A TRIBUTE TO THOSE WHO DIED . . .

The Tri-Villages had their longest and finest parade on Memorial Day with Col. Charles E. Walsh, Jr. (right) Grand Marshal. Whitman Daniels and George Kass, Jr., were Aides. Supervisor John M. Oliver was Honorary Grand Marshal. Most colorful of the floats (below) was one which depicted the hanging of Nathan Hale. And the musical group which won the plaudits of the crowd which lined the route of march, was the Delmar Fire Fifers, a comparatively new organization which did itself proud both from the standpoint of colorful uniforms and spirited music. The parade marched from Legion Hall in Elsmere to Memorial Park on Delaware Avenue where Memorial Day Services were conducted.

An Enviably Record - The Story of the Delmar Library Bookmobile

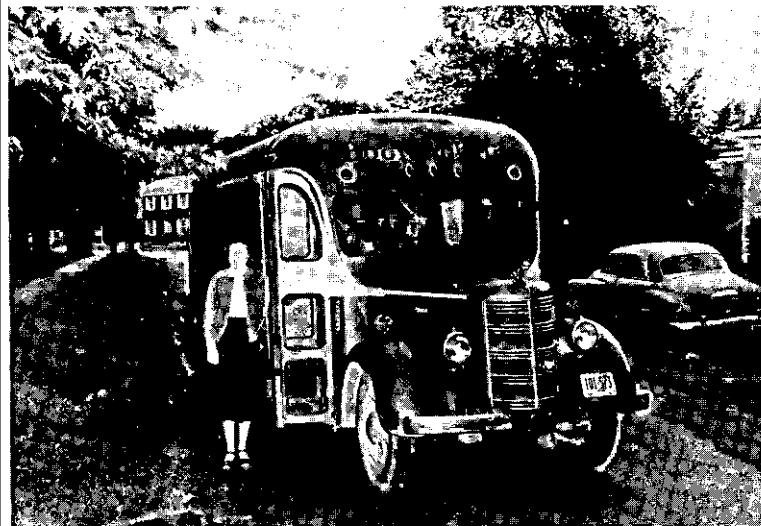

Books, 1,000; miles, 140; stops, 100 in 8 mornings: that is the Log of the Bookmobile of the Delmar Public Library, and of its driver, and librarian, Pearl G. Carman.

Since 1935 the Delmar Library has made books available to people within the school District who live more than a mile from the Library. Starting with a Station Wagon that quickly became too small for the job, and continuing with the present Bookmobile purchased in 1941 for $2341, it has distributed books throughout Unionville, Clarks-ville, Van Wies Point, Slinger-lands, Elsmere and Glenmont for 21 years. (The program was interrupted for 2 years during World War II while the Library was trying to convince the Ration Board of their need for stamps.)

When Mrs. Carman first started her runs in 1944 neither hail nor snow nor anything else would stop the attempts to carry books to the waiting readers. How- ever this has proved an extrava- gant, and at times, ineffectual policy, and now the Bookmobile goes forth only when school buses challenge the wind and the snow.

Mrs. Carman lived in Delmar from the time she was three years old until 10 years ago when she moved to Newtonville. In those early days when her name was Pearl Geurtze she attended the elementary school here which was located where the Masonic Temple is now. Later, as there was no high school, she traveled to Albany each day to attend Albany High.

When her husband went into the service during World War II, Mrs. Carman, who has two children aged 21 and 16, took the job with the Bookmobile and has been with it ever since.

After one trip with a man from the Mack truck company, she mastered the four speeds and the manipulation of the bulky bookmobile, and was on her way. Incidents on the bus' mechanical

Those Teen-age Haircuts!!

The Spotlight:

You have aired many a controversial subject in the Spotlight; perhaps you will tackle this one for me.

We pay the barbers $1.50 for our son's haircut and he comes home looking as though it had never been cut, merely greased.

I am so thoroughly fed up with the daily sight of goeey hair with a DA back sweep and a tangled mess on the top.

I have stopped in to see the barber before my son goes in the shop to ask him to please thin out the top, cut it good and short and to give him one part with a decent arrangement like a man would want.

Our son comes home with two parts; the top hasn't been touched so that a scraggly mop is combed forward to dangle in his eyes and the sides are brushed out in the darndest wings like a monkey's and the back is swept into a longhaired point. All of this mess is aided by greasy gook. It's disgusting!

What has become of the clean cut boy? Judging by newspaper pictures they are all in Boy's Academy or in Military School. Why can't we make the public school boys just as decent?

