Bethlehem Town Board didn't know highway equipment was already sold when it approved sale

By MICHAEL HALLISEY

DELMAR — When the Bethlehem Town Board granted Highway Superintendent Marc Dorsey permission to sell off surplus equipment from the old Colonial Acres golf course on July 8, board members didn't know he already sold it.

The check was already sitting in Town Hall when board members approved the sale, but that's not how capital assets are supposed to be sold. The sale of equipment needs to be approved by the board before the town can sell it directly to someone. When the town comptroller learned of the $1,800 check after the June 4 sale, he fired an email off to Dorsey and Town Supervisor David VanLuyen.

Accident cuts power

GLENMONT — Local residents were without power until the following morning after a Ravena woman drove off the road and severed a utility pole on Tuesday, July 21.

Bethlehem police said Andrea D. Bankston, 55, suffered a medical event while the 2019 Ford she was driving ran off River Road and “sheared off a telephone pole” at approximately 1 p.m. A portion of the pole then came down and struck a 2012 Peterbuilt Tractor.

The Selkirk Fire Department responded and later transported Bankston to Albany Medical Center for further evaluation. No other injuries were reported.

River Road was closed until approximately 1:30 a.m. while National Grid repaired damage from the accident. Local residents reported they were without power and internet until the following morning.

Troy man arrested in town park on sex charges

SELKIRK — A 21-year-old Troy man was arrested after police found him having sexual contact with two underage girls while in a car parked in Elm Avenue Park.

According to Cmdr. Adam Hornick, police spotted the occupied vehicle on Thursday, July 23 at around 2:58 a.m. and found Gregory Pruitt and the two girls, both of whom are under the age of 15.

It was determined one of the juveniles was a missing person out of a neighboring jurisdiction and there was an order of protection barring Pruitt of having contact with her. The order stems from sex offense charges from an arrest in Albany in May. That case is still pending and Pruitt was free while under the supervision of probation, Hornick said.

In Bethlehem, Pruitt is charged with two felony counts of attempted rape, as well as the misdemeanors of endangering the welfare of a child, criminal contempt, sex abuse and the violations of unlicensed operation of a vehicle, operating a motor vehicle without insurance and not having a license plate.

He was arraigned in Bethlehem Town Court and remanded to the Albany County jail in lieu of $50,000 cash or bond.

Bethlehem police requests that anyone with information to this case to contact the department at 518-439-9973.

Reported gunfire closes Crossgates

No suspects identified in July 22 incident

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

GUILDERLAND — Storm clouds swirled overhead as several police agencies held Crossgates Mall under lockdown following reports of gunfire in the late afternoon of Wednesday, July 22.

At approximately 4 p.m., Guilderland police received several calls of gunshots fired from inside the mall outside of the Foot Locker shoe store. No injuries were reported and no details of a suspect were released Wednesday evening.

According to a statement released by Crossgates Mall, the shooting was an “isolated incident” Mall officials stressed that the shooting was not a random act. Instead, it resulted from an altercation that escalated among “known acquaintances.” The statement also said the suspected shooter “vacated the property.”

One shopper described “a huge mob” running through the mall immediately after the shooting.

“We were headed to our last store as an officer ran from behind us, passing us,” the shopper wrote on Facebook, “and a huge mob of people ran towards us screaming.” The shopper said she and a companion took shelter in a neighboring store. Police cleared them to leave approximately 90 minutes later. “I’ll never go into a mall without thinking twice now.

“I honestly thought we could possibly die today.”

Squad cars severed access to the mall from Western Avenue. More police agencies blocked access to the parking lots facing Washington Avenue. Law enforcement officials stood outside each doorway into the mall. At one point, a team of half a dozen police officers rushed through the first floor entrance near Lord & Taylor, while another officer armed with a rifle stood outside another exit.

The scene outside of the mall was reminiscent of a similar incident outside of the Apple store in November 2016. Several agencies including Colonie, Albany, Albany County Sheriffs and State Police responded to the scene.

Guilderland police continues to investigate the situation. Crossgates Mall said it intends to open for business tomorrow morning.

Knife-wielding man arrested

SLINGERLANDS — Bethlehem police said they arrested an Albany man armed with two large knives after responding to a burglary call on Friday, July 10.

Bethlehem police said Carlos Brito, 20, was inside a Cherry Avenue home when they arrested him at approximately noon that Friday. In addition to allegedly finding him with “two large knives,” police later found that he had a full stay-away order of protection from the resident and occupants of that home due to previous incidents.

Brito was arrested without incident and returned to the Bethlehem Police Department for processing. He was charged with a felony first degree burglary and misdemeanor counts of second degree criminal contempt, third degree stalking, fourth degree criminal possession of a weapon, second degree menacing and criminal mischief.

Brito was arraigned in Bethlehem Court and remanded to Albany County jail in lieu of $15,000 cash or bond.

He is scheduled to return to Bethlehem Court on Tuesday, Aug. 4, at 4 p.m.

How to Navigate Financial Stress from COVID-19

By RUTH MAHONEY,
President,
Capital Region, KeyBank

If you're feeling stressed these days, know this: You're not alone – particularly when it comes to finances. A lot of us are experiencing at least some worry over the impact that the COVID-19 pandemic will have on our financial situations. But by having a plan and proactively managing your finances, you can ease the uncertainties that fuel anxiety and stress.

Cause for Concern

Over the past several months, income changes and concerns about the overall economy have clearly affected purchasing habits: According to the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, an agency of the commerce department, consumer spending fell by a record 13.6% in April 2020, eclipsing the previous largest-ever decline, a 6.9% change reported one month earlier.

