and the Vermont-based sextet has shown it has the chops to produce some truly innovative fusion jazz/funk music.

An eclectic musician from Clifton Park, Kniffen has performed with a number of bands and musicians, and dominated the stage solo. He is responsible for all the arrangements found in NFPK's triumphant debut album.

The nine-track album begins with the promising "Blackness," a worthy introduction track with soaring horn and trumpet lines, setting the tone for the high-energy voyage the listener is about to embark upon. "Peace Journey" features a memorable piano line and some layered drumming with some ultra-smooth sax and trumpet, culminating in a peaceful and ambient tune. The third track is the only cover on the album, a fresh take on AC/DC's "Back In Black," which manages to be both inventive and new, while remaining faithful to the hard rock classic.

The aptly-named "Midnight Drive" builds the groove up slowly, and lets each member of the group take turns showcasing their ability and cultivating an entrancing atmosphere. After the sultry mellow groove of "Midnight Drive," the band lets loose with the titular track, "Dreamland." This is arguably the most danceable number on the album, with a salsa influence shining through their already-recognizable style. This intoxicating Latin-inspired track is sure to animate a crowd.

"Song of Everest" follows on "Dreamland's" heels with a heavy-metal inspired riff and some aggressive piano, adding more depth to the eclectic palette of the album. "Everest" brings some dark, raw energy that adds interesting variety and features a riveting peak and breakdown. "Beautiful Mystery" is essentially the tonal opposite of the previous song, with NFPK returning to their original, undeniably jazzy sound. "Inspiration" builds on a wave of pleasant horns and a steady build to a euphoric crescendo before the epic coup-de-grace that is "Tick Tock." "Tick Tock" evokes the feeling of an old spy movie, with its jaunty piano-line and frantic pace, instilling a dramatic sense of urgency.

News From Planet Kniffen shows tons of promise with its first foray into the world of jazz-fusion, with a debut album that blends mesmerizing soundscapes with genre-bending arrangements and musical prowess. These guys are not to be missed.

"If you're awake, you're [hearing] music — whether it be daytime on the main stage, at night in the tent, or the really-late night at the silent disco format."

— Tony Scavone,
Disc Jam organizer

Are you ready?

Disc Jam has moved from venue to venue as its popularity has grown. Initially having its start in Central Massachusetts, it has tapped into the streamline of the robust jam scene residing here in the Northeast. Only in its eighth year, the four-day music and arts festival has developed a strong reputation for quality entertainment. It has since moved across the border to Stephentown, and despite opening its gates on the same weekend as Mountain Jam, it still flourishes. With the number of funk and jambands promised for the show — for many — it's just as big as the one in Hunter.

"I'm gaining some traction in the area," said Disc Jam organizer Tony Scavone. "I don't think we're as big as Mountain Jam is, but I appreciate that compliment."

Disc Jam kicks off on what Scavone calls a "non-stop lineup" of music starting at 2 p.m. on Thursday, June 7, and doesn't quit until the plug is pulled at 8 p.m. on Sunday, June 10.

"If you're awake, you're [hearing] music — whether it be daytime on the main stage, at night in the tent, or the really-late night at the silent disco format," he said.

Daily headliners include Aqueous and Moon Hooch (Thursday), The Motet and Galactic (Friday), Beats Antique and Lotus (Saturday) and Tom Marshall's Amfibian All-Stars (Sunday). Late night acts include Gubbulidis and solo sets from Ryan Dempsey and Brook Jordan, all of Twiddle (Thursday), DJ Logic & Friends and Barber Acoustic (Friday), and Electron and Tom Hamilton & Holly Bowling (Saturday).

Tickets for the festival are still available. Attendees can purchase full weekend passes or daily passes. Information on ticketing can be found at the Disc Jam website, discjammusicfestival.com.

Artists at Large

Once again, Disc Jam will have some of the biggest names in the jam scene performing throughout the festival, collaborating with artists and bands each day. Artists at Large for Disc Jam 2018 include Eli Winderman and Rob Compa (Dopapod), Michelangelo Carruba, Shira Elias, Craig Brodhead, Chris Brouwers, Greg Sanderson, Josh Schwartz (Turkuaz), DJ Logic, and Honeycomb. Experience the collective nature of the Disc Jam community as these incredible musicians join more than 100 artists from Thursday, June 7 to Sunday, June 10 in Stephentown.

Woods Stage Artists

This year, Disc Jam has four of the hottest promoters in the Northeast taking over the Woods Stage for themed electronic dance music takeovers. Thursday night will be produced by Rezinate, well known for promoting some of the sought after underground parties and events in Boston. Friday's duties go to Minus Zero Festival co-producers, NV Concepts, who will be presenting an entire night from the top house music artists off the Dirtybird Records Label, including Christian Martin, Kill Frenzy, Golf Clap and Ardalan. On Saturday, Brooklyn-based Sermon will host a night of bass music with U.K. producer Joker topping their list of womp artists. The Wook of Wall Street will be hosting nightly curated Silent Disco Sets that go until sunrise.

