

"LET'S DO THIS EVERY YEAR, BOB!" SAYS JEAN MOORE. Proving that nice kinds of lightning can strike twice, Mrs. Walter Moore, 16 Herber Ave., Elsmere, collects a $25 U. S. Savings Bond from Spotlight publisher Robert G. King. Her entry in the Spotlight's 15-question contest was the first correct one received — out of a big pile of right-and-wrong returns. Mrs. Moore, who won a movie projector in a Spotlight contest a year ago could hardly believe her ears when we telephoned the good news to her. Her winning entry is reproduced on an inside page. Was yours almost right? Photo is by Frank H. Otwell.

"More blessed to give than to receive" say Tri-Village kids.

To help others to enjoy better health through the UNICEF Hallowe'en program will be the aim of a joint effort of church children from the Tri-Village area on Saturday evening. Reverend James Rhodes, general chairman, announces that Delmar and Elsmere children in grades 4, 5, and 6 should pick up their containers at the First Methodist Church in Delmar between 4 and 6 P.M. Then they should go "trick or treating" for UNICEF between 6 and 7:30. From 7:30 to 8:30 will be turn-in time and party time at the First Methodist Church. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided for all the For junior and senior high school people of Delmar, Elsmere, and Slingerlands, pick-up time will be 6:30 P.M. at the Delmar Reformed Church. From 7 to 8:30 P.M. young collectors will call upon you. At 8:30 they will return to the Delmar Reformed Church where the Junior and Senior High Fellowships of that church will be hosts at a party for all high school collectors.

The Glenmont Community Church (Reformed) will give a party for all children in that area beginning at 7 P.M. on Saturday evening.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WONDERS: REAL STAR TO SHINE OVER TOWN?

Last week, during a meeting of the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce, a number of the Town's leading business and professional men discussed a Chamber idea that might well — if it were carried out — focus national attention on our community.

The idea is this: to construct a great star, large enough to be visible miles away, and affix it to the highest structure in the Town. It would be a star of light, to shine at Christmastime as a bright symbol of the Star that shone on another Town of Bethlehem many, many years ago.

Originally the brainchild of Lucille S. Williams, this idea has so excited the imaginations of her fellow Chamber members that considerable investigation has already been made into the location and cost of such a project.

A team of well-known consulting engineers, introduced by Alfonse P. Verstandig, told the Chamber meeting that in their opinion the water tower at the Junior High School is the only existing structure suitable for lifting the star high enough. (The cost of building a special tower would be prohibitive, they said.)

The tank itself, made of relatively thin steel, is not strong enough to support the considerable weight of the proposed star; a 20-foot mass of porcelain and stainless steel with aluminum backing. However, at the catwalk level just below the tank — and this catwalk is a lofty 135 feet above the ground — the tower, which is in excellent condition, would not be strained by the weight of several stars.

Ideally, said the engineers, three stars should be erected, to shine in all directions, but since the cost of even one would be several thousand dollars, it would be practical, at this time, to consider only one. (More could be added later if desired.)

This first star would carry hundreds of feet of high-intensity neon tubing on its face and would gleam with a golden light toward the Thruway — one of the most heavily-traveled highways in the country — Albany, capital of the Empire State, and surrounding communities. Hundreds of thousands of people would see it. It would be snow-rain-hail-and-wind-proof, the experts told Chamber President William J. Schoonmaker.

Local clergymen and business people have already expressed enthusiastic approval of the idea in general, and it is reported that members of the Town government are in hearty accord. A leading Town official, we were

"Now is the time," says Alan Hilchie, Chamber vice-president, "to find out what the public thinks. Some of the financial support would have to come from Mr. and Mrs. Tri-Village, so let's get their opinions right now!"

The Spotlight is happy to open its pages to your letters and comments. We like the idea very much indeed. Do you?