Meanwhile a J.D. Power survey in April found that 72% of consumers say the COVID-19 crisis has hurt their financial situation, and 44% of Americans expect to use existing savings or emergency funds to pay for monthly living expenses if they can't work.

That same J.D. Power survey asked people about their stress levels and found:

Ruth Mahoney

91% are somewhat or very worried about the impact of the crisis on their personal financial status

55% are somewhat stressed over their financial situation

27% – more than one in four – are very stressed

So, let's talk about stress relief in the form of some simple, deliberate choices you can make and actions you can take.

Examine, Identify and Plan

Take stock of your income and spending habits. This is your first step. Identify pain points, making note of where and when money causes you stress – and why. Timing of paychecks and bills can make you wince, for instance, if you have several utility payments due in a short span.

Set up a budget and prioritize how you will spend and save. Focus on the basics of food, shelter and utilities. Once you have a good picture of your situation, household needs and spending habits, determine what you can change for the better.

Be fully aware of any benefits you may be due. This includes paid work leave, sick leave, disability or unemployment payments. Additionally, pay attention to relief being offered through payment exceptions, postponements or other compensation during this time.

Declutter, Reduce and Pay Off

Conduct regular check-ins and a thorough review of your bills and other expenses. Categorize them to ensure that you've got a good understanding of the money that's coming in and going out of your household accounts. Automate utility payments to avoid late penalties and reduce the stress of remembering multiple due dates.

Look for ways to reduce spending. Ideas include planning meals ahead of time, cooking at home, using everything in your cupboards and refrigerator and sticking to shopping lists. Consider canceling or suspending subscriptions to services that you don't need or use often, like gym memberships, streaming services or meal kits.

Pay off debt. This is key – even if you're able to pay only the minimum on credit obligations so you can address basic needs or put money in savings. Develop a strategy for reducing and eliminating debts, and plan to avoid additional debt in the future. You can also seek assistance from a financial advisor or your banker.

Explore alternative sources of income. In addition to addressing expenses, this income – even in smaller amounts – can be a great help in achieving both short- and long-term financial goals. Check for positions with essential businesses, such as grocery stores and delivery companies, or even opportunities to join the gig economy working from home.

Look to the Future

Take care of yourself. Tend to your mental, physical and emotional health – exercise, make a daily schedule, allow yourself relaxation and leisure time. And the more you get hold of your financial situation, plus establish additional control, stability and predictability, the better prepared you'll be for the turnaround to brighter days.

Rebuild your emergency funds. It's important to do this, when you can, even by just a few dollars at a time. Automate the process by directing a portion of any regular direct deposits – like paychecks – into a savings account, and then adjusting it based on your goals and achievements. You can also automate a monthly transfer from checking into savings. When you receive unexpected funds or other income, look at how much you can put into savings once your basic needs are met.

Maintain Focus

All these tips can be summed up in a philosophy of daily awareness and open communication. Stay focused on your goals of specific savings amounts or debt payoffs, keep yourself honest and track your progress.

What Is the 50-30-20 Budget?

Budgeting is one of the most powerful steps you can take to gain control of your finances. The 50-30-20 budget is an approach that organizes your expenses into three categories: needs, wants, and savings. When using this approach, you allocate 50 percent of your income to your needs, 30 percent to your wants, and 20 percent to savings, investments, and debt repayment. It's a simple way to ensure that you're covering your essentials and making progress toward long-term goals.

As a general guideline, the 50-30-20 approach can help you organize your finances and get clarity on your expenses. But keep in mind that you might need to tailor it to fit your specific circumstances.

Distinguishing Between Wants and Needs

The category for needs makes up the largest portion of the 50-30-20 budget. But sometimes we mistake wants for needs, and our list of essential expenses grows. Your list of needs should include non-negotiables, such as your mortgage or rent payment; utility bills; recurring medical costs, such as insurance premiums and medications; and commuting expenses. Minimum debt payments also fall under this category, along with childcare expenses and groceries. However, it's important to be mindful of your grocery list. Staple products make the cut but items such as specialty cheeses and coffees should be added to the "wants" category. Be sure that your needs list only includes vital items.

After you've identified your monthly needs, it's time to pinpoint your wants. This category encompasses costs such as dining out, streaming subscriptions, gym memberships, clothing, and leisure travel. You may want to create a hierarchy of wants in case you need to cut some of these expenses for the sake of your budget. Maybe your gym membership is more important to you than your Hulu subscription. If you find you've been living outside of your means, it helps to know which wants are high priority and which you're willing to give up for a while.

Allot the remaining 20 percent of your budget for savings, investments, and additional debt payments. As noted above, you may need to reduce your wants budget so you can put more money toward your debts. The sooner you pay off your credit card and loan balances, the more money you'll have for saving, investing, and indulging in more of those items and activities on your wants list.

“Why? Because the process is designed to ensure maximum financial benefit for the municipality,” wrote Michael Cohen, “and not leave ourselves open to questions both internally and by the public about the process.” The comptroller added that these are the procedures the town has followed “without exception” during his 10 years with the town.

“The sale of the equipment by Mr. Dorsey was unfortunate, but I am hopeful that it was by mistake and is an isolated incident that won’t be repeated,” said Town Boardmember Jim Foster.

Foster had initially joked how he coveted some of the items listed for sale during the board meeting. Those items included a pole saw, a hedge trimmer, a chainsaw, a string trimmer, a walk blower and two walk behind mowers. Also included among the sold items were three ride-on lawn mowers; a 1999 Jacobson Tri-King 1800G, a 2001 Ransome G-Plex mower, and a 1994 National Rotary Tri-Plex mower.