My son tells me that all of the "hoods" look like that and that the most popular boys in the school are "hoods." The "hoods" are the ones that push their pants below the hip bone, wear high shoes with taps, slouch around, chew gum and wear those outrageous hairdos. To me they are plain hoodlums. I am ashamed that my son doesn't have the "guts" to do what is decent and be a leader in what is right instead of following the ignorant masses.

He says that, "Us Juvenile Delinquents are supposed to look like hoodos." It infuriates me!

Now, back to the barbers. Why can't they cut his hair right when I make a special point of asking them and save all the arguments this family has? Barbers, while my son has his nose buried in your comic book, please CUT his hair.

Let's make our teenagers the most handsome, with the best postures and the cleanest appearance in the Albany Area.

"Groom a boy like a gentleman and he will behave like one."

I prefer to remain anonymous in your publication, for my son's sake.

Let's Get Behind the Umpire!

To many persons the statement above seems like a paradox since it seems that there are literally too many persons in the stands behind the umpire ready to second guess almost every decision, whereas the intent of this writer is to suggest to the spectators that they should cease the second-guessing and back up the umpire. Many persons in the stands and along the side-lines seem positive that the umpire is wrong 50% of the time. The suggestion seems to be that they can see the play better where they are sitting than the umpires can on the field. As one sage put it, however, "If the league officials thought the best place to see the play and to call the play is from the stands then they would have put the umpires there."

It is especially important that we get behind the umpire figuratively as well as physically this year. In an attempt to save

The next time you want to second guess the umpire, ask yourself if you would like to be in his place. If the answer is "yes," then contact one of the league officials - they can use YOU!

Notes of the Games

The runner on third base was sent back to third when many spectators thought he had scored on a ground ball hit to first. However, he had left third base before the ball thrown by the pitcher had reached the batter. (Note: A runner is out when he is hit by a batted ball that is fair. In a recent game, however, the ball was touched by a fielder before it hit the runner. In this case the runner is not out and the ball is in play.) It has been suggested by one person that in addition to the playing of the National Anthem before the game, the ob-

AS GOOD AS MOM MADE!

The TOLL GATE in Slingerlands . . . started in forty-nine with one idea in mind - to make ice cream as good as Mom made forty years ago in the old hand-turned ice and salt freezer. Mom made the "mix," Pop turned the freezer and we hung around, anxiously waiting to lick the beater after it was removed from the freezer. Nothing in this wide world ever tasted so good as Mom's Ice Cream! And it's that hauntingly delicious memory that keeps us trying to make our Toll Gate Ice Cream measure up to Mom's.

The Game of the Week

The game Wednesday night was an excellent example of the exciting type of play to be found at Magee Field. Two strong right-handers, Don Estes of F.F. Crannell and Scott Sargent of Main Brothers pitched beautiful ball with strong support from their team-mates. Each team had a double play and the outfielders made good catches and held several long balls hit to the outfield to singles. Jim Bradt and Tommy Nuzzo of Crannell's and Harold Ferguson and Allen Whitney of Main Brothers contributed fielding gems. Ferguson's hit drove in the winning run for a 3-2 victory for Main Brothers. It was a tough game to win; however, both teams were winners as they displayed an excellent brand of baseball.

behavior have been comparatively few, but she has had her moments. The day the brakes failed on a hill and she rode it through safely with the horn braying all the way, was one moment she won't forget. Nor the time when at 20 below zero the gas line froze and she did a bit of freezing along with it until a mechanic was able to get through to her.

She reports, with pleasure, that, as yet, the tow truck has not had to solve her problems of getting stuck in the snow. She carries sand and gravel, and a snow shovel as well. These, with now and then the assistance of a welcome good Samaritan, have enabled her to keep her record.

On these winter trips Mrs. Carman and her assistant (the librarians of the Delmar Library take turns in riding with her on her trips) don furlined boots, furlined gloves and warm jackets, as the heater circulates through the whole of the bookmobile and is not always too effective for the driver. At one point Mrs. Carman confesses she wore a snow suit but finds she does her work better without quite so much bulk. The warm clothes are helpful too when the Bookmobile cannot reach a house and, as Mrs. Carman lets little get in her way of dispensing her books, she carries them through the drifts to the door.

In looking back over the 14 years of her work she says that one of the pleasantest parts of the job has been the friends she has made. In the cold weather a pot of coffee will often arrive with one or another of her "customers," and, while they are looking over books, the librarians have a chance to enjoy its warming effects. Many times women with their babies will be waiting at a regular bookmobile stop, and one woman arrives in her station wagon, as regular as clock work from her home high on a hill, to choose her reading for the next two weeks.

