Police: Hannacroix man DWAI, no license in South Bethlehem crash that killed one

SO. BETHLEHEM

— A crash near the intersection of Route 396 and Star Road on Sunday, Aug 14 claimed one life and landed another in jail for DWAI.

Albany County Sheriff's Deputies responded to the head-on, two-vehicle crash. One operator, Samuel Keir, 52, of Hannacroix, was found to be unlicensed and impaired by drugs and alcohol. The driver of the second vehicle died at the scene. The name is being withheld at this time until notification of next of kin.

According to police, Keir had his driving privileges revoked due to previous DWI-related incidents. He was charged with aggravated unlicensed operation, a felony, DWAI-combination of drugs and alcohol, a misdemeanor and other traffic violations.

Keir was processed, given appearance tickets and released. He is scheduled to appear in Bethlehem Town Court on Tuesday, Sept 20.

This story will be updated as more details become available.

Slingerlands man charged in May crash

SLINGERLANDS — A 58-year-old man was arraigned in New Scotland Town Court on July 28 for charges stemming from an accident on New Scotland Road May 9.

Brian Devane, 58, of Slingerlands, the sole occupant of the vehicle, was injured in the crash and transported to Albany Medical Center Hospital. Devane was not arrested until he turned himself in on July 8 at the Albany County Sheriff's Office in Clarksville.

According to reports, Devane was traveling on New Scotland Road at a high rate of speed and struck a mailbox and garbage cans before the car left the roadway and overturned.

First responders found him trapped in the vehicle, but Devane allegedly became uncooperative and began to punch and kick the Emergency personnel and sheriff deputies when they attempted to extricate him.

While at the hospital, a blood draw was done and sent to the lab for analysis. Toxicology reports later returned a 0.346 percent BAC, according to police.

He was charged with aggravated DWI and reckless driving, both misdemeanors and moving from a lane unsafely, leaving the scene of a property damage accident, excessive speed and drinking alcohol in a motor vehicle, all violations. Devane is a local attorney whose law office advertises it represents those charged with DWI and other traffic violations.

Aggravated unlicensed operation, DWI

SELKIRK — At approximately 5:45 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug 10, State Police stopped a vehicle at Exit 22 of the NY State Thruway for a vehicle and traffic violation.

The driver of the vehicle, Anthony Ciccone, 48, of Selkirk, was found to be intoxicated and had a suspended license.

He was taken into custody and transported to the police station where his blood alcohol content was determined to be 0.17 percent. He was charged with aggravated unlicensed operation, a felony and DWI, a misdemeanor.

He was turned over to a sober third party with appearance tickets returnable to the Town of Bethlehem Court on Tuesday, Sept 6.

GLENMONT — Bethlehem police responded to the CVS on Route 9W for a report of an unknown crash at 2:59 a.m. on Monday, Aug 8 and found a 29-year-old Glenmont woman standing outside her BMW that had damage.

The driver, Stephanie

Newell said she was driving home from her job in Schenectady when her vehicle's brakes failed. The officers observed an odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from her breath and she had glassy, watery eyes. When asked for photo identification, Newell provided a AAA card.

She was given and failed field sobriety tests, refused to submit to a pre-screening test for breath alcohol and was taken into custody.

At the police station, Newell provided a breath sample that returned a 0.25 percent BAC. An investigation determined she had a prior DWI conviction within 10 years.

She was charged with felony DWI and unsafe lane change, failure to keep right, failure to obey a traffic device, driving left around a traffic island and refusal to take a breath test,

BCSD appoints new instructional, health supervisors

DELMAR — The Bethlehem Central Board of Education appointed two educators to fill vacancies in leadership roles on Thursday, Aug. 11; Zachary Tacelli was named as K-12 academic supervisor of physical education, health and family and consumer science, and Jennifer Denis joins the district as K-12 health services supervisor and will oversee all student health services.

Tacelli joins Bethlehem Central School District as a K-12 academic supervisor. He is to oversee the district's physical education, health and family and consumer science department. Prior to coming to Bethlehem, Tacelli had been serving as assistant principal at

Voters approve sale of two BOCES buildings

ALBANY COUNTY — Capital District voters approved a proposition to sell two Capital Region BOCES buildings on Tuesday, Aug. 9.

The choice to sell the two buildings that have housed the education program's Career & Technical Education and Special Education programs was overwhelming, 874 to 53.

The buildings slated for sale are the former Career & Technical Education, Albany Campus located at 1015 Watervliet-Shaker Road in Albany and Maywood School located at 1979 Central Ave in Albany.