When Foster asked what the procedure was to sell those items, VanLuven said he didn’t know, but understood it was a “complex” one. When Foster followed-up his query with Cohen a few days later, he learned how they were already sold.

“I am extremely disappointed... that Supervisor VanLuven did not bring any of this to the Board’s attention prior to or during the Town Board meeting on July 8th,” he said.

VanLuven said it was a “total oversight on my part” to have the resolution on the agenda. He said he and Cohen were waiting to collect information from the highway department before the board vote.

“We were trying to get the full picture before going to the board,” VanLuven said. “We’ve [since] put together a complete explanation — or

Regardless of why that happened, it is totally unacceptable and violates the trust we all place in the process and in our elected officials. Our residents deserve better than that. Our residents always deserve transparency and accurate information.”

— Jim Foster, Town Boardmember

as complete an explanation as I’ve been able to cobble together — from his various phone conversations and emails on the topic.”

The 10 items were sold to Pat Blum, former superintendent of the

Pictured above is a Jacobson Tri-King 1800G, with 2,866 hours of service, currently selling on eBay for $1,495. The condition of a similar lawnmower sold by the town’s highway department is unknown, however that machine had only 1,789 hours. eBay

Colonial Acres golf course and now with Northeast Turf Inc, of Troy. Cohen said Dorsey sold the items to Northeast Turf only after several other parties deemed the equipment as “obsolete junk.” The golf course was closed last year after it was obtained by the town in 2016.

Dorsey took over the town’s highway department in January after winning the election over John “Tiger”

Anastasi last November. Prior to that, Dorsey had not worked within the highway department. That inexperience may have led to his mistake, Cohen said. In conversation, he said Dorsey didn’t think he needed board approval.

Attempts to speak with Dorsey went unanswered before publication.

Foster said he has no reason to doubt the town received a fair return of value, but he remained critical of VanLuven for not being upfront with the information.

“Regardless of why that happened, it is totally unacceptable and violates the trust we all place in the process and in our elected officials,” Foster said. “Our residents deserve better than that. Our residents always deserve transparency and accurate information.”

Furstrated over wasted resources

Sheriff fielded 575 complains, some based on pictures seen on Facebook

By JIM FRANCO
francoj@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY — Everyone knows what they are supposed to do to stop the spread of COVID-19, but enforcement of those not wearing masks and/or gathering in large groups remains an issue.

Sheriff Craig Apple on Monday said his office has fielded 575 complaints, some real and some frivolous, and some which may have been real but by the time deputies got to the site the situation had already changed. For example, he said his office is getting calls about a photo someone saw on Facebook that could have been hours old.

Most of the complaints, he said, are related to restaurants and bars with others coming from

— Craig Apple
Albany County Sheriff

convenience and big box stores. So far, his office has issued six cease and desist orders, and they are only issued if deputies have to return to the scene after issuing a warning. No criminal charges have been filed for not following the state mandates, he said.

He said his office is getting between 10 and 15 complaints a day from across the county.

For the last week Gov.

Andrew Cuomo has been prodding local officials to "do their job" and start enforcing the state regulations.

"A lot of the complaints started out as frivolous and some of these complaints are the best use of resources. You have to remember we have a spike in crime, too," Apple said. "We are going to step up our visits to these establishments. We have officers assigned to the City of Albany but we will shift more resources to these calls. There is only so much we can do, you have to have some personal accountability.

"If everyone just wore the damn mask for two weeks and don't go into states that are on the list, or if you do go to quarantine for two weeks, we will get through this."

The Capital District has seen record number of shooting this year with 79 in the City of Albany alone and two dozen in Troy and Schenectady.

Apple said there are also number of stores who called his office complaining about the customers. Most of the stores, and by extension the employees, are following the rules and have Personal Protection Equipment on hand but it's not always the case with the customers.

"The store's policies are right. They have signage in place, they have the proper PPE. They are having problems with the customers," he said. "Some people don't believe in it, some people will come in and fight about it. They [employees] have had expletives thrown at them, masks thrown back at them. It really is about personal accountability."

As of Monday, there were 2,229 positive cases in Albany County, up seven from Sunday, with 900 under quarantine. There are 87 active cases in the county. There are four people in the hospital for a rate of 0.17 percent.

Last Monday there were 2,031 and for a time over the past two weeks, the Capital District region had the highest rate of infection in the state. But, hospitalizations remain under control and the county saw just three deaths since June 24. Last week two residents of St. Peter's Nursing and Rehabilitation died — a man in his 70s and one in his 80s with underlying health conditions.

Of the new cases, there is one health care worker, one who travelled out of state, one had close contact with an infected person and Health Department personnel are still tracing four others.

So far there are 39 people tied to a large Fourth of July party on Hudson Avenue in Albany.

"It shows what can happen when you meet in a large group and don't do the right things like wearing a mask, staying six feet apart and coughing into your arm," McCoy said. "The more you do this kind of thing, and don't do the right thing it will set us back, and the last thing we want to do is get set back."

Who can it be now? Sounds like the '80s

What was the best year ever in the entire history of pop music? For many people, pop's best year coincides with whatever year they turned 18. Aside from that, it's interesting to note that Billboard and Rolling Stone agree - it was 1984. An argument could also be made that 1982 was, if not the best, then perhaps at least as exceptional. And possibly the most extraordinary, visionary and left of center album of the year was Kate Bush's "The Dreaming."

