Consummate educator

Former BCMS Principal Fred Burdick remembered

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

DELMAR — Frederick C. Burdick, a popular educator known best as principal by generations of students at the Bethlehem Central Middle School, died on Friday, Oct. 28, at the age of 91.

His peers described him as a "very traditional guy" while his boss called him a "true elder statesman," yet he was also praised as an innovator and for his flexibility to change.

"I've never worked with a better, more effective principal," then Bethlehem Central Superintendent Leslie Loomis said in 1994, three months shy of Burdick's planned retirement from the school after 37 years with the district. "Fred is a true elder statesman, with complete mastery and awareness of every aspect of principalship."

Delmar man faces child porn charges

DELMAR — On Thursday, Oct. 27 the Bethlehem Police arrested Michael J. Kaprielian for possessing child pornography. The investigation originated when the U.S. Department of Homeland Security developed information that a subject was file sharing child pornography files on the internet.

KAPRIELIAN

The investigation electronically traced the activity back to Kaprielian, 54 of Delmar and he has been charged with promoting a sexual performance by a child and possessing sexual performance by a child, both felonies.

Kaprielian allegedly acquired video in January of very young children performing sexual acts and then reposted the files later in August.

According to reports, he did not make the videos and the victims were not from this area. Kaprielian was arraigned in Bethlehem Town Court and released. A return date was set for Tuesday, Nov. 15.

By JOHN MCINTYRE
mcintyrej@spotlightnews.com

DELMAR — The Bethlehem Police Department promoted Caitlyn Krage to Detective last week and the seven-year veteran has been a ground breaker.

Krage, 30, is the first woman detective and is also the only person to be promoted directly from the position of Patrol Officer.

"Caitlyn Krage has always been a dedicated, conscientious and hardworking officer, already making a big impact in our community earning two lifesaving awards within two years" Bethlehem Police Chief Gina Cocchiara said. "In 2021 she was transferred from patrol and assigned to the Special Services Division as a Community Services Police Officer and has already begun forging relationships with community members, school staff, children and families."

Does prop firehouse pass the test?

First order for new Selkirk firehouse will be to overcome zoning regulations

By MICHAEL HALLISEY
halliseym@spotlightnews.com

SELKIRK — The fire district recently took its first formal step to seek approval from Town Hall to build its new fire station on Route 9W.

Officers from the Selkirk Fire District presented its case last month before members of the Bethlehem Zoning Board, arguing that the benefits of building its proposed 21,800-square-foot fire station at 1160 Route 9W would outweigh the need to adhere to the plot of land's permitted residential zoning.

The proposed fire station is one part of two projects in which the Selkirk Fire District is planning to update its outdated facilities. District residents overwhelmingly approved two measures with a vote in 2020, allowing for two bonds totaling $11.8 million for the construction of a new firehouse and the renovation of another.

Because the proposed firehouse falls under a public project, it need only to pass what the state has defined as a "balancing of interests" test to deem it exempt from local zoning regulations. A series of nine factors are considered, including the scope of the project, its proposed function and use, and what kind of impact the project would have on legitimate local interests.

The empty plot abuts A.W. Becker Elementary School, just south of Becker's Corners in Selkirk. The fire district purchased the land seven years ago with plans to construct a new facility that would replace their aging buildings. Its most modern facility was built over 50 years ago.

Plans for the plot of land have varied over the years. The fire district first proposed an ambitious plan to replace all three of their current houses with a $17.8 million, 34,091 square-foot headquarters in 2018. That proposal was rejected by voters. Residents approved the current plan, however, by a 5-to-2 ratio.

The fire district plans to close and sell Selkirk Station No. 1 on Maple Avenue. Built in 1928, fire district officials have said that the station is too small for today's modern equipment and the lack of space poses health and safety issues for firefighters. Volunteers from this house are called on to respond to potential chemical fires at SABIC Innovative Plastics, the CSX Rail Yard and others.

The application was tabled by the zoning board, to be determined first by the Albany County Planning Board.

Holcim, EConcrete's concrete used to protect offshore wind projects

NEW YORK — Holcim US announced the successful deployment of its Droplock Ecological Scour Protection product, protecting offshore wind projects 12 miles off the shore of Long Island.

Approximately 4,000 concrete units were manufactured earlier in August after a two-year joint research and development project to provide offshore wind projects with ecological scour protection began last May. The project was funded by the Binational Industrial Research and Development Energy Foundation with the participation of the US Department of Energy.

"Renewable energy from wind is a critical part of building a more sustainable world and our Net Zero commitments. We also recognize wind generation needs to be built in a way that minimizes the ecological and environmental impacts," said Michael LeMonds, VP, Environment, Land & Public Affairs at Holcim US. "Meeting our renewable energy goals together with EConcrete Tech shows how an innovative approach using well-established building materials can protect natural habitats and help them flourish."

EConcrete Tech Ltd., global provider for bio-enhancing concrete technology, partnered with Holcim US, the country's leading cement producer. According to a Holcim US statement, the two companies "are redefining offshore scour protection through the development of a novel concrete unit."

"The unit's ecological properties mimic natural marine habitats' features while providing the armoring functionality required for scour protection," said Dr. Ido Sella, CEO and Co-Founder at EConcrete Tech. "Offshore wind projects that integrate nature-inclusive technologies are able to gain ecosystem services not achievable before. The ecological uplift and long term functionality of ecologically sensitive solutions can mitigate some of the associated impacts of offshore infrastructure. The ecological performance will be verified through comprehensive scientific monitoring comparing the bio-enhanced system to the standard rock based scour protection to set new industry standards for responsible construction."

This project provides the first and only structural solution that benefits both foundation resiliency and the local marine ecosystem. In a recent technical report, The Nature Conservancy (TNC) recommended EConcrete's nature-based design for cable protection and scour protection. EConcrete technology is also featured in the Wind Energy Monitoring & Mitigation Technologies Tool developed by the International Energy Agency Wind Task 34 (WREN), the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory, and the National Renewable Energy Laboratory, as well as in the Dutch government nature inclusive design catalog for offshore wind infrastructure. The EConcrete and Holcim partnership aims to ensure that offshore wind reaches its maximum potential to generate clean energy without compromising the health of the environment.

