Bethlehem Central about to disembark on storied tragedy of the doomed Titanic ocean liner

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM — While the deteriorating shipwreck of the RMS Titanic remains silent on the North Atlantic Ocean's bed, its legacy and stories continue to live on in modern popular culture, this time being reimagined by the Bethlehem Central High School's Stage 700 theatre club.

"Titanic: The Musical" will set sail with four performances at the school's auditorium: from Thursday to Saturday, April 4 to 6 at 7 p.m. each, and on Sunday, April 7 at 2 p.m. These dates fall just around one week before the ocean liner's 107th sinking anniversary on April 15, 1912. Tickets are $12, and $6 for students, seniors and military personnel. They are available for purchase on Saturday, March 30 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the BCHS auditorium lobby as well as at the door one hour before each show begins. This is also the final theater production in the high school's auditorium before it closes its curtains for a year to be renovated in relation to the BCSD's 2016 Facilities Improvement Project.

■ POLICE, COURTS, and EMERGENCY CALLS

Inappropriate care

BETHLEHEM — The Bethlehem Police Department arrested a 31-year-old Schenectady woman on Tuesday, March 19 after a six-month investigation relating to a complaint of inappropriate conduct with a disabled person.

MAIR

A Capital District DDSO group home, a place for physically and mentally disabled people in Delmar where arrestee Maryam N. Mair worked, reported possible inappropriate care of a consumer at the home.

As Bethlehem police then conducted a joint investigation with New York State Justice Center, an alleged second incident of inappropriate care and treatment of a second consumer at the same home earlier in 2018 came into light.

Mair allegedly mistreated a physically disabled person and allegedly falsified records to pretend it did not happen.

Mair was arraigned at the Bethlehem Town Court and charged with two felony counts of endangering the welfare of an incompetent or physically disabled person, and one felony count of falsifying business records.

She was released under the supervision of probation and her case was waived up to Albany County Court.

Anyone with more information related to this case is encouraged to contact Bethlehem police at 518-439-9973.

DWI charges

GLENMONT — A 23-year-old Rensselaer woman was arrested for DWI-related charges on Sunday, March 17 at 12:41 a.m. on 382 Route 9W in Glenmont.

A Bethlehem police officer noticed that a white Honda Civic remained parked with its lights on for almost an hour at the above address' parking lot.

After pulling up to ensure the driver was okay, the officer observed that the driver's window was fully open and Shoshoni Mikel Bristol appeared slouched to her right while still seated, and the keys were in the ignition and the heater was on high setting.

The officer then noticed her red, watery eyes, a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage from her breath, her droopy eyelids and slurred speech.

According to the police report, Bristol was unable to recall how she arrived at the parking lot, exactly where she was headed and where she drove from. Admitting to having drunk earlier somewhere in Albany, she then failed all field sobriety tests and was taken into custody without incident.

Transported to the Bethlehem Police Department, she was found to have a BAC of 0.14 percent and was charged with a DWI with a BAC of 0.08 percent or more, and a DWI intoxication misdemeanor.

She has a scheduled return court date of Tuesday, April 2 at 5:30 p.m.

Hit and run

GLENMONT — A Bethlehem police officer responded to a report of an Albany property damage hit-and-run incident on Wednesday, March 20 at 3:53 p.m.

Upon arrival, the officer met with the caller who reported that their vehicle had just been struck by a blue Volkswagen Routan in Albany, and the caller followed the Volkswagen to 239 River Road in Glenmont and called the police.

The officer then saw the Volkswagen in the address' parking lot and upon approaching it, he noticed its driver was still inside and had the ignition on.

Identified as Felipe E. Rosa, 33, of Albany by his state ID, the officer detected an odor of an alcoholic beverage from his breath, his bloodshot eyes and how he stumbled when asked to exit the vehicle.

He stated that he had two beers earlier and he then failed all field sobriety tests.

Rosa was taken into custody and after being transported to BPD, he refused to get his BAC level tested three times.

Rosa was charged with a DWI, unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle, and aggravated unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle.

He had a scheduled refusal hearing on Monday, March 25 and a return court date of Tuesday, April 16 at 4 p.m.

High BAC level

GLENMONT — Bethlehem police received a complaint call about an erratic driver who was traveling northbound on Route 9W in a green Chevrolet Silverado on Saturday, March 2 at 7:03 p.m.

The officer then located the vehicle exiting the Sunoco gas station on 415 Route 9W and observed that it failed to use turn signals while traveling on the road.

The officer approached the vehicle once it entered a CVS parking lot on 416 Route 9W and immediately noticed the driver's red and watery eyes, and an odor of alcoholic beverage from his mouth.

Identified as 50-year-old Martin Garcia of Ravena, he said that he had "six beers at home" and the officer noted his slurred speech and stumbling as he exited his vehicle.

Police reported an open container of Budweiser and three open bottles of Southern Comfort. Garcia was arrested after he failed field sobriety tests with a reported BAC of 0.19 percent.

Garcia was charged with aggravated DWI with a BAC of 0.18 percent or more, a DWI 1st offense, failure to signal, an uninspected motor vehicle and having an open container in a vehicle. He had a scheduled return court date of Tuesday, March 19 at 5:30 p.m.

Kibbey to be laid to rest

Remains found near site of 1967 copter crash in Vietnam

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The family of a fallen Vietnam War helicopter pilot will finally be able to lay him to rest this week.

In 1967, Col. Richard Kibbey was a rescue helicopter pilot in Vietnam when his Sikorsky “Jolly Green Giant” was shot down after retrieving a downed pilot in the Mu Gia Pass valley of Vietnam.

Last August, his family was notified that his remains had been identified.

Kibbey’s flag-draped casket will arrive in a Dignified Arrival ceremony at Reagan National Airport shortly before 1 p.m. on Thursday, March 28, in Washington, D.C.

The ceremony will be followed by a viewing at Jefferson Funeral Chapel in Alexandria, Virginia, at 3 p.m. before a funeral service at Arlington National Cemetery the following day on Friday, March 29, at 11 a.m.

Yearbook Senior Portrait

Kibbey was the eldest of four children, three of whom served in the armed forces.

The family lived on Borthwick Avenue in Delmar.

He graduated from Bethlehem Central High School where he lettered in baseball, track and football.

He also excelled in the classroom. Once he graduated in 1952, he went on to pursue a science degree at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy.

He married his high school sweetheart, Mary Ann Foss, in 1954. Three years later, he was commissioned to the Air Force.

According to military reports, Kibbey was the co-pilot of a Sikorsky HH3E “Jolly Green Giant” on Feb. 6, 1967.

He was joined by pilot Major Patrick H. Wood, flight mechanic SSgt. Donald J. Hall and pararescueman A2C Dwayne Hackney.

The crew took the lead in a rescue mission to retrieve Air Force pilot, Capt. Lucius L. Heiskell, whose single-prop O-1F “Birddog” was shot down over the Mu Gia Pass near the Laos-Vietnam border.

Kibbey and his crew successfully retrieved the downed pilot.

However, as they proceeded to leave the valley, their helicopter caught fire after it was hit with heavy gunfire.

The Mu Gia Pass was one of two major arteries to the Ho Chi Minh Trail, a pathway that meandered through mountains and thick jungle that was used to supply enemy forces.

Between April 1965 and December 1971, 43 American airmen were downed and later listed as either missing or captured.

Welcoming girls now

Delmar’s Scouts BSA Troop 75 is more open than ever

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

DELMAR — The town’s Boy Scouts of America Troop 75 has become the first of its kind in Albany County to have a Girls Troop, having first being officially formed back on March 1.

Traditionally long been only available for boys, the BSA decided just last year to open the scouting program up to all youth, regardless of gender, leading its flagship program, Boy Scouting, to change its name to Scouts BSA to take into account the new change. For Delmar’s Troop 75, it offers numerous annual activities and events for boys and girls aged 11 through 17 like summer camp, day hikes, field trips, service projects and weekend campouts.

Scoutmaster Suzy Pris, who has a son and a daughter now in Scouts BSA, said, “It’s fabulous and now, the older brothers in the troop are helping and guiding if the girls need help with something. Normally in a troop, you’ve got older and younger scouts but since we’re still so new, we don’t have that. Thankfully, the brothers have taken on the role as guides, if you will.”

She also expressed gratitude to Troop 75’s committee who were open to having girls join and “they’ve been more than willing to accommodate so it’s been really great.”

Beth Gannon, 15, one of three girls who have joined Troop 75 so far, said she hopes to get the coveted Eagle Scout rank — the Scouts BSA’s highest rank. To achieve that, she would have to demonstrate strong leadership, citizenship and community-oriented skills and attain numerous merit badges along the way. She hopes to attain that rank by the end of 2020 and if she does accomplish this, she said, “You’ll be included as like the first class of girls to get that.” Pris said that achieving that rank within 18 or 19 months is “certainly the fastest route but it’s doable.”

While admitting that the Girls Troop is still fairly new and is still working to develop its

Studio Makerspace open

New studio promotes self-sustaining creativity

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM — The public library held its ribbon-cutting ceremony for its new self-service Studio Makerspace on Friday, March 22 at 11 a.m. to officially open it to residents who can use to film videos, record podcasts, convert audio and video files, and more.

“We’re very excited, we’ve been talking about this for a very long time and it’s nice to bring it to fruition,” said library director Geoffrey Kirkpatrick. He added that in the past week or so, the library has received an anticipatory response from the public and had even given a few exclusive tours to some residents prior to the ceremony.

This ADA-compliant studio space is now open all week and can be reserved through the library’s online calendar for three-hour increments by an individual or a group at one time with an Upper Hudson Library card.

It includes a One Button desktop — comprising of a built-in video camera, a silver button to start and end recording, and a USB port where an inserted flash drive would save the recorded raw footage — which is accompanied by a talk show-esque backdrop with two seats, a middle table and blue background curtains.

Once the user presses the aforementioned silver button, they are given an eight-second countdown during which they can quickly head over to the seats, just in time as the video camera commences recording.

In addition, the studio has a podcasting studio to record personal or professional podcasts, a VHS-to-DVD conversion machine, and 10 laptops equipped with video editing software Adobe Premiere Elements. A user can also borrow a video camera for two weeks in case they would like to film or record beyond the library grounds.

The ceremony was attended by numerous local politicians and public figures, including Bethlehem Town Supervisor David VanLuven, Town Board members Joyce Becker and Jim Foster, the town’s Chamber of Commerce’s president Maureen McGuinness, and state Assemblywoman Patricia Fahy.

