FOURTH SEASON OF BROADWAY'S BEST PLAYS WILL OPEN AT AREA THEATRE ON SATURDAY NIGHT, JUNE 20

The Shelley Players get under way in their 4th season with "Gigi" on June 20.

Starting with the light comedy which gave Audrey Hepburn her start in 1951, the company plans a series of ten plays which range from serious drama to an old fashioned melodrama.

June 20th also heralds the opening at the theatre of the first art show of the "Village Four." The "Four" are Clover Mikol, Ed Becker, Joe Todak and Harold Laynor all of Delmar whose paintings start off a series of three exhibits to be hung in the theatre during the summer.

Five years ago the spot that now holds the Shelley Players was a quiet farm. Today it is a busy bustling place where the designing of sets, the rehearsing of scenes, the hammering of scenery builders, and the whirl of getting ready for the '59 season is in full swing. In the middle of the whirl is Shelley Kaye, the producer, founder, and originator of the whole idea.

When she and her husband moved into the lovely farmhouse that tops a small hill she shortly decided that the land and barn must be used. Not being of a haying and plowing mind she started a day camp. It was not long before she mused upon the fact that full use was not being made of the barn and surrounding buildings. Late afternoons and evenings they were empty. Being an actress herself the logical answer was a summer theatre added to the camp and so she dovetailed a theatre in the scheme of activities.

Today a professional company of actors, who have been working in television and off Broadway shows during the winter, are gathered for the season. Including the director and assistant director, and experienced back stage technicians and actors and actresses there are 22 members of the company, plus 8 apprentices.

This group will remain all summer rotating leading parts. The apprentices who get a well rounded know-how of the theatre from June to August 30 take small parts in the major plays and will put on childrens plays this year. These plays will be their own doing from acting to costumes, lights and scenery. If they need added characters in the cast the professional actors will help out with small parts but otherwise it is the apprentices show.

The company all eat at "Sardi's" which is a garage made over into a dining hall, and there are served breakfast, lunch and supper. To give an idea of the job this enfolds forty quarts of milk a day are consumed and a dozen large jars of instant coffee lasts about 2 weeks.

Members of last year's audience will find a change for their comfort when they attend this year. In the theatre the seating section has been raised and sloped during the winter and theatre seats now take the place of the less comfortable chairs of last season.

Running a play a week from June 20 to August 30 the Shelley Players concentrate on recent Broadway plays. This summer schedule includes, beside "Gigi," "Picnic," "The Potting Shed," "Life With Father," "The Glass Menagerie," "Mousetrap" and the melodrama "Gold in the Hills."

Plastic Garment Bags

-useful home accessory
or dangerous hazard?

A STATEMENT OF TEMPORARY POLICY
by KILLIP LAUNDERING COMPANY

Experience shows that practically every great industrial innovation encounters certain unforeseen roadblocks. Do you know that when the first horseless carriages were introduced early in the century they were condemned by many as a public menace? Some people even went so far as to insist on municipal ordinances denying the automobiles the use of the public roads.

Now, because a few isolated cases of baby suffocation which have been widely publicized, we, and the dry cleaning industry as a whole, are caught in an impasse. A short time ago American industry made available to us one of the most novel protective plastics ever to emerge from the chemical laboratory. The delicate film is chemically inert, hence has found wide application not only for packaging foodstuffs, but also as a protective covering for dry-cleaned garments. The crystal clear transparency makes it ideal for that purpose.

But unfortunately, the delicate plastic film possesses certain electrostatic properties. If carelessly left within reach of a small infant, the child might innocently cover its face with the material and, on inhalation, shut off respiration. That's the "big hazard." Yet the valued plastic garment bag is actually no more of a menace than would be sharp tools, insecticides or dangerous medicinals. The "danger" is potential only if a child's mother or nurse fails to place them out of the reach of little children.

Killip Laundering Company has been delivering dry-cleaned garments in the transparent plastic bags for many months. All of our customers have welcomed them enthusiastically. However, because of the widespread furore and alarm over isolated cases of suffocation, we have to make a definite decision - whether to continue or discontinue plastic bags. While the reported fatalities have been greatly magnified, we have to recognize that the suffocation of even a single child is one case too many.

Accordingly, in deference to families where there are small children, wisdom seems to dictate that our policy should be to revert to the use of the conventional paper bag we have used for so many years. This will be only a temporary policy because we are assured by both the film manufacturers and the bag makers themselves that they are already hard at work to produce a "safe" protective bag that will embody all the good features of the transparent cover we are temporarily abandoning. As quickly as this new "safe" covering is perfected, Killip will be the first to make it available to its customers.