Holcim said each unit requires up to 30 percent less material, minimizing native habitat degradation and supporting ecological uplift in offshore wind projects.

"This deployment of materials is exciting and timely," said Carl LoBue, Ocean Program Director for The Nature Conservancy. "The Nature Conservancy believes there is great potential in intentionally designing and constructing materials used in offshore wind energy development in ways that are intended to create habitat for fish and other marine life."

RAVENA — The Ravena Coeymans Selkirk High School Music Department inducted their 2022-23 inductees into the Tri-M Music Honor Society during the first concert of the school year on Tuesday, Oct. 25.

The distinction is awarded to students who demonstrate hard work and dedication to music, music education, and our community. The senior student members of the RCS Tri-M Music Honor Society Chapter conducted the ceremony and formally inducted the new members.

The NYSSBA Champions of Change recognizes innovative academic programs and environments created by school districts across New York and honors the individuals who created and support these unique programs. The Career Cafe was opened last year during the 21-22 school year, inside the High School Library.

Presented to Superintendent Brian Bailey, Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum & Instruction Fred Engelhardt, High School Principal Lisa

Patierne, Assistant Principal Herb Tedford, Board of Education President Edward Reville, and Board of Education Vice President Kristin Hill-Burns, by NYSSBA Area 7 Director Patrick Longo, the award recognized the RCS High School's hard work, dedication, and creativity when creating and executing the Career Cafe.

The "Career Cafe" was created to provide a space for additional career-based opportunities, experiences, and programs for students to participate in outside of their regular classes. This highly adaptable space was developed to support the district's goals of preparing all our students for employment, enrollment, or enlistment. The space is designed to be used for work-based learning opportunities, including but not limited to guest speakers, special events, restorative practice workshops, mini-classes on leadership, interview strategies, resume building and more.

Bethlehem Boys nipped by Shenendehowa in final championship game

mcintyrej@spotlightnews.com

RENSELAER — With a 17-16 lead after a kill by Jonah Negriz, the Bethlehem Boys Volleyball team was one point away from winning the fifth and deciding game and the Section II Division 1 championship on Friday, Nov. 4, but Shenendehowa ripped off three straight points to end the run for the Eagles.

Top-seeded Shen (24-0) couldn't put away the second-seeded Eagles (23-2) at any time during the match. A loud crowd was a factor in the packed Rensselaer High School gym as both teams had to handle the pressure from the sidelines.

Shen jumped out to a 1-0 lead winning 25-20, but Bethlehem came roaring back winning the second 25-30 on some great plays by Senior Jackson Gray and setters Joe Monserrat and Ben Sorrentino.

The Plainsman surged ahead again and took the third game 25-16, but that set off the Bethlehem fans and got the team fired up to where the Eagles came roaring back. Hitters Cade Allen and Luke Saubler were active at the net, while Adrian Lopez and Dan Battista showed grit on the defensive side. Bethlehem was all even after winning the game 25-19.

The fifth and deciding game ended 19-17 in favor of the Plainsmen.

Blood drive at BPL

According to the Red Cross (www.redcrossblood.org/learn-about-blood/), someone in the U.S. needs blood every two seconds. You can do your part. Bethlehem Public Library is once again hosting a Red Cross Blood Drive Tuesday, Nov. 15, from 1-6 p.m. in the Community Room.

This year, the Red Cross is reminding donors that checking the box that indicates your race lets their laboratories know they should conduct additional screenings that can determine if you're a match to help a patient with sickle cell disease or a rare blood type. A patient is more likely to find a compatible blood match from a donor of the same race or a similar ethnicity.

To make an appointment call 1-800-RED CROSS or visit www.redcrossblood.org and use sponsor code: Bethlehemlibrary.

Author talk with Fredrik Backman

Save the date Saturday, Dec. 10, at 2 p.m. for a virtual discussion with bestselling author Fredrik Backman, whose new novel, "The Winners," is the third installment of the Beartown series. Backman is also the author of the celebrated novel "A Man Called Ove," which has been adapted into the English-language film "A Man Called Otto" starring Tom Hanks and scheduled for release at the end of December.

The author's "Beartown" — which inspired the HBO series of the same name — focuses on a small town obsessed with the local junior hockey team that is rocked by a shocking act of violence. The series continues and tensions rise when it's rumored that the Beartown hockey team will be disbanded in "Us Against You." The series comes to an evocative conclusion with "The Winners," which returns to the close-knit, resilient community of Beartown for a story about first loves, second chances, and last goodbyes.

This talk will stream live to registered participants with an opportunity for questions. Visit library.org/bethlehempubliclibrary/22313 to sign up.

A native of Clinton, just outside of Utica, Burdick earned an undergraduate degree from Hamilton College before proceeding to Albany State Teacher's College to obtain his master's degree.

His teaching career would be put on hold as he went off to serve two years in the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict. Once he returned to civilian life, he was hired by Bethlehem Central to be a high school English teacher.

Burdick seldom, if ever, walked the middle school halls without wearing a full suit and tie. He stood tall, with a slender frame, and he had a quiet demeanor about him. Nonetheless, he possessed a deep, baritone voice that would snap everyone at attention whenever a student stepped out of line.

He'd be tasked with wrangling students under control once he was named the high school's first assistant principal in 1957. He'd also be responsible for phasing out the junior high school structure, which instructed grades seven to nine in one building. The current instructional model would be adopted in 1969, a year after he was named principal of the new middle school.

In addition to his role as the school's head administrator, he was the health education training coordinator for eight school districts. As the culture around the country changed around Vietnam War protests and illicit drug use, he spent the early 70s training teachers from fifth to seventh grade on how to impress upon children the dangers of tobacco, alcohol and drug abuse.

Author Beth Anderson turned to him while composing her book on the history of the school district. Like the two generations of students who walked through the school building on Kenwood Avenue, she knew him from her time as a student, then as a substitute teacher.

"He was gracious and informative," she said. She added how he was responsible for introducing a foreign language curriculum to the school, sharing knowledge from her research. "Fred really ran with that mid-1960s middle school trend."