“This is part of why I love libraries because it is equal access, equal opportunities and because of the variety of things you could do here, it just fuels our creativity and provides even more opportunities for our youth which is what it is really all about in the end,” said Fahy. “It’s stimulating their minds, stimulating that creativity because that is the future, right?”

She brought up how it can relate to how digital literacy is highly encouraged nowadays as we live in a more tech-fueled world. “So thank you to everyone here and in the town who are continuing to make this town as great as it is with all the opportunities at our fingertips,” she said.

VanLuven said that he personally distinguishes the Bethlehem library as the best within the local region.

He said that it’s “evolving with our community, evolving with the times. We still have books but the library is our community center and hub. It’s so much more than just books ... This is an opportunity for residents to more effectively

Get (some) Air at Crossgates

GUILDERLAND — The Get Air Trampoline Park had its official ribbon cutting/grand opening on Friday, March 22, at Crossgates Mall.

The 24,000-square-foot indoor trampoline facility features nearly wall-to-wall trampolines, dodge ball and basketball courts, “fidget ladders,” foam pits, ninja warrior courses, areas for toddlers and other features geared for amusement and exercise.

It is located on the third floor of Crossgates above Best Buy and offers work parties, birthday parties and other group activities as well as individual day and hourly passes.

Fire hits Guilderland coach's house

The Guilderland wrestling coach and physical education teacher JP Hulslander, his wife Jessica, and their son Greyson lost their Vaughn Drive home to a fire on Friday, March 15. The couple lost about everything and they are expecting their second child. A donation drive was set up a day after the fire at the Guilderland Public Library. So much was donated, though, that a room at the Homewood Suites hotel, where they were temporarily staying with the coach's mom, was quickly filling up, according to the Altamont Enterprise. The couple has asked that people hold off on anymore donations of clothing or other necessities. The GoFundMe page, which has surpassed the goal of $10,000 by Monday, March 25, can be found at “Hulslander House Fire Support.”

The Singing Jeweler

The Albany Patroons had issues with the mic on Friday, March 22, at the Washington Avenue Armory but Rafi Topalian, who owns a jewelry shop in Watervliet, took it all in stride. He calmly handed the mic to one of the refs and belted out a rendition of the National Anthem that filled the house.

roster and schedule, she expressed excitement over getting to camp more and making new friends while doing outdoor activities.

Pris said that the Girls Troop is now undergoing a recruiting drive where positive word of mouth could hopefully result in more girls joining. "It could also be the girls inviting other girls to join because girls tend to move in groups more so that boys do in society," she said. "Having a friend or being able to go with someone is really important so if we can invite groups or friends, that would definitely help. A lot of siblings, I have a feeling, will be coming too."

Pris noted that there are already four more girls who are planning to officially join Troop 75 in April.

So far, Gannon said that she appreciates how Troop 75 "gives you the chance to explore new things." When asked what she's most excited about, she smiled, "Camping. I love camping and I haven't gone in a couple of years so this gives me an excuse to go."

Moving forward, Pris said that she wants to see the girls tackle problems, learn how to plan, and enable others and teach them. "These are some of the skills they will take with them through their entire lives because you're going to end up in situations no matter what you're going to do in life, and you're going to come across a problem where you're not sure what to do," she concluded. "But they're going to have the skills to figure it out."

For now, Girls Troop 75 will have a campout and service project at the nearby Lawson Lake sometime in April, camp by Thompson's Lake in May, and have a summer camp at the Rotary Scout Reservation on the third week of July.

communicate with and educate each other on things that are happening around town and more broadly. I congratulate the library for taking this bold new step."

McGuinness said the space is so user-friendly to the point that "you don't need a degree to produce videos" and residents can use the file conversion feature to convert their old VHS family tapes in order to keep holding onto their memories for years to come.

"Come and use the space and if you have any questions about it, please ask me or any of the librarians," Kirkpatrick said. "We know that people are going to use this creative space for their creative projects and we're very excited about that."

IDA fed up with Monolith

Town seeks to recoup exemptions from Monolith Solar

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

BETHLEHEM

The town's Industrial Development Agency voted on Friday, March 22 to end tax exemptions to SAE Sun & Technology Inc., an affiliate of Monolith Solar, in relation to the halted construction of the latter's $4.9 million Slingerlands headquarters building at the Vista Technology Campus. Monolith Solar had been looking to receive $680,000 in tax exemptions.

The tax breaks were terminated because Monolith Solar did not pay a payment in lieu of tax payment and an administrative fee that was originally due back on Jan. 1, 2019, and also since the company failed to complete the aforementioned building by Dec. 13, 2018 and did not employ 49 employees there. The canceled exemption agreement would prevent the real property tax abatement from applying towards the building, and also stop any future sales tax exemptions that are estimated at $296,000.

In a March 22 IDA press release, IDA Chairman Frank Venezia said that the board had tried working with Monolith Solar in hopes of seeing the building achieve full fruition. "Over the course of the four years since the IDA began working with Monolith, the Board has asked company representatives to appear multiple times to answer questions and provide information that was absolutely critical for the IDA to fulfill its fiduciary duty to the residents of Bethlehem," he added. "We have been incredibly patient with Monolith as they worked through various operating and financing issues. However, based on the current defaults, we have a responsibility under New York State law and our internal policies to terminate the agreement. The IDA will do all it legally can to recoup the exemptions previously granted. We owe this to the residents of Bethlehem."

POINT OF VIEW

My father's memories of Delmar

The following is a Point of View from Voorheesville author Sandra Paige Sorell. She shares the stories and memories passed on to her from her father who grew up in Delmar. This is Part One of a two-part series.

I was recently at the Bethlehem Veterans Memorial Park to visit my father's memorial stone and to reflect. My sister and I purchased a brick for Dad a couple of years before he died. He was very proud of that gift. After a quiet visit I sat down on one of the benches and remembered...

My dad was Dr. Harry Worthington Paige (1922-2003). He grew up in Delmar as part of the Greatest Generation, graduating from Bethlehem Central High School (class of '41) when it was located on Kenwood Ave — the building that is now the middle school. As a young kid, he and his sister Jeanne (Martha) Paige lived on 5 Rural Place near the Restifo family. When Dad was 16 and Aunt Jeanne 15, they moved to the new family home at 16 Douglas Road. This house remained the Paige family home until 1996 when my grandmother, Ruth Converse Paige, died at the age of 99.

Dad was a writer and a storyteller and he talked often about growing up in Delmar. His childhood was a magical one full of fun, friends and innocence.

As a kid, Dad's fun consisted of playing with his yo-yo, shooting marbles, collecting stamps and playing games like Kick the Can or dodge ball in one of the many open lots in Delmar. Climbing trees was another favorite activity, especially since Delmar was densely wooded in the 1930s and 1940s, before the migration to the suburbs and building boom. He, like many of his friends, was a Boy Scout, and that occupied a good deal of his time.

Dad was a prolific writer. He told me that he sold his first story when he was 12, during the Depression era. He said he felt very guilty accepting money for the sale as so many men were out of work, and families were going hungry at the time.

Life was relatively simple when Dad was growing up. A Paige family excursion to Warner's Lake for a picnic and swim on a hot summer day was considered a real adventure. I remember hearing the story about my grandfather, Montfort (Monty) Paige, a notoriously slow driver, receiving a speeding ticket on one of the family trips up to the Helderbergs. He was mortified. An occasional trip to the Hawkins Stadium to see the Albany Senators baseball team was a big deal too. Then there were summertime excursions to Mid-City in Menands near where Montgomery Ward used to be in that massive building on Broadway. He would take a red and yellow United Traction Company bus there to enjoy the park and cool off in the large pool.

Dad went to Elsmere Grade School when it was a brand new school. His mother, a former Latin teacher and Syracuse University graduate, was a member of the PTA there.

Of all the stories Dad told, the most vivid in my mind were of his days spent at his beloved alma mater, Bethlehem Central, where he met my mother, Ruth Killough (class of '42), an accomplished athlete and field hockey star.

Dad's best friends were named Prue, Van Zandt, Chesbro, Oliver, Hartzel and Murray. There were other names too that I've forgotten over the years. Some 20 years and one world war later, quite a few of Dad's buddies returned to the Delmar area to live, work and raise families. Some of their children became my classmates at Bethlehem Central in the 1960s.

BPL springs up

Save the date to spend a lovely spring Saturday with the Friends of Bethlehem Public Library on a Finger Lakes bus trip and winery tour.

The May 4 trip will include stops at three wineries in the Finger Lakes region, a buffet brunch at Bellhurst Castle, and time to shop at Sauders Market.

The bus will depart the Delmar Park and Ride at 6 a.m. and return around 9 p.m. Your check is your reservation.

There are no refunds unless your seat is sold.

The cost is $142 for members and $145 for non-members.

To fill out a reservation form, call Elissa Zwiebach at 518-573-7184 or visit www.bethlehempubliclibrary.org/about-us/friends-of-bethlehem-public-library.

Board candidate information

Nominating petition forms and informational packets are available at the library for candidates interested in serving on the Bethlehem Public Library Board of Trustees.

There is one seat on the 2019 ballot, currently held by incumbent Joyce Becker, who will not be seeking re-election.

Petitions must contain at least 49 signatures of voters residing in Central School District No. 6 of Bethlehem and New Scotland. Petitions must be filed with the District Clerk, Bethlehem Central High School, 700 Delaware Ave., Delmar by 5 p.m. on April 22.

The election and budget vote will be held on Tuesday, May 21, from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Bethlehem Central High School.

Music to get your Irish up

Enjoy a toe-tapping afternoon of Irish music with Triskele on Wednesday, March 27, from 2 to 4 p.m. This all-female Celtic band from Albany will perform traditional, original and some modern Irish music.

Band members Sharon Wheeler, Noeleen Druckenmiller and Jennifer Kilinski are multi-instrumentalists with a knack for harmonizing.

Their performances tend to have an educational quality and discuss the Gaelic language, Irish history and more.

All ages are welcome!

GPL is grateful

Thank you for the wonderful outpouring of support for the Hulslander family! Thanks to you, the family no longer needs clothing or baby items.

Therefore, we've removed the bin from our lobby. The Hulslanders are still gratefully accepting gift cards, which can be dropped off at the library. Your generosity is a resounding affirmation that Guilderland and the surrounding area truly rallies to support each other. We are proud to be an integral part here!

Census Jobs

Preparations are well underway for the 2020 Census, just a mere eight months away, and libraries will play a key role. Many Census jobs must be filled to conduct this massive data collection effort. A Census representative will be here Monday, April 1, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. to help out and guide the job application process.

