Town officials on what is Bethlehem's character

BY DIEGO CAGARA

cagarad@spotlightnews.com

The concept of "preserving the town's character" has been frequently brought up, particularly as the comprehensive plan is now undergoing a major overhaul. But what exactly is Bethlehem's character as a town?

Town Supervisor David VanLuven said that Bethlehem "is a rich mixture of suburban neighborhoods, thriving commercial districts and big industries, along with farms and forests and fields. It has a fair amount of variety; that's what makes it so interesting and an attractive place to live."

As Town Hall looks at a new comprehensive plan, residents often speak of the town's character, but what exactly is that?

Car crash brings multiple DWIs

DELMAR — A 49-year-old Delmar man was arrested for drunk driving and speeding on Friday, Dec. 28 at 5:41 p.m.

Joel Elliot Sproul allegedly lost control of his 2016 Subaru Outback, causing it to strike a tree and crash into a ditch in front of 489 Orchard St.

Upon arrival, police reportedly found him standing on the side of the road near his damaged car.

They noted an alcoholic beverage odor from his breath, his bloodshot, watery eyes, and slurred speech.

When asked what happened, police observed his incapability of forming sentences and remembering the events that led to the crash.

He was found to have a BAC of 0.19 percent, was placed in custody and transported to BPD.

He was charged with aggravated DWI with a BAC of 0.18 percent or more, a DWI with a BAC of 0.08 percent or more, a common law DWI misdemeanor, failure to keep right to lane, and imprudent speed.

Drunk driving, no turn signal

DELMAR — A 36-year-old Delmar woman was arrested for drunk driving and a traffic infraction on Saturday, Dec. 29 at 12:37 a.m.

According to police reports, an officer noticed that Stacy Marie Schueller failed to signal while making a right turn in her 2016 Honda Civic off Route 9W onto the Delmar Bypass.

Upon pulling her over, the officer noted an alcoholic beverage odor from her breath, her watery eyes and slurred speech.

After failing sobriety tests, she was taken into custody and transported to the Bethlehem Police Department where she was found to have a BAC of 0.10 percent.

Schueller was charged with DWI, operating a motor vehicle with 0.08 or higher percent of BAC, and improper turning with no signal.

Glenmont roundabout workshop date set

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

GLENMONT — Residents can learn more about the upcoming roundabout project during an open house and public workshop scheduled to take place at Glenmont Elementary School, located at 328 U.S. Rte. 9W on Thursday, Jan. 17, at 6 p.m.

A 30-minute open house will begin at 6 p.m., followed by the public workshop at 6:30 p.m. This workshop, the second of three planned with regards to the roundabout's design phase, includes both a formal presentation and Q&A session. The first public workshop was held back on June 26, 2018, with nearly 100 residents in attendance and the third has yet to be announced.

The $4.9 million project will transform the existing four-way intersection, where Feura Bush and Glenmont roads meet Route 9W, into a roundabout to reduce both traffic congestion and the frequency of right-angle and head-on crashes which occur there. Other improvements will include new crosswalks, rectangular rapid-flashing beacons, and establishing 2,800 feet of sidewalk which would connect pedestrians and cyclists from the Glenmont Elementary School and Vagele Lane.

The Jan. 17 workshop's presentation will feature project concept designs developed by Albany-based engineering firm Creighton Manning, the consultant retained by the town, and showcase how public input received during last June's meeting was incorporated into those designs. Town staff and consultants from Creighton Manning are expected to be on hand to speak with residents who wish to learn more about it.

The impacts the roundabout's construction may have on nearby businesses is expected to be addressed during the presentation.

During the Dec. 21, 2018 Industrial Development Agency meeting, Bethlehem's Planning Division Director Robert Leslie said, "We've been meeting with several of the area's businesses by the intersection — like Town Squire [Plaza], gas stations, CVS — to talk to them about Officials hope the installation of a roundabout at the long-troubled intersection of Feura Bush and Glenmont roads with Route 9W will improve traffic and road safety.

Michael Hallisey / Spotlight Newspapers potential changes and driving access and making improvements for safer turns in and out of those businesses, as the roundabout project is under design. We're doing a lot of the behind-the-scenes work with businesses before moving ahead with the public meeting."

The project was unanimously approved by the Bethlehem Town Board in early May 2018. Eighty percent of the project's cost, or $3.9 million, will be funded through a grant by the Transportation Alternatives Program, and Congestion Mitigation and Air Quality Improvement Program (TAP-CMAQ) of the state DOT and the town would pay the other 20 percent or $975,000.

Construction on the project is scheduled to start in 2020 and wrap up no later than 2021.

Monolith Solar is on a time crunch

Building permits to expire on Jan. 31

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM — Solar panel installation company Monolith Solar has not provided any updates nor information since the town's Dec. 21 Industrial Development Agency (IDA) meeting regarding how it plans to move forward with construction of its incomplete Slingerlands headquarters building at the Vista Technology Campus.

The IDA had requested Monolith Solar to maintain some communication with them in the meantime so that it would not have to wait until the next IDA meeting on Friday, Jan. 25 to learn of any new updates.

Both Bethlehem Planning Division Director Robert Leslie and IDA Executive Director Thomas Connolly confirmed the lack of communication from Monolith Solar to Spotlight News on Friday, Jan. 4. While Spotlight News reached out to Monolith Solar requesting comment, a representative declined for now, citing lack of staff availability due to the recent holiday season.

The lack of updates poses the question as to whether the company is able to restart construction on the aforementioned building, which had ceased abruptly in September 2017. More than 50 workers were furloughed that same month too. Leslie said that he was "informed by a stormwater officer" that the site is in compliance as a shutdown site though in terms of stormwater management and sediment control; however, it lacks some form of security fence which the town had requested.

Adding to the town's concerns are the site plan which expired on Thursday, Dec. 13, after having received two 90-day extensions — it was originally issued back in March 2015. The building permits will expire on Thursday, Jan. 31. In order to continue construction, the company is required to reapply with the Bethlehem Planning Board for re-approval of both documents.