At the Thursday, July 30, Zoom Listening Party, we'll be taking a closer look at a number of musical selections from 1982, as well as what made "The Dreaming" so groundbreaking for the time. Sign up here to be part of the live discussion: bit.ly/3eX6nP2. If you can't make it to the live event, you can listen to the clips and learn more about the artists on the Listening Parties Blog at bethlehempublib.org/programs/listening-parties-online.

Explore a story at the Town Park

We've partnered with the Town of Bethlehem NY Parks & Recreation to present a StoryWalk at Elm Avenue Park featuring the book "The Wall in the Middle of the Book" by Jon Agee. StoryWalks promote literacy, physical activity and time together for caregivers and children as you follow a story along on a numbered path. To enjoy the StoryWalk, park by the playground at the Elm Ave park. The StoryWalk is on the lower loop trail.

This StoryWalk was supported by funds from the New York State Library's Family Literacy Library Services Program and by Upper Hudson Library System. The StoryWalk Project was created by Anne Ferguson of Montpelier, VT and developed in collaboration with the Vermont Bicycle & Pedestrian Coalition and the Kellogg Hubbard Library.

Storytime online

Looking to explore some picture books at your own pace? Our librarians have put together some Storytime Online Kits highlighting popular titles like "The Kissing Hand," "The Day the Crayons Quit," "The Very Hungry Caterpillar" and more. Each "kit" features a video of the story being read - sometimes even by the author - along with several related activities to do at home. Visit www.bethlehempublib.org/programs/children/story-time/storytime-online-kits and then click on the cover you want to explore. New stories are being added every week!

Russell's Reds rolling

MAGEE PARK — Russell's Reds continues their dominant start to the Tri-Village season beating Teal, Becker and Chiamonte 17-2 at Magee Park Saturday afternoon. With the win the Reds remain undefeated on the young season at 6-0 while TBC falls to 1-4 on the year.

Starting on the mound for the Reds was Austin Quackenbush picking up the win. Quackenbush was very efficient in his two innings of work needing only 23 pitches, allowing no runs, two hits and striking out three. Nicholas Danaher followed on the mound going one inning, allowing two runs on three hits, one walk and striking out two of his own. Finishing up the day for the Reds was Noah Herne allowing no runs, no hits and striking out one in his inning.

TBC in the first of games on three consecutive days, pitched four. Ace Mathias Fraser started going one inning, allowing one run on two hits, and striking out two in only 16 pitches throwing an amazing 88 percent strikes. Following on the mound was Jake Soka, throwing one inning of his own, allowing one run, no hits, two walks, and one strikeout. Johnny Lehmann lasted 2/3 of an inning allowing seven runs on four hits, and four walks. Jack Keating finished up for TBC going 1 1/3 innings allowing eight runs on six hits, three walks and adding a strikeout.

All ten members of the Reds reached base in the game. They were led by Lucas Bernacki, Matthew Jones and Sam Coscio-Thiel racking up two hits each. Jones also added three runs and two RBI's on the day. Brennan St. James racked up his first hit of the season driving in a run of his own. Danaher reached base all three of his at bats on walks and scored each time. Sheamus Healey, Nolan Devejian, Herne, Quackenbush, and Jackson Vatter all also recorded hits for the Reds and each scored at least one run.

Fraser lead the way for TBC going two for two and driving in a run. Brady Kind, Jake Hershberg, and Jacob Lyubarov each added a hit with Kind and Hershberg scoring a run.

Around Magee

Devejian turned in the most impressive pitching outing of the season on Monday throwing a 57-pitch complete game on Monday on only 57 pitches with nine strikeouts. Bob Frick of Proper Engineering and Eamon McClain of Novus Clothing each hit home runs in the majors this week. Two home runs were hit in one Intermediate game with Scotty Hutton and Jack Rulison going deep.

Bethlehem remains undefeated

BETHLEHEM — The varsity softball team is undefeated.

On Wednesday, July 22, the girls defeated a squad comprised of softballers from around Albany County by a score of 4-2 in what is likely the only game they will play together this year due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The game was tied at two in the bottom of the fifth when Sohalia Tiu hit the game-winning RBI single.

Kyliann Moon pitched four innings for Bethlehem, giving up five hits and one run while striking out seven and walking one.

Congress must act to save lives

Dear Friends,

Our nation passed the grave milestone of 4 million COVID-19 cases this week, and federal health officials have estimated that the actual number of cases has been many times greater. Despite our best efforts in New York and other states that have followed science and public health guidance, infections and deaths in other parts of the country continue to grow at truly alarming rates.

Yet in a stunning display, the Senate gaveled out of session this week without advancing legislation that would support millions of Americans who have already been pushed to the brink during this crisis.

Disagreements and infighting between Senate Republicans and the White House have apparently caused a delay in announcing a proposed bill to next week. This lapse ensures that millions of Americans who rely on unemployment insurance will see their benefits expire mere days before rent is due and bills must be paid, with the final week of federal unemployment coverage ending this Sunday (yes, tomorrow).

This benefit is not a gift, it is a lifeline. The amount is not lavish and has been barely enough to keep our neediest families afloat, while also providing valuable infusion of activity for our nation's economy. Economists estimate that, without this benefit, 5.1 million fewer jobs would be created in the next year.

Still, that benefit and the others we have delivered so far are only the down payment to help America survive this crisis. Until we have a comprehensive, federal response that unites America in the face of the pandemic, our results will remain subpar, and our pain and loss will continue to be far greater than is necessary.

More than two months ago, House Democrats recognized this growing challenge and passed the Heroes Act, a comprehensive rescue plan that delivers critically-needed aid for our frontline and essential workers, as well as our struggling families and communities across the nation.

