GLENMONT — The Town of Bethlehem held a public meeting at Glenmont Elementary School on Tuesday, June 26, regarding the roundabout that will replace the four-way intersection connecting U.S. Route 9W with Feura Bush and Glenmont roads in Bethlehem Center by spring 2021. Approximately 40 people attended Tuesday's meeting, the first of several that will take place as details of the project are considered over the next year. The project will also add sidewalks along Route 9W and Glenmont Road.

MHLC, Five Rivers partner for property acquisition

By ALI HIBBS
hibbsa@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM — Residents of Bethlehem and New Scotland may have spotted cherry-red signs with white lettering on the corner of Fisher Boulevard and Route 85, which read: “Help us protect this land.”

Mohawk Hudson Land Conservancy is working to protect the Fisher Boulevard property and is asking for assistance from the community.

“For over a decade, these 35 acres — one of the few remaining open spaces in Slingerlands — have been under the threat of development,” says MHLC Executive Director Mark King. “The Fisher Boulevard property has been proposed as the site of eight-lot housing developments, and at one time even 35-40 houses were being considered. Now, MHLC is poised to protect these 35 acres forever, and we need the community’s help to raise the funds to make it happen.”

In an unprecedented partnership with NYSDEC’s Five Rivers Environmental Education Center and an anonymous landowner, MHLC intends to preserve these acres as open space while also incorporating them into the center, significantly increasing its acreage while expanding community access to nature, outdoor learning, and recreation. More than 100,000 people visit the center annually.

The Board of Directors of the Friends of Five Rivers citizens’ support group has already donated $5,000 to the MHLC to kick-start the effort to protect this property in perpetuity.

“The Friends of Five Rivers is happy to support this effort to save this open space,” states Joanne Macklin, Executive Director of the Friends of Five Rivers. “The project will provide the community with access to Five River Environmental Education Center from Fisher Boulevard in the near future.” MHLC and Friends of Five Rivers hope that neighbors in Bethlehem and New Scotland will join in the effort and donate to the cause to help protect the Fisher Boulevard property from future development.

“The land itself is a donation to MHLC,” explained Daron Blake, MHLC’s communications and outreach coordinator, “but our costs are high because of years of working to solidify the deal. We are seeking community support to help with these expensive transaction costs. We also need to create long-term stewardship funding for future monitoring and stewardship of the property.”

Thanks to the Friends of Five Rivers, the conservancy is already a quarter of the way to reaching its goal of $20,000. “If we don’t reach our funding goal through donations from this campaign, we will

Octogenarian Organization

Twenty-two members of the Elsmere Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary celebrated the organization’s 80th anniversary with a dinner at The Boathouse in New Baltimore on Thursday, June 7. Established on May 12, 1938, the Auxiliary’s stated mission is “to aid and support the firefighters of the Elsmere Fire Company A, Inc. and to perform such services as may be requested by the Elsmere Fire Company A, Inc. and/or its Board of Fire Commissioners of the Elsmere Fire District.”

use the money which we have raised to cover the closing costs,” said Blake, “and will continue to seek funding for the long-term stewardship costs.”

The Fisher Boulevard property features open fields and white pine forests are dotted with vernal pools.

Its addition to the existing 450 acres of Five Rivers is one of the last opportunities to expand the Center beyond its current boundaries, according to MHLC. The conservancy hopes to add the 35 acres to Five Rivers and to forever extinguish the threat of development with financial support from the community.

TOWN GOVERNMENT

Longtime Bethlehem public servant dies

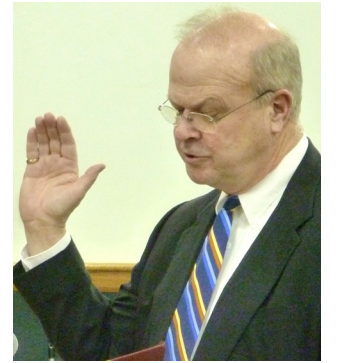

BETHLEHEM—Former Town Board member George Lenhardt died on Wednesday, June 27, following a long illness.

Lenhardt, who served for 12 years on the Town Board and on the Planning Board prior to that, was a well known and much respected public servant. He graduated from Bethlehem Central High School in 1965.

“I will miss him. I think the whole community will miss George,” said former Town Board member Doris Davis. Davis served with Lenhardt on both boards and the two formed a friendship. “He was a real civil servant. He was smart, he had a dry sense of humor and he was just an all around really nice man. And the community was really important to him.”

According to Davis, Lenhardt always came to meetings prepared with all the background information necessary to address the various issues concerning the town and its residents. “I had a lot of respect for him,” Davis said with emotion. “I still do. I always will.”

He is survived by his wife, Lynne, and their children Brian and Kimberly.

POLICE, CALLS and EMERGENCIES

Failure to stop leads to DWI

DELMAR—Suzanne Furlong, 54, was arrested by Bethlehem police on Thursday, June 14, for a misdemeanor DWI.

Furlong reportedly failed to come to a complete stop at the intersection of Adams Place and Adams Street, and, upon approaching the vehicle, police say they observed a shoe fall out the driver's open door and a strong odor of alcohol coming from her breath.

According to BPD, Furlong failed all field sobriety tests and tested positive for alcohol.

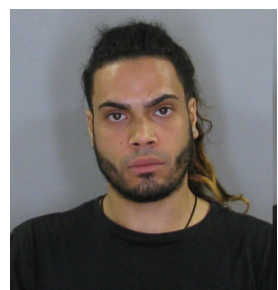

She was taken into custody and charged with two misdemeanors for operating under the influence and a traffic infraction for failing to stop at the stop sign.