The Career & Technical Education Center, Albany Campus and Maywood Academy will now be located in new, state-of-the-art facilities at 925 Watervliet-Shaker Road in Albany. Their former buildings will no longer be used.

According to an online statement released by BOCES, there is no tax impact from selling the two sites currently under Capital Region BOCES ownership.

Work on the new Career & Technical Education Center and Special Education school began in early 2021. Both schools are complete and opening for learning in September 2022.

— Michael Hallisey

Knickerbacker Middle School in Lansingburgh for the past four years.

A Capital District native and current district resident, Tacelli has 16 years of K-12 experience as a teacher, coach and administrator, including several years as a physical education teacher in the Albany city schools. He earned a bachelor's degree in education from SUNY Cortland, a master's degree in curriculum and instruction from Walden University and an administration degree from Western Governors University.

Tacelli said Bethlehem's reputation as a leader in academics inspired him to join the district's instructional leadership team.

"I want to see our physical education, health education and FACS programs thrive and help our kids understand the importance of being active while maintaining a healthy lifestyle," said Tacelli. "I am a coach and teacher by trade and this position gives me the perfect balance of both."

Tacelli and his wife reside in Delmar with their two children: one a student at Elsmere and another who is preschool age. Tacelli says he is a big Yankees fan and also says he loves watching the Jets on Sundays although that activity, he admits, "does not always have a happy ending."

Denis joins Bethlehem Central School District as the K-12 health services supervisor.

The administrative position provides leadership and coordination of comprehensive health services. Denis will supervise the district's school nurses, will coordinate appropriate care for all students and will ensure the district is complying with all relevant laws and regulations and following best practices related to student health.

Denis brings over two decades of experience to the position; she's currently a long term care nurse practitioner for Optum. She has also served as a family nurse practitioner for Saratoga Hospital, and as a registered nurse with Premise Health.

"I am looking forward to the opportunity to combine my advanced nursing degree with a return to school health in an exemplary school district," said Denis. "I'm eager to build relationships within the school community and to support school nurses in promoting academic success and wellness."

In 2019, County Executive Daniel McCoy shared an artist's rendering of how the new Albany County Helderberg-Hudson Rail Trail bridge would appear after construction.

Office of Albany County Executive Daniel McCoy

The bridge, a 100-year-old relic from the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, has been slated for replacement but litigation has precluded those plans from moving forward.

According to the agreement, Sprint will first suspend the communication lines onto utility poles this fall, allowing the County to proceed with bridge construction next spring. Once the new bridge is constructed, the communications company will secure the fiber optic lines to the outside of the new span.

The terms of the agreement expire at the end of next year, at which time the $1.9 million bridge should be complete. According to a letter from County Commissioner of Public Works Lisa Ramundo, the relocation costs will be paid with bond money already tied to the bridge construction.

Over the years, the current bridge has weathered the abuse of time and modern-day traffic. Knarled support beams reveal the scars from misguided commercial trucks ignoring signs indicating the span's height of 11 feet, 2 inches. Crumbling cement has led the County to close both sidewalks that run adjacent to New Scotland Road.

The County had obtained the bridge in 2008 despite a report that deemed the metal structure and surrounding concrete to be in poor condition. The span has since been incorporated into the popular rail trail, used by pedestrians and bicyclists between Voorheesville and Albany.

The latest agreement is a byproduct of a similar pact made in 2015 after Sprint contested the County's plan to pave the trail. The communications company then said the blacktop would sever access to its fiber optic lines and argued it would cost over $300,000 to move them. Both parties came to terms before the path was paved under the condition that if there were any changes the two would meet in arbitration.

Two years later, the County was prompted to make temporary repairs following a New York state Department of Transportation report that warned the bridge's "load carrying capacity" was in danger.

The County selected a new, $1.9 million twogirder bridge to replace the aging, 42-foot long span in 2019. The proposed project would also raise the structure to 15 feet, 6 inches above the roadway to meet state requirements.

Construction was slated to begin in the summer of 2020; however, the outbreak of COVID-19 that spring halted those plans. Sprint soon followed with a suit against the County, which could not be processed in court with pandemic-related shutdowns.

In 2019, the County estimated that the bridge was struck nine times over the preceding 11 years. A Queensbury motorist was arrested in 2021 after driving the cement truck he was operating into the bridge. The truck was lodged underneath the bridge for hours, causing the roadway to be closed before the truck could be removed.

The new construction is expected to allow the neighboring Slingerlands Fire District to travel under the bridge, improving response times. The southern sidewalk on New Scotland Road will be removed, allowing for an ADA-compliant sidewalk on the opposite side. The wider roadway should also provide shoulders for cyclists.