Since then, more than 2.5 million Americans have become infected and 55,000 souls have been lost to this virus. The Senate needs to stop the delay, step up and advance the evidence-based solutions in the Heroes Act including:

- $75 billion for the testing, tracing and treatment we need to reopen safely and help ensure that every American can access free coronavirus treatment.

- Strong support for our heroes to prevent devastating layoffs and service cuts, with nearly $1 trillion for state, local, territorial and tribal governments on the frontlines who desperately need funds to pay the health care workers, firefighters, emergency responders, teachers and other vital workers who keep us safe and are in danger of losing their jobs. The Heroes Act will also establish a $200 billion Heroes' Fund to ensure that essential workers receive hazard pay.

- Money in the pockets of workers with a second round of direct payments to families up to $6,000 per household, new payroll protection measures to keep 60 million workers connected with their jobs and extending weekly $600 federal unemployment payments through next January, and critical supports for renters and homeowners.

- Along with a real, comprehensive rescue plan for the nation, our Heroes Act provides valuable support for our Capital Region including:

- More than $1.3 billion in crisis-response aid will be allocated to New York's Capital Region and a combined $49.5 billion to New York State overall.

Also included in the bill is a long overdue fix to the broken Medicare Wage Index formula that unfairly shortchanges local hospitals and providers from receiving earned federal reimbursement. For more than a decade, I have fought alongside our Capital Region hospitals to change this unfair formula. This vital addition to the Heroes Act would result in $100 million in new federal funds to our region annually, so that local hospitals can better support patients and our communities.

If the Senate refuses to advance a serious rescue plan that is up to the task, then I ask, how do they intend to pay the far greater costs that will come if we fail? Every day more Americans lose friends and loved ones to this horrible virus, to say nothing of the millions who have lost jobs and suffered setbacks to their health and their livelihoods. During this unprecedented time, the cost of inaction is so much greater than the cost of action. I implore the Senate and President to come together, just as we came together to advance the CARES Act that has carried us this far.

For the families, workers and communities depending on us, we must rise to the occasion. Division and delay are no longer an option. Congress and the White House now show the same courage that the American people have shown, and continue to show, throughout this crisis.

— Congressman Paul D. Tonko

Albany Med suspends daycare

Upon learning of positive cases of COVID-19 in the Albany Med Kids daycare, the Medical Center has proactively suspended its program beginning Monday, July 27 through Friday, August 7. One teacher and seven children tested positive for COVID-19. The majority of these cases were asymptomatic and, at this time, they have not required hospitalization. 62 total children were tested. As per our Albany Med policy, daycare staff have followed guidelines set by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, including wearing masks.

Albany Med promptly notified the parents and the Albany County Department of Health of the situation. Albany Med continues working with the county health department and our parents to inform them of any developments. As always, the safety of our children and their families is our top priority.

Children have been asked not to return to the program until after the recommended 14-day incubation period from the last date of possible exposure.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RCS parents invited to 'talk'

RCS School Community Members,
As the 2020-21 school year approaches, we wanted to connect with you to understand your questions/suggestions on the process of reopening our district in the fall. Our reopening committees have been meeting since June and, with the newly released guidance from New York State, we want to ensure that we are adapting these directives to fit our RCS community. Please consider participating in the "Thoughtexchange" listed at the bottom of this email. The information that you provide will be used as the district continues to develop planning and operational procedures for the upcoming school year. All information is private and we welcome your recommendations as we prepare to reopen. Together, we can create a comprehensive plan to provide quality instruction while protecting the members of our RCS school community.

In addition to the Thoughtexchange below, we will be sending a survey out next week that will provide a framework of our reopening plans and will ask families to report out on whether their child(ren) will return to school in the fall, ride the bus, or have adequate access to internet at home. Please keep an eye out for that information.

We thank you for participating and for sharing your feedback on the reentry process for the 2020-21 school year.

BC senior earns Five Rivers award

Annual award offers $2K to student studying the environment

DELMAR — Friends of Five Rivers awarded a recent Bethlehem Central graduate for her commitment to the environment.

Michelle Moczulski earned this year's Wendy Repass Suozzo Memorial Award from the Friends of Five Rivers. The Memorial Award is granted each year to a graduating senior at Bethlehem Central High School who will be attending college for environmental studies or a closely related field such as biology, chemistry, geology or environmental law.

The annual award of $2,000 is usually presented as part of the Annual Awards Night.

"Michelle was one of several applicants, all of whom were very good and deserving candidates," said Stephanie Maes, Chair of the Education Committee for the FFR Board. "However, we had to make a tough decision. Michelle is an exceptional person as an honor student all four years of high school. Her academic achievements and awards in science and math and a clear passion and commitment to environmental education and community service stood out to the committee. For three years she was a volunteer tour guide at Pine Hollow Arboretum, advocated for environmental legislation as part of her involvement with the New York Youth Climate Leaders and currently works at Catskill Mountainkeeper." said Maes.

Award applicants are evaluated based on interest and commitment to the environment as demonstrated by involvement with environmental education, volunteering and helping environmental organizations achieve their missions.

"I congratulate Michelle and applaud all the applicants, each of whom demonstrated leadership and a commitment to environmental education and environmental issues and all serve as a testament to the memory of Wendy Repass Suozzo," said Board President Randal Coburn. "I also wish to thank Stephanie for leading the effort for reviewing applications and selecting this year's scholarship awardee. The value of her work and that of the other members of the committee cannot be overstated." Special thanks to Jessica Westervelt, Spanish teacher at BCHS, for her assistance throughout the process as well," said Coburn.