TRI-VILLAGE FAMILIES AID GREATEST SURVEY

During the next few weeks the initial phase of the most comprehensive health survey in the history of medical science will be conducted. Under the auspices of the American Cancer Society a million families — from every county of every state — will be interviewed to obtain basic health data from the adult members of the families. Two and a half million people will fill out questionnaires. Three thousand families in Albany County will participate, including 100 families in the Tri-Village area.

Objective of the 6 year study is to determine causes of cancer not now definitely known to science. It is hoped that patterns can be established which will point to the causes of cancer. Geographical, environmental, social, occupational, food, drink, and other habits will be carefully studied.

The data contained in the questionnaire is strictly confidential; the researchers will receive it in sealed envelopes not to be opened until they reach the National Research Center of the American Cancer Society. Information about any particular person will never be released.

THE CLEANEST BURNING FUEL OIL EVER SOLD!

— HERE'S HOW TO WIN —

HY TEST 303 is a premium quality fuel oil yet it costs no more than ordinary fuels. The big difference with HY TEST 303 is this: Only HY TEST 303 is dehydrated and filtered to remove any moisture, gum or sludge that is sometimes present in other fuel oils. HY TEST 303 also burns cleaner because miracle additive HT 303 has been put in it to help remove soot accumulations in your furnace and to prevent any further build-up of soot. This saves home fuel oil users an average of up to 20% yearly on heating costs. To win 200 gallons of this superior fuel oil, count the drops in the drawing above. What would telephone scientists want with a block of ocean?

When the first underseas phone cable went into service, telephone scientists were almost certain how well it would carry your calls. But they couldn't be positive. Because nobody had ever talked across the bottom of an ocean two miles deep.

When future cables sink beneath the waves, telephone scientists will know, precisely, how they will perform. Because they'll be developed, tested and perfected on the bottom of the ocean. Not the Atlantic or Pacific—but a private, experimental ocean Bell Telephone Laboratories have built for research.

The Bell Lab's ocean is in New Jersey, in what used to be a pasture. It's only 315 feet long and 3 feet deep. But in this little block of ocean, telephone men can create the same tremendous pressure, the same temperature and other conditions a cable encounters under two miles of real sea water. Experiments will reveal possible faults, and point the way to improvements, before thousands of miles of costly cable are manufactured and laid on the ocean floor.

Building an ocean is certainly unusual. But the thoroughness it typifies isn't. For whether your call goes across the street, across the nation or across the seas, telephone scientists are always searching for ways to provide you, at all times, with the best possible telephone service.

The Tri-Village's marching musicians, the Delmar Fire Department's Village Fire Fifers, boarded their semi-reliable private bus bright and early on Oct. 17 and set out for West Babylon, Long Island, 200 miles away.

With competent school-bus-driver Henry L. Kleinke at the wheel, thanks to the sponsoring firemen, all members of the fife and drum corps were able to concentrate on the challenge ahead: competition in the Islanders' Association Fife, Drum and Bugle Contest. The roof of the venerable vehicle rose several inches as Robert and Theresa McLean, directors of the corps, took their young charges through rehearsal of one rousing march tune after another.

Debarking fresh as daisies, our Tri-Village hopefuls formed and marched briskly to take their place among more than 30 competing outfits. At the signal, they took their place at the center of attention and launched into a specially-arranged medley of early American military and folk music. Result? First Prize in Ancient Fife and Drum Class, the corps' fourth major trophy.

Her many admirers will be pleased to hear that little Robin McLean also won a medal; her fifth! The little blonde performer took the Special Twirling Award, competing at the age of 6 against contestants three times that old.

Most Gentle Signora:

Please excuse me that I have not answered sooner. I have received a package which you sent with your great generosity. The baby boys and young boys are very happy and we have opened the package with great joy. They say that what you have sent in this package is most beautiful and I have answered them that wonderful people live in America that is so far away from us. Try peeling potatoes, carrots, etc. with a metal scouring sponge while holding them under a running faucet. It's easier and quicker.

