

AREA CLEANERS DISCONTINUE USE OF PLASTIC GARMENT BAGS

One Tri-Village and two Albany area dry cleaning plants are discontinuing use of plastic bags as covers for newly cleaned garments.

Handy Dandy Cleaners, Roxy Cleaners and Dyers chain and Killip Laundering Company have announced that they will stop using the plastic covering as a matter of public safety.

The polyethylene bags have been the cause of a number of accidental suffocations this year. Children suffocated when the clingy thin-gauge material covered their faces in play.

James McGrath, proprietor of Handy Dandy Cleaners, said that because his personnel are the same year after year, and since they know their clientele and those who have small children, his organization has been careful in passing out the plastic coverings. From now on, only those customers who actually request the plastic will receive it. Furthermore, Mr. McGrath points out, it was public demand that convinced him that he had to make it available to his customers.

Joseph K. Ross, president of Killip Laundering Company, said plastic manufacturers are at work on a "safe" protective bag. He said his firm hopes to revert to plastic bags as soon as safe ones are developed.

Harry Khachadorian of Roxy, said it would be nearly two months before his firm received a full supply of paper bags.

The three referred to the plastic manufacturer's crash education and research program aimed at preventing fatalities and saving the 130 million pounds a year retail plastic bag market.

Other area dry cleaning officials said plastics manufacturers are using leaflets and tags to stress the potential dangers of the tissue like transparent bags for pillows and mattress covers.

Chemical Week publication reports that the industry is studying the use of perforated bags, thicker gauge material, a film that is stiffer and tears more easily, and application of anti-clogging compounds of the film.

Auxiliary Picnic

Plans for the annual picnic of the Delmar Fire Department Ladies' Auxiliary have been made for the next meeting July 9 at 6 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Ryan.

OVERFLOW CROWD WELCOMES SEASON AT SHELLEY PLAYERS

The "Standing Room Only" sign washing out early last Saturday night at the Shelley Players Summer Theatre in New Scotland. Every previous record was broken, according to Shirley Kaye, producer of our area's only summer stock. Not only was this year's opening night a complete sell-out, but the acting, production, scenery and lighting surpassed anything the theatre has heretofore accomplished.

It was a gay, appreciative premiere audience who quickly gathered into a holiday mood and enjoyed every minute of "Gigi," by Anita Loos, adapted from the novel by Colette. Aside from the fact that this play and the film have been showered with awards, it still remains one of the comedy classics of this decade. Briefly, it is the story of 16-year-old Gigi who puts away childish things and seriously considers a young girl turned into a proposal by a playgoer.

"Gigi" will close Friday, Saturday

Among the audience: Tri-Villagers: D. Beckett Lang, Gene Robb, public bany Times Union Charles Murn of W Emmett O'Brien, Edward X. Mikol, Joseph Todak, M Harold Laynor.

On Wednesday, July Sunday, July 5, the play present "Picnic" by Will an adult play in which desire emotional stability wage a constant battle.

The first in a series of three children's plays will be presented by the Shelley Players Apprentices on Saturday afternoon, June 27. "Jack and the Beanstalk" will be directed by Robert H. Moss who successfully directed and produced the major off-Broadway revival of the "The Alchemist."

Admission to "Jack and the Beanstalk" is 65¢ for children and 75¢ for adults, with the curtain promptly at 2:30.

These children's plays were wonderful fun for the small fry last year - and this year, with an entire extra company to produce them, they promise to be even greater.

FRIENDS OF Hilchie's Hardware, Inc., Elmsere-at-the-Light, are just as enthusiastic about the Hudson-Champlain Celebration Souvenir Medallions as they are about paints, garden equipment and hardware these days. Above are, left, Alan Hilchie and W. Melbourne Miller as they accept a new medallion sign and another stack of the coins. The store has distributed more than 200 of the 14-gauge golden bronze Medallions that carry a 50¢ denomination. They were introduced to commemorate the Hudson-Champlain Celebration in Albany County.