Wind, solar projects moving forward

Public Service Commission moves 5 major wind and solar projects forward

ALBANY — The New York State Public Service Commission approved compliance filings for five major wind and solar farms in upstate New York on Thursday, Aug. 11, a crucial step required before the projects could start construction-related activities or become operational.

“These solar and wind farms that are being built are vital to meet the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act’s aggressive carbon reduction and clean energy targets to combat climate change,” said Commission Chair Rory M. Christian. “These projects benefit all New Yorkers by reducing our reliance on fossil fuels, boosting clean-energy investment, creating clean-energy jobs, and improving our environment.”

The compliance filings, considered among the last steps before a project becomes operational, relate to the following projects: Baron Winds, a 242-megawatt (MW) project in the Towns of Cohocton, Dansville, Fremont, and Wayland, Steuben County; East Point, a 50-MW solar farm in the Town of Sharon, Schoharie County; Hecate Albany, a 40-MW solar farm in Town of Coeymans, Albany County; Trelina, an 80-MW solar farm in Town of Waterloo, Seneca County; and Number Three Wind, a 105.8-MW wind farm in the Towns of Harrisburg, Lowville, and Denmark, Lewis County.

The Baron Winds compliance filings relate to the construction of the operation and maintenance facility, as well as security lighting at the facility’s operations and maintenance building site.

The East Point compliance filings will allow the developer to initiate construction of the collection substation, switchyard, and related interconnection facilities.

The Hecate Albany compliance filings relate to the sound and noise modeling that will be utilized during all phases of construction and operation which are necessary as the developer prepares to initiate civil construction activities at the project substations and interconnection facility.

The Trelina Solar compliance filings are necessary as the developer prepares to initiate tree clearing and grading construction activities.

The Number Three Wind compliance filings relate to Federal Aviation Administration exterior lighting requirements and other requirements needed to construct and operate a utility-scale wind farm in Lewis County, near the military facility at Fort Drum.

These five projects are among the 17 renewable energy projects approved to date by the Board on Electric Generation Siting and the Environment (Siting Board).

Taken together, solar and wind farm projects approved by the Siting Board will generate more than 2,310 MWs of clean, renewable energy.

Air Products benefits from ReCharge NY

GLENMONT — Air Products is said to benefit from recently approved economic development awards from the state.

Gov. Kathy Hochul recently announced that the New York Power Authority Board of Trustees has approved economic development awards to 23 companies that will support more than 3,700 jobs—more than 1,000 newly created—and spur significant capital investments. Low-cost power through the statewide ReCharge NY program was allocated to 19 applicants, while the remaining four are firms that will benefit from regional economic development incentives in the North Country and Western New York.

The approved allocations of more than 33 megawatts (MW) of low-cost power under the ReCharge NY program will be directed to 19 companies in the Capital District, Southern Tier, Western New York, Central New York, Mid-Hudson, New York City, and on Long Island. The awards directly support nearly 3,500 jobs—787 newly created—and more than $7.5 billion in capital investments.

The NYPA board approved 94 MW of low-cost St. Lawrence hydropower to Air Products—an American-based global industrial gases company in operation for more than 80 years that serves a wide range of industries including healthcare, technology and clean energy—for its significant project investment and creation of 90 jobs in Massena. The project supports New York State's goal of becoming a Regional Clean Energy Hydrogen Hub, as announced by Governor Kathy Hochul in March. New York's hydrogen hub ambitions directly support the goals of the state's Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act (Climate Act).

"Allocations from the St. Lawrence Power Project attract large-scale community investment and deliver good-paying jobs to the North Country," said New York Power Authority Vice Chairman Eugene L. Nicandri. "In supporting Air Products' expansion, NYPA is furthering New York's aggressive climate goals and helping to advance the state's vision of becoming a regional hydrogen hub."

Preservation Power is comprised of 490 megawatts of competitively priced hydropower generated at the St. Lawrence Franklin D. Roosevelt Power Project that may be allocated to eligible businesses located in the Franklin, Jefferson and St. Lawrence counties of New York State.

In addition, the NYPA board approved 16 MW of High Load Factor power that NYPA will procure for Air Products on the energy market.

Air Products' application has been considered under the Power Authority's green jobs evaluation criteria, which was approved by the trustees in December 2020, to allow NYPA to consider green job impacts in New York State when evaluating economic development power applications.

"Economic development awards from the New York Power Authority are critical to the vitality of New York's growing clean energy economy," Hochul said. "With more than 1,000 new jobs for New York's skilled workforce and more than $8 billion in private capital investments, NYPA's Recharge NY awards will help solidify New York's status as a premier destination for the nation's most promising industries."