In 1993, just a year before his retirement, Burdick was honored as the Capital Area School Development Association named him Principal of the Year. The award followed a year in which he shepherd a shared decision-making process, restructuring the building's leadership hierarchy that allowed for a collaborative share of authority. What evolved into the School Improvement Team and the Restructuring Task Force produced a new, daily constructional schedule that increased class time by 25 percent.

"He's a very traditional guy, and I thought he'd never give up his authority," Robert Salamone said afterward. "It's unusual to see someone so late in his career grow so much."

Burdick was a well-read man who while in retirement would pen a book of his own. He held varied interests that coincided with his commitment to the community, having served as chief Election Inspector for the Bethlehem Central budget voting and the

Drug take back day

Bethlehem Police Department held a Drug/Pharmaceutical take back day October 29 at the Bethlehem Town Park from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.. Detectives Caitlyn Krage and Adam Cobb set up to receive the unused drugs and collected eight boxes from 99 people. The boxes were taken to Colonie and are burned. Participating in the program prevent pill abuse and theft by removing potentially dangerous expired, unused, or unwanted prescription drugs from your home. Flushing down the drain or otherwise improperly discarding meds pollutes drinking water and can harm the environment.

Carver Companies sign two more terminals, shipyard operations with Green Marine COEYMANS — Carver Companies announced it is seeking multisectoral certification from Green Marine, the leading voluntary environmental certification program for North America's maritime industry.

The company's maritime division is comprised of five marine terminals, a fleet of tugs and barges, as well as a shipyard/repair facility. One of the company's terminals, Patriot Stevedoring, has been Green Marine certified since 2021. Carver is now including two additional terminal locations into the environmental certification program. They are Port of Coeymans Marine Terminal and Carver Maritime Charleston. Carver Marine Steel Works, a full-service vessel shipyard and repair facility, located at the Port of Coeymans, is also becoming a Green Marine participant.

"At Carver Companies, we strive to establish a workplace culture that encourages everyone to conduct operations in a way that is protective of the environment," said Carver Companies' President Carver Laraway. "We firmly believe that Green Marine's program will serve us well as a guiding framework within our maritime division to go beyond regulatory compliance and achieve the highest environmental standards."

Green Marine's President David Bolduc welcomed Carver Companies' additional assets to the program. "The inclusion of these two terminals and the shipyard reflects Carver's commitment to sustainable operations throughout its maritime division," Bolduc said. "The company will benchmark the environmental progress of these enterprises along with 60 other U.S. and Canadian terminals and a quickly increasing number of shipyards."

Port of Coeymans Marine Terminal is located on New York's premier industrial waterfront property. It is equipped to handle the modularization of power plants and bridges, as well as handle shipments related to small-scale manufacturing, marine construction, aggregates, and disaster recovery projects.

Carver Maritime Charleston is a strategically located port known along the entire East Coast for its shipping and warehouse storage operations. The terminal benefits from a deep-water pier for loading and offloading ships and barges and provides more than half-a-million square feet of warehousing space.

Albany County District 12 primary and national elections. He was also past president of Bethlehem Tri-Village Nursery Board of Directors, Bethlehem Lions Club and Bethlehem Teachers Association, the latter from which Rex Trobridge knew him best.

Trobridge has the distinction of knowing Burdick in three roles — from that of a student, a father, and later as the National Education Association representative for the Bethlehem Central Teachers Association.

"He was always a gentleman and consummate educator who truly cared for the students under his charge," he said, "even sometimes-reluctant students like me, and for his community. He touched many lives, and will truly be well-remembered."

Burdick's picture is among the other educators who served as the school's principal, hanging in the front foyer between the school's auditorium and gymnasium. Even as the decades passed, those who followed his lead were often reminded of his reputation.

"While our time here in the district never overlapped, Fred Burdick's reputation was well-known to me during my own tenure as principal at the middle school," said Bethlehem Central Superintendent Jody Monroe. "He was well-respected across the school community having spent his entire career at BC, first as a teacher and then as an administrator. As principal, he oversaw the school's transition from a junior high that served students in grades 7 through 9 to the 6-8 middle school we know today. His leadership and guidance at BCMS helped improve teaching and learning for thousands of students."

In retirement, he worked at Capital Region BOCES, helping in the regional scoring process for the fourth, sixth, and eighth-grade New York State ELA Tests. He also remained active within the church just down the street, St. Thomas the Apostle. There, served as a communicant and Eucharistic Minister of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, and as the Pastoral Council with the St. Thomas School Board. He also involved himself in committees of finance, buildings and grounds, auditing and more recently on the Diocese of Albany Pastoral Council.

Burdick was predeceased by his wife and best friend of 60 years, Patricia Curry Burdick, and by his older brother and sister, H. Blake and Diane. He is survived by their four children, Mary, Peter, Melissa and Thomas; his brother Daniel; eight grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. His life was celebrated in a Mass of Christian Burial at St. Thomas the Apostle Church, 35 Adams Place, Delmar, NY on Monday, Nov. 7. Calling hours were held on Sunday, Nov. 6. at the Daniel Keenan Funeral Home, Inc., 490 Delaware Ave. Albany.

Burial will be at the convenience of the family. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Capital City Rescue Mission, 259 S. Pearl St., Albany, NY 12202 or the Hospice Inn at St. Peter's Hospital, 315 So. Manning Blvd., Albany, NY 12208.

"The good values of Bethlehem students and parents have been a constant," Burdick told The Spotlight before he left the school. "I will miss the students, the faculty and the many parents who were most helpful, particularly in the last 10 years."

"Bethlehem is a very good community to work in."

Krage graduated from Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk in 2010, earned an Associates of Science in Criminal Justice from Hudson Valley Community College in 2013, a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice from SUNY Plattsburgh in 2015. She became a police officer and graduated from the Zone 5 Regional Law Enforcement Training Academy in 2016 while working at the Coeymans Police Department until she joined Bethlehem in August.

Krage has earned honors for her work in Bethlehem. On Jan. 29, 2020, she responded to a call for an individual in a mental health crisis. Individual made a life threatening decision against himself and she administered her personal tourniquet around the subject's leg to prevent him from bleeding to death. For this incident she received her first Life Saving Award. Her second came after an incident on June 25, 2021 where she administered life saving measures to clear an infant's airway and restore spontaneous respiration.