We shall be most grateful to our friends for their patience during the transition. Meanwhile, many customers who insist on receiving their dry-cleaned garments in a plastic film cover will be cheerfully accommodated if they will make known their wishes to our routemen or notify our office.

My sincere thanks for the attention you gave my letter (concerning the wild dogs) in a recent issue.

You'll never know what a great relief it is to me to know that my fears of a pack of wild dogs were unfounded. LETTER

Dear Sir:

While at first glance there may be no connection between the letter from Mrs. LeRoy Cooke on page 11 of your June 11th issue, deploring the fact that watchers of the Memorial Day Parade did not salute the flag of the United States as it passed and the report by Abbie Utz on page 12 of the same issue regarding "World Literature" and "Business English" as taught at BCHS, a little reflection on the matter will show the latter is directly responsible for the condition Mrs. Cooke deplors.

The people responsible for destroying learning in our public schools base their teaching on the hypothesis that if you love your own Country you must, of necessity, hate all others. Nothing could be further from the truth but it provides a short, snappy slogan for destroying love of their own Country in our children.

There is, of course, no objection to the children or adults of the community sharing with the rest of us their opinions and experiences in other lands but when, as reported by Mrs. Utz, this process becomes a part of the curriculum in our school and is based on the fallacious reasoning set forth above, the process becomes political action for "World Government" disguised as "public education."

Also, please remember that in the auditorium of our High School, the banner depicting the "Web of World Collectivism" (United Nations Flag) shares the place of honor with the flag of honor with the flag of the Republic of the United States of America. Do you wonder no one salutes our flag when it passes?

I wish to thank you for the opportunity of taking my place publicly on the side of Mrs. Cooke. R

Very truly yours
Ruth H. Lunderman

Travelogue: SARATOGA BATTLEFIELD

The fields where men fought and died have long sounded a compelling call to summer travelers. During 1959's "Year of History," says the New York State Department of Commerce, many tourists will visit the best known battlefield of the American Revolution - Saratoga.

Now a historical park, the Saratoga Battlefield covers four square miles bordering the Hudson River about twelve miles east of Saratoga Springs. North-South Route 32 cuts through the park, from Bemis Heights to Schuylerville (Old Saratoga), scene of British Burgoyne's surrender on October 17, 1777.

The park is undergoing a development operation, part of the Mission 66 program of the National Park Service. When completed, by 1966, the Saratoga site will have an eight-mile loop of paved roads, a new visitor center and nine interpretive stations. The present visitor center is at the blockhouse near the Neilson Farmhouse. It is open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The Saratoga park also provides free tours of the battlefield from mid-June to Labor Day. Unscheduled and informal, the tours begin at various times, generally whenever visitor traffic warrants them.

Ed. Note- This is the first in in a series of articles on interesting spots to visit this summer, within easy driving distance of our area.

Tomorrow is officially the last day of this school year. My but we can about remember what revelry takes over on this closing day. Of course, the teachers have to return the following week to grade exams and get all records in order. . . but the keen edge of excitement course through the entire community, along with the voices of happy children, and gay youth.

Awards come fast and heavy at this particular time too:

We've learned that Joanie Myron of Marlboro Road, Delmar and daughter of LaVerne and Al Myron, has made the Dean's List at Syracuse University, where she has completed her sophomore year.

Barbara Westfall Gordon, daughter of the Arthur Westfalls of Maywood Road, Delmar, has received a bachelor of science degree in Business Administration from Beaver College. She is a BCHS graduate too.

Three Delmar young people have received degrees from Rochester University this past weekend: Alan S. Whiting of Adams Street, with a master of arts degree in Education. He had

Then in visiting with Mrs. Glenn Spacht of Cherry Avenue, Delmar we learned of her son Tom's Fulbright Scholarship to study at the University of Amsterdam in Holland. through 12th grades in the new building. And also this was the first class to graduate after Hamilton Bookhout became Principal.

Down Ravana way at St. Patrick's Church was the setting of the marriage of Louise Belle Newkirk to Cornelius Gilbert Goes. Louise is the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Newkirk of Selkirk and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Goes of Cedar Hill. After a trip to Canada, they will reside in Feura Bush.

Interesting too was the recent crowning of the Queen of Mildred Elley. The Queen was Diane Lewanick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lewanick of Cedar Hill, Selkirk. She was crowned in a celebration held at a tea and entertainment by the students held at the Sheraton-TenEyck Hotel.

Don't want to neglect Robert E. McNary of McCormack Road, Slingerlands, who has been named to the director's honor list at Russell Sage Evening College for the Spring semester just ended.

Congratulations also to Mr. Fred Peters of Delmar, who was recently made president of National Savings Bank. Since January he has served as executive vice-president, but began his banking career in 1923 as a clerk and messenger.