She was processed and released with a return court date of Tuesday, July 3.

ID thief arrested

DELMAR—Bethlehem police arrested Gabriel Samuel Cardona, 28, for felony identity theft and felony grand larceny on Monday, June 18.

Cardona reportedly committed grand larceny at the SEFCU in Slingerlands and was located after police tracked the vehicle and questioned his roommate, who admitted to driving Cardona to the bank at the time the crime was committed.

CARDONA

Cardona was taken into custody at that address and charged with the felonies. According to reports, he confessed to police and shared with them how he was able to obtain the victim's account information.

He was arraigned before a judge and sent to Albany County jail on $25,000 cash/bond. A preliminary hearing was set for Friday, June 22. His next court appearance is scheduled for Tuesday, July 17.

Forgery arrest

FEURA BUSH—Bethlehem police arrested Patricia Durso, 43, on Monday, June 18, after she turned herself in on a warrant for an alleged felony criminal possession of a forged instrument between the dates of Tuesday, March 27, and Wednesday, June 13.

Durso arrived at the Bethlehem Police Department with her attorney and was processed on the above charge and released under supervision of probation. She is scheduled to appear in court on Tuesday, July 17

Cohoes man arrested for cocaine

COEYMANS—State troopers from Thruway Troop T and investigators from Troop G in Latham arrested a 31-year-old Cohoes man on Wednesday, June 27.

Nestor L. Baez of Cohoes, was arrested following a traffic stop on the Thruway in the Town of Coeymans, where he was reportedly found to be in possession of more than 25 grams of cocaine and more than five grams of marijuana. He was also reportedly found to be in violation of a court issued order of protection.

Baez was charged with the felonies of criminal possession of a controlled substance and criminal contempt. He was processed at the state police station in Albany and arraigned in the Town of Coeymans Court, where he was remanded to the Albany County jail on $20,000 bail / $40,000 secured bond pending a future court appearance.

Marijuana merchant busted

DELMAR—Bethlehem police arrested Benjamin Miller, 26, on Tuesday, June 19, for criminal sale of a controlled substance, criminal possession of a controlled substance and criminal sale of marijuana, all felonies.

According to reports, police stopped Miller on Delaware Avenue in Delmar after noticing that his vehicle had a non functioning headlight and observed marijuana in a glass jar in the rear of the vehicle. Upon further investigation, police say they found multiple quantities of marijuana, plastic bags, a scale, a glass pipe and multiple containers of cannabis-based oils. When asked what he did for a living, Miller reportedly replied that he sold marijuana.

In addition to the three felonies, Miller was charged with three misdemeanor drug counts for paraphernalia and possession, and a vehicle infraction for the headlight.

He is scheduled to appear in court on Tuesday, July 17.

Town Supervisor paints over anti-semitic graffiti

SLINGERLANDS—After a resident discovered anti-semitic graffiti underneath the Cherry Avenue bridge along the rail trail, Supervisor David VanLuvan bought a can of paint and painted over the offensive message on Wednesday, June 27.

On Thursday, Bethlehem Police Commander Adam Hornick said that the department had “very good leads” on the culprits' identities.

“As our investigation has determined that there are multiple people responsible for this graffiti, we are continuing working on this case until all involved subjects have been identified and dealt with,” said Hornick.

“The Bethlehem Police Department also wishes to remind all businesses that sell spray paint in Albany County, that there is a county law prohibiting the sale of spray paint to anyone under the age of 18. Local Law 5 passed by the Albany County Legislature in 2008 made the sale of spray paint to a person under eighteen, a class A misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. Concurrent to our investigation into the graffiti we are also conducting a parallel investigation into how the juveniles obtained the spray paint. In the coming weeks, members of our agency will be visiting local merchants that sell spray paint to help educate them on this law and its importance for the community.”

Gas prices hit four year high for the 4th

francoj@spotlightnews.com

CAPITAL DISTRICT — Gas prices heading into the July 4 weekend were the highest holiday prices in four years, according to GasBuddy, an online company that tracks gas prices nationwide.

Nationwide, the average price for a gallon of regular is $2.90, the highest price on Independence Day since 2014, when an average of regular of hit $3.66 per gallon.

Also, after five weeks of seeing the price drop, the cost of gasoline is expected to rise as oil prices surged to $73 a barrel on Wednesday, June 27, the highest since 2014.

While the prices leading up to July 4 prices are below the summer high of $2.98 in May, the latest increase will still cost motorists about $1.02 billion more than last year.

The reasons for the increase are varied, according to Gas Buddy. The U.S. State Department ordered buyers to curb their oil purchases from Iran by November. In addition, OPEC's smaller than expected oil production increase last week fueled speculation that global inventories will continue to drop, and a government report showed U.S. oil inventories dropped three times as much as expected as total petroleum exports from the U.S. hit a new record high.

Even with high gas prices, most motorists aren't likely to curtail their travel during the holiday. But, different states do have different gas taxes and crossing state lines can cost money.

"In some extreme cases, we've seen consumers spend an extra $25 on a single tank when refueling on the wrong side of the line," said Patrick DeHaan, head of petroleum analysis at GasBuddy.

Sparkler safety tips

By ALI HIBBS

hibbsa@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY COUNTY— With Independence Day upon us, it seems like a good time to clarify fireworks regulations in New York state.

In 2014, the state Legislature passed a law allowing for the sale and use of a specific category of consumer fireworks called "Sparkling Devices" in counties that chose to legalize them. According to the New York state Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services, the "Sparkling Devices" that state law refers to are considered, "ground-based or handheld devices that produce a shower of colored sparks and/or a colored flame, audible crackling or whistling noise and smoke."