"Getting approval from the Planning Board shouldn't be an undertaking because the plans

The 26,000-square foot construction site, above, remains incomplete; it could still go untouched for months.

Diego Cagara / Spotlight Newspapers

from the previous application can be used again for this new application," said Leslie during the aforementioned Dec. 21 IDA meeting.

In addition, Monolith Solar is also facing at least three lawsuits from other companies alleging that it has not paid its bills, the most recent was filed by Solar Foundations USA in early December. The company had named Chris Stroud as its new CEO in late October after the previous one, Mike Hickey, left after one year in office for a job at Siena College.

Steve Erby, the owner of Monolith Solar appeared at the Dec. 21 IDA meeting, saying that while he does not have many reassuring updates, he said that the company has been working with both Columbia Development developer Joe Nicolla and Pioneer Bank, which was financing the construction, to resolve the situation. He also confirmed that the company is "still operational on a very small basis ... our headcount is about 30 people, we have called back a few people that we had furloughed." He did not reveal the exact number of returning employees though.

When asked if Monolith Solar still has the budget and resources to complete the construction project, Erby said, "We do and we have outside turnaround consultants from KeyBank which are helping us with that and they've done a phenomenal job. The revenue for 2019 is projected right now to be a gross of ... I believe we're in the $60 million to $70 million range."

He also revealed that there is "no timeframe right now when the project would be resolved" and that the company had "hoped for an April restart construction timeframe, but now, we're hoping for January 2020, but only after going through the Planning Board process."

He concluded, "It's a shame, it's a beautiful building."

For now, Monolith Solar employees are working out of a Rensselaer office since leaving Corporate Woods.

The next IDA meeting, which is expected to include discussion on Monolith Solar, is scheduled to take place on Friday, Jan. 25, beginning at 8 a.m., inside Bethlehem Town Hall, located at 445 Delaware Ave. in Delmar.

PUBLIC NOTICE APPLICATION OF NIAGARA MOHAWK POWER CORPORATION D/B/A

LEGALSNATIONAL GRID FOR A CERTIFICATE OF ENVIRONMENTAL COMPATIBILITY AND PUBLIC NEED FOR ITS PIPELINE E37 RELIABILITY AND RESILIENCY PROJECT IN ALBANY AND RENSSELAER COUNTIES

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation d/b/a National Grid ("National Grid") or the "Applicant", on or about January 11, 2019, will file an application (the "Application") in the above entitled matter with the Public Service Commission ("Commission") for a Certificate of Environmental Compatibility and Public Need pursuant to Article VII of the Public Service Law. The Application will propose a project to install approximately 7.3 miles of a new 16-inch diameter natural gas transmission pipeline within the Applicant's Eastern New York gas service territory in the Town of Bethlehem in Albany County, New York and the Towns of East Greenbush and North Greenbush in Rensselaer County, New York (the "Project").

During the course of the proceeding, alternate routes not included in the Application filing or affected by the proposed route may be offered without further notice by publication. In addition, the Commission may, without further notice by publication, approve a route for the pipeline that traverses municipalities not presently affected by the proposed route.

The Project is subject to the permitting requirements of Section 121-a of Article VII of the New York State Public Service Law, and National Grid must receive a Certificate of Environmental Compatibility and Public Need from the Commission before constructing the Project.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PROJECT

The Project involves the installation of a new 16-inch diameter natural gas transmission pipeline and associated facilities in a west to east/northeast direction beginning approximately 885 feet north of the Bethlehem Gate Station on River Road in the Town of Bethlehem, and extending northeast to the Troy Gate Station located on Bloominggrove Road in the Town of North Greenbush, for a total distance of approximately 7.3 miles. The new pipeline will have a maximum allowable operating pressure ("MAOP") of 300 pound-force per square inch gauge ("PSIG").

The Project will close the Albany Loop, which is an existing National Grid transmission main that travels in a counter-clockwise horseshoe shape from Troy to Bethlehem. By closing the loop, the new pipeline ("Pipeline E37") will allow for diverse sources of natural gas to enter the distribution system, thereby enhancing the reliability of the natural gas system that is needed to serve the region. This reliable transmission of gas allows residential and business customers to operate more predictably and efficiently.

National Grid is proposing to maintain an existing 20 foot-wide (10 feet on each side) right-of-way ("ROW") for the Project. The Project ROW is primarily located along land already owned by the Applicant and permanent easements on private property and road ROWs. The Project will also cross under CSX and Amtrak railroad lines and other utilities. In addition, temporary easements will be obtained for necessary construction working space, access roads, and marshalling yards.

The Project ROW and associated workspace will predominantly be co-located in the existing cleared corridor associated with National Grid's Reynolds Road - Feura Bush 345 kilovolt overhead electric line #5. The Project includes the installation of anodes, grounding grids, charging stations, main line valves, remote blow downs, and all related appurtenances. In addition, robotic launch points will be installed at each valve site location. Clearing of trees and vegetation will occur within the temporary and permanent easement areas. Standard forestry equipment will be utilized to remove existing vegetation from work areas and the proposed location of the pipeline trench.

Open trench methods will be used for construction, except in certain specified locations. Trench excavation depth for the Project will vary based on the National Grid requirements per location type. Trenchless construction methods (including horizontal directional drilling and a conventional bore) for crossings under certain roads and the Hudson River will be used. Utilizing trenchless technology equipment, a path is drilled through the soil. Subsequently, the gas pipe is pulled through the void which has been drilled.

PROPOSED ROUTE
The proposed route of the Project will traverse the Town of Bethlehem in Albany County and extend northeast through the Towns of East Greenbush and North Greenbush in Rensselaer County, for a total distance of approximately 7.3 miles. The precise route can be found in the Applicant's filing, which will be available for public inspection as described below.

DATE OF FILING

National Grid expects to file the Article VII Application on or about January 11, 2019.