Moczulski, who was a student at the BCHS Lab School, plans to major in Environmental Science at Villanova University this fall.

EDUCATION

Scholastic sports delayed

ALBANY — The New York State Public High School Athletic Association (NYSPHSAA) announced last week it will delay the official start date of the Fall 2020 sports season until Sept. 21. The season was originally set to begin Aug. 24.

The association that oversees interscholastic sports in New York State also voted to:

- Cancel fall regional and state championships
- Waive the seven-day practice rule
- Maintain current practice requirements
- Encourage geographic scheduling for games and contests

Schools would have the option, if permitted by state officials, to offer off-season conditioning workouts.

NYSPHSAA officials said that if the fall sports season continues to be impacted by the COVID-19 public health emergency, a condensed season would be considered to accommodate as many sports as possible after Jan. 1, 2021.

No decisions regarding a return to school in the fall have been made. Those decisions are expected in early August.

If the organization moved to a condensed season, the tentative schedule would be as follows:

Season I (Winter Sports)

Dates: Jan. 4-Mar. 13 (Week 27-36) – 10 Weeks

Sports: basketball (girls & boys), bowling (girls & boys), gymnastics, ice hockey (girls & boys) indoor track & field (girls & boys), skiing (girls & boys), swimming (boys), *wrestling, *competitive cheer.

* Because of high risk nature of wrestling and competitive cheer, sports may have to be moved to Season II or season III.

Season II (Fall Sports)

Dates: Mar. 1-May 8 (Week 35-44) – 10 Weeks

Sports: football, cross country (girls & boys), field hockey, soccer (girls & boys), swimming (girls), volleyball (girls & boys), Unified bowling.

Note: Weather will have an impact upon outdoor sports in some parts of the state in March and potentially early April. Girls Tennis moved to Season III.

Season III (Spring Sports)

Dates: Apr. 5-Jun. 12 (Week 40-49) – 10 Weeks

Sports: baseball, softball, golf (girls & boys), lacrosse (girls & boys), tennis (girls & boys), outdoor track & field (girls & boys), Unified basketball.

Please note that all dates listed above are tentative. All decisions regarding a return to interscholastic sports require the approval of the New York State Department of Health and the New York State Education Department. The district will continue to update families as new information is made available.

RECENTLY ANNOUNCED

Music Hall under new management

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

COHOES — The city has named a new management team to take the reins of its storied music hall on Remsen Street.

Playhouse Stage Company will now manage Cohoes Music Hall supplanting the services of Music Hall Arts Alliance, Inc., which has overseen the venue over nearly three years. The decision, announced at a press conference on Thursday, July 23, closes the curtain on the city's three-month process to select a new management group following Mayor Bill Keeler's recommendation to terminate the contracts it had with both entities.

Playhouse Stage Company emerged out of an initial field of six applicants who submitted proposals for the management position. As of last week, that field was whittled down to three, which pitted the theatre company against Guthrie/Bell Productions and Music Hall Arts Alliance, Inc.

Playhouse Stage Company is a division of Albany Park Playhouse which has maintained a presence in the region's arts scene for more than 30 years. Earning the city's contract to manage the music hall is yet another accolade for the company born after Park Playhouse moved to Cohoes in 2018. That move was credited in part to the working relationship between Owen Smith, Park Playhouse's producing artistic director, and Holly Brown, Music Hall Arts Alliance, Inc.'s executive director. The two previously worked together while the two were both at the Albany Palace Theatre.

The changing of the guard comes days after Cohoes cited financial woes brought on by virus-related shutdowns. The city has lost more than $1 million in revenue due to decreases in sales tax and reductions in state aid.

Keeler has said the city could neither support the contract with the management company, nor the one for Park Playhouse. Severing ties with the two companies was to save the city approximately $200,000 this year. The former contract with Playhouse Stage Company's Owen Smith stands in front of the stage at Cohoes Music Hall after his the city named his theater group the new management company of the storied venue on Thursday, July 23.

Michael Hallisey / The Spot 518

Music Hall Arts Alliance called for the city to pay a management fee of $90,000. In turn, the city would have received $2.50 for each ticket sold. Last season, the City Hall received back $38,000.

"Regrettably, as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic it has not been possible to have performances at the Music Hall since March, and will not be for the foreseeable future," Keeler said in a statement. "However, I am planning for the time, perhaps 2021, hopefully sooner, when the lights are back on and the seats are filled. I envision an eclectic mix of professional and community programs — theater, music, comedy, dance — that will appeal to people of all ages and interests. None of that would be possible if we did not take the actions we are taking now."

Theatres across New York closed their doors to the public in mid-March amid state-mandated novel coronavirus-related shutdowns. The shutdowns meant to mitigate the spread of the virus have caused a strain on the economy as it has limited public access to only businesses deemed essential.

Brown said her management company maintained the Music Hall off an annual budget of approximately $450,000, 20 percent of which was from the city. The city agreed to those terms prior to Keeler taking office in January.

Kelly Kavanaugh, a Colonie resident, lost her father during the pandemic. She is still grappling with the loss of her father and the lack of a proper funeral to honor his life.

“It’s the last thing you can do for them and you can’t do it the right way,” Kavanaugh said. Her father was in a nursing home, so she had not seen him since March. About a month later, he took a turn for the worse.

The nursing home would only allow his wife to see him for an hour on the day of his death. “She was begging them to let her stay,” Kavanaugh said. However, his wife was forced to leave. He died four hours later of complications of Parkinson’s. Kavanaugh said that she still struggles with the fact that he had to be alone at his death.