In 2016, Albany County legalized the use of sparkling devices. The neighboring counties of Schoharie, Greene, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Montgomery and Fulton legalized their use in 2015. To the southeast, Columbia County does not permit the use of any fireworks and, last May, Schenectady County repealed a 2015 law allowing them after the use of larger, illegal fireworks—which some thought were permitted under the new law—alarmed residents and local police.

As of January of this year, all state cities and counties with a population of one million or more are permitted to use sparkling devices unless that city or county specifically prohibits their sale and use. In addition to Schenectady and Columbia counties, Bronx, Kings, Nassau,

New York, Queens and Richmond counties have also banned them, according to NYSDHSES.

Per state law, the type, size and construction of those devices is limited: they must be handheld or mounted on a stake or spike, and may not exceed 500 grams of pyrotechnic composition. Sparkling

Some safety tips from NYSDHSES:

- Follow the directions located on the packaging
- Use sparklers outdoors, never indoors
- Wear eye protection when using sparklers
- Keep sparklers and novelty devices in a safe, secure location when not in use
- Keep an approved fire extinguisher nearby during a display
- Do not light more than one sparkler at a time
- Do not point a sparkler tube towards anyone or any part of your body
- Do not use sparklers when under the influence of alcohol or drugs
- Keep an approved fire extinguisher nearby during a display
- Do not try to relight or handle malfunctioning fireworks
- Douse malfunctioning and spent devices with water before discarding to prevent a fire
- Purchase sparklers and novelty devices from state registered retailers fountains, sparklers on wooden sticks (not metal) smoking devices, snakes, confetti-filled party poppers and paper-wrapped snappers are all allowed. Firecrackers, bottle rockets, roman candles, spinners and other aerial fireworks are not.

While the use of sparkling devices is now legal for adults, no one under the age of 18 is allowed to handle them in the state of New York. A parent who lets their child handle a sparkler, even one on a wooden stick, could face charges. Under state law, that would mean a class A misdemeanor for the first offense and a possible felony charge (class E) for a second violation within five years.

The law passed in 2014 and signed by Gov. Andrew Cuomo lets retailers sell sparkling devices from June 1 to July 5 and Dec. 26 to Jan. 1 each year. Additionally, temporary stands or tents can get a state permit to sell the sparkling devices from June 20 to July 5 and Dec. 26 to Jan. 1.

No need to talk circles

School's out across the county, but that didn't stop a few score of residents from collecting in Glenmont Elementary to share concerns over the intersection at the old Babcock Corners.

Of course, it's been a generation or two since it's been called that. Most people refer to it as the intersection of Route 9W and Feura Bush Road. Sometimes, you may have someone correctly throw mention of Glenmont Road in there, too. Anyone who travels through it may be more inclined to call it a headache above all else. The old name originates from the family farm that once sat where people now buy shoes, liquor and assortment of items for a dollar. It's been nearly half a century since that land resembled a farm.

In that time, the whole of Bethlehem has gone through considerable change. Out with the farms and in with residential developments that have caused its population to nearly double since 1960. One needs only to walk down Feura Bush Road to witness this boom. Shopping malls, apartments and homes dot the landscape. Expansive developments branch off from there, adding motorists to our roads. It wasn't too long ago that there was no sidewalk to walk upon on that stretch. Pedestrians straddled the narrow shoulder, and thanked generous motorists who nudged the yellow line to yield a more comfortable distance.

The old days are gone.

It's been more than 10 years since the Route 9W corridor has been identified as a focus area in need of change. Developments and big box stores have emerged, adding local and visiting traffic to our roads. What was once an intersection we were once able to manage while waiting for a few passing cars, has turned into a more panicked situation for those looking to turn left at any given moment. Keep in mind, these roads were first developed decades before as "turnpikes" to connect Albany to distant communities. They were the early day highways before such a term was coined in the '50s. Our traffic woes only bring this fact to light once again as we weigh in on our options to remedy this.

There is no quick fix, people have to come to terms with the eventual need for a roundabout. Though there should always be a concern for pedestrian safety. This area of town, as more residential developments are built and proposed, will continue to be a home. But, the crux of the issue centers around the throng of motorists who travel through town each day. And, it's only bound to get worse if not abated.

The roundabouts along Route 85 in Slingerlands and North Bethlehem have done a tremendous amount of good to relieve the rush hour congestion that once choked it years ago. The perceived challenge of driving through one is often due to the shortcomings of a few individual drivers who fail to pay attention or should learn the right of way. The safety of these traffic circles has been proven worldwide, and should not be ignored. As this town continues to grow, there are other corners of our neighborhood that could benefit, but that may prove an even tougher conversation than this.

We see the intersection of Kenwood and Cherry avenues in Slingerlands, and how rush hour traffic from New Scotland stagnates at that traffic light. The bridge and surrounding homes that abut those roads would make it near impossible to add a roundabout there without evasive measures.

This intersection, with its odd angles and blind spots, can and should be replaced with a roundabout.

This intersection has long been a source of frustration for those who travel through it on a regular basis, due to increasing traffic congestion as well as its awkward alignment and blocked sightlines. When developing the town's comprehensive plan in 2005, the Route 9W corridor was not only identified as an area expected to continue experiencing growth and but it was also recommended that the six-mile stretch from Hannay Lane in the north to Cottage Lane in the south be evaluated for possible improvements to accommodate increased traffic volumes. In 2008, the town conducted a transportation study on the corridor, building on land use findings and recommendations identified by the comprehensive plan, to "develop a focused and targeted U.S. 9W corridor transportation and land use vision and management plan."