AVAILABILITY OF APPLICATION
A copy of the Application filed with the Commission will be served upon the chief executive officers of the municipalities (Towns of Bethlehem, East Greenbush and North Greenbush) and counties (Albany and Rensselaer) traversed by the proposed route. On or shortly after the date the Application is filed with the Commission, copies of the Application will be delivered to local public libraries and town halls in or near each of the above towns to be made available for public inspection: specifically, Albany Public Library (161 Washington Street, Albany, NY 12210), North Greenbush Public Library (141 Main Avenue, Wynantskill, NY 12198), East Greenbush Community Library (10 Community Way, East Greenbush, NY 12061), Bethlehem Public Library (451 Delaware Avenue, Delmar, NY 12054), North Greenbush Town Hall (2 Douglas Street, Delmar, NY 12054), East Greenbush Town Hall (225 Columbia Turnpike, Rensselaer, NY 12144) and Bethlehem Town Hall (445 Delaware Avenue, Delmar, NY 12054).

LEGALS

In addition, copies will be available for public inspection at the Department of Public Service Offices in Albany (Office of Central Files, 14th Floor, Three Empire State Plaza, Albany, NY 12223) and will be posted on the Commission's website (www.dps.ny.gov). A link to the PSC website page that contains the Application will be provided on National Grid's website for the Project (www.nygasprojects.com).

■ OBITUARY

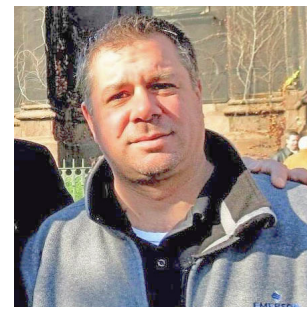

Bruno, Daniel S.

COHOES — Daniel Scott Bruno, 45, passed away peacefully and unexpectedly, at home, on December 30, 2018.

Born in Albany on August 3, 1973, Daniel was raised in Latham and was a graduate of Shaker High School where he was a stand-out athlete playing baseball, football and basketball. He later graduated from the Modern Welding School and took employment with Highland Tank in Watervliet as a welder.

Dan loved sports and was an avid fan of the Boston Red Sox and the Pittsburgh Steelers. He had played Connie Mack baseball with the Latham Padres. He was a great player and an outstanding teammate. Dan will also be remembered for being a friend to everyone he met and for being a social butterfly.

He was incredibly proud of being a "prop dad" to his dancer daughters and was always so supportive of all the team dancers at their competitions. He had a heart of gold and would do anything for anyone at a moment's notice; he truly enjoyed helping others.

Dan cherished his family, especially his wife, Becky, and his daughters, Bella and Kylie. They were the loves of his life. Dan's passing leaves a void that can never be filled, but there is comfort in knowing that he is now with his mom Rosemarie and his cousin Jerry. Daniel was the much loved husband of Rebecca "Becky" L. (Kochendoerfer) Bruno; cherished father of Isabella "Bella" A. Bruno and Kylie R. Bruno; son of the late Rosemarie (Scalsetto) Rafferty and Arthur K. Rafferty Jr. (Lorie Meineker) and biological son of Joseph F. Bruno Sr.; brother of Joseph F. Bruno Jr. (Jean); son-in-law of Linda and William McGuirk and Dewey Kochendoerfer (Trudy); brother-in-law of Terry Blasi, Connie Miner (Joe Yanni) and Lee Miner (Paula). Also surviving are numerous aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins and countless friends.

A funeral Mass for Daniel was celebrated by the Reverend Geoffrey D. Burke on Dec. 9 in Our Lady of the Assumption Church, 498 Watervliet Shaker Road, Latham. The Rite of Committal and interment will follow in Our Lady of Angels Cemetery, Colonie. Friends also visited with Daniel's family on Dec. 28 at the Bowen & Parker Bros. Funeral Home, 97 Old Loudon Road in Latham. Contributions, in Daniel's memory, may be made to the Ronald McDonald House Charities of the Capital Region at rmhcofalbany.org. Visit bowenandparkerbros.com to leave a message of condolence.

Town Board member Jim Foster said that each resident can define what the town's character is differently and that "it's not only defined by buildings, our open spaces, historical landmarks and landscapes, but it's also by people and their history and their values."

He reiterated that it's the overall community feel that keeps the town close. "Ultimately, it's good, friendly, warm neighbors who love the community deeply and want to preserve the small-town feel. It can be anything from a passing exchange at a coffee shop, to sharing moments over a baseball field, or going to small businesses and supporting neighbors."

Fellow Town Board member Maureen Cunningham appreciated how Bethlehem is a welcoming and family-oriented community. "I see safe streets where kids can walk and bike around. I also think of community events like the Turkey Trot and menorah lighting, which are different events that still bring in our community members to help keep make this town grow stronger."

She offered an anecdote where on Thursday, Dec. 13, her 12-year-old son had walked to the Four Corners —located at the intersection of Delaware and Kenwood avenues in Delmar— and while she knew he was safe there, she knew the small business owners' first names there. "Knowing people's names is one way of knowing we have a strong sense of community. It's like getting a coffee or a sandwich in town and the people there know you personally. It's why, in my opinion, a lot of the town's character is intangible."

Speaking of neighbors, there was a general consensus among the town officials that engaging the residents in conversations about town matters and issues is of paramount importance.

VanLuven and Cunningham brought up, for example, how they've met dozens of residents to learn what issues those people cared about during the Slingerlands and Selkirk community forums back on Thursday, Nov. 29 and Thursday, Dec. 13 respectively. These meetings are among the numerous scheduled community forums through March 2019 across various hamlets where meeting residents will inform Bethlehem's comprehensive plan update process.

"In the Selkirk comp. plan forum, when asked about what the people like about Selkirk, one gentleman said he loves the small businesses and neighbors there," Cunningham recalled. "People want small businesses coming in."

She added that many Bethlehem residents overall have "mentioned Clifton Park as the example we don't want to be. Maybe it's because there are a lot of chain businesses, big-box stores, and strip malls there. But here in Bethlehem, people want to maintain the small businesses and neighborhood feel."

Foster chimed in, believing that Bethlehem is a strong small-business community and "I hope residents continue supporting them and those businesses are the ones that sponsor our teams and define us a town, as opposed to big-box stores. If you squeeze out small businesses, it's concerning."