Better Angels

Longing to do something about the stark polarization in our country, without surrendering your own values and positions?

Better Angels, a national, grass-roots movement aiming to detoxify and heal the American political landscape, may be the catalyst you're seeking. Plan to attend Thursday, April 4 at 7 p.m. to find out what Better Angels is accomplishing locally and nationally, and how you can get involved. We're also hosting a Better Angels skills workshop Saturday, May 4, 2 to 4:30 p.m., teaching strategies for respectful and productive conversations. Please register online, by phone or in person.

Etsy Success

Calling all craftspeople, artists and vintage item purveyors: seeking to sell your wares on Etsy? Here's your opportunity to get started! Come to our Etsy Success workshop Saturday, April 6, 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. All the fundamentals are covered so you can walk away with your online store open for business. Pre-register for this class, establish your Etsy account in advance, and bring your own laptop, iPad or tablet (or arrange to borrow one of ours).

Amy Roos, the musical's director, said that it would focus more on the accident's true events and affected real-life people, instead of being a straightforward adaptation of the James Cameron-helmed 1997 namesake film which starred Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet. The central theme would be tragedy, she added. "Titanic" had been decided to be produced last summer because of its challenging Tony Award-winning music score which the cast and orchestra felt willing to tackle, and it had almost 40 speaking roles in addition to the ensemble — this provided more opportunities for students to participate.

The result is planned to be ambitious, with large-scale onstage props and moving staircases sets to emulate the Edwardian era-styled ship. Roos said that around 35 parents have volunteered to help out with the production and provide more props, costumes and publicity. Roos also worked with technical director Michael O'Keeffe to develop more opportunities for students who want to do tech for the shows and she even has a student team, comprising of a stage manager, two assistant stage managers and an assistant director. She perceived them as an "invaluable asset" who are open to learning about tech in theater and they rise "to every challenge they are given."

Meanwhile, costume Andrea Adamczyk and her crew have helped incorporate their research of the Edwardian era into their costume creations.

While attending a rehearsal on Wednesday, March 20, such costumes were not worn by the students yet and the stage sets and props were still being finalized. Nevertheless, students took the subject matter seriously as they began portraying real-life individuals and couples who became torn apart by the classist treatment of passengers as well as the rule that women and children only should begin boarding the emergency lifeboats.

The overall cast, who first auditioned for roles back in January, appeared ready to depict the frenzied mass of doomed passengers as many students littered the stage, as if showing how large the stakes are.

Grant Napierski, a senior student who portrays Captain Edward John Smith, said that while he has already been in all the shows throughout his high school years, he wanted to join this production in order to work with Roos, whom he and the other students view as a new director since longtime theater director James Yeara retired in 2017. "It's also a show I've never been in before and I never really heard this music before, and I think a lot of people felt that way," he said. "But I just wanted another theater experience and it's definitely a cool, interesting show to be in."

Sophomore Brayden Karn, who plays naval architect Thomas Andrews, similarly said he just wanted to be a part of this production, regardless of what role he got. Adding that he personally enjoys singing and musical theater, he said he has enjoyed Roos' direction thus far and he appreciated the theater club's overall positive environment. "We have great fellow actors here and we all really enjoy being here," he said.

Sarah Marshall, a senior who plays Quartermaster Hitchens, said that while many of her fellow costars are passionate about musical theater, "Titanic: The Musical" is a show that most are not familiar with. Liking how this production offers many speaking roles as opposed to other musicals that only have a few starring roles, she said that she at least wanted a character with a name since she'd always been in the ensemble in past musical productions. "So, when I saw the cast list come out and that I have a name, that's good enough for me and I was just happy about that," she laughed, adding that she does plan to continue pursuing theater seriously beyond high school.

When asked if she had any advice for such students who want to continue doing theater after graduation, Roos said it's best "to find your niche. Find the thing that makes you stand out above the pack. It doesn't have to be strictly talent. It can be your reliability, your ability to memorize lines quickly, your physical comedy, speaking another language. Find the thing that gives you an edge." In the meantime, she said that she has enjoyed working with her students, regardless of if they are graduating this year or not. "They are an incredibly talented group and I will be very proud when the curtain goes up on opening night," she concluded.

Welcome to home ownership

Did you know the average cost of a bathroom remodel is $9,275? Did you also know that the median home value in the United States is $221,500? Whether you're looking to buy your first house or you're in the middle of a 30-year mortgage and looking to fund a home improvement project, you have some questions to ask yourself. This year's Real Estate Guide provides answers to some of the questions you've been asking yourself, and to some of the questions you should be asking yourself.

Get the financial facts about timeshares

Many people turn to timeshares as a way to enjoy annual vacations. But is investing in a timeshare a financially sound decision? That depends on who you ask.

Getting the facts about how timeshares work and learning a few tricks can help anyone make an educated decision about timeshares.

In a timeshare, individuals purchase a place to stay in vacation property. They typically can then use this room and the surrounding amenities once per year, and often must travel to the same location time and again. Timeshares long have held appeal because they are marketed toward people who may not be able to buy a vacation home, but still want to vacation each year.

There are some advantages to timeshares. They provide a guaranteed vacation destination each year in a familiar place. This is great for people who value familiarity.

Timeshares also make it possible to afford a vacation in an expensive resort. Sometimes a person can trade times or locations with other timeshare owners, enabling more versatility and new destination experiences.

For those who have to skip a year, it may be possible to sublet the timeshare or let family and friends use it if the agreement allows. Timeshares do have some notable drawbacks.

Cost-efficiency is one notable drawback of timeshares. The American Resort Development Association, a trade group for timeshare companies, offers that the average cost of a timeshare is around $20,000, with an annual maintenance fee of $660.

Those fees are paid even if the resort isn't used that year. Chances are a person can get a comparable vacation elsewhere for a lower cost — especially with the abundance of vacation property rentals available from traditional hotels as well as sites such as Airbnb.

A timeshare is not like a traditional real estate investment. According to Investopedia, it is an illiquid asset that is likely to lose value over time. Those who decide to sell their timeshares often find they must do so at a deep discount. Furthermore, those who sell a timeshare at a loss may find the Internal Revenue Service doesn't let them claim a capital loss, which is often the case with other investments and property.

To make timeshares work, individuals can opt to buy used, which is often at a fraction of the cost offered new by resort developers. Also, realize that a timeshare is a lifestyle purchase, not exactly a real estate investment. Timeshares are not a way to turn a profit. Try to purchase in desirable locations as well. Doing so increases the likelihood of resale in the future.

Get the best deal on a mortgage

Few people are able to walk into a home, like what they see and then pay for a house in cash. In the vast majority of home purchases, mortgages make the dream of home ownership a reality.

Getting a mortgage requires research and some preparation on the part of borrowers if they hope to get the friendliest terms possible.

Homes are substantial, decades-long investments, so it's smart to shop around to find the best rates and lenders available. These tips can make the process of applying and getting a mortgage go smoothly, and may even help borrowers save some money.

- Learn your credit score. Your credit score will be a factor in determining just how much bargaining power you have for lower interest rates on mortgage loans, according to the financial resource NerdWallet. The higher the credit score, the better. Well before shopping for a mortgage, manage your debt, paying it off if possible, and fix any black marks or mistakes on your credit report.

- Investigate various lenders. The Federal Trade Commission says to get information from various sources, whether they are commercial banks, mortgage companies, credit unions, or thrift institutions. Each is likely to quote different rates and prices, and the amount they're willing to lend you may vary as well. Investigating various lenders can help you rest easy knowing you got the best rate for you. Lenders may charge additional fees that can drive up the overall costs associated with getting a mortgage. Compare these fees as well so you can be sure you get the best deal.

- Consider a mortgage broker. Mortgage brokers will serve as the middle person in the transaction. A broker's access to several different lenders can translate into a greater array of loan products and terms from which to choose.

- Learn about rates. Become informed of the rate trends in your area. Lower rates translate into significant savings amounts per month and over the life of the loan. Rate may be fixed, though some are adjustable-rate mortgages (also called a variable or floating rate). Each has its advantages and disadvantages, and a financial consultant can discuss what might be in your best interest.

- Discuss points with your financial advisor and lender. Some lenders allow you to pay points in advance, which will lower the interest rate. Get points quoted in dollar amounts so they'll be easier to compare. If you're unfamiliar with points, discuss the concept with your financial advisor.

The vast majority of homeowners secured a mortgage to purchase their homes. Learning about the mortgage process can help new buyers navigate these sometimes tricky financial waters.

Stepping into your first home

How to save up for your first home

Home ownership is a dream for people across the globe.

Many people save for years before buying their first homes, squirreling away every dollar they can with the hopes they can one day become homeowners.

But thanks to factors beyond their control, even the most devoted savers can sometimes feel like their dream of home ownership may never come true.

According to the Pew Research Center, American workers' paychecks are larger than they were 40 years ago.

However, their purchasing power is essentially the same.

Things aren't much different in Canada, where analysis from Statistics Canada and the Bank of Canada has shown that, since 2015, wage growth in Canada has been weaker than in the United States.

Various challenges can make it difficult to buy a home.

However, some simple strategies can help prospective home buyers build their savings as they move closer to the day when they can call themselves "homeowners."

- Determine where your

Americans spend, on average, 6 percent of their household budgets on food. However, the USDA also notes that Americans spend 5 percent of their disposable income on dining out."

— The U.S. Department of Agriculture

money is going. If you're finding it hard to grow your savings, audit your monthly expenses to determine where your money is going. Using exclusively debit or credit cards can simplify this process, as all you need to do is log into your accounts and see how your money you can then redirect that money into your savings account.

• Become a more savvy grocery shopper. Another great way to save more money is to alter something you already do each month: grocery shopping. If you haven't already, sign up for discount clubs at your local grocer. This is a largely effortless way for shoppers, especially those buying food for families, to save considerable amounts of money. Shopping sales at competing grocery stores also can save money.

• Dine in more often. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that Americans spend, on average, 6 percent of their household budgets on food. However, the USDA also notes that Americans spend 5 percent of their disposable income on dining out. If these figures mirror your spending habits, you can nearly cut your food spending in half by dining out less frequently. That might be a sacrifice for foodies, but it can get you that much closer to buying your own home.

Saving enough money to purchase your first home is a worthy effort that can be made easier by employing a few budget-friendly strategies.

Improving a home's curb appeal

An attractive front entrance area gives a home curb appeal that invites both guests and potential home buyers. Upgrading a home's exterior can be as simple as painting or as complex as installing new windows or a patio.