National Grid reminds customers to call 811

Nationally, every nine minutes an underground utility line is damaged because someone did not contact 811 before digging.

Knowing where underground utility lines are buried before you dig will help protect you and your family. Striking a single underground utility line can cause injury, repair costs, fines, and inconvenient outages. National Grid remains committed to keeping the public safe by emphasizing the importance of calling 811 to avoid damages or service outages in your local community.

"Whether you're planting a tree or shrub, or installing a deck or pool, every job requires a call to 811 to know what's below before digging," said Mark Prewitt, Vice President of Pipeline Safety & Gas Compliance at National Grid. "The depth of utility lines can vary for several reasons, such as erosion, previous digging projects, and uneven surfaces. Utility lines need to be properly marked in each location, even one that's previously been marked, to avoid risk. A call to 811 is the best safeguard to preventing strikes on underground utility lines."

A quick phone call to 811 several days before digging connects callers to their local call center, which notifies the appropriate utility companies of their intent to dig. Professional locators then arrive at the digging site to mark the approximate locations of underground lines with flags, spray paint, or both. The service is easy to use, free of charge and is required by law.

Calling 811 before digging is easy, free, and is the law.

State laws mandate that 811 must be contacted 72 hours in advance of beginning projects that require excavation, excluding weekends and legal holidays. Additionally, the parties requesting to dig must mark the requested areas of excavation.

Beacon Island will be clean once the dust settles

To the Editor,
We as neighbors are all gathered around the campfire saving the trees from Cabbage Island/Bemis Island. It certainly looks stark now. It also looks that great damage has been done to our environment. But if you look closely at the evidence, clearing is/was the best chance for correcting a long-term ecological disaster.

During the 50s and 60s, sites like this were fenced in and a sign was put up "no trespassing," this is one of those sites. This site has NOT been remediated. The fly ash is set on top of the silt from the river. It is like walking on the moon out there once a few yards away from the river. The fly ash has to be covered before it ends up in the river. There is no digging, washing, burning or anything else that can be done to keep the fly ash out of the river during a flood stage but to cap it off.

I have spent more time than most on the island. The animal population is slim pickings, a few deer near the water and one snake over the past decade are all I have noted. No nutrition here.

The vegetation consists of mostly vines twisted and growing, looking like trees. The stumps now sticking up are from years prior wind storms, with no solid earth base to hang onto. The reeds grow tall enough to mask the fly ash and keep the ash dust down. The light spots seen on an aerial view of the island are the wood chips covering the otherwise exposed fly ash. From the river, you cannot see the extent of the ash.

Encon has put together a plan that is environmentally sound for this area. They are the experts, AND they represent us in this project. The Port Authority is following all of these permitted changes. Completion dates, season cycles, fencing, wood chips, and emergency barrels are all part of the preparedness given. It is not a hack-and-run job, they are not trying to snowball you or insert any political swing. There is intention. They are protecting the environment as a whole. Cleaning up the mess of the past.

To my friends and neighbors: WE should not miss the importance of capping the island as soon as possible. This is prime. It will be a disaster of epic proportion as the ash will kill all living things in the river. This is our duty.

I live close to the new traffic circle on 9W. The last two years have been dirty, noisy and disruptive at best. For those closer to the island, you certainly will bear the brunt of such a big project. Sorry.

Just remember, in the end the area will be clean and safe your family.

all violations.

Newell was issued traffic tickets, given a bill of particulars and released. She is scheduled to return to Bethlehem Town Court on Monday, Aug. 15.

Accident on Wemple Road from DWAI

GLENMONT - On Monday, Aug 8, Bethlehem police responded to a report of a car into a ditch near 595 Wemple Road. When the officers arrived the vehicle was still running and the driver was trying to back it out of the ditch.

When interviewing the driver, Kristina Asmus, 41, of Delmar, officers observed the odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from her breath. She stated she did not consume any alcohol that day and did state that she was taking prescription medication. The officers also found a broken glass container on the floor of the car that also smelled of an alcoholic beverage. There was an empty container found on the other side of the car.

Asmus was given and failed field sobriety tests, tested positive for the presence of breath alcohol on a pre-screening device and was taken into custody.

At the police station, she provided a breath sample that returned a 0.06 percent BAC and she was evaluated by a drug recognition expert to determine if other medications were affecting her.

She was charged with DWI and DWAI - combination drugs and alcohol, both misdemeanors and speed not reasonable and prudent, moving from a lane unsafely and drinking alcohol in a motor vehicle, all violations.

She was issued traffic tickets, released and is scheduled back in Bethlehem Town Court on Monday, Aug. 15.