The results of that study recommended replacing intersections using signals to control traffic flow through that span with roundabouts. In 2015, after a number of traffic studies compared signalized intersections with roundabouts, the roundabout option was deemed the most desirable for improving both traffic flow and safety. The following year, after the state Department of Transportation announced that funding was available for traffic congestion mitigation and transportation alternatives projects, the town submitted a proposal to build a roundabout and sidewalks at the Feura Bush/Glenmont/9W intersection. The proposed plan was approved by DOT, which will provide funding for 80 percent of the project's cost.

"We really want to hear from everyone tonight," said Creighton Manning engineer Steve Godlewski, emphasizing that the project is still in the draft phase. "What are the priorities? Is it pedestrian safety? Is it vehicle safety? Is it reducing the amount of time that someone needs to wait to get to Price Chopper? Is it having a beautiful area with beautiful lights or fancy historic lighting? Or landscaping, or streetscaping. That's the kind of stuff we want to hear tonight."

Godlewski said that there are certain requirements the project must meet to in order to qualify for the state funding. "There are minimum requirements we have to meet, whatever alternative we do." Easing traffic congestion and improving safety are among the things he stressed.

"We need to go through a detailed comparison of a traffic signal and a roundabout," he said, "just to verify that the previous studies are still valid."

Godlewski said that the town wants to know what concerns residents of the neighborhood have.

For example, "Is there a 100-year-old tree that someone's grandfather planted that would be in the way if we put the sidewalk on the south side?" he asked. "That's the sort of stuff we're trying to find out. We want to identify impacts to private property owners. We haven't done that yet. We have ideas, but that's very rough data at this point. We're going to meet with all those property owners."

"Last, but not least," he said, noting that the state owns the roads, "is DOT coordination."

Maps of the project area were available for attendees to look at in the back of the room where the meeting was held. Residents were encouraged to write comments on sticky notes and place them at areas of consideration.

Godlewski not only stressed that roundabouts are not traffic circles, but also discussed how municipal planners have gotten better at understanding and implementing geometric designs that slow vehicle traffic while promoting pedestrian and vehicle safety.

"One of the big benefits," he said, "is that [roundabouts] have traffic calming 24 hours a day." He explained how reduced speeds would make the intersection safer for pedestrians and dramatically reduce fatalities in the case of a car crash.

"There are thousands of roundabouts in the United States of America," said Godlewski. "Even more in Canada and the rest of the world. There's years and years and years of operational data. Roundabouts have been installed for the last 20-plus years. They've been operating around the clock and, in that time, there has been one pedestrian fatality. Traffic signals have a much worse track record for pedestrians."

Residents raised concerns about bicycle safety for experienced cyclists as well as young children. Godlewski said that, while an experienced cyclist may be able to navigate a roundabout, it would likely be safer for a 10-year-old to dismount and walk his or her bike through the intersection. He noted that there are certain features that could make the intersection more navigable for cyclists, such as dedicated lanes or a separate path.

To promote pedestrian safety, he said options such as raised crosswalks or flashing beacons that would alert drivers to the presence of pedestrians crossing the intersection have both proven effective.

One resident asked if the state Department of Motor Vehicles has been approached about educating drivers on how to navigate roundabouts. While Godlewski replied no, he did comment that it's an issue everywhere in the country and something people are working to change.

Other residents voiced concerns regarding large trucks, speed limits, lighting, making left turns from residences or local businesses and the impact of construction.

"Liz Staubach, our economic coordinator, and I reached out to every business with fliers," said Town Supervisor David VanLuven, "saying please come and participate. Because this is a project whose construction phase is going to have an impact on our local businesses. And so we need to work with those businesses to try to minimize that impact as much as possible."

"A lot of our objectives are going to be shaped by what we hear from you tonight," said Godlewski. "In terms of what your priorities are and what your objectives are."

Although popular alt rock duo SIRSY is temporarily grounded due to drummer and vocalist Melanie Krahmer's illness, she remains "brave and kind." The Capital District is following suit with an event designed to provide the strength, joy and better days she asks for at the song's start.

Local musician and comedian Erin Harkes, one of Krahmer's good friends and colleagues, is organizing a benefit, aptly named Melstock!, to help her with medical costs. Krahmer was diagnosed with breast cancer for a second time earlier this year.

Take kids to the park

Collar City's Barker Park series kicks off this week

TROY — The Troy Savings Bank Music Hall Corporation and The Troy Savings Bank Charitable Foundation kicks off their free summer fun for children with the Barker Park Kids' Summer Series on Thursday, July 5, at 11 a.m.

The first installment of the weekly series focuses on the heroes of the Collar City.

"Super Heroes, with their amazing abilities, have always captured the imagination of children and adults. Yet, we here at the Music Hall recognize that not every Super Hero wears a cape," said Jon Elbaum, TSBMH's Executive Director.

The children's series runs each Thursday at 11 a.m., from July 5 through Aug. 23, located on the corner of 3rd and State streets in downtown Troy.

The complete schedule:

July 5 - Troy Fire Department and Troy Police Department

The Barker Park series kicks off with a visit from the Troy Fire and Police Departments. The Fire Department will bring one of the big rigs and children will have a chance to get up close.

July 12 - Movement Story Hour with the Ellen Sinopoli Dance Company

Appropriate for children, toddler to age eight, the Ellen Sinopoli Dance Company's workshops are designed to nurture the creative potential of each child. The stories are drawn from the Ellen Sinopoli Dance Company's extensive collection of children's books and are led by its Artistic Director, Ellen Sinopoli. An array of fun filled visual and verbal tools are given to assist children in finding innovative shapes and imaginative ways to move.