Inspiration for a curb appeal "makeover" that reflects the owner's budget and decorating choices are easy to find online. Stop by the nearest Woodcraft store for tools and supplies, along with helpful advice from the staff, or visit Woodcraft.com to shop and read how-to blogs and articles.

One of the easiest and quickest ways to boost curb appeal is to paint (and repair if needed) a home's front door, molding and trim. Painting garage doors, porches, shutters, doorsteps, flower boxes, furniture, mailboxes/stands, and window trim are other potential projects, as is changing the front door hardware.

For front door and shutter painting inspiration, visit these informational blogs on Woodcraft.com: Front Door Klein Blue Redo (<http://bit.ly/2zSVV9J>) and To Thine Own Self Be Blue (<http://bit.ly/2EkUsvR>).

Repair & Paint

Woodcraft offers these products and ideas for more repairing and painting.

- General Finishes Milk Paint is a premium interior/exterior mineral-based paint premixed in more than two dozen colors. It is so durable it does not require a topcoat. However, Woodcraft Product Development Manager Kent Harpool suggests using General Finishes Exterior 450 as a sealer for exterior uses. The 450 is fortified with UV absorbers to stabilize the finish and built-in mildewcide to retard mold and mildew growth.

- Krud Kutter TSP Substitute will clean and degloss almost any surface prior to painting so that paint adheres better.

- System Three Sculptwood Epoxy Putty is a two-part epoxy putty that can be used indoors or out. Mold it, shape it or use it to repair carvings, antique picture frames or even windowsills. Be sure to add a coat of General Finishes Exterior 450 to seal your work.

- Titebond III Ultimate Wood Glue is waterproof, yet it cleans up with water. It allows eight minutes of open assembly time and offers an application temperature as low as 47 F.

- HOMERIGHT Super Finish Max and Finish Max Fine Finish HVLP Spray-ers spray most solvent or water-based products — latex paint, milk paint, chalk paint, furniture paint, stains, and finishes. The Finish Max is ideal for small- to medium-sized projects, while the Super Finish Max is more powerful and covers a wider range of projects and thicker paints and varnishes with less thinning required.

- HOMERIGHT Spray Shelters are good for furniture projects (large shelter), as well as smaller accessories (small shelter).

Remove, Replace & Build

Replacing windows, gutters and downspouts; adding molding to a door; building — outdoor furniture, a unique mailbox and stand, or flower containers; and adding or expanding a patio area/porch require a large investment of time and money. Look for these products to help with these replacement and building projects.

- Lightweight and quiet, yet easily portable, the Rolair AB5 Air Buddy, 1/2 HP Compressor is a durable companion for your weekend projects.

- Use the GREX Green Buddy 18-gauge, 2" Brad Nailer for trim and moldings, light wood assembly, window beading, scribe molding, and door and window casings.

- For precision sawing, efficient sanding, power cutting, accurate filing, scraping, cleaning and polishing, and more, consider the Fein MultiMaster Start Q with a pinless Starlock mounting system and easy snap-in accessories.

- Take SawStop safety, quality and precision directly to your project work area when you choose the portable SawStop Jobsite Saw with Cart.

To learn more about these and other products, stop in your local Woodcraft store, call (800) 535-4482 or visit www.woodcraft.com.

Sweat equity adds value to your home

Outdoor improvements that boost home value

Whether home improvement projects are design to improve the interior or exterior of a house, focusing on renovations that make the most financial sense can benefit homeowners in the long run. The right renovations can be assets if and when homeowners decide to sell their homes.

So how does one get started? First and foremost, speak to a local real estate agent who is knowledgeable about trends in the community. While a swimming pool may be something coveted in one area, it may impede sales in another. It also helps to study generalized trends and data from various home improvement industry analysts to guide upcoming projects.

The following outdoor projects are just a few renovations that tend to add value.

- Fire pit: A fire pit is a great place to gather most months of the year. Bob Vila and CBS news report that a fire pit realizes a 78 percent return on investment, or ROI.

- Outdoor kitchen: Many buyers are looking to utilize their yards as an extension of interior living areas. Cooking, dining and even watching TV outdoors is increasingly popular. Outdoor living areas can be custom designed and built. In addition, prefabricated modular units that require a much smaller commitment of time and money are available.

- Patio: Homeowners who do not already have a patio will find that adding one can increase a home's value. Patios help a home look neat, add useable space and may help a home to sell quickly. The experts at Space Wise, a division of Extra Space Storage, say that refinishing, repairing and building a new patio offers strong ROI.

- Deck: Deck can be as valuable as patios. A deck is another outdoor space that can be used for entertaining, dining and more. Remodeling magazine's 2018 "Cost vs. Value" report indicates that an $11,000 deck can add about $9,000 in resale value to the home, recouping around 82 percent of the project's costs.

- Door update: Improve curb appeal with a new, high-end front door and garage doors. If that's too expensive, a good cleaning and new coat of paint can make an old door look brand new. These easy fixes can improve a home's look instantly.

- New landscaping: The National Association of Realtors says an outdoor makeover that includes well-thought out landscaping can net 105 percent ROI. Consider installing a walkway, adding stone planters or mulching.

About Anthony...

Anthony Gucciardo Broker owner of Gucciardo real estate group was recently recognized at the 15th annual women's council of realtor breakfast of champions as the top real estate broker in the capital region; having sold over 250 homes valued at $50 million, $10 million more than his nearest competitor. This marks the 5th year that Gucciardo has received this award. "I wasn't sure I was going to be the top agent in 2018 said Gucciardo, having taken some time off during the winter after a very busy year. He says that the key to success is allowing your mind to refresh and re-energize the passion that resides within. Even though I was away during the winter, I worked every day by phone keeping all of my clients happy. I expected to finish in the top 5 and never thought that after I took three months off I would still finish in the lead. It's a true passion I have to help clients and it's hard to believe that I've been a broker for 16 years and have loved every day of it. A lot of brokers and sales professionals have imitated my advertising and slogan List local. Sell global. I think in a roundabout way competition is good. we've all been able to help each other and expand in the right direction. Gucciardo's firm closed $90 million in sales in 2018 having closed more than 350 transactions. Gucciardo's firm has only 8 full-time agents. We are a boutique type firm and feel that no job is too big or too small. Gucciardo himself was responsible for $50 million of the firms sales value. It's the best job I've ever had and I don't think there will ever be a day that I retire.

The various ways to fund your home project

6 options for funding your next home improvement project

Before starting a home improvement project, either on one's own or with the assistance of a professional contractor, homeowners must first consider the costs involved. According to the home improvement resource HomeAdvisor, more than one-third of homeowners do not understand what hiring a professional will cost, and then cannot successfully budget and secure financing once they have set their sights on a renovation project.

HomeAdvisor says that some of the more popular projects, such as remodeling a kitchen or bathroom or building a deck, can cost, on average, $19,920, $9,274 and $6,919, respectively.

Homeowners may find that the more expensive renovations require them to secure some type of financing. Those who have never before sought such financing may want to consider these options.

1. Cash-out refinancing: With cash-out refinancing, a person will begin the mortgage process anew with the intention of paying off the current mortgage balance, and then taking out additional funds for other purposes. Cash-out refinancing is a way to tap into a home's existing equity for use on improvements or other expenses, such as college tuition.

2. Home equity line of credit: The financial experts at Bankrate indicate that a HELOC works like a credit card, with the house as collateral. There is a credit limit, and borrowers can spend up to that limit. The interest rate may or may not be fixed. However, the interest may be tax-deductible if the financing is used to improve, buy or build a home.

3. Home equity loan: Individuals also can borrow against equity in their homes with a fixed interest rate through a home equity loan. Most lenders will calculate 80 percent of the home value and subtract a homeowner's mortgage balance to figure out how much can be borrowed, according to the financial advisory site The Simple Dollar.

4. Personal loan: Homeowners can shop around at various financial institutions for competitive personal loans to be used for home improvement purposes. Funds may be approved within one business day, which can be ideal for those who want to begin their improvements soon.

5. Personal line of credit: A personal line of credit allows borrowers to borrow only the money needed at the time, and offers a variable interest rate that is generally lower than fixed loan rates. Again, like a credit card, PLOC gives a person a maximum borrowing amount and is ideal for ongoing purchases.

6. Credit cards: In a pinch, credit cards can be used to finance improvements, but they do come with the cost of very high interest rates if the balance is not paid in full by the time the bill comes due. However, for funding smaller projects and maximizing rewards points through home improvement retailers or specific credit card company promotions, credit cards can be a way to earn various perks in addition to the benefit of improving a home.

Homeowners looking to finance their next improvements should speak to a financial advisor and shop around for the best types of funding for them.

Embrace the powerful color of purple for your home

Add this color around the house

Pantone named “Ultra Violet” its color of the year in 2018, helping to create a resurgence in popularity of all things purple. As a result, homeowners who pride themselves on staying on top of the latest trends have increasingly turned to purple when designing their home interiors.

Purple influences can range from the dramatic to the subtle. Here are some ways to embrace purple in your home.

Transition bedroom color

Purple has long been a favorite shade for adolescents who are growing up and moving away from pinks and peaches into more mature room colors. Purple looks well when accented by white, magenta and yellow.

Even though it is embraced by young girls, purple also can be used by adults who want to create soothing retreats in their bedrooms.

Create an accent wall

A purple room may intimidate people who prefer mild, more neutral design schemes. But a purple accent wall can add a pop of color, suggest the home experts at Realtor.com. When it comes time to list a home, it’s easier for the next homeowner to embrace a purple accent wall than an entire room decorated in this jeweled tone.

Use accent items

It’s easy to add a splash of plum or other variations of purple without making a permanent commitment. Dress up neutral decor with throw pillows, rugs, table linens, or draperies in all shades of purple. As trends change, it’s easy to exchange accent items.

Modern kitchen

Homeowners can offset efficient, modern design in kitchens characterized by white cabinetry and stainless appliances with some well-placed grape focal points. A purple backsplash, purple-clad island or lavender bar stools can lend vibrancy to a space.

Purple powder room

A purple guest bathroom is the ideal place to help overnight guests feel regal. Violet and deeper shades of purple can feel warm and luxurious. Beige or cream bathrooms can be enhanced with a deep purple bath mat, shower curtain and hand towels.

Purple is hot right now and turning up in unexpected places in many homes.

Jazzing up the home with some hip trends

6 home trends to consider

Home design and real estate trends come and go, but once in awhile certain concepts exhibit considerable staying power. Staying abreast of what's hot and what's not can be a bit overwhelming. This list breaks down some of the trends that have made a splash and figure to be around for some time.