VanLuven, Cunningham, and Foster collectively agreed that while the town has different hamlets with different sense of characters each, they do not necessarily clash with one another.

Foster said that the community forums is a great way to stay proactive and seek each hamlet's voice equally. "Each individual hamlet should be considered and that goes a long way on preserving the community that we all cherish," he said. "It shouldn't be just the nosiest wheel that determines the direction the wagon takes."

VanLuven said that the forums would complement the upcoming comprehensive plan and come up with strategies that will guide the town's growth. Cunningham agreed that as the town sees more developments, "we need to see when a developer's proposal may be bad for the town and push back and ask for changes from that developer. We need to ask ourselves, 'Is this the right thing to develop and is there room to push back?'"

When asked if Bethlehem's character as a town will feel much different in the future than what it is today, answers were mixed.

VanLuven believed that "it could change rather quickly in the next 20 years if we don't check development, but we can also backtrack that growth so we can protect our town's fundamental values like keeping that small town feel and being able to know your neighbors. Those values make our neighborhoods strong. We're at a crossroads now, since we're working on the comp. plan, but I'm optimistic."

Foster, however, thought that such a change will not likely happen "as we have many intelligent and involved people in town government working towards maintaining Bethlehem as a great community. I think we're on a great trajectory."

■ TOWN GOVERNMENT

New year, new terms

A new face on Town Board and a familiar one in Town Court

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM — New Town Board member Dan Coffey and returning Town Justice Ryan T. Donovan were officially sworn in during a ceremony held on Thursday, Jan. 3 at 5:30 p.m. at Town Hall with their respective families, colleagues, supporters and other town officials in attendance.

Coffey, who ran on the Democratic line, takes over Giles Wagoner's seat and is serving a one-year term which expires on Dec. 31.

Donovan, who assumed office in mid-2006 and ran unopposed in last year's election, will now serve another four-year term through Dec. 31, 2022.

W. Kirby administered the oath of office to both.

Following applause and swift photo-taking sessions with their own families, each gave brief individual speeches afterwards.

"I came up with the three C's and that kind of summarizes my feelings about Bethlehem and what we're going to be working on, moving forward, and that's Community, Character and Continuity," Coffey said. "Bethlehem has a unique community feel that no other place in the Capital District has. We're five miles from downtown Albany yet you got a nice small-town feel."

Coffey, who was born and raised in Plattsburgh, recalled first setting foot in Bethlehem in 1983 when he was still enrolled at Union College in Schenectady and his roommate brought him over to Bethlehem's town park to play hockey.

It was there where he first took notice of and liked the small town environment.

He said his family relocated to Bethlehem later in October 1999 and has grown to enjoy places including the Delmar Farmers Market, the Albany County Rail Trail and the Four Corners.

Looking ahead, he brought up working on the comprehensive plan update, welcoming public input, and considering what Bethlehem should look like within the next two decades.

He concluded with desiring more connectivity among residents and businesses in town, and better pedestrian safety via sidewalk improvements.

Donovan, a lifelong

Bethlehem resident, expressed his gratitude for serving his hometown for more than 12 years.

He also brought up the importance of balancing rehabilitation with incarceration and law enforcement, and "to come into each case with as much human compassion as possible while still keeping our town safe." Donovan made special mention of Bethlehem Police, a department he often works closely with, as being "exceptional ... and they deserve a lot of credit. I think we're very lucky."

He concluded that the court is "ever-changing now. Every year, there's a new challenge. Every year, there's a new case. I'm very honored to work with Judge Kirby and we're trying to find new ways to tackle those problems and enforce the law as best as we can."

Town Justice Ryan Donovan is surrounded by his family as he takes his oath of office.

Bright hair ideas

Preserve hair color longer

Communions, graduations, birthday parties, and summer vacations dot many people's social calendars each year. People want to look their best on special occasions, and salon or at-home hair treatments may help them look party-ready.

People who color their hair regularly or are interested in a new look may wonder how they can prolong their hair care investment. To keep hair color looking shiny, vibrant and the right hue for as long as possible, employ these simple strategies.

Cover up

According to the experts at Clairol, the sun can break down the color in hair and also bleach away melanin, which gives hair its natural pigment. When stepping outside, wear a hat whenever possible, especially when your hair will be exposed to the sun for prolonged periods of time.

Employ UV protection

A number of hair products feature built-in UV protection. Much like sunscreen for the skin, these sprays and lotions can shield one's hair and scalp from damaging UV rays.

Shampoo less

Getting in the shower and wetting

your hair daily can cause color pigments to leach out prematurely, resulting in fading color. There is no need to shampoo every day or get your hair wet every time you shower. Use a shower cap to cover up or pull long hair back. When you shower with a full shampoo, select products that are formulated for color-treated hair. Products that are sulfate-free may not be sufficient, according to the product-testing experts at Good Housekeeping.

Swim smarter

Pool water chemicals and salt water from the ocean may wreak havoc on hair color and texture. If a swimming cap is not your thing, try coating your hair with a protective gloss or even a layer of conditioner prior to swimming. This will help hair retain its moisture and keep the water from robbing hair of its color.

Try hand-painted highlights

Hand-painted highlights, also known as the balayage technique, can grow in more naturally, helping you go a few extra weeks between appointments. This will help color to look like it is growing out more seamlessly until professional touch-ups are necessary. You also can schedule a glossing treatment at the salon, which acts as a top coat for color to seal the hair's cuticle and prolong color even further.

Protect hair color to save time and money while still looking great.

Kaylyn Migues shares why she's earned "Horsepower Princess" nickname

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY — Kaylyn Migues has always had a competitive streak within her, a feature of her personality she first tapped into once she began dancing when she was five. Between high school, ballet, contemporary dance and spending time with her father, Migues had very little time for a social life in high school. From that alone, she doesn't sound like your atypical teenager.

Migues is no stranger to the dance studio, where up until three years ago, she would poise her 5-foot 4-inch frame on pointe in front of a barre. She's since hung up her dance shoes in place of a fire suit and some car keys.