Erratic driving on Delaware

DELMAR - A caller reported to Bethlehem police a vehicle was crossing the double yellow line and, at one point, crossed the white line and hit a curb on Delaware Avenue on Sunday, Aug. 7 at approximately 9:47 p.m.

Responding officers observed a gray Subaru traveling eastbound cross the double yellow line and swerve into another lane. After conducting a traffic stop and requesting an additional officer to translate, due to a language barrier, the officers observed signs of intoxication of the driver.

Po To, 44, of Albany was administered and failed field sobriety tests and tested positive for breath alcohol on a pre-screening device. He was taken into custody for DWI.

At the police station, he provided a breath sample that returned a 0.11 percent

BAC. In addition to DWI, a misdemeanor, he was issued tickets for failure to keep right, moving from a lane unsafely and following too closely.

He was released and given an appearance ticket returnable to Bethlehem Town Court on Monday, Aug 15.

Man who picked up bumper, fled accident, faces DWI charge

DELMAR - On Sunday afternoon, Aug 7, Bethlehem police received a report of a person ripping off the front bumper of a black BMW in a parking lot on Feura Bush Road. The caller said the car had front-end damage and the person tossed the bumper into the back seat and drove off.

Officers located the vehicle a short while later on Hasgate Drive, observed that it did not completely stop at a stop sign and performed a traffic stop.

When interviewing the driver, Rajendra Ramrattan, 57, of Delmar, the officer was told by Ramrattan that the damage was caused by someone running a red light, striking the car and driving away. An investigation later determined that the car struck a merge sign near 376 Feura Bush Road, where the roadway was covered with broken black car parts.

The officers observed a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from Ramattan's breath and his eyes were bloodshot and glassy. He was given and failed field sobriety tests, tested positive for the presence of breath alcohol on a pre-screening device and taken into custody.

At the police station, Ramattan provided a breath sample that returned a 0.18 percent BAC. He was charged with aggravated DWI, a misdemeanor, and ticketed for failure to obey a traffic device and leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Ramattan was given a bill of particulars and released with a return to court date of Tuesday, Sept 6.

No bumper, no inspection reveals DWI

DELMAR - Officers observed a 2003 Honda traveling on Elsmere Avenue on Saturday, Aug 6 without bumpers and a valid inspection sticker and performed a traffic stop.

While speaking with the driver, Kimberly Palmer, 29, of Albany, the officers observed a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from her breath and that she had impaired motor coordination and glassy/bloodshot eyes.

Palmer was given and failed field sobriety tests and refused another before testing positive for breath alcohol on a pre-screening device.

She was taken into custody. At the police station Palmer provided a breath sample that returned a .14 percent BAC. She was charged with DWI, issued traffic tickets for the bumper and sticker and released.

Palmer is scheduled to return to Bethlehem Town Court on Monday, Aug 15.

RECENTLY ANNOUNCED

Phantogram to headline Pearlpalooza

Local duo to return home to perform special DJ set featuring favorites, influencers

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

ALBANY — Organizers of the city's anticipated end-of-summer block party just announced who'll be on their dance card when Pearlpalooza 2022 cuts loose on Saturday, Sept. 17.

Last year's local fare that was inspired by the lingering COVID-19 virus, inspires a music lineup that leaves a sweet hint of our music scene; including from headlining act, Phantogram.

Sarah Barthel and Josh Carter stepped out into mainstream success off their adrenaline-pumping 2016 hit "You Don't Get Me High Anymore." But Phantogram started hoofing it here in the Capital District with the arrival of their 2010 debut release "Eyelid Movies." Since then, they have amassed over a billion streams, achieved one platinum-certified single, two gold-certified singles, collaborated with legends such as Tom Morello, Billy Corgan, The Flaming Lips, and Miley Cyrus, and partnered with Big Boi of Outkast to form supergroup Big Grams, headlined sold out shows worldwide, become a festival staple and toured with artists including Arcade Fire, The xx, Muse, M83, alt-J, and more.

Phantogram is set to spin a mix of their songs and influences as part of a special DJ set once they take the stage at 6 p.m. It will be the culminating act that is to include musical talents BattleaXXX, Precious Metals, The Kaleidoscope Kid and Whole Damn Mess.

Remarkable Liquids presents Pearlpalooza 2022 as a free event back on North Pearl Street between Sheridan and Pine Streets. The all-day event begins with YogaPalooza, exhibited in front of the stage at 11 a.m.