Disc Jam Flow Tribe

Disc Jam Flow Tribe performances at Disc Jam are a staple for attendees and will once again include a renowned team of well rounded performance artists who have been a major part of the Disc Jam family since 2012. The featured flow artist for 2018 is world renowned hula hooper, Rachael Lust. Lust will be hosting flow arts workshops for beginner to expert levels, with multiple sessions each day. A variety of workshops will be offered to broaden the mind, body and spirit. Choose from wellness, flow arts, yoga, painting, disc golf and permaculture classes available daily.

Visual Artists

Visual artists, including live painters and artists, will create massive murals and art installations throughout the site all weekend long. Featured artists Gabriel Welch, Stephen Kruse, Andy Reed, Raf Mata and many more will be creating murals, as well as curating an art gallery tent where attendees can view and buy artwork from all of the artists.

Disc Golf Tournaments

Disc golf is a game for experts, beginners, and everyone in between. Playing at least one round is a must for Disc Jam enthusiasts and the course encourages both the avid and first timer players to try their hand, all at no additional cost to play (outside of tournaments), with discs provided free of charge for those interested in playing.

Disc golf tournaments for men and women are held on Saturday and Sunday mornings, with cash and prizes from Innova Disc Golf, Grassroots California, Vibram Five Fingers shoes, Native Eyewear, Suspended in the Trees Hammocks, The Earth Ship Tents and more going to the top finishers. Nationally ranked and touring Team Innova Disc Golf Pro Gregg Barsby will be hosting the tournaments as well as playing rounds, hosting workshops and clinics all weekend long.

Last year, The Huffington Post described Disc Jam as a model for unique music festivals that successfully brings back audiences. Among its other attractions, the music, arts and disc golf has helped cultivate a family-friendly environment, which contrasts against the stereotypes that associate such events with drugs and unruly behavior. Cavone said that's not his crowd.

"I carry an event that caters to the right people," he said. "I don't pitch myself to a drug culture. I don't cater my event to a fad or trend. I'm catering my event to arts and music and community. The people who come to it, they are the representation of me. I lead with my best foot forward, and my people who come take that exact step. I have people who that come who are lawyers, they are teachers, some are in the medical field, nurses... The music, itself, caters to the type of people who we want.

People don't come [to Disc Jam] to cause trouble. There's no trouble to be found: There's body paint, bubbles and hula hoops," he said.

Doreen Montalvo as Gloria Fajardo, Gloria Estefan's mother.

From page B5 ... The rhythm will get you

while portraying the character in lab workshops prior to the musical's opening on Broadway. She was part of the original Broadway cast as part of its ensemble. She now returns to the national tour to play out her dream in her first principle role.

Montalvo said she was immediately struck by the details in "On Your Feet!"

"Being a little kid growing up in theatre, I never saw my people being represented as a whole on the stage," said Montalvo, who is of Puerto Rican heritage. "We saw West Side Story, and little things here and there. But, to see an entire culture represented on a Broadway stage, a Latin culture — not just Cuban — I'm so filled with pride every single night."

Gloria and Estefan

First bursting onto Top-40 radio formats with the Miami Sound

Machine in 1985, Gloria Estefan sold more than 100 million records and sold out stadiums around the world, while on her way to earning seven Grammy Awards. Her husband, Emilio, a lauded producer and musician himself, has 19 Grammy Awards. The story covers, not just the Estefan's storied rise within the music scene, but their lives and the struggles that impacted both of their careers.

Montalvo recalls how her sister Mildred introduced her to Gloria Estefan's music while the two were growing up. Miami Sound Machine had been playing well back into the '70s, and Gloria Estefan could be seen singing at weddings before a swell of Latin-themed music was pushed by the popularity of "Scarface" and "Miami Vice" in the mid '80s. Each touched upon the life within Cuban communities in Southern Florida, and mainstream America wanted more.

When Mildred learned that her sister was going to be in the musical, Doreen said she grabbed her CD and asked, "Can you have Gloria sign this for me?!"

She did.

The musical's storyline is set to chart-topping hits that include "Rhythm Is Gonna Get You," "Conga," "1-2-3," "Get On Your Feet," "Mi Tierra," "Don't Want To Lose You Now," and "Reach," in addition to an original song written by Gloria and her daughter, Emily Estefan.

The cast stars Christie Prades, who understudied the role of Gloria in the Broadway production, and now plays the starting role. Mauricio Martinez, who plays Emilio, is an award-winning actor and recording artist. It also stars Debra Cardona, as Gloria's grandmother; Jason Martinez, as Gloria's father, José Fajardo; Ana-Sofia Rodriguez and Carmen Sanchez, as Little Gloria; and Carlos Carreras and Jordan Vergara, as Nayib and Young Emilio.

"On Your Feet!" is directed by two-time Tony Award® winner Jerry Mitchell (Kinky Boots, Hairspray) and choreographed by Tony Award nominee & Olivier Award winner Sergio Trujillo (Jersey Boys, Memphis), with an original book by Academy Award winner Alexander Dinelaris (Birdman, The Bodyguard Musical).

Tickets for "On Your Feet!" range from $20 to $95. The show opens Wednesday, May 30, at 7:30 p.m. More shows include Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and matinees, including Sunday. Tickets are available at 432 State Street, Schenectady; by phone at (518) 346-6204; and online at proctors.org.
