

IS EUROPEAN EDUCATION BETTER?

BYRON S. HOLLINSHEAD

Having been out of the country for several years, I have been amazed at the criticism American education has been getting in the public press since Sputnik. I had almost forgotten the willingness of the American educator to admit his shortcomings and accept the blame for anything, from the failure of the Vanguard to rise to the inability of American diplomats to speak the language of their country of assignment.

In some ways the American educator is a smart fellow about this, because the success of Sputnik is going to help him build buildings, buy equipment, and increase the pay of his teachers; so the more he bewails his deficiencies, the easier he can enlarge, and perhaps balance, his budget.

But, agreed that we Americans want to improve our educational system, does this mean that we should turn to European models? "What then is the American, this new Man," who has made the deserts bloom, who has taken the peasantry out of farming, who has removed the drudgery from factories, whose productivity per worker is by far the highest there is, who is surrounded by the world's best existing systems of communication and transportation. Was this progress made by a people with an inferior educational system? If so, inferior to what?

To their own ideals, perhaps, but to little else.

While living in Europe, I was on the receiving end of many observations and questions such as these: You Americans, you are always several steps ahead of us. How do you do it? In science, your equipment and techniques are better. Your society is not so stratified, giving more opportunities to the individual. In citizenship your people seem willing to make more sacrifices for the common good. Your government is so stable. How does that happen? Your system of education gives a chance to everybody.

How can you afford to educate so many? How do you make Americans out of Europeans so quickly? National feelings are very strong here in Europe, but emigrants to the United States settle down quickly and peacefully with formerly hated neighbors. Is there some secret about this?

I arrived home in the Sputnik Age last fall and my American friends greeted me as follows: Is it true that European science is better than ours? Is European secondary education superior to American? How is it that Europeans do better with foreign languages than we do? Why are European students better grounded in mathematics, physics, and chemistry than ours? Did you know that the percentage of our high school students studying the classics, sciences, and modern languages has been going down? I hear European children are better behaved than ours. Is that so?

Admittedly I have somewhat generalized these questions in order to focus the discussion. Obviously, also there is a considerable difference in educational status among European nations, even more difference than there is between Utah and Mississippi. Therefore, what I shall say does not apply equally everywhere, but I believe it is fairly representative.

If observations comparing European and American education are to be useful, then it is of first importance to know something of the scope of what is being compared. If we can assume that the end of the sixteenth year is a good point to compare percentages of young people in secondary school, then we find that at that point approximately 70 percent of the American age group is in school compared with 10 percent of the age group in England and France. At college age, about 25 percent of the American age group is attending, compared with 5 to 6 percent of the European group.

In other words, in the United States, some seven times as many of the age group attend high school and at least five times as many attend college as in Europe. Or, to think of it in another way, we have almost as many students in the national honor societies in our high schools, and in Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and Phi Kappa Phi in our colleges as Europe has in its entire student bodies. If comparisons are to be made, perhaps it is only the students in our honor groups who should be compared with the total European group.

But does this larger quantity of American students in attendance have anything to do with quality, you say. May I give three illustrations to show such relationships. Doubtless there are others. One of the reasons for the establishment of consolidated schools in America was that if you could bring more students together, you could give them more by way of equipment and facilities such as laboratories, libraries, gymnasiums, visual aids, and so on.

A first-class illustration of better quality where there is quantity is textbooks. Publishers can afford to produce for many a quality book that they cannot produce, at least without prohibitive expense, for a few. Partly for this reason American textbooks are the envy of the world.

Another value of quantity is that it provides a broad base for the selection of quality. Intelligence seems to be distributed fairly equally among social groups, and one certainly cannot discover it if members of some social groups have little chance to appear. Furthermore, talent is of various kinds and appears at various stages. One cannot decide for life, at the age of eleven, as the English try to do, who has academic talent and who has not.

Byron S. Hollinshead returned to the United States in the fall of 1957 after five years in Paris as director of the Technical Assistance Department of Unesco. Following his graduation from Brown University with the Ph.B. degree in 1928, and from Bucknell University with an M.A. degree in 1930, he taught English at Bucknell University (1928-34), became president of Keystone Junior College (1934-45), was president of Coe College (1945-50), and was consultant to the Commission on Financing Higher Education (1950-52).