For Kavanaugh, this was only the beginning of her heartbreak. She could not have a wake or a mass, and the funeral was limited to 10 people. “I never had closure. I never saw him after the nursing home mandate,” she said. Family members who live far away, like Kavanaugh’s brother, could not attend the funeral.

But Kavanaugh said she also lost the ability to reminisce about her father’s life. She spoke about the loss of sharing funny stories and anecdotes about her father with others as a way to find peace. “It was like it didn’t even happen,” she said.

Today, Kavanaugh is still mourning the loss of her father, his solitary death and the lack of a customary funeral. This is a common burden those who lost loved ones during the pandemic are facing.

For religious leaders, it has also been challenging trying to adapt traditions to meet health guidelines. For Rabbi Robert Kasman from Temple Beth El of Troy, Zoom has become a tool in officiating funerals from afar. So far, Kasman has performed three Zoom funerals during the pandemic. However, several other Jewish traditions have been modified.

It is customary for Jews to bury someone as soon as possible after the time of death. However, Kasman spoke of new challenges faced when family passes away in a different state and there is a 14-day quarantine mandate. "If you are a culture that relies on burying as soon as possible, you can understand how strange it is to wait 14 days," Kasman said.

Kasman also spoke of the difficulties with the reception at some cemeteries inhibiting the ability to properly perform the funeral service. "Everybody is feeling rushed," he said, saying people are doing what they can to honor their loved ones.

In the Catholic sect, services are also feeling the urgency. Father David Berberian, the priest for St. Thomas the Apostle Church, said obstacles arise when someone needs a holy service, like an anointment, within a day or two and the church is left to organize everything. Typically, services like anointments are reserved about a week in advance.

The constant changes are only exacerbating confusion, with the church only able to accommodate 20 percent of its capacity, or 150 people, at a time. St. Thomas, a congregation with 1,400 regular parishioners, has been forced to scale down its services for the grieving and regular mass.

"Obviously now, there is no holy water and no draping of the cloth over the casket," Berberian said. "We can have communion but everyone must be masked, social distancing and following certain rules."

As you enter St. Thomas, you sign a visitor's form and fill out a questionnaire of potential COVID-19 symptoms. After a squirt of hand sanitizer, you can enter the common areas.

"We're allowed to have a service here now, as opposed to early in the pandemic when we would be graveside or at the funeral home," Berberian said. The

Despite the proverbial roadblocks of the pandemic, clergy and employees are still providing families with the comforts needed post-death. St. Thomas offers a pastoral care team, which provides grieving families with whatever is needed in the following days.

of grief," Berberian concluded. "If you are faced with a situation like this, don't hesitate to reach out. Don't go through it alone."

Although the grass at her father's grave has not grown in yet, Kavanaugh said that she still needs to move forward for her children. "There's a loneliness that comes from losing a parent, but I try not to get upset in front of my kids," she said. "I have to continue to put one foot in front of the other."

While people like Kavanaugh are forced to process their grief without normal channels, the places that serve the grieving are also affected by the most prolific worldwide health crisis in recent history.

Applebee Funeral Home, a locally-owned institution in Delmar, has been in business since 1904. Today, Jay Rutski and Peter Applebee (the grandson of the business' namesake) run the successful funeral home with the same attention to detail that there was pre-pandemic. However, the business saw its own changes as Delmar and the state navigated the "new normal."

"Our business changed dramatically in the days after the pandemic first hit," Rutski said. "We've been on weekly calls with our resources learning about

HOROSCOPES

July 2020
Week 5

ARIES - MAR 21/APR 20

What seems like innocent fun can quickly escalate, Aries. Be sure to rein in the excitement. If you can't do so on your own, ask a buddy to assist you.

TAURUS - APR 21/MAY 21

This is your time to ramp up the romance, Taurus. If you are single, employ some dating apps to find a new match. If you're in a relationship, exchange romantic texts.

GEMINI - MAY 22/JUN 21

No one can make healthy decisions for you, Gemini. It is up to you to make some changes. Recommit to healthy eating and exercise this week.

CANCER - JUN 22/JUL 22

Cancer, if your relationship has been complicated by finances and power struggles, that will start to settle in the days to come. You will find a middle ground.

LEO - JUL 23/AUG 23

Your significant other can be the catalyst for change, Leo. He or she may help you propel your career and potentially open up doors you never considered.

VIRGO - AUG 24/SEPT 22

Virgo, you may need to get some things of your chest soon. But don't fret. You'll be able to get your emotions out and start over with a fresh and calm perspective.

LIBRA - SEPT 23/OCT 23

Surround yourself with your favorite things and people, Libra. This will make daily life that much better and help you put a positive spin on anything.

SCORPIO - OCT 24/NOV 22

You may be a little moody and things may not be going according to plan right now, Scorpio. But all it takes is a minor adjustment to change all of that immediately.

SAGITTARIUS - NOV 23/DEC 21

Sagittarius, with all the pressure you have been under lately, it can be easy to buckle. However, you have energy reserves in droves and can muscle your way through.

CAPRICORN - DEC 22/JAN 20

Miscommunication at work may lead to confusion and broken agreements, Capricorn. You may have to be the level head in this situation and pull everyone together.

AQUARIUS - JAN 21/FEB 18

Aquarius, keep a level head through a demanding time. You're being pulled in many directions, but you've always been cool under pressure and now is no different.

PISCES - FEB 19/MAR 20

Dreams fill your mind, Pisces. But you have to operate in the real world. See if you can merge your goals with your dreams this week.

the different restrictions in place and what that means for us.”

