THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED JAN. 24

The Slingerlands Community Players will present an unusual three-part program this Saturday, January 24, in the auditorium of the Bethlehem Central Senior High School, Delaware Avenue, Delmar at 8:30 p.m.

Heading the evening's entertainment will be Gian Carlo Menotti's one-act comedy opera The Telephone, which will be sung by Doris and John Clark. This is the first production in our area of Mr. Menotti's satirical opera which has been enthusiastically acclaimed by music critics and the opera loving public since its New York debut in 1947.

The second offering will be specially prepared reader's theater adaptation of Ethan Frome, Edith Wharton's powerful novel concerning the tragic lives of three simple New England people.

Completing the program will be Chekhov's delightful one-act comedy The Boor. In this play, considered one of the best of Chekhov's shorter works, the author pokes gentle fun at 19th century Russian life.

Tickets for this production, which will be given Saturday night only, can be obtained at the box office on the night of performance. Season ticket holders need not make advance reservations.

Mental Health Board Hearing

Seventy-five citizens of Albany County filled the Board of Supervisors room at the County Court house at noon on January 15, to declare themselves for or against the establishment of a Mental Health Board for this County.

At 12:10, Michael J. Powers, Chairman of the Board banged his gavel and formally declared the hearing open. In all 26 persons, representing a broad cross-section of religious groups, P.T.A.s, school, social and civic organizations throughout the County, spoke in support of the creation of such a Board. Two individuals, speaking in behalf of themselves, opposed the move.

Many familiar faces from the Tri-Village were spotted. Among them: Jane Rodgers, Dr. Roger Drew, Dr. Fretwell, Phil Auerbach, Clayton Rose, Norma Wellington, Irene Harris, Melissa McCandless, Clara Bragdon, Kay Browne, Richard Hughes, Dr. Holt, Mrs. Earl Westervelt from Clarksville, Sammy Ives, and Eleanor Armer.

The Hearing climaxed six weeks of dedicated work on the part of many groups and organizations throughout the County, following the failure of the Board of Supervisors to include any provision for such a Board in its 1959 budget, to bring about passage of legislation that would permit the establishment of a Mental Health Board. It is hoped that early in February, the preliminaries will be completed and the Board will be appointed. In the meantime a hearing will be held in the City of Albany before the City can vote to be included in the plan.

At stake in all this was the preservation of the Child Guidance Center; the bringing into the County of matching funds made available upon the creation of a Mental Health Board, under Community Mental Health Services Act; and it is to be hoped, the reestablishment of the Study Center for Learning Disability.

Bethlehem dropped its first game to the Blue Devils of Columbia 50 to 64 last Friday. The Eagles had the lead at the end of the first quarter 12-9, but at intermission Columbia was tops with 16 more to make 25-18. During the third the Blue Devils canned 17 and BC's quintet bucketed 14. However, Columbia still held the lead 42-32. All of Columbia regulars had individual scores better than 10. Steve Cadwell had 10, Tom Boyle and Bill Comstock each hit for 12 and Ray Draper and Paul Visconti topped the quintet with 13 apiece. BC's starting line-up was the usual Willard, Montrose, Cryslar, Lunden, and Shultes combination. Don Cryslar, Captain of the Eagles, with 19 and Jim Montrose's 13 spured the losers, but they

Choir Program at School

"America, Our Heritage," a program highlighting the historical progress of our country, will be presented by the Slingerlands Elementary School choir at 8 p.m., Thursday, January 29, 1959 in the school auditorium. This represents events from the early days of the Pilgrims and the original thirteen states down to our present era.

Work experience plays an important part in the education of business students at Bethlehem Central Senior High School.

The members of the retailing, business management, and the bookkeeping classes operate the schoolstore, "The Buy It," while members of the secretarial practice class spend part of their school day working in local area offices.

"The Buy It" which is located in the main foyer of the school, serves the school in many ways. It is a distribution center for publications, class rings, tickets; it provides a convenient center for school supplies, school souvenirs, and personal items; and it provides experiences for business students.

Edward Felter, a senior, is the manager of the store. He is aided by clerks David Cairns, Marilyn Drautz, Donna Irwin, Don Potter, Jim Snyder, and Carol Vagele. This staff keeps the records of stock, takes inventory, sells merchandise, handles the money, and plans and arranges the display cases. Hugh Brown, instructor, keeps the central books for the store and submits financial statements to the administration every two months.

The school store, which is open every school day from 7:55 a.m. to 2:45 p.m., gives the business students "some living business experience which better prepares them for the business world and for society," said Mr. Brown.

Thirteen girls from the secretarial practice class are working part-time in area business offices. Five banks, two professional men, two retail stores, two insurance companies, and one transportation agency are using the services of these girls, who leave the school at 12:55 each school day to go to their places of employment.

Mrs. Gladys Hosey, teacher-coordinator of the work experience program, said the results of the program have been gratifying since its inception in September 1955. "It is a two-way street of learning. The girls get practical business experience and the employers have the opportunity to train beginning workers at a reasonable pay rate," said Mrs. Hosey.

Those who were fortunate enough to have attended the Dr. Lillian Gilbreth lecture recently were absolutely enchanted. Reputedly the greatest woman engineer in the world today, some 200 women were more than thrilled as her audience at Temple Beth Emeth under the sponsorship of the Albany Section of Jewish Women. Dr. Gilbreth, mother of twelve, about whom that wonderful best seller of some years back "Cheaper by the Dozen" was written, is certainly most remarkable for her 80 years plus, The tumultous applause at the end of her talk "You and Your Job" was living proof of Dr. Gilbreth's positive personality and dedicated spirit.

League of Women Voters of Albany County held four unit meetings last Wednesday and Thursday at various homes in the Capitol District. The topic "A Mental Health Board - Past, Present and Future" was presented as the Delmar unit met at the home of Mrs. Charles Armstrong, of Jordan Boulevard, Delmar at a morning meeting. Mrs. Adrian Levy led the discussion and also brought out the project planning. Supplying background information for the four meetings were Mrs. Winford Oliphant, Mrs. Bernard Periman, Mrs. and Robert Herman. Most informative and so important.

Hope you all saw the "mitten tree" in the main part of Delmar Library before it was dismantled this past week. Youngsters in far-off lands such as, Korea and Hungary will receive gloves, mittens, mufflers while winter weather is still here. Maybe you donated to this worthwhile project . . . if not, how about doing it next year?

Certainly nice to note that Fred F. Peters, from Delmar, has been promoted and will assume duties this past week as executive vice-president of the National Savings Bank. Mr. Peters began some 30 years ago as a clerk and messenger. We know him to be a very active member of the Albany Home Builders Assoc. and Community Chest. In 1951 he became a bank trustee.

Congratulations also to Fred

Understand the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary dinner meeting held January 20 at Panetta's Restaurant in Menands was most successful and certainly well attended. (Some 300 invitations were sent out) Mrs. Hyman M. Forstenzer, director of volunteers, presented merit awards to 50 senior and 20 teen-age volunteers all of whom had completed 100 hours of volunteer work in the hospital within one year's time.

Highlight of the afterdinner program was the amusing skit written by our talented friend Betty Parry of Albany. This was entitled, "Jane, the Woman Volunteer" or first impressions of a Memorial Hospital volunteer, cleverly illustrated by a capsule fashion show with volunteers modeling the smart uniforms worn in the various services at the hospital, narrator was Janet Walker. Student Nurses Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. Nathan Singer completed the fine program.