YogaPalooza, presented by MVP Health Care, is the Capital District's only street-wide mass yoga gathering returns for its sixth year! Instructors from the Hot Yoga Spot lead a free, one-hour, all-levels yoga class from the stage. It's presented in association with The Hot Yoga Spot, The Hollow Bar + Kitchen, Best Fitness and the Renaissance Albany Hotel. To participate, register at thehotyogaspot.com.

The music begins shortly after with local, hard-rocking trio, BattleaXXX at noon.

Straight out of Albany, BattleaXXX is said to take their fun very seriously. As Nippertown.com puts it, "BattleaXXX will surprise, shock and delight you; the sassy, catchy tunes and over-the-top clever lyrics will follow you for days after, making you come back again and again."

The music continues with another power punch out of Troy, Precious Metals, at 1:30 p.m. Precious Metals is a solo endeavor from singer-songwriter J Lee White. The high-energy alt-rock sound features a rolling cast of contributors, pulling from the early 2000s emo explosion and 2010s indie rock revival.

Arizona newcomer The Kaleidoscope Kid is to take the stage at 3 p.m., featuring work of his self-titled Suburban Noize Records album debut. Blending counter-culture music with his broad musical and personal appeal, The Kaleidoscope Kid is a gifted songwriter, artist, and designer.

And as the shadows start to descend, Whole Damn Mess will start playing at 4:30 p.m. Whole Damn Mess packs a punch with their unbridled energy and songcraft. The Los Angeles band – Don Miggs, C.Todd Nielsen, Lawrence Katz, and Greg Hansen – forge an instant connection through familiar rock and roll sounds and anthems.

$5 event parking is available at ParkAlbany's Riverfront, Quackenbush, and Green-Hudson Garages, just a few blocks from the action! Find more at downtownalbany.org/parking.

PearlPalooza 2022 is presented by Remarkable Liquids, in association with WEQX, Sugar Productions, the Downtown Albany BID, O'Connell & Aronowitz, Silver Therapeutics, Albany Parking Authority, MVP Health Care, Albany Distilling Company, Best Fitness, The Renaissance Albany Hotel, The Hollow Bar + Kitchen, Hampton Inn & Suites Albany-Downtown, Empire Live, The Hot Yoga Spot, and The City of Albany.

The Three Big Window Replacement Myths

When it comes to window replacement, there are too many myths floating around and not nearly enough facts.

Myth #1: "Vinyl Windows Are The Best Solution." FALSE

Too many window companies push vinyl windows as the only solution. The Truth is there's something better. Fibrex® composite material is two times stronger than vinyl and makes for stunningly beautiful windows with a durable finish that won't peel, crack or fade as many vinyl windows can. Fibrex material's strength, durability and beauty make it your smartest choice for window replacement.

Myth #2: "All Window Companies Are The Same." FALSE

The real truth is window companies vary greatly in terms of quality. Some are just a guy and his truck. Others are based more on hyped-up advertising than verified excellence. In this environment, Renewal by Andersen Signature Service is the proven way to great results. Consistently superb online reviews and over 590,000 completed projects are your assurance of a terrific experience.

Myth #3: "Lifetime Warranties Actually Last A Lifetime." FALSE

Homeowners need to be cautious when they hear "lifetime" warranty. Many are heavily pro-rated, meaning coverage reduces significantly over time. We encourage you to compare these "lifetime" warranties with Renewal by Andersen's limited warranty. Homeowners are surprised to find out that our warranty is more straight forward and superior than many lifetime warranties.

Another important consideration: does the warranty cover both product and labor? Many warranties only cover the window itself. As both manufacturer and installer of your windows, Renewal by Andersen gives you both product and labor coverage. Homeowners get absolute peace of mind.

Is window replacement difficult?

Like many things, the answer to this question is: It depends on who you call. There's a window replacement company that has proven its trust-worthiness and reliability again and again: Renewal by Andersen, the full-service window replacement division of 119 year-old Andersen Corporation, the most trusted family in windows of brands in America.

Digging up Earth's climate past

New Paleoclimate lab studies climate history

ALBANY — University at Albany scientists have a new way to uncover clues about the Earth's past climate conditions — from inside the third floor of the ETEC research and development complex.

ETEC's Paleoclimate Lab officially opened its doors this summer, focused on analyzing samples of natural resources, such as coral and lake sediment, to help reconstruct Earth's climate history and determine how it relates to present or future climate trends.

The lab research is led by Sujata Murty and Aubrey Hillman, assistant professors in the Department of Atmospheric and Environmental Sciences (DAES), along with about a dozen undergraduate and graduate student assistants.

By using in-house equipment, data collection can be completed within a week or two, instead of the average six-to-12-month turnaround when relying on an outside lab, according to Murty.