July 19 - Andy The Music Man

Andy "The Music Man" Morse is a popular children's musician renowned for the special way he connects with his audiences. A talented guitarist, mandolin player and songwriter, Andy mingles traditional and original songs and novelty, delighting and involving kids through sing-a-longs, dancing, play-acting and storytelling.

July 26 - Ramblin Jug Stompers

Ramblin Jug Stompers have been kickin' up a vintage American roots-rockin' ruckus for more than a decade and they're still stompin' strong. Conjuring up the ghosts of early legends like Gus Cannon and Charlie Poole, mixing in the best of the '60s folk revival with some seasoning from the current Americana movement, Ramblin Jug Stompers have melded these influences with their own contemporary spin and wry sense of humor.

August 2 - Troy Public Library

The Troy Public Library will host a Story Hour with a very special visit from the one and only Spiderman! Appropriate for children ages 4 to 10 years of age, and the wearing of all Super Hero gear is encouraged.

August 9 - Heard

Heard is Elizabeth Woodbury

Kasius, composer/pianist, Jonathan Greene, woodwinds, Bobby Kendall, bass, Brian Melick, drums/percussion, and Zorkie Nelson on drums/percussion/vocal. Heard's energizing world music will put a smile on your face and get you up and dancing! The group will present an all-ages interactive show with percussion instruments for kids to check out and learn some rhythms!

August 16 - Watch Reggie Run - Dave Graham

Formed in 2017 by Dave and his son Luke who has autism, WATCH REGGIE RUN, is named after how they spend their time when not making music. The father/son duo shares a love of music and has found it to be a great way of connecting despite Luke's limited communication skills. Music can be a very powerful way of breaking down any barriers! The songs were all inspired by Luke. It's fun music for all ages!

August 23 - Seth & The Moodymelix

Borrowing from a wonderfully diverse mix of musical styles, this toe-tapping trio plays lyrically rich music for kids that parents can appreciate, too. With guitar by Seth Warden, fiddle by Doug Moody and percussion by Brian Melick, along with sweet harmony vocals, their songs impart good values and educational tidbits in a fresh upbeat organic style.

The benefit will take place at The Saratoga Winery, located on Washington Street, in Saratoga Springs, on Saturday, July 7, at 5 p.m. While admission is free, there is a $10 suggested donation at the door, with all proceeds directly benefiting Krahmer.

"When I found out about Mel's cancer, the first question in my mind was, 'how can we help?'" Harkes said. "I like to think of myself as a proactive person and I felt like I had to do something. Melanie would do this for anyone if the roles were reversed."

Ever since Krahmer announced her diagnosis on April 30, Harkes has been asking fellow musicians and comics to participate in a benefit for Krahmer. To date, she reports that she's been met with optimism.

"SIRSY was supposed to perform at The Saratoga Winery on the night of the benefit before everything happened," Harkes explained. "I contacted the winery and asked if they had found anyone to replace SIRSY, and they said no."

"I suggested putting together a benefit for Mel and getting everyone out to help her. They were so on board and have volunteered items to raffle off," Harkes continued. "Since then, it's been a work in progress. I'm still putting it together."

Harkes added that a member of The Lustre Kings, the internationally-renowned rockabilly band that's based here in the Capital District, contacted her after hearing about the diagnosis and asked what the band could do for Mel.

"I immediately asked them to jump on board with us, and they agreed," she said. "I will be singing with them."

Harkes also reached out to Ubuntu, the band that's performing at the Winery just before Melstock! It

"I finally said it's breast cancer because I needed someone to talk to. I was told by a friend that by saying it, that's how I'm raising awareness. I realized she was right."

— Melanie Krahmer, of SIRSY

has agreed to donate all proceeds from its show that afternoon to the benefit as well.

"[Ubuntu] stands for 'I am who I am because of all of who we are,'" Ubuntu manager and singer Sue Wolfer explained, adding there's a synergy between musicians that bonds them together. "You just step up and do the right thing. It's an honor to be a part of the bill."

In addition to performances by Harkes, The Lustre Kings, Ubuntu and other musical guests who have not been announced yet, Melstock! will also include a comedy night.

PICK OF THE WEEK

Get your lawn chairs

Powers Park concert series starts Saturday

LANSINGBURGH — The annual concert series in the 'burgh will back in full swing as Soul Sky kicks off the first of eight weekly shows on Saturday, July 9.

Powers Park will once again play host to the outdoor concert series in Lansingburgh, starting with a show from local favorite, Soul Sky.

Each show takes place on Saturday evening featuring a different musical act. Subsequent shows will include Back 40 Band, Rick Surrand and 1-4-5, The Refrigerators, Mat Mirabile Band, Big Sky Country, River Junction and Emerald City.

Each week will feature 50/50 raffles, prizes and food trucks. Dog owners are asked to keep their pets at home.

The scene is often compared to the Saratoga Performing Arts Center with locals often arriving to the park with lawn chairs and coolers to enjoy the music on the small patch of green.

Lansingburgh, with its Victorian Age homes and tree-lined avenues, has a storied past. It once stood as a city of its own before it was annexed by the City of Troy. Powers and Knickerbacker parks hint of affluent times, not too far from when author Herman Melville penned his first few novels, or when President Chester A. Arthur called it home.

The concert series was in jeopardy of falling victim of tough city funding cuts last year, before a grassroots effort headed by Troy musician Joe Mele salvaged it last year.

Vito Ciccarelli, who had previously been responsible for organizing the event through the City of Troy, is back at organizing the event.

Mele and his band Emerald City closes out the series with an Aug. 25 performance.