The 20-year-old is heading into the third year of a monster truck career that started off as shaky as the supercharged engine that roars within Mutt Dalmatian. Aside from her interest in dance, Migues said she'd always run into her father's garage. Her father, Darren, is a Monster Jam veteran. Despite his best efforts to keep her away from his lifestyle,

"He decided to buy two of his own trucks in 2014 after working on Jimmy Creten for eight years," said Kaylyn. "Once I turned 17, he started to teach me how to drive which led me competing during the 2017 Monter Jam season."

At 66 inches in diameter, the tires on her monster truck stand taller than she does. However, that did not intimidate her from climbing on board. At a championship event, Darren asked Kaylyn if she could drive his truck for a parade. In the chair, behind the controls of a 1,500-horsepower engine, Kaylyn said she couldn't move. Nothing was responding, except her father, he was yelling from underneath. She rushed out of the rig and promised she'd never get in one again.

The family always thought her brother, Tyler would take up his father's mantle as a driver. Kaylyn describes her brother as a "gorgeous driver." He first sat in his father's truck and took the control with ease. A natural around the trucks, Kaylyn said he now sits in a crowd and is able to detect problems by watching and listening to trucks as they perform. But, she said, he doesn't have an interest.

For Kaylyn, her driving ability isn't as natural as her brother's but, there's that competitive streak of hers.

Peter Yarrow

Caffé Lena — Friday, Jan. 11

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Folk legend Peter Yarrow, founder of Peter, Paul & Mary, is returning to Caffé Lena for two shows on Friday, Jan. 11.

As an artist and activist, Peter Yarrow's gifts are significant. He has written some of the most influential songs in the folk world and dedicated his time and talent over the years to equal rights, peace-building, education, preservation of the environment, and more. Just as Peter Paul & Mary used their music as a platform for advocacy, Peter has harnessed music to unite hearts in common purpose, knowing that when music brings people together, it has a unique ability to catalyze and hasten positive change. This show will launch Caffé Lena's Folk Heritage Series. Thanks to generous support from The Douglas A Mercer Foundation, The Folk Heritage Series preserves and honors American Folk Music by presenting performers who have made a significant impact on the genre.

UCH to serve up popular funk band on Saturday

CLIFTON PARK — Lettuce is to play at Upstate Concert Hall on Saturday, Jan. 12, at 8 p.m.

For more than two decades, Lettuce has brought a new vitality to classic funk, matching smooth and soulful grooves with hip-hop-inspired urgency and mastery of beat.

Whether paying homage to Led Zeppelin or delivering a deeply riveting hip-hop medley, Lettuce maneuvers through a kaleidoscopic of sound with sophisticated ease and powerful synergy.

Comprised of a stellar group of musicians — Drummer Adam Deitch, guitarists Adam Smirnoff, bassist Erick "Jesus" Coomes, keyboardist and vocalist Nigel Hall, saxophonist Ryan Zoidis, and trumpet player Eric Bloom—the band consistently displays an applauded mastery of their respective crafts.

According to the band,

IF YOU GO

- What: Lettuce
- When: 8 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 12
- Where: Upstate Concert Hall 1208 Rte 146 in Clifton Park
- How much: $26
- Info: www.ticketweb.com

it is a sense of unity and togetherness that has much to do with the camaraderie that's only intensified over the lifespan of the band. Formed in 1992, when several band members attended a summer program at Boston's Berklee College of Music as teenagers, Lettuce was founded on a shared love of legendary funk artists like Earth, Wind & Fire and Tower of Power. After returning to Berklee as undergrads in 1994, Lettuce started playing in local clubs and steadily built up a following that soon extended to cities across the country and then throughout the world.

In recent years, Lettuce earned its name as a can't-miss festival act.

New York State Museum Continuing: "The Historic Woodstock Art Colony: The Arthur A. Anderson collection." Long before the famous music festival in 1969, Woodstock, New York, was home to what is considered America's first intentionally created, year-round arts colony—founded in 1902 and still thriving over 100 years later. Collecting the remarkable range of work produced there has been Arthur A. Anderson's focus for three decades, resulting in the largest comprehensive assemblage of its type. The artists represented in it reflect the diversity of those who came to Woodstock, including Birge Harrison, Konrad Cramer, George Bellows, Eugene Speicher, Peggy Bacon, Rolph Scarlett, and Yasuo Kuniyoshi, among many others.

This exhibition introduces to the public for the first time just a sample of the highlights of this extraordinary collection, which represents a body of work that together shaped art and culture in New York and forms a history of national and international significance. On display in the West Gallery through Tuesday, Dec. 31. Also, "a small fort, which our people call Fort Orange." This exhibition examines the momentous discovery of Fort Orange and the lasting impact of events occurring there 400 years ago that shaped the character of the region, state, and the nation. In Adirondack Hall through May 5, 2020. McBride to headline