"This is huge for me," said Murty, who studies past changes in ocean and climate systems. "We can now do all our sampling and analysis on campus, which not only saves a lot of time and money, but also gives us more control to ensure our data is robust and accurate."

Murty is an oceanographer who collects coral samples from reefs in the Indonesian seas, Indian Ocean and the Red Sea. Corals have annual growth layers, similar to tree rings, that can offer valuable information on how environmental conditions have changed over time, along with insight for future climate modeling.

Oceanographers, like Murty, dive into the ocean and drill cores from massive boulder corals, taking care not to harm them. She collects the samples herself and brings them home, now to the Paleoclimate Lab.

Murty's main research instrument at the lab is called an ICP-OES (Inductively Coupled Plasma Optical Emission Spectrometer) which is used to measure trace element concentrations in the coral slabs. The samples are ground into tiny bits of powder and used to reconstruct past changes in ocean temperature and circulation over the past 200 to 500 years.

"Corals are a lot like tree rings, they grow these annual bands that we use to count backward through time," Murty said. "Each sample we drill represents about a month of coral growth. It is very tedious, but it gives us really high-resolution records of climate where we can look at things like how temperature has changed over the last 400 years, month by month or season by season."

"It allows us to figure out how we, as humans, are modifying climate and we can project how climate is going to change in the future."

Digging For Climate History

Hillman is an environmental scientist who reconstructs both natural and human-induced climate variability recorded over the last 10,000 years through lake sediment, also known as mud.

Like Murty, Hillman and her team collect their own samples. Just last month, they spent 10 days on a research boat in the Lake Placid region. The samples are collected using a UWITEC coring device which lowers a long tube to the bottom of the lake and fills it with sediment cores. That tube is then brought home, preserved and analyzed.

Once in the lab, the tube sample is sliced into thin intervals. Each slice represents an interval of time. From there, several grams of sediment are placed together into a freeze drier which removes all the water and preps them for data collection.

"Everything that I do is dependent on lab work," Hillman said. "During the pandemic, it was really difficult to generate data. We are still working through a backlog of samples now from 2019."

"Having a facility like this available on campus is going to be key to continuing to move our research forward."

Along with the researchers, student assistants in the Paleoclimate Lab are getting their own hands-on experience.

Sumar Hart, a spring 2022 DAES graduate, spent her last semester on Hillman's research team and has continued this summer as an instructional support assistant, working with both Hillman and Murty.

"I've really enjoyed working in the lab," Hart said. "As a student, all you have to do is take a little bit of an initial step and inquire to see if there's anyone doing research that you might be interested in, who is looking for help."

DAES graduate student Daliza Rivera is also working in the lab this summer.

"After I finished my undergraduate degree, I knew that I had an interest in atmospheric science and climate change research," Rivera said. "Continuing my education at UAlbany, and joining the lab team, has been a great next step for me."

For a six-week long duration, 1,200 area students participate in non-traditional programs. The classes include fossil hunting, blacksmithing and weaving. Participants are educated by professional instructors, artisans and subject matter experts. Classrooms are located within 32 lean-tos, a large multi-unit pavilion, a theater building and outdoor stage, a working blacksmith shop, an archery building, a puppet stage, a half-size Iroquois Longhouse and a tepee.

In the spring and fall months, Heldeberg Workshop offers weekend classes to children, adults, and families. They support the use of the property by area scouting and 4H groups, environmental and historical organizations, college classes and students working on independent research projects.

Currently under construction at Heldeberg Workshop is a Sugar Shack. Once completed, it will be used to show and educate the community about how Maple syrup is made using Sugar Maple trees located on the Workshop's property.

The Preservation League of New York State's $8,000 grant to fund a Historic Landscape Report of the property from 1750 to the present day will only further enrich the exploration and education at this historic property.

"This report will shed light on the history of life beneath the Heldeberg Escarpment," said Dorothy Matthews, the Workshop's Development Committee Chair. "That knowledge will enrich our classes and generate interest among amateur and professional historians and archaeologists."

Visitors can also enjoy the landscape that makes up 237 acres. There are 20 miles of hiking trails to explore. The property teems with wildlife, as there are diverse ecological and geological sources on the land. A pond, a wetland, Standing Woman conducts a smudging ritual to honor the rebuilding of the half-size Iroquois Longhouse at the dedication ceremony on July 14, 2022. The first Longhouse was built in 1992. Various Native American classes have been offered since the founding of the Heldeberg Workshop in 1961.

a waterfall, meadows, and the slope of the escarpment carve out a picturesque scene in the natural setting.