From 1943-45, Dr. Hollinshead was a member of the Harvard University Committee on the Objectives of General Education, and was coauthor of that committee's report, GENERAL EDUCATION IN A FREE SOCIETY, published in 1945. He is also the author of WHO SHOULD GO TO COLLEGE? published in 1952, of several other books, and of many articles in professional journals and popular magazines. He holds honorary degrees from Grinnell College and Miami University. He is now director of the survey of dentistry being conducted by the American Council on Education.

Defense of THOSE Haircuts!

The Spotlight:

In contrary to your letter printed in the Spotlight of June 5, 1958, we two teen-age girls feel that you have interpreted your son's expressions very indifferently to what he, as a teen-ager really means.

We are not implying it is wrong for you to interpret it this way because most adults do.

As for the haircuts, we feel that each generation has its own style and that you, a member of the previous generation, should not contradict them. With all their faults, as you find them, we think the haircuts are great! The "greasy gook" as you call it, is probably the same stuff your husband uses. Furthermore, monkeys do not have wings, and the hair dangling, in most cases, only goes to the middle of the forehead, and anyway didn't you put a curl in his hair when he was small?

"What has become of the clean cut boy?" Nothing really except a few changes. Our boys are just as nice and neat in their own way as the "good little boys" of your generation. Maybe those nice uniforms and all of those books that the Academy boys carry impress you; well, they impress us girls, too, but that is not what counts. There is a saying; "Don't judge a book by its cover." Sure we know the cover helps, but the Academy boys can be rowdies out of uniform, too.

Now about the high boots: they just happen to be a lasting fad like the raccoon coat (think about that and try not to laugh), and the taps on the boots don't mean much anyway. The pants being "below the hip bone" is impossible as the pants would fall down* and we doubt that the boys would let that happen.

We don't see where your son is lacking any more "guts" than anyone else. Sure the world needs leaders but everyone can't be a leader. Is your son something special?

When your son spoke of himself as a "Juvenile Delinquent" and said he should look like a hood, he probably only said it because that's what you expected him to say. You, and other parents like you, have dubbed us "Juvenile Delinquents" all by yourselves and some of us, therefore, believe that you expect us to live up to the name.

As for the barber, you may say all you want about how your son's hair should be cut but you don't have to wear it, and besides is there really a right way to cut hair? Let your son get his hair cut the way he wants it.

"You can take the boy out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boy." This expression can apply to your son too, in that, grooming him differently won't necessarily make him act differently.

We, the girls of this area, think that we have the most handsome teenage boys around and when all is said and done, who are the boys looking nice for, you, the adults, or us, their friends and girl friends?

There's Something about Taxes

The Spotlight:

I attended the latest public meeting held by the Bethlehem Community Association. It was my first, and I was quite impressed with the basic aims of the organization.

I'm sure many attending came away with a great deal more knowledge about their local government and how it operates.

However in reference to the Master Plan for zoning the town, the Community Association is in favor of replacing elected officials on town level with an appointive board which could control all future land use. Where is our chance of disapproval if dissatisfied?

Another thorn in the side this Association is researching, with a possibility of reducing our town taxes - yet the chairman admitted over a period of seven years the overall average town tax rate had only risen two dollars a thousand. School taxes, on the other hand, have risen, according to my tax receipts, for the same period of time, twenty-two dollars a thousand. Instead of studying the town financial structure, it makes more sense to set up an independent committee to do just that to our school finances. A good start would be with the report of the State Department of Audit and Control.

In answer to the fact that there are Budget Advisory Committees one can join in the school district, it appears that Citizens Committees are set up to forestall Independent Committees representing the people rather than the school.

The fact was brought out that the school district has the right to levy taxes for the annual budget without the consent of taxpayers. Dr. Ross an Assistant Commissioner of Education, in an attempt to justify the power of the school board to tax without consent, made a statement to the effect that, after all, the board had to have that power or the people might not vote the money or even vote to close the schools.

This raises the basic question as to the type of government under which we live. Does Dr. Ross intend to imply that he believes that the board of education or State Education Department or any other branch or agency of government, has power and authority which is superior to or vested in anything but the people?