MEXICAN GIRLS TO BE HONORED AT DANCE

A dance will be held Saturday, June 27, 8 to 12, in the Bethlehem Central Junior High School cafeteria, in honor of the ten Mexican girls who are visiting the Tri-Village Area as Community Ambassadors. The dance is free and open to the public. Teenagers and young adults are encouraged to attend and older citizens of the area who would like to meet our visitors are invited to join the festivities.

HINTS FOR SUMMER SAFETY

VACATION-TIME will soon find you knee-deep in luggage and camping gear. Before you head out for distant horizons, how about a complete check of your car. And for one sober moment, think about the family who, last summer, pulled up to a lookout point along the Little Colorado river gorge. The parents stepped out, leaving their two small sons in the car. Moments later, the car rolled to the brink and plunged 600 feet to the canyon floor. It took a steeple-jack and three helpers to recover the children's bodies. -Make it an unbreakable habit to put your car in gear and set the hand-brake, when you stop. On a slope, take the extra precaution of cramping your wheels sharply to prevent a down-hill roll. Remember this formula: gears - parking brake - cramped wheels. It'll help insure a trouble-free, tragedy-free vacation.

BACKYARD COOKING Addicts, season your steaks and hamburgers wisely - and above all, season your charcoal storage heavily with precaution! Charcoal has a high tendency toward spontaneous ignition. A hardware store was burned to the ground when charcoal, stored in a humid basement, ignited. Home fires have also sprung from the same source. If charcoal becomes wet and is then dried, it is all the more likely to ignite. Storage should be in a dry, well-ventilated place. Never store it in a damp basement; your garage is better, or some other place outside your home that is protected from the weather. Take care - don't barbecue your home!

Three Elected To Board Of Tri-Village Nursery School

Three new members were elected to the Board of Trustees of the Tri-Village Nursery School at the school's annual meeting on June 15. Donald G. Brossman, Mrs. Frank I. Peckham, Jr., will Mrs. George D. Wessinger and begin serving their three-year terms of office on July 1.

"My husband wouldn't believe I was still out at sea"

"The night before my cruise ship was to dock, a passenger became so ill he had to be rushed ashore by the Coast Guard. When I learned the transfer arrangements would delay us, my first thought was to phone home to Albany. And that's just what I did - by ship-to-shore telephone. My husband answered, and the connection was so clear he could hardly believe I was still at sea. A little later our daughter, who was to meet me in New York, called him. She was quite worried, because all she knew was that the ship was delayed. Since my husband knew the whole story, a lot of needless anxiety was avoided."

What has become of June? The month of hearts and flowers, brides and graduations, vacation days and loads of warm sunshine with all the joys of summertime. . .

The wedding bells ring out again and again these days. In a recent ceremony at St. Stephen's Church, Elsmere, Joyce Hinman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hinman of Douglas Road, Delmar, and Harvey Whitney Butterfield of Burlington, Vermont, were married, with the bridegroom's father performing the ceremony. Joyce attended Albany Academy for Girls and is enrolled at the University of Vermont. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lenox School in Massachusetts, and is now attending Plattsburgh State Teachers College. After a reception at the Sheraton-Ten Eyck, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip on the Cape. They will live in Burlington upon their return.

Dianne Alayne Babcock, daughter of the Brayton R. Babcock's of Delmar, was married to Malcolm Thomas Seagars, formerly of Delmar. Both of Dianne's sisters were in the wedding party, Mrs. Robert Myrick of Clinton, N. Y., and Mrs. Philip Holt of Selkirk, as well as their respective husbands. Also young Bobbie Myrick, Jr. was the ring bearer. The ceremony took place in St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Albany with a reception in the University Club. Mr. and Mrs. Seagars left for a honeymoon in Canada and will be at home July first in Washington, D. C.