The restrictions? Well, while funeral homes were deemed essential businesses, funerals themselves were not. Churches closed down, making it hard to find religious services. Funeral homes were reduced to providing private services, meaning only immediate family could attend. However, no instructions were given as to what constituted “immediate family” — or the number of people that could accommodate. While the funeral home is still offering all of its services and has had no problems with purchasing merchandise needed for it, the circumstances changed. Even cemeteries regulated the amount of people graveside, despite it being outdoors.

Rutski mentioned how the quick shutdown left heads spinning for many families in the weeks after COVID-19 first spiked. Rutski and Applebee were providing services for a burial at Saratoga National Cemetery. That Thursday, everything was already starting to shut down.

By the time the service was over, an employee of the cemetery approached Applebee and Rutski and told them they wouldn’t be able to come back for a service scheduled the following Tuesday, as the cemetery was closing that afternoon.

“We need the death certificate and permits to be able to provide the service, and when everything is closed, it becomes difficult,” Applebee said. The state implemented an electronic death certificate database, speeding up the process between the doctors, the courts and the funeral homes immediately after the decedent dies. But, the small decrease in time came at a big price for the families.

“Because we couldn’t have people flying in for the funerals, the process from death to burial has been expedited into about two days,” Rutski said. “Normally, we’d be waiting up to a week sometimes for family.”

The funeral home has also shortened calling hours, Applebee said, resulting in less traffic. What was once a sidewalk full of people along Kenwood Avenue whenever a service took place is now a slow stream, with those who are permitted under state guidelines paying respects and leaving quicker than a traditional wake. Applebee and Rutski also noted those attending services must be masked inside and practice social distancing.

“You can’t advertise the services are happening because it can’t be public,” Rutski said, with Applebee adding many people are looking to the funeral home’s website for information on deaths and services. In almost all obituaries, families mention public memorials will be taking place after the pandemic, a time society still can’t predict, especially with restrictions varying on an almost-daily basis.

“One of the things I see us keeping around after this is tons of hand sanitizer,” Applebee said. “People are going to be so used to cleaning their hands, and will still be on edge, that I intend to keep it around.”

Kavanaugh noted the amended services are understandable but added there are certain things in life you can’t reschedule. “He deserved more than this... he deserved to have people remember the good about him,” Kavanaugh said.

“I know we’re not alone,” she concluded. “There are many people who died during this time who didn’t die of [COVID-19.] It just doesn’t make it any easier.”

FOOD & VINO

Enjoy a taste of the Mediterranean

The Mediterranean diet has long been touted as a healthy way to eat. The Mediterranean diet is inspired by the eating trends of people from Italy and Greece in the 1960s. Principal aspects include high consumption of legumes, olive oil, fruits, and vegetables. When coupled with other healthy eating habits like selecting natural, unrefined ingredients, such as nutrient-rich honey instead of refined sugar, people can transform how they eat without sacrificing flavor.

This recipe for delicious “Grilled Lamb Chops With Honey Figs” from “Cooking Light Fresh Food Superfast” (Oxmoor House) by The Cooking Light Editors combines ingredients that would customarily be found in a Mediterranean Diet with a sweet honey drizzle. Figs can cook quickly, so choose firm, ripe ones that can withstand the heat of the grill.

Grilled Lamb Chops With Honey Figs

Ingredients: serves 4

- 8 4-ounce lean lamb loin chops, trimmed
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh rosemary
- 8 fresh figs, halved
- Cooking spray
- Rosemary sprigs (optional)

Instructions

Preheat the grill. Sprinkle the lamb evenly with salt and pepper. Combine the honey, oil and rosemary; brush half of the honey mixture over the lamb chops. Brush the remaining honey mixture over the figs. Place the lamb and figs on a grill rack coated with cooking spray. Grill the lamb for 4 to 5 minutes on each side or until desired degree of doneness. Grill the figs 1 minute on each side or until lightly browned and tender. Garnish with rosemary sprigs, if desired. Serve with rice, roasted potatoes or couscous.

Learning how to read a teen in need

Common signs of mental health, substance abuse

Young adulthood is a period of incredible transition marked by personal growth and a newfound sense of independence. Many young adults confront that transition while simultaneously dealing with a mental health issue or substance abuse disorder. According to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Learning to recognize these common signs may compel young adults to seek treatment, while loved ones who notice any of the following signs can encourage men and women to seek treatment.

- Trouble sleeping or oversleeping
- Loss of interest in hobbies and friends
- Feelings of anxiousness
- Changes in overall energy levels
- Changes in appetite and weight
- Feelings of hopelessness
- Difficulty in daily functioning
- Extreme mood changes
- Thoughts of suicide

Services Administration, young adults between the ages of 18 and 25 had a higher prevalence of serious mental illness when compared to adults between the ages of 26 and 49 and adults age 50 and older. In addition, SAMHSA notes that more than five million young adults report having a substance use disorder. Such issues can make the transition from teenager to young adult more challenging, potentially compromising young people's ability to live full and independent lives. Treatment is vital when confronted by mental health or substance use disorders, and far too many young adults report receiving no treatment at all. For example, SAMHSA notes that 87 percent of young adults with substance use disorders report receiving no treatment for their conditions.

The National Institutes of Health urges anyone concerned with their mental health to bring those concerns to the attention of their primary care providers. The NIH notes that people with mental health conditions can be at risk for other medical conditions, including heart disease and diabetes. In addition, the National Institute on Drug Abuse notes that addiction can increase a person's risk for various diseases, including cancer and HIV/AIDS.

People who suspect they or a loved one has a mental health or substance use disorder are urged to contact their primary care physicians. Treatment options and additional resources also are available at www.samhsa.gov.