Yours truly,
Madelyn Strang

RICHARD SCHWARTZ TO GO TO BOYS' STATE THIS YEAR

Richard Schwartz, son of Dr. and Mrs. David I. Schwartz, 44 Douglas Road, Delmar, has been selected to attend Boy's State by Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post #1040, American Legion. Boys' State will be held from June 22, to June 28 at Colgate University and is a citizenship training program for youth. It has been described as a laboratory of practical political science. Boys' State is a pure democracy in that all citizens may vote and are eligible to hold office. As nearly as possible the government of Boys' State is patterned after the city, county, and state governments of the State of New York. The individual citizen of Boy's State promotes good citizenship through his contributions to the program. The activities of Boys' State are characterized by self-imposed duties and responsibilities, rules, regulations, practices, and abilities which are essential to the maintenance of an orderly society and government.

Leadership, character, scholarship, and service are the necessary qualifications a boy must possess in order to be admitted to Boys' State.

Richard Schwartz has attained a high scholastic average in his Junior year at Bethlehem Central Senior High School. He is a member of the Student Association, Secretary of the Key Club, Vice-President of the Current Affairs Club, member of the Youth Canteen, and a reporter on the Star. He is a member of the tennis team and was manager of basketball.

— 3 important actions to take now —

1 — HAVE YOUR LOVELY BLANKETS CLEANED BEFORE PUTTING THEM AWAY

Only Killip in this New York State area launders them by original "woolen-mill" methods. Charge for a standard size blanket only $1.50. At a moderate additional charge we will replace frayed bindings with beautiful pastel satin, double-stitched. Just like enjoying possession of a brand new blanket.

2 — HAVE ALL WINTER SUITS, OVERCOATS, DRAPERIES, FURNITURE COVERS PROFESSIONALLY DRY CLEANED

All Killip Dry Cleaning under the supervision of a graduate of the National Institute of Dry Cleaning. Work individually processed in our own modern plant. We also maintain a complete hand-finishing department—one of the few services of its kind in this area—for refinishing those finer things which require special skills.

3 — HAVE ALL YOUR WOOLEN GARMENTS PERMANENTLY MOTH-PROOFED

Think of it—for only $1.35 (in addition to the regular dry cleaning charge)—you can have a suit, dress or woolen overcoat protected against moth damage for practically the whole life of the garment! It's done by Killip's BERLOU method. If moths ever damage a garment within 5 YEARS, we'll cheerfully refund the full value. No "ifs, ands, or buts"—we put our guarantee in writing.

Want more closet room this summer?

Ask our friendly Tri-Village routeman, Harris El-mendorf for a "Handi-Hamper" box. Pack into it all your heavy woolens, etc. We'll return them in the Fall, beautifully pressed and shaped. Meanwhile, every piece will be safely stored in our own modern, Polarized vaults. Every item fully insured. Yes, you can have just a few pieces, or every single garment stored through the summer, but the more you entrust to our care, the more much-needed closet space you'll enjoy.

HIGHLIGHTS

By The Sage of Magee Field

Little League rules governing the use of pitchers are quite detailed. This is to protect the pitchers. Over use of the arm at the age of these boys could result in permanent injury. The following information is not complete; however, it might help us to understand the problems faced by the managers.

No boy may pitch more than six innings in any one baseball week. (A week runs from Monday through Sunday evening) Even though a new baseball week starts each Monday, if a boy pitches four innings or more he must have at least three complete days of rest before pitching again. For example, if he pitches four innings Saturday, he cannot pitch until Wednesday. Under no circumstances may a boy pitch twice the same day or two consecutive days. Once he leaves the mound in a game he cannot go back to pitch even if he remains in the game. For Little League purposes, one pitch will constitute an inning.

All six teams in the majors have demonstrated that they can have excellent pitching at any time. The catching has been superb for all teams.

At least two double plays were made in the Crannell-Carroll game last week.

Getz of Mullen's is the fastest pitcher in the league, according to many observers.

THE GAME OF THE WEEK
For the second time in a week fate smiled on Main Brothers. After scoring twice in the first inning, Mullen's seemed to be on the way to victory. A long home run over the left center field fence by Ricky La Rose, with two men on, eked out a 4-3 victory for Main Brothers. This game was a delight to watch with Doug Getz, a right-hander, and Bill Merritt, a southpaw, allowing only four hits each. The game showed once again that the teams are evenly matched. It could easily go the other way the next time.

BABE RUTH LEAGUE

Player agent Harold H. White completed the Bethlehem Babe Ruth League tryouts with two practice games on Saturday. The player action took place Monday night and teams start practice this week.