As Mrs. Carman starts forth she carries a regular group of books which stay on the Bookmobile for 5 or 6 months, a large number of books that have been requested (either by phone or on a previous run) and a selection of the new books from the library. As she prepares for the trip she has become accustomed to the wants and the types of books her "regular customers" like, and has them in mind as she chooses.

A person who takes 1 or 2 books is unusual. It is far more likely that 4 or 5 to 20-25 will be checked out for each person. One woman who rarely takes less than 20, carries off one arm load and returns for a second. Mrs. Carman knows that one man likes sea stories and non-fiction, while one woman likes light romances and mysteries. As they both take a large number of books the "regulars" on the mobile library are soon exhausted and she sees that there are the needed books for them before she starts her run.

Small children (Mrs. C. says there are "lots of them") prefer to pick their own. They all know just the location of the shelves and dart for them immediately.

In the summer, when the older children are no longer in school and thus do not have access to the school library, the Bookmobile must take into consideration their wishes and include many teenage books which are not carried through the winter.

The Bookmobile often answers calls from people who are unable to leave their beds. It may be a child with rheumatic fever whose mother is unable to make the trip to the library and who chooses the books at the Bookmobile stop, or it may be an elderly person who calls in requests and whose family leaves last week's books on the porch for Mrs. Carman to exchange for a new batch. It may be a person who is no longer able to drive and who finds reading one of the pleasantest of pastimes. Mrs. Carmen knows them all and has suggestions and ideas for everyone who wishes them. The Bookmobile stops at houses, at a block or an area, wherever there is a lover of reading who needs its service.

Mrs. Barbara Rowe, Librarian, says that people have gone out of their way to let her know how much they appreciate Mrs. Carmen's friendliness and thoughtfulness. "Delmar is indeed fortunate to have such an excellent person in charge of the Bookmobile!"

We Deliver Delmar 9-1878

Just Dreamin'

... EVERYBODY'S delight: the Delmar Fire Company's Carnival is in full swing. By going, you'll help the firemen . . . and the kids will have the time of their lives. This year's is the biggest ever put on. And don't forget the parade and Field Day on Saturday afternoon!

... Remembering the hot weather during Examination, Regents and Graduation weeks last year, we hope (for the kids' sake) there will be no encore this June!

... Some best buys this week: Paint at Hilchie's; Picnic tables at Delmar Lumber; Wash n' Wear suits at Tad's . . . Father's Day suggestions from almost everywhere . . . to name but a few.

... Weber Brothers (Fred & Bill) have started work on the building of the Garden Center at Delmar Nursery. Promises to be the show place of the area. Expected to be finished by Labor Day.

... Everyone is still talking about the exceptional Memorial Day parade this year. Congratulations to all those who had a part in its success.

... With Little League play in full swing, the Spotlight is proud to announce that it will carry the most complete coverage of events at Magee Field. Our thanks to Ed Sargent and Jack Klim for their cooperation in getting the material to us.

... A great deal of the zest with which our local Chamber of Commerce tackles projects might well be traced to three of its younger members: Erich Krugman, Alan Hilchie and Bill Schoonmaker. Our area is fortunate in having an organization with the wide-awake approach which our Chamber always has shown. And this is due, entirely to the splendid cooperation of all its members.

BAND CONCERT SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY, JUNE 9

Thirty professional musicians will give the Tri-Village area a two-hour long band concert on the grounds of Bethlehem Central Senior High School Monday, June 9, at 8 p. m.

For the first time the area will see and hear an organization from Albany Local 14, American Federation of Musicians, presented under the auspices of the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce.

Roger DiNucci, Jr., long associated with town band concerts and a member of the AFM, will conduct. He said the program will feature Mrs. Doris Clark of Slingerlands as vocal soloist. A complete band arrangement of the Broadway musical hit, "My Fair Lady," and other classical music scores will be presented.

Arrangements for the band concert were made by Mr. DiNucci and Joseph Cosco, president of Albany Local 14. Talents of professional musicians are made available without cost to the public through the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry under an arrangement set up by James C. Petrillo, President of the AFM.

Doris Clark, well known soprano soloist, has appeared with many area musical groups including the Albany Symphony Orchestra and the Tri-City Symphony.

A complete music commentary with highlights on each arrangement will be presented by George Cole, Delmar, long associated with area broadcasting.

Mr. DiNucci said that through cooperation of the Bethlehem Central School District, the facilities of the Senior High Auditorium will be used in the event of rain.