1. Open concept spaces: Watch the DIY Network or HGTV and you'll quickly understand that open floor plans remain highly coveted. Many modern, newly built homes have a large multi-purpose area that blurs the borders of the kitchen, dining area and family room. These homes make it easy to entertain and keep an eye on youngsters.

2. Patterned fabrics and upholstery: Solids will always have their place in home decor, but patterned furnishings are making a name for themselves as well. Today's homeowners are not afraid to experiment with geometric and floral patterns alongside neutral colors to showcase their personalities, advises the real estate industry resource The Lighter Side of Real Estate.

3. Farmhouse chic: Many people want the ambiance of a rustic, antique farmhouse even if they live miles away from the country. Reclaimed wood on the walls, exposed beams, eclectic accessories, and a big wood table in the dining room are hallmarks of farmhouse style. This is a fun design trend that can be personalized for cozy appeal.

4. Hidden appliances: Making appliances disappear into the background is a growing trend. This is achieved with products that blend in with or are hidden behind cabinetry.

5. Row homes: Popularized in the 19th century and then again in the 1960s and 1980s, townhouses are making another comeback. Townhomes made up about 12.4 percent of all new construction in the single-family home market last year, according to data from the U.S. Census Bureau. According to a Realtor.com survey released in October 2017, townhouses were the most popular form of housing after single-family homes. They were especially popular among millennial buyers, about one-third of whom planned to purchase a townhouse in 2017.

6. Multigenerational homes: Buyers between the ages of 53 and 62 are increasingly looking at homes that can accommodate children older than 18, with a room or apartment available to care for an aging parent, states the National Association of REALTORS.

Home trends continue to evolve, and some trends have exhibited more staying power than others.

Continuing the conversation on breast cancer with events and survivors

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY COUNTY — Cancer is a universal topic. Think of the topics you discuss around the water cooler: Not everyone can appreciate politics. Not everyone can speak adequately about the nuances of baseball strategy. But everyone has something to say about cancer. According to the New York Cancer Registry, there was an average of nearly 2,000 new cases of cancer each year between 2011 and 2015 in Albany County alone. At the same time, Schenectady County averaged roughly 1,000 cases, as did Rensselaer. Saratoga County registered about 1,400 new cases. It works out to a rate of 1 out of 200 people throughout the Capital District. For some of us, that's one or two people with whom we graduated high school.

Who's Who at Woodstock

Woodstock 50 tickets go on sale April 22

By MIKE KOHLI
nysmusic.com

After months of speculation, the Woodstock 50th Anniversary lineup was revealed Tuesday. Included in the lineup were the rumored artists leaked two weeks ago.

Headliners for the Aug. 16-18 festival, being held at Watkins Glen International Speedway in the Finger Lakes region of New York include: Jay-Z, the Killers, Dead & Company, Imagine Dragons, Miley Cyrus and Chance the Rapper.

In a reflection of the current musical landscape, the lineup includes several pop and hip-hop performers: the aforementioned Jay-Z, Run the Jewels, Common, Halsey, Janelle Monáe, Cyrus, India.Arie, Princess Nokia, Chance the Rapper and Earl Sweatshirt.

There's also a noticeable female presence this year with artists such as Soccer Mommy, Brandi Carlile, Bishop Briggs, Monáe, Cyrus Margo Price, Jade Bird, Emily King, Flora Cash and Cherry Glazerr.

The somewhat lacking legacy component of the lineup that producer Michael Lang had promised was also officially revealed in the announcement. Several original Woodstock performers will be gracing the stages for the 50th. Santana, Canned Heat, John Fogerty, Country Joe McDonald, John Sebastian, Melanie, David Crosby and members of Dead & Company all performed at the original Woodstock at Bethel in 1969.

Cancer related hair loss

Guide to wigs and head coverings

Cancer patients face various challenges. One of the more difficult side effects of cancer treatment is the probability of hair loss, as both men and women report hair loss as one of the side effects they fear the most after being diagnosed with cancer.

Hair loss may be a side effect of chemotherapy. But the Mayo Clinic notes that not everyone who undergoes chemotherapy will experience hair loss, which may be a side effect of the medication chosen and dosage administered. Chemotherapy drugs are powerful medications that attack rapidly growing cancer cells. However, these drugs not only impact cancerous cells, but they affect healthy cells as well. That means they can affect any cells in the body, including those that form hair follicles.

Cancer-related hair loss can occur just about anywhere hair grows. But while hair loss elsewhere on the body can be concealed relatively easily, it's hair loss on one's head that may affect a person's body image. Wigs and other coverings can help cancer patients maintain a healthy body image, and the following are some tips to help patients find the right product for them.

- Begin shopping early. Hair loss may begin two to four weeks after treatment is initiated. Explore your options once you know your treatment plan. Ask for referrals to reputable wig shops or browse online to see which options are available to you.

- Learn about sizing. Women's wigs generally come in three different sizes: petite, average and large. Many wear an average cap. To achieve the correct measurements, have someone measure the circumference of your head, tracing around the perimeter of your hairline and continuing behind the ears. A flexible seamstress measuring tape is helpful. Also, measure from the tip of the spine to the front of the head.

- Choose your hair type. Wigs come in a variety of materials. These include human hair, synthetic hair and heat-friendly synthetic hair. Human hair will require similar maintenance to a regular head of hair and will not hold styles long. Therefore, if you desire a wig that requires less maintenance, then synthetic is the way to go. These wigs retain their shape and can still be relatively indistinguishable in appearance from human hair. For women who would like versatility in styling, a heat-friendly synthetic wig can be styled much like human hair and will not be damaged by heat-producing appliances.

- Select cap type. Caps come in different materials and sewing types. Some, such as hand-tied caps, have

PICK OF THE WEEK

Relive the '90s

Nostalgia rules this upcoming musical at Proctors

By MICHAEL HALLISEY

halliseym@spotlightnews.com

SCHENECTADY — The 90s are in.

Set aside that 90s pop music is often the background music to every grocery store you visit these days — that may not be the most favorable indicator for a trend — Gen X, Y and everyone else on the Gen-spectrum likes to go back in time.

“Baggy jeans!” said Richard Crandle, when asked what he’d bring back from the “Dot.com” decade. “You know the kind M.C. Hammer would wear on his tv shows and performances? I can bring back those pants all day long.”

He’s to perform in the upcoming North American tour of the off-Broadway hit “Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical.” His choice is not too much of a surprise. He’s to be Ronald Clifford, the music teacher, in what is promised to be a concert performance of chart-topping songs.

In celebration of the 20th anniversary of the cult classic film “Cruel Intentions”, producers announced the casting for the North American tour of the Off-Broadway smash hit “Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical.”

The 18-city tour follows sold-out runs in Los Angeles and a critically acclaimed, sold-out run in New York City, the new musical—a stage adaptation of Roger Kumble’s 1999 cult-hit film, created by Jordan Ross, Lindsey Rosin and Roger Kumble — will launch its first national tour at Proctors in Schenectady on Friday, March 29.

“It’s been the adventure of a lifetime being a part of Cruel Intentions’ cult legacy and I’m so excited to share our best-of-the-90s bittersweet symphony with the country,” said co-creator of the stage musical, Jordan Ross.

Grammy-winning producer Stewart Lerman captured the dynamic arrangements from the Off-Broadway production, in his studio outside New York City in August. Featuring the stellar talents of Carrie St. Louis, Constantine Rousouli and Alex Boniello alongside Patricia Richardson, the album will contain a collection of lively tracks from Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical including ‘Losing My Religion’ ‘Bye Bye Bye’ and a unique take on ‘No Scrubs’ that is not to be missed. “Breakfast at Tiffany’s,” “Foolish Games,” and “Lovefool” are currently available to stream and as instant grat tracks.

The album is available now for pre-order at www.smarturl.it/cruelmusical.

Set to some of the greatest pop and rock hits of the ‘90s, “Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical” is an exhilarating and deceptively funny musical that pulls you into the manipulative world of Manhattan’s most dangerous liaisons: Sebastian Valmont and Kathryn Merteuil. Seduced by revenge and fueled by passion, the two diabolically charming step-siblings place a bet on whether or not Sebastian can deflower their incoming headmaster’s daughter, Annette Hargrove. As the two

THEATER

Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical

Based on the French novel, Les Liaisons Dangereuses, and the classic cult film starring Reese Witherspoon, Ryan Phillippe and Sarah Michelle Geller, Cruel Intentions: The '90s Musical Experience pulls you into the manipulative world of Manhattan's most dangerous liaisons: Sebastian Valmont and Kathryn Merteuil. Seduced by revenge and fueled by passion, the two diabolically charming step-siblings place a bet on whether or not Sebastian can deflower their incoming headmaster's daughter, Annette Hargrove. As the two set out to destroy the innocent girl—and anyone who gets in their way—they find themselves entangled in a web of secrets, temptation, and the cruelest game of all: love. Friday, March 29 at 8 p.m. Proctors is located at 432 State St., Schenectady. www.proctors.org.

'Urinetown: The Musical'

This send-up of big business, corruption and musical theatre itself imagines a world where everyone must use public toilets to do their private business. It's hysterical and surprisingly poignant. Thursday, March 21 through Sunday, March 31. The Cohoes Music Hall. 58 Remsen St., Cohoes. www.thecohoes-musichall.org.

shine in this exhibition. Drawn from the collections of the Albany Institute, these personal effects will tell stories about the individuals who owned them, where and why they were purchased, and what they reveal as works of art and embellishment. Through Sunday, July 28. Also, "Shape and Shadow: The Sculpture of Larry Kagan." A retrospective exhibition that will feature 50 works from three distinctive phases of the Troy sculptor's career: the 1970s cast acrylic sculptures that reflect and refract light; the found steel works from the 1980s and 90s that play with texture, pattern, and shape; and, more recently, the shadow pieces that rely on strategically positioned steel rods to sculpt light. Through Sunday, June 9. Also, "Heavy Metal: Cast Iron Stoves of the Capital Region." During the 19th century, Albany and Troy, New York, manufacturers were considered to be among the largest producers of cast-iron stoves in the world. Stoves made in these cities were renowned for their fine-quality castings and innovations in technology and design. This exhibit showcases 25 of these utilitarian objects as both works of art and technological innovations that made the home more comfortable as well as beautiful. On display through, Sunday, Aug. 18. Ongoing: "The Hudson River School: Landscape Paintings from the Albany Institute," "Ancient Egypt," "Nineteenth-Century American Sculpture" and "Traders & Culture." Museum hours: Wednesday: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Thursday: 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Friday and Saturday: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday: noon to 5 p.m. Admission: Adults, $10;