President E. A. Steere announced the opening of the season June 23. Last year's first and second place teams, Handy Dandy and Redmond and Bramley will play the first contest.

The other teams in this year's league include the Delmar Pharmacy, Vet's Garage, Delmar and Plaza Barber Shops, and Franchini Brothers. Ninety boys will play in the 1958 season.

METHODISTS ANNOUNCE SUMMER SCHEDULE

The Commission on Education of the Delmar Methodist Church is having a busy month.

The change of the church worship program from two services on Sunday, to one at ten o'clock means adjusting the Sunday School program. Cradle Roll, Nursery and Kindergarten classes will continue all summer during the church worship hour. Primary grades will meet for half an hour. These children who have just finished grades 1, 2 and 3 will attend church with their parents and leave for classes during the singing of the second hymn. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Geurtze, Jr. are in charge of this program.

Vacation Church School begins June 23 and closes July 3. Classes for children 3 1/2 to 14 years of age will be in session from 9:30 to 11:30 each day. The nursery leaders are Mrs. Robert Markert and Mrs. Milton Crouse; Kindergarten, Mrs. Robert Wilmot and Mrs. Harold Geurtze, Jr.; Primary I, Mrs. Clement Munger and Mrs. Matthew Doberty; Primary II, Mrs. Claude Bushanan and Mrs. Henry Marks; Junior, Mrs. Robert Darone and Mrs. John Zitko; Junior High, Mrs. Arthur Cornelius. Others assisting in special activities are: Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Paul Woodin, Mrs. Frank Howe, Mrs. Robert Knickerbocker and Mrs. Russell McCauley.

The Skye Farm Camp, owned and operated by Troy Conference, of which Delmar Methodist Church is a member, is popular again this year. Thirty-three Juniors and Junior Highs have enrolled in one of the eight one-week camping periods. Mrs. Clement Munger, Mrs. Maurice Groves and Roger Oliver will attend as counsellors.

Delmar Methodists is June 14, when fifty youth and adults pull together to ready the camp for the summer program. They prove "working can be fun." A picnic lunch and a swim are part of the day's outing. Many of the families (small children included) plan to remain over night for a family campout. For information or reservations call Mrs. Andrew Brown, Chairman of the overnight camping committee, or Mr. Steber Kerr, Chairman of the work day program.

The officers of the Methodist Youth Fellowship leave Sunday, June 22 for a week's training at the Methodist Youth Assembly at Paul Smith College, Paul Smith, N. Y. These officers are as follows: President, Guy Yapple; Vice-President, David Smith; Commission on Faith chairman, Betsy Martini; Commission on Witness chairman, Polly Cooper; Commission on Outreach chairman, Carol Ruddle; Commission on Fellowship chairman, Jane Evans; Commission on Citizenship chairman, Judy Thomas. Subdistrict President, Mary Jane Chenault and Commission chairmen, Lucy Clough and Fred Kass, as well as Sub-district representative Barbara Jones, will also attend the training assembly.

 Morris Klein, owner-manager of the Jericho Drive-in has announced FREE admission to Spotlight readers to help him celebrate his First Anniver-

 According to Mr. Klein, most of his patrons at Jericho are regular readers of the Spotlight. In order to show his appreciation for their patronage over the past year then, his Anniversary Celebration is an exclusive Spotlight feature.
 Mr. Klein's ad this week is a ticket, good for one free admission any night during the coming week, through June 18.
THE DELMAR THEATRE has scheduled a Kiddie Carnival for the Saturday Matinee this week.

AS GOOD AS MOM MADE!

The TOLL GATE in Slingerlands . . . started in forty-nine with one idea in mind - to make ice cream as good as Mom made forty years ago in the old hand-turned ice and salt freezer. Mom made the "mix," Pop turned the freezer and we hung around, anxiously waiting to lick the beater after it was removed from the freezer. Nothing in this wide world ever tasted so good as Mom's Ice Cream! And it's that hauntingly delicious memory that keeps us trying to make our Toll Gate Ice Cream measure up to Mom's.

YOUR EYES

Part of your body—
Part of your health!

- Your eyes are a part of your body; actually an external part of the brain.
- Thus, care of your eyes is part of care of your health, that you wisely trust to a medical man; an M.D.
- A medical eye examiner (Eye Physician, M.D.) can tell whether you really need glasses, or treatment for some health condition that is affecting your eyes.