Jaye McBride returns to the Comedy Works in Saratoga Springs, 388 Broadway, this Saturday, Jan. 12, at 8 p.m. She'll not only headline this All-Star Showcase, but also perform an hour's worth of her own material. Tickets at 518-275-6897 or thecomedyworks.com. jayemcbride.com presents recent works by artists from the United States and Latin America who are grappling with continued questions of colonialism and postcolonialism in an effort to locate "place" in contemporary society. The exhibition highlights the medium of video as a critical tool for expanded narratives and immersive imagery, in addition to painting, photography, sculpture and works on paper. Structured around four thematic constellations, the artworks in this exhibition consider an alternative mapping of the region, charting new courses for the present and future. Works presented in the section Recasting Indigeneity subvert the exoticized view of indigenous cultures in the imperial gaze, by reasserting native identity formations, beliefs and practices situated in the contemporary moment. Rupturing a linear notion of time, works within Dislodging Time maneuver the viewer out of an ordered Gregorian clock into abstract cycles. In the section Countering Extractivism, featured works intercede the anonymity of state and private extractive economic practices to bear witness to the depletion of natural resources and methods of social control. Lastly, works within Intervening the Archive disrupt the official narratives of specific places and events, broadening the confines of the archive, from the contemporary, to the colonial, to the origins of conquest. Organized by the Vincent Price Art Museum, California, and curated by Pilar Tompkins Rivas. Artists in the exhibition include Iván Argote, Isabel Avila, Raul Baltazar, Tania Candiani, Carolina Caycedo, E.D.E.L.O (Caleb Duarte and Mia Eve Rollow), Ricardo Estrada, Jeffrey Gibson, Martine Gutierrez, Pablo Helguera, Laura Huertas Millán, Carlos Motta, Paulo Nazareth, Camilo Ontiveros, Eamon Oregiron, Naufus Ramirez-Figueroa, Marton Robinson, and Javier Tapia. Artist and curator talks and reception on Thursday, Jan. 31, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. On view in the Mandeville Gallery at Nott Memorial through Sunday, June 16. Continuing: "Mark Bradford Installation." This acclaimed artist's mixed media piece Untitled (buoy) from 2015 is on loan from Board of Trustees member Kelly Williams for the next year in honor of President Harris' inauguration. The sculpture conjures natural and man-made environments, simultaneously evoking neighborhood streets, arterial veins, and woven snares. Through August 2019 in the Beuth Atrium (1st Floor) Schaffer Library. Also, "For Freedoms: 50 State Initiative." The Four Freedoms articulated by Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1941 and illustrated by Norman Rockwell's 1943 paintings serve as the inspiration for this initiative, founded by artists Hank Willis Thomas and Eric Gottesman that seeks to use art to deepen public discussions of civic issues and core values, and to clarify that citizenship in American society is defined by participation, not by ideology. FOOD & VINO

Mediterranean C food

Peppers play a significant role in the Mediterranean diet, providing nutrients such as vitamin C and potassium while also giving meals a fresh boost of flavor. Long touted for its health benefits, the Mediterranean diet has piqued the interest of men and women looking to get healthy. Those who want a meal with a little Mediterranean flare can try the following recipe for “Mediterranean Beef Ragoût” from Judith Finlayson’s “The Healthy Slow Cooker (Second Edition)” (Robert Rose).

Mediterranean Beef Ragoût

Ingredients: Makes 8 servings

- 2 pounds trimmed stewing beef, cut into 1-inch cubes and patted dry
- 2 tablespoons olive oil, divided
- 2 onions, chopped
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons ground cumin (see note 2 below)
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon zest (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cracked black peppercorns
- 1 cup beef stock
- 1/2 cup dry red wine
- 1 14-ounce can no-salt-added diced tomatoes, including juice
- 2 bay leaves
- 2 roasted red bell peppers, thinly sliced, then cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1/2 cup sliced pitted green olives
- 1/2 cup finely chopped parsley leaves

Instructions:

In a skillet, heat 1 tablespoon of the olive oil over medium-high heat. Add beef, in batches, and cook, stirring, adding more oil as necessary, until browned, about 4 minutes per batch. Transfer to slow cooker stoneware as completed.

Reduce heat to medium. Add onions and garlic to pan and cook, stirring, until onions are softened, about 3 minutes. Add cumin, thyme, lemon zest, if using, salt, and peppercorns and cook, stirring, for 1 minute. Add beef stock, wine, tomatoes with juice, and bay leaves and bring to a boil. Add to slow cooker and stir well.

Cover and cook on low for 6 hours or on high for 3 hours, until mixture is bubbly and beef is tender. Stir in roasted peppers, olives and parsley. Cover and cook on high for 15 minutes, until peppers are heated through. Discard bay leaves.

Note 1: This dish can be partially prepared before it is cooked. Heat oil and complete step 2. Refrigerate overnight for up to 2 days. When you're ready to cook, complete steps 1 and 3.

Note 2: For the best flavor, toast and ground cumin seeds yourself. Place seeds in a dry skillet over medium heat and cook, stirring, until fragrant, about 3 minutes. Immediately transfer to a spice grinder or mortar and grind.

Pairing:

Dr. Lossen Riesling

Dr. Loosen — Germany

We're going off script with this dish by pairing it with a riesling from Germany. Our first reaction was to grab a merlot to go with the beef, but we wanted something different. We've chosen this wine in the past. It is both refreshing and fruity, a perfect blend to go along with the character of this Mediterranean dish.

Of course, wine pairings are often times a matter of personal taste. Let us know what you think of this pairing online at TheSpot518.com, and let us know what other wines you would try in its place.

Making time here and there

Simple tips to create more time each day

Whether it's to spend more time exploring the great outdoors or enjoying the company of family and friends, we all want to find more time in our busy schedules to do the things we love. While work at home and at the office always seems to be beckoning, no one wants to be tied down by housework and/or a to-do list.

Though it's impossible to add more minutes to the day, these tips can help you spend more time with those you love.

Clean as you go

When it comes to keeping your home clean and organized, it pays to do a little bit at a time rather than spend a whole day or weekend on chores. Wipe down your shower after each use to avoid the build-up of mold and mildew. Dust surfaces in your closet regularly to keep items and clothes clean longer, and wipe kitchen surfaces while cooking. Regular maintenance goes a long way towards keeping your home tidy and ready for spur-of-the-moment gatherings.

Avoid shopping on weekends

If you work a typical nine to five schedule, you probably do your shopping on weekends because that's when you have the most time on your hands. But since that's true for most people, you can expect long lines and crowded spaces when shopping on weekends. Try to carve out some time on a weekday evening, especially Monday or Tuesday, and you'll free up precious weekend time and avoid long lines.

Simplify meal prep

Don't sacrifice eating healthy, nutritious food when you're pressed for time. Instead, look for low- or no-prep meal options at the grocery store. These ready-to-eat, single-serve meals feature superfood veggies like sweet potato, kohlrabi and kale. Developed by chefs, the bowls are ready in just a couple of minutes in your microwave. Serve as a standalone meal or as a base with your favorite protein.

Bethel Woods Center for the Arts will be the home of the Bethel Woods Music and Culture Festival from Friday to Sunday, Aug. 16 to 18. The Sullivan County venue is the site of the original festival produced by Michael Lang in 1969 which drew an estimated 400,000 people to the secluded Catskills town.