As a Patrol Officer, Krage trained with and by the Community Services and Detective units since 2021 to prepare for the role as Detective.

"She has been assigned to the Bethlehem Middle School as their primary School Resource Officer, taking on many roles, such as educator, counselor and always a law enforcement officer to help provide a safer learning environment," Cocchiara said.

Westerlo woman faces DWI charge

NEW SCOTLAND - On Monday, Oct. 31 State Police arrested a 32-year-old Westerlo woman for Aggravated Driving While Intoxicated.

At about 5:48 p.m. Trooper received the report of a vehicle being operated erratically on State Route 32 in Bethlehem. Troopers patrolled for the vehicle and located it on State Route 32 in New Scotland and observed it violate multiple vehicle and traffic laws. Troopers conducted a traffic stop, identified the operator, and performed field sobriety tests which she failed. The woman was arrested for Driving While Intoxicated.

She was transported to the barracks for processing, where she provided a breath sample that returned a 0.28 percent BAC. She was issued tickets returnable to the New Scotland Town Court on December 1 and released to a sober party.

Detectives arrest check scammer

TROY — Bethlehem police arrested a Troy woman on Thursday, Oct. 27 for a fraudulent check scheme at the Price Chopper in Glenmont.

Casey Francis, 40, allegedly presented, as herself, a payroll check for $790.16 from Independent Living Center of the Hudson Valley to Price Chopper on June 29 and cashed it. She was not an employee of the company.

After an investigation, a warrant was issued for Francis and she was arrested at her residence in Troy. She was charged with possession of a forged instrument, a felony, petit larceny, a misdemeanor, and an additional misdemeanor count of possession of a forged instrument.

Francis was arraigned by Bethlehem Town Justice Andrew Kirby and released on her own recognizance. She is scheduled to return to court on Tuesday, Nov. 15.

Firey crash leads to DWI charge

SELKIRK — Bethlehem police responded to a crash and vehicle on fire in the area of 149 Maple Avenue on Saturday, Oct. 22 at approximately 7:26 p.m. Upon arrival they observed a 2016 Nissan Sentra that had hit a 2019 Silverado. While interviewing the driver of the Sentra, a 24-year-old Selkirk man, officers observed the strong odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from his breath. The man said he consumed two 16-ounce Budweisers and two Juice Bomb IPAs earlier in the night in Saugerties.

He was given and failed field sobriety tests, tested positive for breath alcohol on a prescreening device and taken into custody. At the police station the man provided a breath sample that returned a 0.10 percent BAC.

While the officers were doing an inventory of the Sentra before towing it, officers found seven bottles of Testosterone Propionate, a controlled substance. Six of the bottles were empty, but one contained 0.23 grams of the substance.

The man was charged with DWI and criminal possession of a controlled substance, both misdemeanors, as well as following too closely, a violation.

He was arraigned on Tuesday, Nov. 1.

Arrest reveals warrant

GLENMONT — On Saturday, Oct. 29, Walmart loss prevention reported to Bethlehem police that a woman had walked out of the store with a duffel bag full of merchandise.

When police arrived they found Aida Rivera, 54, of Albany, hiding in the bushes next to the building with the bag.

She was given an appearance ticket for Bethlehem Town Court on November 15. She was released, then transported to officers from the City of Albany for an outstanding warrant for burglary.

Two-car crash after party

DELMAR — Bethlehem police responded to a two-car crash near 997 Delaware Avenue on Monday, Oct. 31 at 11:51 a.m. to find a 33-year-old Greenville man standing outside his Mercedes 350 after the accident.

As the officers were interviewing the driver of the Mercedes, Joshua McMillen, they observed a strong odor of alcohol emanating from his breath and that he had bloodshot eyes. McMillen stated he was at a house party in Albany the night before where he had his last set of drinks and had about three hours sleep and was driving home.

Officers administered field sobriety tests which McMillen failed, he tested positive for breath alcohol and was taken into custody.

According to reports, at 2:05 p.m. he provided a breath sample there which returned a 0.19 percent BAC.

McMillen was charged with felony DWI because he had a prior DWI conviction. He was also ticketed for passing in a no passing zone. He was issued an appearance ticket and released.

Man returns on warrant

OSWEGO — A man who vandalized the Glenmont Job Corps in 2018 arrested on outstanding warrant while in Oswego County Jail.

Davonte Graham, 22, was arrested for breaking an exit sign and chair after being told he was being removed from the program at Job Corps. He was arrested on January 18, 2018 and given an appearance ticket. He failed to return for his February court date.

On Tuesday, Nov 1, Graham was located at the jail and transported back to Bethlehem for the warrant. He pled guilty to disorderly conduct and was returned to Oswego County Jail.

Tool thief back in court on warrant

GLENMONT — A man accused in 2018 of stealing tools from the Lowes on Route 9W was back in court for a second time and plead guilty to disorderly conduct.

Kyle Chambers, 36, of Schenectady, was arrested in 2019 for entering the store and stealing tools. Chambers and Claude Anderson, also of Schenectady, were also implicated in additional larcenies at Lowes stores in Schenectady County and were turned over by Schenectady County Sheriff's Department for the 2019 outstanding Bethlehem arrest warrant. The pair were charged, arraigned and released on their own recognizance. They did not show up for court in April and another warrant was issued in August 2019.

On Tuesday, Nov. 1, Chambers was transported to Bethlehem from the Saratoga County Jail for the outstanding warrant. He pled guilty to a disorderly conduct charge and was returned to jail.

A school within a school

The Collaborative School of the Arts at Proctors is the classroom to the stage

By AMARIS FORD

“When we built The School of The Performing Arts, part of our vision was to develop training programs that rivaled any of those in the largest markets in the country,” said Christine Sheehan, Director of Education at Proctors.

Proctors has had education programs for multiple decades. “But when our new CEO, Philip [Morris], came about 20 years ago, he wanted us to establish a more formal education program and asked me to build it,” said Sheehan. “A few years later, we decided to brand it as a school within a school.”