Albany International Airport
Continuing: "Landmark." Visual artists and writers reflect upon a changing American landscape. Thomas Cole's love for and concern about the American landscape were expressed in his paintings and writings, and persist in the work of many significant artists and writers today. Features work by Ellen Driscoll, Valerie Hammond, William Lamson, Portia Munson, Kenneth Ragsdale, Anne Roecklein, Lisa Sanditz, Kiki Smith, Darren Waterson and Susan Wides. Through Monday, March 25. Presented in partnership with the Thomas Cole National Historical Site in Catskill. Gallery hours: Daily, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Free admission. Main Gallery, third floor, adjacent to Observation Area, 737 Albany Shaker Rd., Latham. 518-242-2241 or www.albanyairport.com/arts

Arts Center of the Capital Region
Continuing: "In Ply." A band of artists converging on a single mission to create an environment that can be used without regard to a specific means of interaction outside of community use and art. Over 50 artists create work within the narrative of skate culture including skate decks, street art, skate photography, and carpentry. The exhibit will include a skate ramp built in house for public use. On view in the Main Gallery through Friday, April 5. 265 River St., Troy. Gallery

The Hyde Collection
Continuing: "From the Vault: Staff Selections." Members of The Hyde team each picks their favorites from among the Museum's 4,000-work collection. Spanning five centuries, the exhibition includes paintings, drawings, prints, and sculpture. With choices as eclectic as their backgrounds, Museum staff members give insight into who they are and reveals what inspires them. On view in the Hoopes and Whitney-Renz Galleries through Sunday, March 31. Also, "Colorama." For more than four decades, enormous advertisements displayed in New York City's Grand Central Station affirmed a picturesque notion of everyday American life. The 18-foot-by-60-foot images depicted an idyllic nation: beautiful landscapes, holiday celebrations, world-changing historical events, family road trips, and patriotism. This exhibition examines the captivating advertisements, offering insight into America, and the histories of advertising, photography, and technology. Thirty-six reproduced images from the George Eastman Museum depict an idealized past for a new generation, and a welcome reintroduction for those who lived through the decades that helped shape photography. Organized by the George Eastman Museum. On view through Sunday, April 14. Also permanent collections. Museum hours: Daily, Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday, noon to 5 p.m., Closed Monday. miSci

Continuing: "Zoom into Nano." A hands-on interactive exhibition focusing on how scientists see and make things that are too small to see. Nanoscale science and engineering are methods of manipulating materials on the molecular scale to generate very, very small structures and devices. At 5,000 square feet, Zoom Into Nano presents a variety of large-scale, immersive experiences in the world of nanotechnology. Plus ongoing/permanent exhibits: "Wind and Solar: The Renewable Energy Revolution," an interactive exhibit designed to encourage visitors understanding of renewable energy technology and climate change factors; "Fueling The Future," Learn how different fuels affect the economy and the environment with interactive displays, images, video and artifacts from the miSci collection; "Design, Build, Create, KEVA!," Use these precision-cut smooth wooden blocks for a hands-on learning experience about building principles of balance, cantilevers, geometric shapes, optimum proportion stability and more; "Play Space," Discover hands-on, fun science toys you don't have at home to learn about weight, measurement, sorting and fun; and "MRI: Examining the Human Body," in addition to Planetarium Shows: "Season of Light." Explore humankind's history of lighting up our lives during the December holiday season. It's an exploration of the astronomical meanings behind seasonal traditions—from the burning Yule log, sparkling Christmas tree lights and candles in windows, to the lighting of luminaires in the American Southwest and the traditional ritual of the Hanukkah Menorah. Daily, Tuesday through Sunday at 2 p.m. with additional show on Saturdays at 11 a.m.

FOOD & VINO

Level up on lamb

Leg of lamb is a popular dish at family outings. Whether it's a holiday meal, anniversary dinner or a double date at home with friends, lamb can set the tone for a memorable night. Hosts who want to experiment with a less traditional take on lamb can try the following recipe for "Rack of Lamb With a Coffee and Avocado Honey Crust" courtesy of Laurey Masterton's "The Fresh Honey Cookbook" (Storey).

Rack of Lamb with a Coffee and Avocado Honey Crust

Ingredients: Serves 4

- 1/4 cup toasted fresh bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup honey, preferably avocado honey
- 1/4 cup coarse-ground mustard
- 1 small rack of lamb (about 2 pounds)
- Sea salt
- Coarsely ground black pepper
- Granulated garlic
- 1 cup strong brewed coffee or espresso
- 1/4 cup white wine

Instructions:

1. Preheat the oven to 375° F.
2. Make a paste of the bread crumbs, honey and mustard in a small bowl, mixing until just combined.
3. Season the lamb rack with salt, pepper and granulated garlic. Spread the honey-mustard paste on the meat side of the rack. Place the lamb rack in a baking dish just large enough to hold it, preferably one that can also be placed directly on the stove top. Pour the coffee into the bottom of the baking dish.
4. Bake for 10 minutes, or until the crust is set, then baste with the pan drippings, trying not to dissolve the honey-mustard mixture. Continue to bake until a meat thermometer reads 130 F, 20 minutes or longer. Keep a careful watch. If your racks are small, this may take less time. Similarly, larger racks will take longer. When the proper temperature is reached, remove from the oven. Transfer the lamb rack to a warmed plate to rest while you prepare the sauce.

5. Place the baking dish on the stove. Simmer the drippings over the medium-high heat and add the wine to deglaze the pan, stirring with a wooden spoon. Add any additional juices that might have collected on the plate from the resting lamb. Stir until the drippings and wine are well mixed and slightly thick, about 5 minutes.

6. Cut the rack into rib portions and serve with the warmed sauce.

Note: To make fresh crumbs, simply cut a few slices of bread into tiny pieces or pulse a few slices in a food processor for a few seconds. You are looking for coarse crumbs, not grains of sand. To toast, toss in a dry saucepan over medium heat for a few minutes, until the bread dries and turns golden brown.

Pairing:

Joseph Carr Cabernet Sauvignon
Joseph Carr — California

When you serve lamb, a full-bodied cabernet is your go-to wine. This Joseph Carr wine is well regarded and has been named as an Editor's Choice with Wine Enthusiast. It lends an intense burst of dark fruits, cinnamon, clove and oak aromas. That's followed with flavors of black cherries, blackberries and accents of vanilla and oak.

HEALTH & FITNESS

Alcohol: friend or foe?

The answer isn't cut and dry

Alcohol can be both tonic and poison. Literature suggesting that light to moderate drinking presents a plethora of health benefits can be found if people go looking for it. However, alcohol also has its detractors, who say that the risks outweigh the benefits when it comes to drinking. This makes it even more complicated to decide if consuming alcohol is something that can safely be included in one's lifestyle or if it's something to be avoided.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says that alcohol can affect every organ in the body. It is a central nervous system depressant that is rapidly absorbed from the stomach and small intestine into the bloodstream. The Mayo Clinic advises that moderate alcohol consumption may provide some health benefits. These can include reducing risk of developing and dying from heart disease. There's a possible reduction in the risk of ischemic stroke, which occurs when the arteries to the brain narrow or become blocked, impacting blood flow. Some think that moderate alcohol consumption may reduce one's risk of diabetes.

The Harvard Medical School indicates that moderate drinking protecting against cardiovascular disease and diabetes makes sense biologically and scientifically. Moderate amounts of alcohol raise levels of high-density lipoprotein (HDL, or "good" cholesterol), and higher HDL levels are associated with greater protection against heart disease. Moderate alcohol consumption has also been linked with beneficial changes ranging from greater sensitivity to insulin to improvements in factors that influence blood clotting.

Alcohol has a dark side, too. Its most pronounced issue is the toll it can take on the liver. Heavy alcohol use can cause inflammation or scarring of the liver. The World Cancer Research Fund also ties alcohol to cancers of the mouth, pharynx, larynx, esophagus, breast, liver, colon, and rectum. People who cannot control their drinking can develop addictions that affect both their personal and professional lives.

Moderation is essential when consuming alcohol. Those who do not currently drink are not advised to do so just for the potential health benefits. However, people who have one to two drinks (12 ounces of beer, eight ounces of malt liquor, five ounces of wine, or 1.5 ounces of liquor) on a regular basis and are healthy overall should generally have few problems, according to the Mayo Clinic. Still, it is always best to consult with a physician about alcohol consumption and its potential effects on one's overall health.

HOROSCOPES

March 2019
Week 4

ARIES - MAR 21/APR 20

You might have to make a few concessions in the short-term if you are eager to make real progress in the long-term, Aries. Eventually all things will even out.

TAURUS - APR 21/MAY 21

Put exercise to the forefront of your list of things to do, Taurus. If you have not been physically active lately, work slowly and diligently to build up your endurance.

GEMINI - MAY 22/JUN 21

Important decisions cannot be made in a matter of minutes, Gemini. You really have to work through all the angles. Seek opinions from trusted friends.

CANCER - JUN 22/JUL 22

Make a list of things you need to accomplish this week, Cancer. If you let it all sit in your head, you are bound to get overwhelmed and forget something.

LEO - JUL 23/AUG 23

Leo, there are a few ways a situation at work can go. Not every path may meet with your utmost approval. But you may have to swallow your pride and compromise.

VIRGO - AUG 24/SEPT 22

If illness has been going around, Virgo, do your best to avoid getting sick. Be diligent in handwashing and other preventive measures.

LIBRA - SEPT 23/OCT 23

Even the most doting parents can use some down time once in a while, Libra. Plan an adults-only date night and enjoy some well-deserved conversation.

SCORPIO - OCT 24/NOV 22

Scorpio, illnesses or medical obstacles can have many sources — from the foods you eat to your emotional wellness. Start jotting things down in a journal to figure out how to feel and look your best.

SAGITTARIUS - NOV 23/DEC 21

Your perseverance is a source of inspiration to others, Sagittarius. Don't be bashful when others share these thoughts with you. Accept their well wishes and give thanks.

CAPRICORN - DEC 22/JAN 20

Hold tight to those friends who have your best interests at heart through happy and trying situations, Capricorn. These are the people you can call upon this week.

AQUARIUS - JAN 21/FEB 18

For so long you have been doling out advice to other people and helping them improve their lives, Aquarius. Now you are the one who could benefit from some counsel.

PISCES - FEB 19/MAR 20

Pisces, a recent birthday celebration could have you feeling like you need to make drastic changes. But small ones can fit the bill as well.