Rusty screw hard to remove? Try applying a hot iron to the head and using the screwdriver while the head is still hot. Usually, the screw will come out easily.

Store coffee in the refrigerator after opening. You'll like the better flavor.

Slightly wilted vegetables will become crisp and fresh if soaked in cold water with a little vinegar in it.

A clean blackboard eraser carried in the glove compartment is good for cleaning steam-up car windows.

Your pancakes will not stick if you make a little salt bag and rub the pan with it instead of using grease. Eliminates smoke or odor, too.

HALLOWE'EN FUN AT ELSMERE FIRE HALL

The Elsmere Fire Company will hold their second annual Hallowe'en dance on Oct. 31st at the fire hall on Herber Avenue. Dancing will be from 9 P.M. until 1 A.M. with prizes for the costumes. Refreshments in the spirit of the season will be served.

Hallowe'en Time! "When the frost is on the 'punkin' and the fodder's in the shock..." We hope you'll be prepared for the Trick-or-Treaters who are due to drop by. Of course, there's UNICEF too, with most of the local churches behind this one-night effort and many reliable teenagers (ours included) will be around to collect, with the proper credentials. Then there are the various 'after glow' parties arranged by different organizations to give everybody a big treat and prizes for the spooks who are on parade.

a fine modern art gallery in Albany, called "Three Twenty-Seven Gallery, Inc." Interestingly enough, Mrs. H. Seeley Funk, until just recently a resident of Elsmere, now living at Van Wie's Point, is one of three enterprising young matrons who are a perfect combination. Ruth Funk was former education supervisor at the Albany Institute of History and Art, and will be in charge of picture selections. Alice Williamson, a talented portrait painter, will be the business manager, and Nancy Liddle will be in charge of lithographs, prints, etchings, etc. After the preview, Oct. 22nd the Gallery will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. from Tuesday through Saturday, and until 9 p.m. on Thursdays. The initial exhibit is called "New Expressions, Part 1," and will remain at the gallery from Thursday, the 22nd, through November 20th. Shall hope to see yo' all at Three Twenty-Seven.

Another very exciting first was the Pi Beta Phi philanthropic Tea and Sale held at Dorothy Eisenhardt's, in Loudonville. This group sponsors the lovely unusual hand-work done by the Gatlinburg, Tenn. Settlement House. We used to have an equal opportunity later on in the season, at a sale in Delmar at Marion Arkley's home. But unfortunately she is living near Boston now and a bit too far out of the way. However, we do hope there will be a counterpart out here again.

Never realized how many things go on about Thursday of each week. Also on Oct. 22 were the first meetings of all the many circles of the First Methodist Church in Delmar. These meet in the homes and will repeat in January and March, also with First Thursdays luncheons, each month in the church. Eleanor Sharpe of Roweland Ave., Delmar is president of the Women's Organization, assisted by Martha Miller, as vice president and program chairman.

Several groups are scheduling events for November 12th. The YWCA will have a Fall Fashion show and card party that day. Mrs. George Agor of Douglas

Have some news of three local girls, Kathie Jorgensen of Kenwood Ave. and Louise Labrum of McCormick Rd., Slingerlands, and Judy Trowbridge of Adams St., Delmar. These girls left here the first part of July on the train, stopping in Chicago for a hurried tour, and then headed out to Colorado Springs for the Girl Scout Round-Up. This lasted 10 days during which time the Fifth Army managed the camp routine, with the girls cooking their own meals. They camped out under Pike's Peak on two adjacent cattle ranches, which will also be the site of the Boy Scout Jamboree this coming year.

Kathie was most impressed by the flag ceremony with the Alaskan patrol dedicating the new flag. Some 27 countries were represented. The girls liked the tour to "Garden of the Gods" and also to the Flying W, a real operating ranch, where they ate a meal from the chuck wagon.