WHAT'S HAPPENING NOW

Bella's Bartok w/ Dust Bowl Faeries

The Hollow Bar + Kitchen — Thursday, Nov. 10

ALBANY — All little children grow up, one day — all except the bedazzled and glittered band of Bella's Bartok.

Bella's Bartok and Dust Bowl Faeries are to play at The Hollow Bar + Kitchen on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 6 p.m.

Inspired by elements of Vaudeville, centuries of street performance, and an unyielding drive to promote camaraderie, Northampton-based Bella's Bartok delivers a passionate kaleidoscope of sound dubbed as "foot stomping freak folk."

The songs are born of Americana and folk music of their immigrant grandparents, blended with the joy of a particular brand of pop sensibility. Their performances are at once a primal stand against oppression and a declaration of joy in the face of adversity. From quiet reflections on loss, to the howl of justice in four-part harmony, Bella's Bartok sonically and lyrically delivers a sweaty, soulful dance-party that is sure to leave the audience happily breathless.

Started in the dimly lit alleyways of Great Barrington, Bella's Bartok gradually evolved from street-punk performers to an electric, brass-filled, accordion-based spectacle that has continued to entertain audiences for nearly a decade. The band has shared the stage with musicians and acts such as Rubblebucket, Red Baraat, The Indigo Girls, Larry & His Flask, The Suitcase Junket, Andy Frasco & The U.N., And the Kids, TOO MANY ZOOZ, Consider the Source, Rough Francis, Meat Puppets, World Inferno/Friendship Society, Jenny and the Mexicats, Rupa & the April Fishes, Arc Iris, and many more.

Find Bella's Bartok on a variety of stages, at a myriad of festivals, or on the street across the continental United States. Audiences often pick up on the band's main influences such as Goran Bregović, Frank Zappa, Mr. Bungle, System of a Down, Tom Waits and Oingo Boingo.

A faerie-tale fusion of dark cabaret, gothic polka and post-punk music, Dust Bowl Faeries are a dark-carnival band from the New York Hudson Valley.

The band's eclectic repertoire of songs draw inspiration from circus songs, murder ballads and Eastern European folk music. Ryder & Hazel are joined by musicians Rubi LaRue, Jon B. Woodin, Liz LoGiudice & Andrew Stein.

The Hollow Bar + Kitchen is located at 79 N Pearl St. in Albany.

New York, there's not really a lot of opportunities for a Hispanic male dancer to be working in shows in the area."

"A lot of what we talk about here at Proctors is the creative economy," said Sheehan. "Many of our skilled students in the area, when they come to college here, then they leave the area. What we want to do is train and retain these innovative artists so that they can work in the area and find it a wonderful place to live."

"The business of arts and performance up here is very tricky," said Ramirez. "There are opportunities, but it's not consistent throughout the entire year. You won't be able to really support yourself, your family, or your lifestyle up here. That's why I got into teaching."

"There are a lot of passionate kids out there who may not have access to what they really want to do with their lives," he added.

"There are over 30,000 jobs in the creative sector in this region," said Sheehan, "but many students don't have the understanding or training to access them. Part of our mission is so they understand that they understand there are these opportunities, and the other part is to train them in those opportunities."

Recently rebranded as The Collaborative School of the Arts, Proctors's education programming works as a part of a collaborative effort across the region.

"It's for Proctors, Capital Repertory Theatre in Albany and Universal Preservation Hall in Saratoga," explained Sheehan. "It's all our education programming wrapped up into a school."

Freddy Ramirez is a performer, choreographer, and teacher. He teaches for Proctors and Capital Repertory, as well as his own classes. Currently, he is choreographing Capital Repertory's upcoming performance of The Wizard of Oz. "I kind of piecemeal my work. That's how I became a teacher."

Originally from the Bronx, Ramirez was a Broadway performer. He toured the United States and Europe in productions of West Side Story, A Chorus Line, Grease, Cabaret, The King and I, Peter Pan, Oliver, Kiss Me Kate and more.

"The second chapter of my life is to be an instructor," he explained. "Up here in Upstate “Theatre is a passion-driven career,” said Ramierz. “Most people don’t realize that you can make a living out of the arts, even though it’s hard.”

Proctors has made it their mission to train students for careers both on and off the stage. “A lot of what we do is prepare students for off-stage careers,” said Sheehan.

“A lot of kids don’t understand the many administrative careers that are also available in the performing or creative arts arenas. We try to make sure that the students understand that there are a wide number of opportunities across the industry for them if they don’t want to be onstage.”

“We have classes going on all through the day, into the evening. We have after-school programs. Hundreds of kids come to school here throughout the day,” she described.

“We provide an exposure experience to the arts. We let them see performances,” said Sheehan. “The engagement part is where we start to cultivate smaller class sizes in career-based programming.”

Proctors provides a wide variety of classes. Broadway Tech assists students in networking with major companies, such as Disney Theatrical Productions.

“Students have the opportunity to come here and take sessions from those industry professionals and also learn from the designers and technical crew of a Broadway show,” said Sheehan. “They’ll also be able to observe backstage when that happens.”

Students are able to study every aspect of “costuming, wardrobe, lighting, and sound.” Sheehan added, “Sometimes even the producer will be able to come talk with them.”

Having established artists and companies, such as Disney Theatrical, become acquainted with the students and give workshops is one way Proctors helps students network for future careers.

“We will help students network to make sure they do what’s needed,” said Sheehan. “We continue to be a support and a mentor to them to help them understand about working in the industry.”

In Saratoga, Rock Camp is a summer training program appealing to aspiring young musicians. Broadway Camp is for students interested in pursuing theatre. Ramierz is a teacher at Broadway Camp.

“Broadway Camp is where we produce a full-scale musical on our main stage and offer free professional-level training for actors, musicians, and production students,” explained Sheehan.

“Come to see everything that’s presented, because from where

According to The Collaborative, there are 30,000 jobs available in the arts in this region alone. The school helps each student understand not only the responsibilities for those jobs, but how to access them.

we start to where we end up, it’s a magical journey,” encourages Ramierz. “We’re always very proud of the productions that we present. It’s always a magical experience when we get to the final product.”

“Proctors has so much that they offer for kids to learn and experience, from the tech aspect, the lighting, and costuming, to singing, dancing, and acting,” said Ramierz. “It’s a wonderful opportunity for people, however old they are, whether they are teenagers or adults.”