CONCERT REVIEW

Ariana goes big

Star sets out to tour world two years after Manchester Arena tragedy

By DIEGO CAGARA
cagarad@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY — “We’re way too fly to partake in all this hate, we out here vibin’.” This memorable lyric from pop icon Ariana Grande’s 2018 hit single, “No Tears Left to Cry,” rang true during her opening night of her “Sweetener World Tour” at the Times Union Center in Albany on Monday, March 18. Positivity, gratitude and Instagram-worthy visuals dominated her concert, as she sang her way down the often-lit-in-pink stage, beaming as hundreds of fans harmonized along and danced with abandon.

It seemed that Grande was on top of the world as her cheeky retail-therapy-themed banger, “7 Rings,” reclaimed the top spot on the Billboard Hot 100 again for a sixth non-consecutive week the same day as she embarked on her tour. She also recently won her first-ever Grammy for Best Pop Vocal Album for 2018’s “Sweetener” last February. With an infectious blitzkrieg of dance-ready hits and soothing ballads, all may seem well for Grande.

However, reflecting back on the aforementioned lyric, this was her first tour since the Dangerous Woman Tour, which became infamous when a suicide bombing happened on May 22, 2017 at her Manchester Arena show, which left 22 dead and 139 injured in Manchester, England. For this reason, security to her Albany “Sweetener” concert was more pronounced. Grande’s personal life also took a public nosedive when rapper Mac Miller, whom Grande dated from August 2016 to May 2018, died from an accidental drug overdose; Grande soon dated actor Pete Davidson later that May and got engaged in June, only to break it off later in October. Grande became the subject of much commentary on social media and the press as a result, including how there have been people who blamed Grande for Miller’s death and have ridiculed her for her swift engagement.

With these in mind, things did lighten up when she surprise-released her fifth album, “Thank U, Next” — just six months after “Sweetener” — which earned critical acclaim and broke streaming and music video-viewership records with her three singles, “Thank U, Next,” “7 Rings,” and “Break Up with Your Girlfriend, I’m Bored.”

Leading into the Albany concert, the stage featured two gigantic, planet-like orbs — one from the ceiling and the other on the stage’s central screen — and a V-like runway that jutted out through the arena’s floor. Many fans were decked in NASA-themed sweatshirts, a reference to Grande’s namesake song, knee-high boots and ponytails to copy her iconic hairstyle.

Prior to Grande’s appearance, Pennsylvania-based pop duo Social House and former Fifth Harmony member Normani were her opening acts, the latter particularly enchanting the arena with her applause-worthy stage presence and humble disposition.

This being her first solo tour, Normani has since been gradually building her solo portfolio, with hits like 2018's "Love Lies" with Khalid and 2019's "Dancing with a Stranger" with Sam Smith. Known for her impeccable dancing abilities, her choreography always were fluid and jaw-dropping, staying in harmony with her fellow background dancers. Speaking of harmony, she surprised the arena by performing a medley of Rihanna's hits and offering Fifth Harmony nostalgic songs, like 2014's "Boss," 2015's "Worth It" and 2016's "Work from Home." In fact, the concert was just one day before the anniversary of Fifth Harmony announcing its hiatus.

The concert began when the stage's backdrop and central orb emulated an eclipse, combining visuals of a fiery sun and silent moon, while Grande performed the a cappella "Raindrops (An Angel Cried)" to prove again how she neither required background dancers nor instruments to excite an arena. The audience melted into a frenzied blur when Grande then re-enacted her 2018 MTV Video Music Awards performance with "God is a Woman" where she raised eyebrows with her impressive whistle notes.

Continuing with the sassy "Bad Idea," she began traversing the V-shaped runway, giving fans an opportunity to see her up close, as she sang "Break Up with Your Girlfriend, I'm Bored" with some sinful choreography and playful winks. "Be Alright" came next with the same memorable vogueing routines from years' past, followed by the more intimate "Sweetener" and "Successful" numbers. Later on, the arena grew deafening when she performed "7 Rings" while the backdrop had similar pink house trap-like visuals like those of its music video. A pink graffiti-clad car also appeared onstage where she exuded confidence as she posed and looked unbothered while her dancers surrounded her.

The two large orbs offered magnificent imagery throughout the night, particularly during "NASA," a crowd favorite, where planets, galaxies, stars and moons hovered all over the screens. "NASA" had been one of the most highly-anticipated songs before the album came out and since the Albany concert was the first time she ever performed it live, there was a grand catharsis as fans loudly preached its chorus and jumped simultaneously.

Songs like "Breathin," "Fake Smile," "Needy" and "Goodnight n Go" offered a more vulnerable side to Grande, taking a welcomed diversion from the show's largely upbeat nature. "One Last Time" was especially poignant as it was a tribute to the fallen Manchester victims. Older numbers like "Love Me Harder," "Right There," and "Break Your Heart Right Back" showed how she had not forgotten her first two albums, 2013's "Yours Truly" and 2014's "My Everything," which all felt so distant from now.

Grande's personal life showed throughout the night too, like an interlude in the form of a scene from one of her favorite films, 1996's "The First Wives Club," featuring Goldie Hawn's character who declared, "I do have feelings! I'm an actress! I have all of them!" There were a few clips of Grande performing and acting when she was a young girl, and Grande's own brother and mother, Frankie and Joan, were attending the concert as well.

The concert felt like a diary which had recorded and adapted her life journey thus far into a musical spectacle.

The night would conclude with the joyful "No Tears Left to Cry" and the self-love anthem, "Thank U, Next." For the former, the backdrop featured animations of floating staircases and rising umbrellas while her dancers swayed gently with their own physical umbrellas, recreating the song's trippy music video.

The latter began, after a chilling montage of how the song had made headlines for its subject matter and chart-topping success, with some technical difficulties though. Grande and four dancers rose from below the stage but she lacked a working microphone — the audience helped her out though by singing along to the lyrics as she eventually received a functioning one. It has become an inside joke among Grande fans that she has not been able to perform this song without some mishap or getting too emotional. She had first debuted the song live in a November 2018 performance on "The Ellen DeGeneres Show" where she slipped after descending from a chair in heels, and she also messed up some of its lyrics during a rendition at the Billboard's Women in Music event the month after.

After descending onto the V-runway one last time with "First Wives Club"-inspired choreography, she expressed gratitude to the audience before exiting the arena.

For an artist who has endured so much tragedy, drama and commentary from the media and public in the past few years, Grande seemed resilient and ready to continue entertaining audiences as her tour will spill throughout the rest of North America and Europe through October 13 this year. While Albany fans may see her opening night concert as a way of getting up close to her, perhaps Grande saw this as the beginning of a road to reconnect with her love of performing and to let go of her demons from 2018 — a process that would happen on each stop of her tour.

And for that, we say thank you, next show.

Driftwood's 'Time of Shade'

Band's fifth studio release comes 'from the heart,' out this spring

By SAMMY STEINER
nysmusic.com

Driftwood is set to release their fifth studio album this coming spring. This folk-rock and Americana-influenced band has grown over the years from a duo to a five-piece group. Band members include Dan Forsyth (guitar/vocals), Joe Kollar (banjo/guitar/vocals), Claire Byrne (violin/vocals), Joey Acuri (bass), and Will Sigel (drums). Each additional instrument and added vocalist serve to create the rounded and wholesome feel of Driftwood's music.

Reminiscent of the sentiment of their band name, Driftwood continues to evolve with the passage of time. Tree of Shade consists of eleven tracks and represents the group's sonic evolution as they experiment with slower paced music. Personally, listening to this album puts me back around a campfire on a chilly summer night. The opening track "California" (which also happens to be violin/vocalist Claire Byrne's favorite track) helps set the tone for the rest of the album as it embodies the previously described ambiance.

Perhaps one of my favorite aspects of this album is the quality and quantity of the vocals. Songs like "Conquering Man" and "Santa Fe" beautifully portray the strength and conviction in Byrne's voice while "Stick With Me" demonstrates the bright harmonies the group is capable of delivering. "Stick With Me" is another standout track for guitar/vocalist Dan Forsyth as he loves "how simple and timeless it is." Other noteworthy elements in their music consist of the raw sounds from the guitar and banjo as well as the ever-present violin as heard in the closing few bars of "Tree of Shade," the title track of the album.

The group created this album in the Catskill Mountains and undoubtedly captured the energy of their surrounding environment. They said it was their first time working with a major producer like Simone Felice and he really encouraged them to keep it simple and stick to whatever captures the song.

When I first heard songs like "Lay Like You Do" and "What You Do to Me," I couldn't help but think of other beloved bands who create similar sentiments in their music. Driftwood, like The Zac Brown Band and Mumford and Sons, succeeds in inciting feelings of togetherness through the power of music. Some groups the band cite as their biggest musical influences span across generations including Paul Simon, Dr. Dog, Brandi Carlike, and Bob Dylan. It is evident by this list that they value "great songwriting and music that comes from the heart" as they told me.

"The album is emotional, mature and introspective. In some ways, it's really folky but there are also some tracks that we really took chances on." The group shared that their goal for the upcoming album is "just to touch people's hearts" as they "want to connect with [their] audience and share the music and this life."

Upstate's 'Healing'

A 'fearless examination' of life's stories

By ROB SIMAKOVSKY
nysmusic.com

Rich harmonies, moving melodies and distinctive arrangements are abound in Healing, the new record released by Hudson Valley-based folk and soul sextet, Upstate. Produced by Wood Brothers' percussionist, Jano Rix, with engineering helmed by Grammy-winner Justin Guip, Healing represents a self-proclaimed metamorphosis for the band. It's the first full record with vocalist Allison Olender and the first release since the shortening of the band's original name, Upstate Rubdown. In advance of the album's release, Upstate shared a video for "Marietta," along with a performance at City Winery in New York City.

Much of what makes Upstate unique is amplified in this record. The group features a Cajon, but no drum kit, and a mandolin, but no guitar (mostly). This allows Ryan Chappell's mandolin, Harry D'agostino's bass and Dean Mahoney's Cajon to take turns weaving melodic and percussive elements into the arrangements. Meanwhile, Olender, Melanie Glenn, and Mary Kenney trade lead vocals and infuse the spaces with harmonies.

Mirroring the radical evolution of the band, Healing introduces some new instrumentation. "Sarah" has D'agostino on electric bass, while Glenn and Olender lend their guitar playing in "Crawl In" and "I'll Be Fine," respectively. These changes represent a larger effort by producer Rix to experiment with the recording process. Encouraging the band to delve deeper into their non-traditional structure allowed Upstate to nail down its characteristic tone and sound.