Times Union Center — Monday, July 9

ALBANY — This free outdoor summer movie series will transform a section of South Pearl Street into an open-air movie theater for six Monday evenings this summer! So, Pearl Street will close to traffic and films will be screened on the Times Union Center's enormous new LED screens each week. This coming Monday will be a screening of Invincible, a 2006 American sports drama directed by Ericson Core and based on the true story of Vince Papale, who played for the Philadelphia Eagles from 1976-1978.

Members of the Albany Empire arena football team will also be on hand to meet the public.

South Pearl Street will close to vehicular traffic from Beaver Street to Hudson Avenue at 6:30 p.m.. Music and games for all ages begin at 6:30 p.m. A new short film from award-winning non-profit digital media program Youth FX will play each week at 7 p.m., showcasing the work of talented young Capital Region filmmakers.

"Bites" will be available from local restaurants neighboring the Times Union Center. In addition, TU Center vendor Aramark will provide popcorn and soft drinks for purchase. Music and free games for all ages, including cornhole, giant Connect Four, chess, and dominoes, will add to the fun prior to the screening.

Upcoming screenings: July 16: The Goonies;

July 23: Jumaji: Welcome to the Jungle; July 30: Hidden Figures; Aug. 6: Rogue One: A Star Wars Story; and Aug. 13: Guardians of the Galaxy.

'Rocking Horse Winner' and 'Vinkensport, or The Finch Opera'

Double bill features the American premiere of 'Rocking Horse Winner,' the critically acclaimed chamber opera based on D.H. Lawrence's short story of the same name, and the world premiere of a new chamber version of 'Vinkensport.' "Winner" explores the relationship between Paul and his emotionally distant mother. Paul becomes dangerously obsessed with solving the "bad luck" of his family in order to win his mother's love. His pursuit awakens a strange magic that connects him not only to luck, but also to powerful voices only he can hear – voices that tell him which horses will win at the track. "Vinkensport" is a bittersweet comedy in one act that explores the nature of competition and the need to win through the frame of an obscure Flemish folk sport, Finch-Sitting. We see a motley assortment of contestants battle to see who has the most melodious bird. As they compete, the joys, sorrows, delusions and all-too-stark realities of their trainers are revealed. Please note that both productions contain suggestive, comedic adult content that may not be suitable for children. Shows: Fri., July 6, and Sat., July 14 at 2 p.m. The Spa Little Theatre, Saratoga Spa State Park, 19 Roosevelt Dr., Saratoga Springs. Ticket prices start at $50, $72.50, and $95. 'The Consul'

Almost 70 years later, Gian Carlo Menotti's riveting opera still delivers a punch as powerful and timely as its subject matter – the struggle for freedom against oppression, and the maddening nature of unrelenting bureaucracy. Set in an unnamed European city, political dissident John Sorel is on the run from the secret police. After he escapes the country, his devoted wife Magda clashes with the bureaucracy at the Consulate while trying to obtain an exit visa for her family. The emotional high point of the opera comes when Magda, thwarted in her quest for a visa, addresses the Consul's secretary in "To this we've come," a stirring lament over the world's indifference to inhumanity and suffering. The suspenseful narrative surprises with several magical touches and is buoyed by a melodic score in which love, hope, and redemption all play their part. Please note that this production contains mature themes and is not suitable for teenagers. Presented by Opera Saratoga. Sat., July 7, at 7:30 p.m.; Mon., July 9, and Sun., July 15, at 2 p.m. The Spa Little Theatre, Saratoga Spa State Park, 19 Roosevelt Dr., Saratoga Springs. Ticket prices start at $50, $72.50, and $95. (518) 584-9330 or tickets.spac.org (scroll to then click on preferred performance date and time).

HOROSCOPES

July 2018 Week 1

ARIES - MAR 21/APR 20
 Aries, when everything is going your way, you are absolutely glowing. But if things don't come naturally to you, frustration may set in. Find a balance between the two.

TAURUS - APR 21/MAY 21
 Taurus, planning stages are over and now you're about to turn your goals into reality. Just be sure to adapt to the changing environment as things unfold.

GEMINI - MAY 22/JUN 21
 Gemini, you might be seeking ways to help others in need, but you do not have patience when things take longer than expected. Stick to the plan and see it through.

CANCER - JUN 22/JUL 22
 Cancer, it is important to support others' goals and the steps they take to achieve them, even if you do not necessarily agree with their formula for success.

LEO - JUL 23/AUG 23
 Happiness has less to do with what is happening in the world and more with your own perceptions, Leo. Keep this in mind as you move forward in life.

VIRGO - AUG 24/SEPT 22
 Virgo, challenges at work may be tiring you out. People may seem like they are all over the map instead of working together. Try to get everyone going in the same direction.

LIBRA - SEPT 23/OCT 23
 Avoid going too far off in your own direction this week, Libra. Before making any rash decisions, take some time to ask questions and get answers.

SCORPIO - OCT 24/NOV 22
 Scorpio, if something doesn't initially work to your liking, don't be shy about giving it another go. The challenges ahead will be worth it when you ultimately succeed.