What Ramierz loves most is “the impact that it has on my students.” Some of his students have moved on to do theatre work. “It’s great to be a part of their progression into the world of theatre.”

“I’m very lucky to still be dancing and to pass the torch, as it were, to my wonderful students and still get that joy of performing, whether I’m teaching class, performing, or choreographing,” he said.

“Cultural organizations like Proctors and others across the region can offer a great deal to train and retain artists,” commented Sheehan. “We’re all collaborators in a higher mission to make sure that the entertainment industry stays vibrant.”

Union College Galleries Addenda-

Custodians of archives wield great power and responsibility in considering who might be left out, disempowered or silenced in the creation of a specific narrative by those who use their records. Addenda centers interpretation and augmentation of past and present through the archive in an effort to construct a fuller future. The three contemporary artists featured in this exhibition, Gina Adams, Merritt Johnson and Sonya Kelliher-Combs, draw on history, cultural traditions, and archives, along with a strong belief in seeking alternative narratives to create artworks that exist dually, as both physical constructions and as a record of unconsidered perspectives and often unrecognized pasts. Exhibit is on going until June 12th.

University Art Museum Ronny Quevedo: Offside-

Inspired by his mother's and father's respective careers—a seamstress and a professional soccer player—multi-media artist Ronny Quevedo will occupy the arched walls of the museum in a newly commissioned work with diagrammatic vinyl lines that recall both dress patterns and gymnasium floors. Throughout this exhibition, which will include artwork from 2012 to the present, Quevedo's own family's emigration from Ecuador to New York serves as a catalyst for work reflecting on socio-political issues of migration, Indigenous experiences, and sacred spaces. University Art Museum is located at 1400 Washington Avenue, Albany.

MUSIC
Office Culture / Gary's Dream / Domestic Drafts
 Brooklyn band Office Culture is made up of four longtime collaborators: singer and songwriter Winston Cook-Wilson (Winston C.W., vocals/keyboards), Ian Wayne (guitar), Charlie Kaplan (bass), and Pat Kelly (drums). Following the electronic avant-pop of their 2017 debut album I Did the Best I Could, the band's acclaimed sophomore LP—2019's A Life of Crime—unveiled a lush, jazz-inflected sound that Pitchfork described as "sleek music for a cursed place, opulent like a ritzy hotel lounge." Cook-Wilson's wry and contemplative songs took cues from Nite-Flights-era Scott Walker, mid-'70s Joni Mitchell, Curtis Mayfield, and ECM-label jazz. The FADER wrote: "Office Culture spends the best moments... sounding like the most vital lounge-pop act of all time." Big Time Things—the band's third album—is a more maximalist affair. Written and recorded across the course of three years, it's a meticulously orchestrated and groove-forward record featuring nine of Cook-Wilson's most ambitious compositions to date. The playful experimentation of the arrangements elevates the melodrama and humor of Cook-Wilson's songs, which trace the complexities of our efforts to better ourselves by learning from our worst and least rational behavior, and how we attempt to apply that knowledge to nurturing close personal relationships. The record features a dense cast of supporting players including Carmen Q. Rothwell, Caitlin Pasko, Alena Spanger (Tiny Hazard), and members of Cuddle Magic/mmeadows. Catch the show November 10th at 8 p.m. only at Avalon Lounge, 29 Church St. Catskill.

Sky Furrows / Bulle / Doubles
 Fronted by poet Karen Schoemer, Albany NY's Sky Furrows combine influences from krautrock, NZ bands the Clean and the Verlaines, the Minutemen, Sylvia Plath and early Sonic Youth. Schoemer collaborates with bassist Mike Watt in Jaded Azurites, and with Wreckless Eric & Amy Rigby. Eric Hardiman, Mike Griffin and Phil Donnelly are members of psych rock unit Burnt Hills Catch the show November 11th at 8 p.m. only at Avalon Lounge, 29 Church St. Catskill.

Photay / Alexia Avina / RRB
 Photay is the solo musical endeavor of Evan Shornstein, a 24-year-old hailing from the lush and peaceful evergreen valley of Woodstock, NY. Having been introduced to Aphex Twin at the tender age of 9, he quickly began to embrace music in all of its forms. This early inspiration provided a foundation for his musical growth in drumming, turntablism and eventually composition. Years later, after an eye-opening trip to Guinea, West Africa, Photay was born. Combining his newly acquired knowledge of polyrhythmic percussion and years of experimenting with sampling and field recordings, he went on to create and self-release his first project under the alias. Seamlessly combining a variety of audio sources and techniques, Photay's sound is a balancing act of analog and digital, of natural and synthetic. It is not designed exclusively for headphones nor the dancefloor, but is genuinely at home in both contexts.

Catch this show November 13th at 8 p.m. only at Avalon Lounge, 29 Church St. Catskill.

They've found receptive audiences across the globe, touring throughout North America, Europe, Australia, New Zealand and Japan. With members based in Boston, New York and Maine the lineup includes Evan Murphy (guitar, vocals), Catherine "BB" Bowness (banjo), Nate Sabat (bass, vocals), Ella Jordan (fiddle, vocals), and Korey Brodsky (mandolin). Lyrics of Life

This heartwarming annual event shines a spotlight on the positive impact of non-profit organizations in our community.

This year we'll hear from a young woman who builds back after a stroke. Two friends who start a music shop in Haiti. We'll hear how one person's final days with her mother become rich and peaceful. How helping others can be a path to healing yourself. And how one local woman moved forward after homelessness. These courageous storytellers have been paired with five local songwriters. Each team will take the stage together to help us understand the real life challenges faced by our neighbors. We'll see how one person's story can come alive with an artistic presentation that breaks through stereotypes and boundaries. This year's participating organizations are Gateway House of Peace, the Saratoga Senior Center, Horns for Haiti, Shelters of Saratoga, and Steps for Stroke. Our songwriters will be Mel Guarino, John Dillon, Hold on Honeys, Jeff Brisbin and Michael Eck. Catch this show November 12th at 8 p.m. only at Caffe Lena, 47 Phila Street, Saratoga Springs.