Emotions arrive in waves, as the record journeys from the swaying softness of "I'll Be Fine" to the high energy drive of the eponymous track, "Healing." While rooted in soulful folk, some tracks stand out as boundary-pushing explorations of the genre. In "Mother," what starts as a vocal ode to a mother's influence, then moves into a jazzy, moody, groove-filled song with ambient sound, culminating with a sax solo by guest musician, Christian Joao.

Healing is about finding your truth, as the band has done with its recent changes of structure and identity, and learning to speak it. Sometimes, this means working through the murkiness of old beliefs and behavior, as Kenney knows all too well, singing "Healing's just the hardest thing to do."

Healing is a fearless examination of the stories which connect us all.

Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical

Proctors — Friday, March 29

SCHENECTADY — Proctors will host Cruel Intentions on Friday, March 29 at 8 p.m.

Based on the French novel, Les Liaisons Dangereuses, and the classic cult film starring Reese Witherspoon, Ryan Phillippe and Sarah Michelle Geller, Cruel

Intentions: The '90s Musical Experience pulls you into the manipulative world of Manhattan's most dangerous liaisons: Sebastian Valmont and Kathryn Merteuil. Seduced by revenge and fueled by passion, the two diabolically charming step-siblings place a bet on whether or not Sebastian can deflower their incoming headmaster's daughter, Annette Hargrove. As the two set out to destroy the innocent girl—and anyone who gets in their way—they find themselves entangled in a web of secrets, temptation, and the cruelest game of all: love.

For tickets, visit www.proctors.org.

Proctors is located at 432 State St. in Schenectady.

Urinetown: The Musical

Cohoes Music Hall — Various dates

COHOES — The Cohoes Music Hall will host several showings of "Urinetown: The Musical" throughout the coming days.

"Urinetown" satirizes the legal system, capitalism, social irresponsibility, populism, bureaucracy, corporate mismanagement, and municipal politics. The show also parodies musicals such as The Threepenny Opera, The Cradle Will Rock and Les Misérables, and the Broadway musical itself as a form. For tickets and showtimes, visit www.ticketfly.com.

The Cohoes Music Hall is located at 58 Remsen St.

Andy Iorio

The Linda — Friday, March 29

ALBANY — Andy Iorio will host his album release party at The Linda on Friday, March 29 at 7 p.m.

The highly anticipated third solo release "Awakening" is the newest album from Composer/Pianist Andy Iorio. Written and recorded over the past two years, "Awakening" will feature not only solo piano pieces, but full piano and string arrangements as well. This "Album Release Concert" will be an intimate performance of the new album as well as select pieces from his previous two albums; "After The Rain" and "II". This performance will feature Tania Halko Susi on violin and Demetria Koninis on cello. For tickets, visit www.eventbrite.com.

The Linda is located at 339 Central Ave., Albany.

■ MUSIC REVIEW

Say What You Will's 'Anything, Everything'

Boundary pushing infusions of other genres creates 'unique and inspiring' album

nysmusic.com

Vignettes of heartache, redemption, hometown joy and drama fuel Anything, Everything, the sophomore album from the Connecticut-based pop-punk band Say What You Will. Hailing from New Haven, the band is Christine Sabol on bass guitar, Shane Emery on vocals and lead guitar, Chuck DeFilippo on drums and Ethan Griffeth on lead vocals. Amongst changes in personnel and other identity shifts since 2017's Seconds to Home, the new album is a work of passion and exploration, sure to excite longtime fans and attract new ones. The band supported the album release by debuting their music video for the feature track, "Southbound," in late February.

Drawing from the likes of State Champs, Grayscale, Sleep On It and others, Say What You Will found a way to create a distinctive, unique sound while paying homage to their influences. Recorded with Chris Piquette at No Boundaries Studios in Rhode Island, the record marks a new age of growth and maturation for the band.

From the start, "Break Away" pulls listeners in, skipping casual orbit and launching them directly into the fiery atmosphere of Anything, Everything. The restrained, energy-building intro showcases the band's chemistry by allowing Griffeth's expressive voice to sit on top of the rhythm, culminating in a quick stop and explosion of layered melody sure to get peoples' bodies moving.

Moving on, it's clear that a key strength of the album is how it dynamically shifts between the blasting, yell-along, triumphant choruses and the sensitive, yearning reprieves. "Carolina" stands apart as a pop-punk ballad, an ode to a specific place and time, displaying Emery's journeying, skilled guitar and the interplay between drums and Sabol's bass. The record picks up the pace again in "Lake Zoar," filled with jump-along moments.

Distinct from the instrumentation of each song, there are the stories Griffeth shares through emotive vocals and heart-wrenchingly piercing lyrics. "Summer Haze" ends the album with a story of a woman who's struggled with helping her significant other with drug addiction. Inspired by heroin epidemics in Griffeth's hometown, the song is the band's plea to shine a light on dark moments.

Anything, Everything has all the elements of what makes a great pop-punk record, though it doesn't stop there. The album represents a refined and redefined sound identity for the group. Listeners will always find their way to the catchy hooks, the grooves and breakdowns in the songs that feature boundary-pushing infusions from other genres. Say What You Will has put all their cards on the table, successfully creating something unique and inspiring. Pop-punk fans will find plenty of value and perspective from picking up this album.

set out to destroy the innocent girl—and anyone who gets in their way—they find themselves entangled in a web of secrets, temptation, and the cruelest game of all: love. Audience members experience the intoxicating story full of hilarity and heart, set to the greatest throwback hits of the decade by such artists as Goo Goo Dolls, No Doubt, R.E.M., Ace of Base, Jewel, 'NSYNC and more—in addition to songs from the film's iconic soundtrack such as "Bittersweet Symphony" by The Verve and "Colorblind" by Counting Crows.

"Cruel Intentions: The 90s Musical" debuted at The Rockwell Table & Stage in Los Angeles in 2015, where it ran for 38 sold-out performances, before being remounted for a second sold-out run at LA's Prospect Theatre in November 2016. In February 2017, the musical played a sold-out "pop-up" engagement at (le) Poisson Rouge and returned in November 2017 to play a successful twenty-one-week engagement at the downtown NYC nightspot before its final performance on April 8, 2018.

Cruelmusical / Instagram

Merteuil, Brooke Singer (The Great Pie Robbery) as Cecile Caldwell, Betsy Stewart (October Sky) as Annette, David Wright (Cinderella) as Blaine Tuttle, Nicole Medoro (This Ain't No Disco) as the Female Understudy and Aramie Payton (The Scottsboro Boys) as the Male Understudy.

Tickets for Cruel Intentions range from $20 to $65, and can be purchased at the Proctors box office a 432 State Street, by phone at 518-346-6204, and online at proctors.org.

monofilament strands sewn to a very soft piece of lace fabric. They can be quite comfortable and offer the most natural look possible. Ask your wig professional to recommend a budget-friendly, comfortable wig.

- Consider scarves, hats and head wraps. Wigs are not for everyone. Head wraps and scarves can help women look fashionable if wigs are not their first choice. Comfort should always be an important factor when selecting scarves. Look for materials that are soft to the touch. Silk, terry cloth and cotton are comfortable, breathable fabrics. Diversity in both pattern and texture is an advantage of scarves and wraps. These pieces can complement wardrobe choices, make bold statements or blend in when desired. Head wraps fit almost any head size and can be put on quickly and easily, which is a boon when energy levels are waning. Explore caps, scarves, wraps, and hats.

From page 1 ... Save the rack

Each year, one or two of our former classmates learns they have cancer.

Connie Bramer learned of her breast cancer in 2008. Then, she was a single mother of a 7- and 8-year-old. Her mother had died at 53 after a bout with breast cancer. Bramer was 26 and could recall the "valiant effort" in her mother's fight with the disease. She knew she'd someday get it. That she'd someday be the fourth generation in her family to be diagnosed with it. She just didn't expect it at 39.

"When you become diagnosed with breast cancer, you get thrown into a club of sorts," she told an audience that gathered at the William K Sanford Town Library in Colonie to hear her read from her book. She said the club wasn't unlike that of being in a sorority. "And, I know all about that, because I was one of those." Just, this time, her initiation wasn't by choice.

Greg Aidala is an entertainer. His voice, his face, his very personality is a commercial brand. The Loudonville native has monetized his gift for comedy into a successful business. One in which he finds himself hustling to and from New York City. He appeared in the Lifetime Network movie "Off the Rails," a featured regularly in the Amazon Prime series "Welcome Home," and frequently performs at Gotham comedy clubs. He's a busy man. But, when it comes to charitable groups like Get Your Rack Back, of which he is a board member, he makes time.

Like Bramer, Aidala lost his mother to cancer, too. He was just a young kid.

On Saturday, March 30, Aidala will perform and present as master of ceremonies for Rack-a-palooza at Hilton Garden Inn in Clifton Park, from 6 to 10 p.m. It's a charity event organized by Bramer's non-for-profit Get Your Rack

Back to raise money to fund the little things that help families touched by cancer.

Named after Bramer's 2012 memoir, Get Your Rack Back helps local families by providing gas and grocery gift cards, and medical copay assistance. She said she was inspired by the kindness of others as she went through her medical treatment a decade ago. People she had never met sent her cards with inspiring words. Fruit baskets and meals were sent to her home. Her friends came to the rescue; picking her kids up from school and even assisting them with their homework when Bramer was too ill to get out of bed. The gift cards and assistance provided by Get Your Rack Back, she said, helps prevent families from having to decide between groceries and medical treatment.

The organization raises close to $50,000 each year for local families. Each gift, Aidala said, is hand delivered. "That's what makes it so great," he said.

For $55 a ticket, the night includes light fare, one drink ticket, artisan beer and spirits tastings. Sirsy is scheduled to headline the night's live music.

For Melanie Krahmer, who makes up one half of the dynamic rock duo, the evening will provide her and Rich Libutti the opportunity to share their gratitude, Krahmer's own fight against breast cancer last year went public. The two had to explain the sudden cancelation of a three-month tour before she sought her treatment for breast cancer again.

Krahmer, who sings and plays drums for the band, went several months without picking up the sticks. Though the thought of taking an extended vacation from touring sounds like a treat, it wasn't. The drums were taken away from her. In the midst of her treatment, she received a gift from Get Your Rack Back. Now, Krahmer is looking forward to Saturday's show.

"I'm looking forward to being able to give some of that love back," said Krahmer.

20-YEAR JOURNEY

St. Peter's Health Partners allowed local children to take a trip through the human body at the annual Journey Through the Body at Crossgates Mall on Saturday, March 23.