Music acts have not been announced, but the weekend has been billed as a pan-generational event that will feature live music from prominent and up and coming talents and TED-style talks from leading futurists and technology experts.

In December of 2017, Bethel Woods was awarded nearly $700,000 through the New York State Regional Economic Development Council to be used towards a 50th-anniversary celebration.

"As the stewards of this historic site, we remain committed to preserving this rich history and spirit, and to educating and inspiring new generations to contribute positively to the world through music, culture, and community," said Darlene Fedun, CEO of Bethel Woods Center for the Arts.

Michael Lang, who produced the original Woodstock as well as the ensuing anniversary concerts in 1994 in Saugerties and 1999 in Rome, has all but announced the detail of his own commemoration of the historic festival though no details have yet emerged. He will not be involved with the Bethel event, which is being presented by Live Nation Concerts and INVNT, a branding and live storytelling agency.

"While the original site in Bethel remains close to our hearts, it no longer has the capacity to hold a real Woodstock Festival," said Lang. "I'm delighted that Bethel Woods is doing events in the coming year to celebrate what we brought to life in 1969."

The site of the original Woodstock Festival in 1969 will host its 50th-anniversary celebration from Friday to Sunday, Aug. 16 to 18. The center is a series of venues that includes a covered 4,500-seat pavilion with a sloping lawn that can seat an additional 10,500 people. The Woodstock Festival Field can accommodate up to 30,000 people. A third stage could entertain up to 1,000 people. Which leaves to speculation where Lang will hold his festival.

Lang ruled Bethel out as the site for his festival. Each of the past three Woodstock festivals has hosted at least 400,000 people, with Woodstock '94 hosting approximately 500,000 revelers. Lang said Bethel would not be able to

As we wait for festivals to make their respective announcements as to who will perform, and in Lang's case, destination, we are left with plenty of room to speculate. Below is a list of possible locations, followed by a laundry list of artists we could see perform in August.

Site of Woodstock '99. The festival ended in disaster. Triple-digit heat and the price gouging of water created a hostile environment. A fire was ignited in what people described a near riot situation. The location is now a business park, so the likely hood of the festival returning is not likely. FREEZING COLD

In between, she shared the stage with Grammy Award-winning songwriter Julie Gold, performed at Mountain Jam and headlined at Alive at Five and Rocktoberfest. Her 2017 debut album "Strong" showcases deft songwriting ability that places her in the same company as local storytellers C.K. Flach and Sean Rowe. She's on an upward trajectory, but she may be lost in the flood of talent garnering for a place in Woodstock this summer: COLD

Sean Rowe: Rowe was a late addition to last summer's Mountain Jam, which goes to show that he's garnered enough attention to place him on a bigger stage. This indie artist has a healthy following throughout the country. The site of Woodstock '94 hosted one other festival in 2014. The former 700-acre dairy farm was once considered for a massive landfill. In recent years it was revitalized as a festival venue, however, it appears to be on the market for potential development: COLD

Central Park, New York City

The thought of a three-day music festival in the heart of Manhattan could induce nightmares for logistics experts, but it's not uncommon for the park to host a concert. The Concert in The Park hosted 500,000 people who went to hear Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel in 1981. However, proceeds from that concert went towards funding the maintenance and redevelopment of the famed city park after years of neglect. It was after New York City declared bankruptcy. It was in desperate need. But, the city had placed a bid to host the Olympics in recent years. If there's a city that can handle a lot of people, Gotham is it: WARM

Phish: There is a general consensus among fans that Phish won't play at Bethel Woods Center for the Arts. Trey and the crew last played there in 2011. The three-day event allegedly left the lawn in rough shape. A similar rumor recently circulated around Saratoga that alluded to a ban on Dave Matthews Band shows at Saratoga Performing Arts Center. With that said, it seems to be nothing but a rumor. According to a 2012 statement from Bethel Woods, the art center would welcome Phish and its fans. Question is, would Phish entertain such an invite? Phish has spent decades hosting its own festivals, all the while using shows as a means to help fund local charitable groups and promote environmental awareness through its WaterWheel Foundation. With Michael Lang stressing a globally conscious message for his up-coming festival, that would tie well into Phish's philanthropic efforts, too: WARM moe: The band is currently on the East Coast leg of a nationwide tour that shifts west in March before coming back to play Moe Down in July. The band's next scheduled show is in Pennsylvania for the Peach Music Festival on July 25. That potentially keeps the band on the East Coast for Woodstock's August anniversary date. Remember, .moe was a Day 2 opening act at Woodstock '99. By following these breadcrumbs, the band is a lock to be named in Lang's upcoming announcement. HOT

As we look beyond the Empire State, other bands appear as possible locks.

Lang's Woodstock show could draw in several popular bands with his plans to promote awareness of social, political and environmental issues. Green Day immediately comes to mind. Not only did the band perform at Woodstock '99, it has served as an environmental advocate since launching its Move America Beyond Oil campaign in 2006. Dave Matthews Band could also use Woodstock as a means to spread the word of its Bama Works Fund. Pearl Jam could do the same for endeavors tied to its Carbon Portfolio Strategy. Carlos Santana has already expressed his interest in playing both events, bridging the 50 years that separate the two eras.

The Festive Owl, a Twitter page devoted to music festival music, has claimed to possess leaked information from INVNT, the marketing firm tied to the anniversary show at Bethel Woods. The alleged material names the Bethel Woods festival as "Journey On," and lists several acts that include Bruce Springsteen, The Who, Bon Jovi, Phish, Pearl Jam, Foo Fighters, Elton John and Santana. The information is questionable. Santana has expressed interest. He confirmed with Billboard magazine that he has spoken with Lang. However, he has not received an invite to play. Springsteen won't likely play either show. He stated as recently as last month he would be taking all of 2019 off from performing.

Empire State Plaza — Saturday, Jan. 12

ALBANY — The Empire State Plaza will host, in partnership with the Healthcare Education Project, the Women's Empowerment Conference, on Saturday, Jan. 12, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. The conference precedes the women's march on Saturday, Jan. 19. The goal of both the conference and march is to continue the momentum of the historic Women's Marches. Whether it is the selection of our speakers or the collaborative workshops we are offering, our aim is to strengthen the coalition between a diverse intersectional community of women, men, and gender non-binary individuals within the Capital District of New York.

