FINAL REPORT IN ON 1958 CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

The 1958 Bethlehem Community Christmas Festival closed on a note of glory at the final meeting of the Central Committee held February 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McHugh in Elsmere. Mrs. Sydney L. Smith, general chairman, presided.

A highlight of the meeting was the announcement by Thurlow McWhinnie, treasurer, that the offerings and contributions had topped $2,000, by far the largest amount in the 17 years of the Festival's history. The offering in 1942, the first year of the Festival, was $98. Summary of receipts at the 1958 Festival:

Offerings at three presentations of Festival, $1,388.17; Contributions by Bethlehem Central Senior High School, $234.25; Contributions by other organizations and individuals, $378.81. TOTAL - $2,001.23.

The report of the White Christmas committee, presented by Mr. and Mrs. James M. Flavin, chairman, indicated correspondingly enlarged outreach in assistance to people of the community. In all, 67 families comprising 119 adults and 178 children were supplied food, clothing, toys, dolls and money at Christmas. In addition to aid rendered directly by the White Christmas Committee, 43 individuals and organizations furnished food, gifts and services.

In addition to gifts and services at Christmas, assistance was given during the year 1958 in the form of clothing, medical dental and optical care, and fuel to numerous families. Also, $100 was sent to CARE and $100 to the American Friends Service Committee for the aid of children in foreign lands.

Persons in the community are asked to save good toys - "the kind you are proud to give" - for contribution to the White Christmas Committee next fall. Good, warm clothing, shoes and boots are needed throughout the year and may be delivered to the "Clothes Closet" in the basement of the Delmar Public Library.

Real Estater Rook Buys Histed Property; Rents Part to Dairy

Businesses come and Businesses go - but the Four Corners in Delmar is still the most central convenient spot for the majority of us in the Tri-Village area. This is the reason Spotlight is opening an office in the Paddock Building at 395 Kenwood Avenue - just a step away from the 4 Corners.

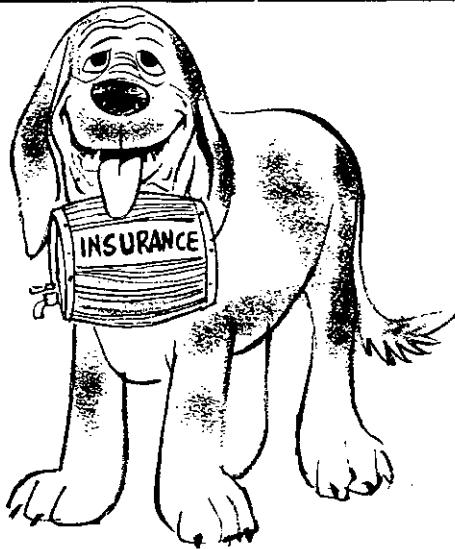

We know you will enjoy this easy method of placing your classified ad, paying your subscription, or dropping off your club news. We have been grateful that so many of you went to the trouble of locating our homes - now, it is no longer necessary. Call 9-4949 or drop in and see us in person.

Another new business at the 4 Corners is the Corner Store run by Helen Brockley Leonard. The food is fabulous and the gourmet merchants of the area are gratifyingly appreciative.

Leo Rook, Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce president and leading realtor, has purchased the Histed Laundry Building at 226 Delaware Avenue for his real estate office and it is reported he will rent a portion of the building to the Second Avenue Dairy for an ice cream bar.

Couples Club to Meet

Couples Club of the Clarksville Community Church will meet February 26th at 6:30 p.m. for a covered supper at the "lower location." This monthly affair is sponsored by the combined group from the church. The Rev. Louis Chisman, executive director of Camp Fowler will show colored slides and speak on the functions of this camp, located near the Town of Speculator in the Adirondacks. Of course all adults in the area are cordially invited. Mrs. Mildred Westervelt is chairman.

HAROLD LIEBMAN BY PEGGY O'BRIEN

Imagination and movement are the two key words which bring together the many arts of versatile, Harold Liebman whose exhibit opened last weekend in the Delmar Public Library.