Will Hoge and Dave Hause

Will Hoge is a mainstay of 21st century rock & roll, carrying the torch for a blue-collar sound rooted in ringing Telecaster guitars and anthemic songwriting. He makes music for roadhouses and rallies, for car stereos and dive-bar jukeboxes, for Saturday night hell-raising and Sunday morning comedowns. In an era of social media influencers looking to fast-track their way to fame, Hoge has proudly taken the long way around, dedicating himself not to the destination, but to the journey itself. With a sound rooted in American punk and rugged heartland rock, singer/songwriter Dave Hause has spent two decades building up a sturdy catalog both as a solo artist and as frontman for mid-2000s punk outfit the Loved Ones. When the band broke up, Hause carried on with his burgeoning solo career, combining Americana tones and socially driven lyrics with punk spirit on albums like 2017's Bury Me in Philly and 2019's Kick, both of which featured help from his musician brother Tim Hause. His newest album, Blood Harmony, is an ode to his musical relationship with his brother and the importance of family. Catch this show November 13th at 7 p.m. only at Caffe Lena, 47 Phila Street, Saratoga Springs.

Bj Fitzgerald

Bj Fitzgerald has been a fixture of the Albany, NY music scene in some capacity for over 25 years. Best known for his work in The Ill Funk Ensemble and The Hillbilly Horns, Fitzgerald has played around the country to tens of thousands of people and garnered rave reviews for his soul, technique and tone. Described by Okay-player.com as a "show-stealer", BJ has opened for Blake Shelton, Naughty by Nature, Tower of Power, as well as a dozen other world famous acts. He's even been lauded by Brian Kelley of Florida Georgia Line and rock legend Elvin Bishop for his vocal harmonies and arrangements of classic songs. Diverse in his influences, BJ performs songs people will love without gimmicks- just raw energy and skill. You can catch this show November 11th at 2 p.m. only at The Centre Street Pub, 308 Union Street, Schenectady.

Wide Awake

WIDEAWAKE is a band working hard to establish themselves in this vast business of music. What is interesting about the band is not what brought them together almost five years ago (taking 1st place in a talent show), how many concerts (450+), or CDs they have independently sold to date (18,000+). What sets WIDEAWAKE apart is their unexpected perspective and fundamental concept for being a band. What is distinctive about WIDEAWAKE is their earnest approach to music - why they write and perform music, what they hope to accomplish through music, and where they are headed with their music. Originating from Seattle, Scott Leger, Nate Navarro, Steve Rude, Curtis Ryker, and Eddie Willis are an understated and authentic bunch, more concerned about using their music to unite people, than with the pre-ententious glitz and glamour of being a rock band. After touring the US and beyond for almost two years behind their incredibly successful debut release Thread, WIDEAWAKE recognized a basic need for something greater than their individuality through the joys and difficulties of the road, and in many of the hopeful faces and fascinating lives they encountered. You can catch this show November 12th at 5 p.m. only at The Centre Street Pub, 308 Union Street, Schenectady.

Livingston Taylor

Livingston Taylor picked up his first guitar at the age of 13, which began a 50-year career that has encompassed performance, songwriting, and teaching. Born in Boston and raised in North Carolina, Livingston is the fourth child in a very musical family that includes Alex, James, Kate, and Hugh. Livingston recorded his first record at the age of 18 and has continued to create well crafted, introspective, and original songs that have earned him listeners worldwide. From top-40 hits "I Will Be in Love with You" and "I'll Come Running," to "I Can Dream of You" and "Boatman," the last two recorded by his brother James, Livingston's creative output has continued unabated. His musical knowledge has inspired a varied repertoire, and he is equally at home with a range of musical genres—folk, pop, gospel, jazz—and from upbeat storytelling and touching ballads to full orchestra performances. This can all be seen November 12th at 8 p.m. only at Cohoes Music Hall, 58 Remsen Street, Cohoes.

Joan Osborne with special guest Teddy Thompson

Since she broke through 25 years ago with the multi-platinum Relish and its touchstone mega-smash "One of Us," seven-time Grammy nominee Joan Osborne has never played it safe. She has followed her restless musical heart, exploring a diverse range of genres: pop rock, soul, R&B, blues, roots rock, gospel, funk, and country - all of which can be heard the recently released collection of unearthed live in-studio recordings entitled Radio Waves. A member of the British musical dynasty first helmed by his legendary parents, Richard and Linda, Teddy Thompson combines observant, impassioned lyrics about the joys and challenges of relationships with music that

Establishing her own niche style within the Bass and Trap genres not only as a legitimate, sought-after music producer representing brands such as Pioneer, Beats Audio, Samsung, and Monster Products but also as a captivating live performer, moving festival crowds at EDC (Mexico) and LIC (Mexico) – alongside relevant acts such as NERVO, Steve Aoki, MAKJ, Don Diablo, and many others. Frequently traveling to the States to entertain the crowds at Fashion Week for Revlon, Salvatore Ferragamo, and Chloe or as a top choice act for major brands such as HP, Crown Capital, and others. With a heavy arsenal of singles lined up for steady release in 2016 on her own, "A Records" imprint all eyes are on Jessica, anticipating her inevitable success in the North American, Australian, and European markets. Not just another basic Electronic act, Jessica Audiffred is a notable 'threat' on every level. You can catch this show November 10th at 8 p.m. only at Empire Underground, 93 North Pearl Street, Albany.

Andy Frasco & The U.N.

Hailing from Los Angeles, California, Andy Frasco & The U.N. are a party band that blends soul, blues, jazz, and rock influences into a good-time, slightly raunchy mix. Led by Frasco on vocals and keyboards, the group's sound is rooted in '60s and '70s influences in their pursuit of a soulful R&B groove and their celebration of good times and positive energy. Their 2016 album, Happy Bastards, captured their high-spirited sound in the studio, 2017's Songs from the Road documented their raucous live show, and 2019's Change of Pace showed they could approach more serious material and still move the crowd. A California native, Andy Frasco had a powerful interest in music from his youth, but rather than pursuing a career in the music business as a teenager. He worked with the indie pop/punk label Drive-Thru Records, and landed a job at Atlantic when he was just 18. After moving to New York City for the Atlantic gig, he was crestfallen when the job fell through, but felt this was a sign to start making his own music. Frasco learned to play keys, wrote some songs, bought a van, and started booking shows, initially finding bandmates through Craigslist. Andy Frasco and the U.N. hit the road in 2007, and while most of the group's membership has been a revolving door, guitarist Shawn Eckels and saxophonist Ernie Chang have functioned as mainstays since the group's inception, helping Frasco keep the band and their shows solid. You can catch this show November 12th at 8 p.m. only at Empire Underground, 93 North Pearl Street, Albany.