Registration is required for the conference, as there are a limited amount of seats available. All-day tickets for the conference are sold out. The only remaining ticket option is the Morning Session ticket. The morning session runs from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and features an incredible line-up of speakers and musical performances from Warren Mackey, Pearl Frazier, Stella Frazier and Maddie Roberts from the Metropolitan NTM Baptist Church.

The Women's Empowerment Conference and March are both free but contributions are welcomed.

Be safe, Clear Mind

Albany hip hop scene sends off fellow artist at Jupiter Hall

By ZACH HITT
nysmusic.com

ALBANY — Clear Mind performed one last headlining set before setting off to fulfill a few months' long duties in the National Guard. An energetic audience accompanied him as well as sets by Gian, Chris Cool Peoples, Wordthethirdeye, Rhakim Ali, Touch Money Militia, Clarisse Harbour, and D3v at Jupiter Hall on Saturday, Dec. 22.

The headliner, on Instagram as @kvngclear, showed songs from old and new projects and convinced his listeners through poetic lyrics and visible conviction. He recently came off a nomination for Hot 99.1's Artist of the Year. Before and after seeing his set, there's no surprise at the radio station's co-sign.

Gian opened up the evening with a smooth blend of R&B and hip hop performing new tracks such as "Fluency." He's also been seen playing guitar and lending vocals to Mr. Every Day and The Past Life at various performances around New York State.

Rappers Promise the Unbreakable, Chris Cool Peoples, and Rhakim Ali impressed the crowd with their abilities to entertain and spin words.

Wordthethirdeye, in particular, proved himself a vibrant entertainer. He delivered a strongly animated display on tracks such as "Eyeing Up Calliope," and "Etc." Along with vocals, he composes instrumental beats and has joined other artists from the 518 music scene on projects across the map.

TouchMoneyMilitia, rap group led by Tony Louie and Touchmoney Cease, engaged the crowd through a hyperactive set.

Highlights of the evening also included Clarisse Harbour singing original songs and ending her set with a sweetened cover of "Get You," by Daniel Caesar.

D3v commanded the crowd and came off as a professional on stage. He also took the cover song route with his own lyrical perspective on "Sorry" by Beyonce and finished his set on a high note providing a solid introduction for the headliner, Clear Mind.

■ MUSIC REVIEW

Princess Nokia's 'Metallic Butterfly'

nysmusic.com

Princess Nokia newest album "Metallic Butterfly" travels through most of the musical spectrum from radio pop to modern trap with glimpses of Afro-Cuban and soul, tied together by obscure, but smooth sing along – friendly choruses.

It's difficult to say whether the public should treat "Metallic Butterfly" as a new body of work. Nokia created the album before 2014 and had distribution under Nokia's original moniker, Wavy Spice — however, the work went largely unnoticed at the time and was pulled from shelves and the internet until now. Last December she re-released the material with redux packaging, promotion, and new tracks.

This project stays unique but maintains accessibility. "Earth is My Playground" and "Versace Hottie" are true to their bouncy titles, both carrying the feel of an electronic rave. The melody of "Hands Up" tributes Lana Del Ray's sultry croon, and the boom-bap percussion on "Seraphims" is a cousin to J. Dilla's frantic work with A Tribe Called Quest. Most songs find the perfect balance between vintage and modern with 808 sub hits weaved in and out.

The album slows down on "Young Girls," a chillstep track where Nokia addresses modern issues relevant to #MeToo and #TimesUp movements, discussing her feelings about the entrusted responsibility of women to be the "patrons of the earth." "They need their own respect," she says.

The slow, but progressive side continues with "Biohazard Butterfly" which introduces further melodies and encourages her listener to not settle for a toxic relationship. "She don't wear no chain, play no game, refuse to be a slave to a romance rage."

Although albums are typically praised when they fit a continuous theme, it is the "all over the place" manic feel of this body of work that gives it such strength. Although it may have been recorded earlier in her career, this could certainly be Princess Nokia's strongest album to date.

Metallic Butterfly is available on all major streaming platforms.

Beauty and the Beast

"I would describe myself as an aggressive and competitive driver that enjoys racing and freestyle," said Kaylyn, who has earned the nickname Horsepower Princess. "My favorite part is being able to compete against really talented drivers every single weekend. Competing against them really pushes me as a driver to become better."

Her most treasured memory in her short career is beating her father in a Chicago-style race during a recent tour, "He won't admit it, but there's the Jumbotron screen," she said. "There's no denying it."

Today, Kaylyn continues to do the atypical. She's going to beauty school to learn hair and cosmetic styles. Though, once she graduates, she said she still plans to continue driving. She'll do so until her father decides to retire. But, until then, her driving has allowed her to bond with her father.

"Our normal competition season is from January through May," said Kaylyn, whose birthday is in February. "I hardly ever saw my dad. We never had that normal daddy-daughter experience that a lot of other families had." Now that they go on tour together, Kaylyn said, "He's my best friend."

SARATOGA SPRINGS — The band name that makes you do a double take will perform at Caffé Lena on Sunday, Jan. 13, at 7 p.m.

The The Band Band is keeping the sound and spirit of The Band alive and well. The five members of the group — Jack Kraft, Gary Solomon, Vinny Nicosia, Josh Radin, and Loren Korevec — are all singers and multi-instrumentalists, providing the skill and flexibility required to cover the myriad of sounds that can be heard on any given Band recording.

Drawing its repertoire largely from The Band's seminal period it showcases the astounding breadth and depth of The Bands distinctively original Americana music. Hear well-known hits like "The Weight," "Up On Cripple Creek," and "The Night They Drove Old Dixie Down" along with deep cuts like "Life Is A Carnival" and "Chest Fever," and obscure gems like "Jawbone" and "Rocking Chair" All are reproduced with the subtlety and nuance of the original recordings, and delivered with the passion and commitment for which The Band was renowned.