As a dancer, he and his wife, Lolita, have performed their famous Snake Dance all over the world: in London, in the Revue Folies Bergere in Paris, in the Latin Quarter and The Waldorf Astoria in New York, the supper clubs of Les Vegas, and throughout South America. More recently, they have been on the TV shows of Milton Berle, Ken Murray, and Ed Sullivan to mention a few.

Mr. Liebman said that in creating this dance, he first worked it out with drawings, as the fight between Man and Woman, the woman, as the snake, and the man, as the snake charmer. Then, it was developed into the movement, which remained vital and exciting through over 1000 performances over a period of 25 years.

"Painting is my profession, dancing my hobby," said Harold Liebman in a recent interview in his studio. "I danced to get the money to pay for my tubes and canvasses."

The work at the Delmar Library gives some idea of the versatility of a man to whom every material holds possibilities for creative design. There are watercolors and oils. Besides that, he has developed beautiful effects with copper on wax and ceramic and plastic on wax with stones in dramatic designs in cement where he let "nature and the shape of the stones lead him." He works in ceramics and often uses a method of folding a flattened piece of clay into shapes, which carry through his constant love of movement.

Imagination allows him to search constantly and to find amazing effects. Mr. Liebman's famous "Tin Can Marionettes" are also represented in the Library. In looking at his collection, one sees a great deal of kitchen material and realizes why his wife trembles every time he comes into the kitchen with a gleam in his eye. A coffee pot for a head with the spout as a nose; half-opened sardine cans for feet; spatulas for fins of a fish give a slight idea of the imaginative capabilities of Mr. Liebman. The effect is singularly good. These marionettes have been shown in a number of plays many, many times and they have been made into a movie. They will have another work-out in East Greenbush next month.

Movement is always in Mr. Liebman's work; in the effect of his paint brush, in the stones on cement that are fashioned for fireplaces, in his murals, one of which is the decor in Herbert's Restaurant, on Madison Avenue in Albany, even in the mosaic designs of his tables. He says it is the love of movement that brings together for him all the variety of art forms, in which he is constantly immersed.

The Liebman live in Hannacroix, just south of Ravena, on a farm whose out-buildings have proven themselves effective for his arts and for his classes, which are attended by students from considerable distances away. Mrs. Liebman, whose training is Russian Ballet, teaches her own method with ballet as a base and a nod to Modern Dance movements in a lovely studio made from the food storage building, built with thick walls which keep it warm in winter and cold in summer.

Mr. Liebman has shown his paintings at the Nathaniel Academy, the American Artists Professional League and has had shows in Miami, Los Angeles, and in our own Albany Institute of History and Art.

This is the busiest month! There are more things going on - worthwhile too, drives to sponsor, programs to attend, and foremost is the Lenten period. There are approximately forty-six days, between Ash Wednesday and Easter. During these days, the Church is challenging us with opportunities to increase our spiritual resources. What shall we do to observe Lent? To make this Lent a new time of growth and discernment.

Surely the churches in our community offer many varied programs of interest and worship. Let us all make the most of this privilege.

Seems that the Delmar unit of League of Women Voters will do just that as they meet today to discuss "How Serious are the Tensions Between the U.S. and Canada." Mrs. Robert Rowe of New Scotland Road, Slingerlands is the hostess.

Nice to know that Mrs. Edmund Steere of Delmar and Mrs. Ralph Palmer of Unionville have been appointed chairmen for the forthcoming Red Cross fund drive, in the Tri-Village. Mrs. David Schwartz will assist Mrs. Steere. Quite a team!

Normanside Country Club's Mixed Duplicate Bridge is really a huge success; ten tables turned out February 8 at 7:00. Some had enjoyed the newly organized Gourmet Club, Sunday Buffet, and we imagine many will follow suit.

The Bethlehem Business and Professional Women's Club met last week for a business meeting at Lucille William's home on Kenwood Avenue. Betty Geurtze, president, is full of enthusiasm for the Hudson-Champlain Celebration and did a good job convincing the other members that as a club, they should participate.

Much emphasis on the Bridge this past week at Normanside. The women were almost as busy as they are during golf season - February 12 was the regular dessert-bridge party for members and their guests.