Sarah Shook & The Disarmers w/s/g Scout Gillett

North Carolina's Sarah Shook sings with a conviction and hard honesty sorely lacking in much of today's Americana landscape. Always passionate, at times profane, Sarah stalks/walks the line between vulnerable and menacing, her voice strong and uneasy, country classic but with contemporary, earthy tension. You can hear in her voice what's she's seen; world weary, lessons learned—or not—but always defiant. She level-steady means what she says. Writing with a blunt urgency—so refreshing these days it's almost startling—Sarah's lyrics are in turn smart, funny, mean, and above all, uncompromising. The Disarmers hit all the sweet spots from Nashville's Lower Broad to Bakersfield and take Sarah's unflinching tales out for some late-night kicks. At times, it's as simple and muscular as Luther Perkins' boom-chicka-boom, or as downtown as Johnny Thunders. The Disarmers keep in the pocket, tight and tough. Catch this show on November 9th at 8 p.m. only at The Hangar on the Hudson, 675 River Street, Troy.

Bella's Bartok w/ Dust Bowl Faeries

All little children grow up, one day — all except the bedazzled and glittered band of Bella's Bartok. Inspired by elements of Vaudeville, centuries of street performance, and an unyielding drive to promote camaraderie, Northampton, MA-based Bella's Bartok delivers a passionate kaleidoscope of sound dubbed as "foot stomping freak folk". The songs are born of Americana and folk music of their immigrant grandparents, blended with the joy of a particular brand of pop sensibility. Their performances are at once a primal stand against oppression and a declaration of joy in the face of adversity. From quiet reflections on loss, to the howl of justice in four-part harmony, Bella's Bartok sonically and lyrically delivers a sweaty, soulful dance-party that is sure to leave the audience happily breathless. Started in the dimly lit alleyways of Great Barrington, MA, Bella's Bartok gradually evolved from street-punk performers to an electric, brass-filled, accordion-based spectacle that has continued to entertain audiences for nearly a decade. The band has shared the stage with musicians and acts such as Rubblebucket, Red Baraat, The Indigo Girls, Larry & His Flask, The Suitcase Junket, Andy Frasco & The U.N., And the Kids, TOO MANY 200Z, Consider the Source, Rough Francis, Meat Puppets, World Inferno/Friendship Society, Jenny and the Mexicats, Rupa & the April Fishes, Arc Iris, and many more. Find Bella's Bartok on a variety of stages, at a myriad of festivals, or on the street across the continental United States. Audiences often pick up on the band's main influences such as Goran Bregović, Frank Zappa, Mr. Bungle, System of a Down, Tom Waits and Oingo Boingo. Catch this show on November 10th at 6 p.m. only at The Hollow Bar + Kitchen, 79 N Pearl St, Albany.

Neon Avenue

The group of Joe Davis (Formula 5), Mike Urbon (Knot Dead), Mike Cassels (Stone Revival Band, Jocomo, Knot Dead), Mike McDonald (Formula 5, Knot Dead) and Doug Klein (Slipknot, Robanic, Knot Dead) were re-inspired playing the music of the Grateful Dead, Jerry Garcia Band, Ratdog, and others. While existing in an endless sea of 1970's era Grateful Dead tributes, this group strives to separate itself with a dedication to unique arrangements of setlists and song segues, utilizing extended improvisation, playing deeper cuts from all eras of the Dead, JGB, and Ratdog songbook, as well as an emphasis on the vocal arrangements of these tunes. Catch this show on November 11th at 6 p.m. only at The Hollow Bar + Kitchen, 79 N Pearl St, Albany.

Juice

Blending rock, pop, r&b, and hip-hop, Juice embraced the diversity of their signature sound early on. The band - Ben Stevens, Christian Rose, Kamau Burton, Daniel Moss, Rami El-Abidin, and Miles Ciyatt - formed in Boston while attending college. After graduating, the band recorded and released their first professional EP, 2018's Workin' on Lovin'. With new music and two old minivans, the band hit the road for an almost non-stop year and a half of national touring. These collective experiences inspired 2019's you are simply magnificent. Juice was set for an exciting 2020. Catch this show on November 11th at 8 p.m. only at the Lark Hall 351 Hudson Avenue, Albany.

Aperitivo is trendy again

A century-old cocktail is back in favor

Various tried and true drinks have withstood the test of time. Hosts may want to offer these traditional favorites at special occasions where alcohol will be served, especially if the beverages are once again trending in the right direction.

Although Aperol has been a popular product across Italy since its inception in 1919, it is enjoying newfound fame more than 100 years later. By 1950, the Aperol Spritz became the drink du jour of movers and shakers, and in recent years has enjoyed a resurgence of that popularity.

Aperol does for orange what limoncello has done for lemons.

It has a zesty orange flavor with herbal notes and a touch of vanilla. Lightly alcoholic, an Aperol Spritz is refreshing and suitable for most occasions. Perhaps the biggest feather in the cap of an Aperol Spritz is that it can be paired with a variety of small bites, making it a very host-friendly cocktail.

INGREDIENTS : Serves 1

- 3 parts Prosecco
- 2 parts Aperol
- 1 splash of soda
- Orange slice for garnish

INSTRUCTIONS

In a stemmed balloon glass full of ice, pour the Prosecco, followed by the Aperol, and then add the splash of soda. Garnish with an orange slice.

SARATOGA SPRINGS
— Songwriters Mel Guarino, John Dillon, Hold on Honeys, Jeff Brisbin and Michael Eck will help bring to life courageous messages in Lyrics of Life at Caffe Lena on Saturday, Nov. 12. This heartwarming annual