Not only is the property rich with nature, the property itself also has its own distinctive history. Visitors of The Heldeberg Workshop can see how the property contains foundations of a pre-1767 homestead and a possible barn, as well as remains of an abandoned road, and an 1850s-era cemetery.

The unique background of the property tells the story of a rebel Tory attack occurring at the homestead in 1779. This resulted in a visit to the property by patriot commissioners for Detecting and Defeating Conspiracies, a legal body formed in Albany in 1779 for the purpose of ferreting out traitors to the American cause. It is additionally the site of a farm owned by Captain Henry Crouse, a Civil War Army officer.

"The Preserve New York program ensures arts and culture organizations continue to be beacons of New York's rich history. By preserving significant spaces and sites, we promote vitality and drive economic activity across our great state," said New York State Council on the Arts (NYSCA) Executive Director, Mara Manus.

Since 1993, Preserve New York has been providing funds to municipalities and nonprofit organizations that need technical, professional assistance to guide a variety of preservation projects. The historic structure reports, building condition reports, cultural landscape reports, and cultural resource surveys funded through this program lead to positive outcomes across New York's 62 counties.

"The projects funded by Preserve New York exemplify the excellent preservation planning work being done throughout our state," said Katie Comeau, Vice President for Policy and Preservation and the Preservation League. "With each of these grants, a meaningful historic place takes a significant step toward a more secure future."

The Clark Art Institute

Imaginary City- The large-format, abstract paintings of Tomm El-Saieh (b. 1984, Port-au-Prince; lives and works in Miami) teem with dense and dynamic marks that evoke ornament, language, and architecture. By variously layering and erasing his linework, and using vibrant color to optically push or pull his pictures, El-Saieh creates rhythmic, all-over compositions from which larger forms appear to emerge—testing both the limits of our perception and our expectations about abstraction. The exhibition title, which comes from one of the works in the show, refers to a cityscape theme common in Haitian art (Vilaj Imaginé). El-Saieh's paintings, which resemble informal urban plans, likewise develop intuitively, without the use of preparatory studies or outlines. For the artist, who has been unable to return to his birthplace in recent years as a result of the instability there, Port-au-Prince now also exists mainly as a figure in his memory and imagination—a site of joy and trauma, potential and uncertainty. Tomm El-Saieh was born in Haiti and grew up in Miami; he is of Haitian, Palestinian, and Israeli descent. He was the subject of a solo show at the Institute of Contemporary Art (ICA) Miami in 2018 and was included in the New Museum triennial in New York that year. He is partner at the artist-run gallery CENTRAL FINE in Miami and long directed the El-Saieh Gallery in Port-au-Prince, a venue for contemporary Haitian artists that his grandfather established in the 1950s. This yearlong exhibition appears in public spaces around the Clark and is free and open to the public. It is organized by the Clark Art Institute and curated by Robert Wiesenberger, associate curator of contemporary projects. This exhibit goes from January 29th through December 31st. New York State Museum Unveiled: Wedding Wear in 19th-century New York

In choosing their wedding clothes, brides and grooms are influenced by fashion, economics, technology, religion, geography, celebrity, personal taste, and their role in society. This was as much the case in 19th-century New York as it is today. Wedding clothing holds memories, and pieces—dresses, shoes, suits, and head wear—are often preserved and passed to subsequent generations. A couple's choices reveal historical information about both the individuals who wore them and those who made them. Some garments find their way to museum collections. This exhibition will unveil stories of select New Yorkers. Exhibit is on going until October 2nd 2022. Museum hours: Tuesday–Sun, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; 222 Madison Ave., Albany. Free admission; suggested donation of $5/person or $10/family. 518-474-5877 or www.nysm.nysed.gov

Conceived and designed for conversation, dialogue, study, and contemplation, Location Scouting is the fourth exhibition in a series that invites an artist to re-imagine what a community space in the museum can be. Artist and curator Lauren Kelley reshapes the Tang Teaching Museum's mezzanine by combining meditations on travel with snapshots of everyday life in her drawings, sculpture, and stop-motion animation videos. Using plasticine, toys, and souvenirs, Kelley's videos conjure worlds that are malleable and unfixated, inhabited by robust protagonists whose quirks stem from efforts to correct the asymmetrical relationships they encounter. Accentuating the off-kilter, Location Scouting speaks to the shifts and rifts inherent in navigating today's post-pandemic landscape. Skidmore College, 815 North Broadway, Saratoga Springs. Self-described as 'like Spoon, but younger and hotter,' the pent up Bushwick band has expanded upon their irreverent stream-of-conscious lyricism and tightly wound guitar performance on their forthcoming sophomore extended play.