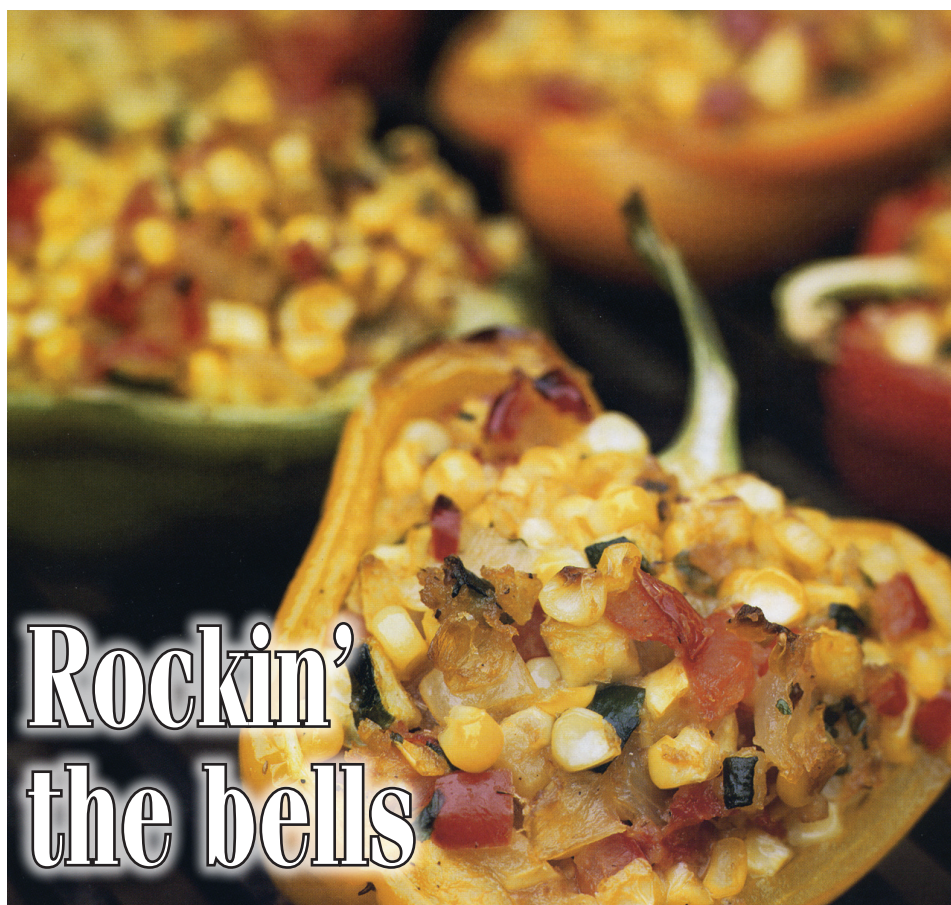

SAGITTARIUS - NOV 23/DEC 21
 Your creativity and emotions are linked this week, Sagittarius. Pour your heart and efforts into a special project that reflects just how you are feeling.

CAPRICORN - DEC 22/JAN 20
 Nothing in a current relationship is unfolding as you had expected, Capricorn. That's alright. This sense of adventure that keeps you guessing is a welcome change.

AQUARIUS - JAN 21/FEB 18
 Aquarius, working closely with others is one of your strong points. Disagreements on how to approach different projects can be tricky to navigate, but you're up to the task.

PISCES - FEB 19/MAR 20
 Pisces, this week there may be little separation between your career and personal life. If that works for you, forget the naysayers.

FOOD & VINO

Grillmasters know that grilling for friends and family is about more than just burgers and hot dogs. For those who want to add some more flavorful fare to their backyard barbecues, the following recipe for “Smoke-Roasted Bell Peppers Stuffed With Green Garden Vegetables” from Andrew Schloss and David Joachim’s “Mastering the Grill” is sure to please guests and grillmasters alike.

- 1 medium yellow squash, cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 2 cups fresh or frozen corn kernels
- 1 medium tomato, seeded and cut into 1/4-inch dice
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh herbs (such as parsley, oregano, basil, or a mix)
- 1/4 cup plain dried bread crumbs
- Oil for coating grill
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Smoke-Roasted Bell Peppers Stuffed With Green Garden Vegetables

Ingredients — Serves 4

- 2 medium red bell peppers
- 3 medium mixed bell peppers (yellow, orange, green)
- 3/4 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 medium zucchini, cut into 1/4-inch dice

The Grill

Seed, core and cut one of the red bell peppers into 1/4-inch dice. Cut the remaining bell peppers in half lengthwise right through the stem, leaving a bit of stem attached to each half. Cut out the cores, seeds and ribs from the interiors of the peppers, leaving the stem intact. Sprinkle the insides of the peppers with 1/4 teaspoon of the salt and 1/4 teaspoon of the pepper.

Melt the butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add the onion and saute until almost tender, about 4 minutes. Add the garlic, chopped bell pepper, zucchini, and yellow squash. Saute the vegetables until crisp-tender, about 4 minutes. Stir in the corn and tomato and cook until heated through, 1 to 2 minutes. Stir in herbs, bread crumbs and the remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Cook and stir until the bread crumbs soak up most of the liquid in the pan. Remove from the heat and spoon the filling equally into the pepper cavities.

When the grill is hot, put the soaked wood chips or chunks over the coals on both sides of the grill. If using gas, put the wood chips in a smoker box or in a perforated foil packet directly over one of the heated burners.

Brush the grill grate and coat it with oil. Put the stuffed peppers over the unheated part of the grill, cover, and cook until just tender, 20 to 30 minutes. If your grill has a temperature gauge, it should stay at around 350° F.

Remove the peppers to a large serving platter. Sprinkle with the Parmesan (if using) and serve.

Pairing

Robert Mondavi Private Select 'Bourbon Barrel Aged' Cab 2016

Robert Mondavi Winery — California

This is a unique pairing with a unique wine. It's a limited release that blends the Mondavi's winemaking with traditional bourbon production. The result is a blend of aromas ranging from black cherries, blackberries, vanilla, mocha and toasty oak. There are notes of coffee and smoke that enhances your grilling experience.

Of course, the best pairing is one of your own choosing. Let us know what you think by reaching out to us on Facebook at TheSpot518.com. Please share what pairings you ultimately went with.

Guard from sun-kissed eyes

Blue skies and ample sunshine help makes summer special. Come summer, many people spend more time enjoying recreational pursuits and everything seems a bit more laid back.

Even though people may take a more relaxed attitude in summer, the National Eye Institute says people should wear sunglasses that block UV radiation whenever they head outdoors in daylight hours. This is essential for men, women and children. Sunglasses are necessary during the times of day when the sun's rays are at their strongest, but wearing them anytime the sun is out can protect one's vision.

Sunglasses present a great defense against UV rays that can cause short- and long-term eye damage, states the American Academy of Ophthalmology. Diseases such as cataracts, cancer and growths on the eye all can result from prolonged exposure to UV rays, which can damage the eye's surface tissues as well as the cornea and lens. Prolonged exposure to UV rays also may affect retinal cells.

When purchasing sunglasses to protect the eyes, consumers should consider these important factors.

- Ultimate protection: The American Optometric Association says that sunglasses should offer 100 percent protection against both UVA and UVB rays. Some glasses will simply list a numerical indicator. In such instances, sunglasses that offer protection against UV 400, which will encompass the wavelengths for both UVA and UVB rays, are best.

- Buy from a reputable retailer. Not all sunglasses live up to their claims. Sunglasses sold at doctors' offices, department stores and sunglass speciality shops often meet the standards for protection, advises The Vision Council, a trade organization for the optical industry.

- Choose tint for activity. Tint will not affect UV protection, but it can make certain activities more enjoyable. Darker lenses may help at the beach, where there is more reflective light. Orange or yellow lenses increase contrast while driving or fishing. On cloudy days, amber or rose lenses can help improve contrast. Customers should choose a tint that makes them feel comfortable.

- Polarized lenses help fight glare. Polarized lenses and those with anti-reflective coatings can alleviate glare. Such lenses work by only letting in specific amounts of light at certain angles, which helps to reduce the brightness of that light, says the Discovery Eye Foundation.

- Go big. Bigger frames or wrap-around designs can further block UV light from different angles, particularly the side of the eye.

Consumers should consider various factors when shopping for their next pair of sunglasses. For more eye safety tips for the summer, visit www.aaopt.org.

“Everyone needs a laugh right now,” Harkes explained, adding she will be one of the comics on stage.

Quentin Davis, Jen McMullen, Jim Felter, Dre Cerbin and Ryan Shanahan will be joining Harkes for the comedy portion of the Melstock!

“I want this to be a huge event,” Harkes said. “I don’t want it to be heavy though. I want everyone to have fun.”

Harkes continued this will be the first of many benefits for Krahrmer.

“We will keep going until she doesn’t need the help anymore,” Harkes said.

“Whether that’s two, five, seven, 10 benefits. And then we will start a benefit for others in need. This will be an ongoing thing for those in need, even after Mel gets better.”

Harkes will add Krahrmer’s GoFundMe page to her website for anyone who is looking to donate to the cause or is looking to make a donation and cannot be at the concert.

To access the GoFundMe, visit www.gofundme.com/sirsy.

Krahrmer posted an announcement about her diagnosis to Facebook on April 30. She has been open about her previous battle with cancer and was in remission for a little over seven years before the recent diagnosis.

“She was probably flooded with thousands of messages after she put that up,” Harkes said, adding she had no idea Krahrmer was awaiting biopsy results.

“I had just talked to her two days before to talk about trivial things in my life, and she didn’t mention it at all,” Harkes said. “I was heartbroken for her and Rich.”

Rich, or Richard Libutti, is Krahrmer’s partner, both in marriage and in the band.

The duo performed 218 shows in 2017, according to the GoFundMe page created for Krahrmer.

Krahrmer is overwhelmed by the love and kindness shown by her community and those who have reached out, she said.

“I have been receiving cards and hanging them up on the walls in my kitchen,” she said. “I feel special. I’m totally overwhelmed in a good way. I can’t thank everyone enough for the cards, emails, Facebook messages and love.”

She added the love and planned benefit are appreciated in a time where everything in SIRS’Y’s life is on hold. Being full time musicians, performing is the couple’s only source of income.

“People have been so supportive luckily,” she said. “This disrupts every single part of your life. Without this, we’d have absolutely no money coming in. I’m so thankful and so blessed that people are so kind.”

Krahrmer has wrestled with many different emotions since receiving her diagnosis, she said. She found out her cancer had come back while she and

Libutti were driving to a show in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"We pulled over into a gas station and just hugged one another and cried," she said. "We were heartbroken. I felt such sadness that the cancer had come back because I never thought in a million years it would."

This is her second bout of breast cancer in a decade. Krahrmer had just celebrated her seventh year cancer free when she received the diagnosis. According to cancer.gov, most cancers that recur do so within the first five years, making Krahrmer's diagnosis even more of a surprise.

Krahrmer continued she then felt anger because SIRSY had to cancel its West Coast tour so she could return back to the Capital District for treatment.

"I'm now at a point of acceptance," she continued. "I'm also grateful because the doctors caught it early enough, and I'm going to live."

She also struggled with disclosing the type of her cancer because of the inevitable glances she would get.

"When I say breast cancer, eyes automatically go down to my breasts," she said. "It's totally involuntary; I know people aren't doing it to be inappropriate or malicious."

"But I finally said it's breast cancer because I needed someone to talk to," she continued. "I was told by a friend that by saying it, that's how I'm raising awareness. I realized she was right."

Krahrmer said she hopes to be back to the stage by SIRSY's Freedom Park performance in late August.

"We feel very lost and out of sorts right now," she said. "I can't wait to get back on stage."

EAGER

Melanie Krahrmer said she plans to be out performing within the next few months.
