COUNTERFEIT CAMERAMAN BAMBOOZLES BEAUTY

We received a letter the other day from Miss Marilyn Le Gere, Voorheesville's "Miss Board of Trade," who has a bone to pick with us.

It seems that during the exciting Voorheesville Celebration in July, somebody took a picture of Miss Le Gere under the pretext that it was to be used in The Spotlight. Moreover, this enterprising fellow promised her a special print for herself. So far, she hasn't seen the picture or heard another word about it.

The fact is, we have no staff photographer. Never had one. Sometimes we make special arrangements with local photographers to take certain pictures, but we had made none on that occasion.

Webster's definition of a tradition makes it sound like something handed down from the dim and distant past, but the Slingerlands Community Players have created a lively theatrical tradition in just two short years.

Ever since 'way, 'way back in 1958, when the group staged its first one-evening summer festival, hundreds of Tri-Villagers have looked forward to a mid-summer evening of live theatre entertainment under the stars — with admission and lemonade "on the house." Last year, about 500 guests enjoyed the Players' Hudson-Champlain spoof.

This year's special summer program will be held on Friday, August 12, at 8:30 P.M. on the lawn of Bethlehem Central Senior High School. (Rain date is Saturday, August 13.) Admission is absolutely free and everyone is cordially invited. Be sure to bring your own folding chairs, blankets, cushions.

When the invisible curtain goes up, a tripleheader entertainment will be presented:

The Witch of Coos, a creepy tale of the supernatural adapted from a Robert Frost narrative poem, will feature Ellen Heenehan, William Morrison and Ralph Smith, who will also direct.

wily shutterbug had practiced a deception dreamed up by Louis Daguerre a few minutes after he more-or-less invented photography back in the early 1800's. A sure way to get a pretty girl to gaze soulfully at you is to echo M. Daguerre's immortal words: "Attend, Mademoiselle. Regard the birdie. I prepare to take your picture for the Paris journals!"

So if someone tips his straw skimmer and curls his moustache at you, Fair Lady, representing himself as our staff photographer . . . be careful. Expose no ankle, but rather, ask him for his letter of authorization to take pictures for us, signed by the publisher. (You guessed it; no such letter exists.) If he's not staff, just a part-time lensman? Well, you'll have to use your own judgment.

One young local lady just home this past week from her year's travel and study abroad is Leslie Brownrigg, daughter of the John Brownriggs of Feura Bush area. Bet this week has been spent in great days of wonderful armchair tours in their household . . . Hope to get Leslie's own remarks for our Spotlight readers too.

Speaking also of the European visitors to our Tri-Village area, Ruth Dickinson of Partridge Road, Delmar, speaks highly of the Experiment in International Living, which arranged the personnel managers' group sponsored by the Community Ambassador Project. We've been especially honored as a community to house these gentlemen during their months stay in the United States. And busy has been their visit. We understand that the guests will give their host families a special thank-you party at the home of the Paul Dickinsons prior to their departures at the end of August.

Congratulations to the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce for their very attractive folder on new industrial development advantages for our town!

August certainly has the plentiful . . . besides vacation places, picnics on the back terrace or at the beach . . . the United States leads in the list of foods . . . The peach crop is about 20 percent above average, over last year in California where the Freestone crop is the second largest on record. These and a number of other states will be coming along to market in a short time.

Turkeys, the heavy birds predominating this year, are up 30 percent from last year. So look to cold roast turkey, turkey sandwiches and turkey salads for suggested August menus.

While other August plentiful: take the bumper crop of watermelons, summer vegetables, broiler-fryer chickens, plus all the extras we enjoy in abundance, though not mentioned.

A LICENSE TO KILL?

These grim facts from Calvin A. Hessert of Employers Mutuals of Wausau

Imagine that you are the young father who, not long ago, was driving down a pleasant street in one of America's pleasant cities. Your daughter is chattering happily beside you. Life is good, and promising . . . and then an oncoming car lurches into your lane and cracks you head-on.

In the hospital, when the agonies of reality start to penetrate the shock, your first fearful question is about your daughter. She is in a cast, they say; it took 70 stitches to try and repair her knee, but she's alive.

And you? The pain tells a lot but they have to specify it for you: multiple face lacerations, a smashed knee, undetermined back injuries, broken ribs, broken teeth, broken shoulder, a smashing blow to one eye that has damaged your vision and muscle coordination.

Then you learn about the other driver. He was drunk when he struck you. He has only minor injuries. He's recuperating at home. He has no insurance, no money. Then you learn about his driving record, over the last ten years:

Convicted of a stop sign violation. Fined $10.

Convicted of speeding. Fined $30.

Convicted of involuntary man-slaughter and drunken driving, in a crash that killed a person. Served 10 months in jail. Released. Driver's license restored two days later.

Convicted of speeding. Fined $10.

Convicted of driving too fast in a two-car crash. Fined $25.

Given a warning ticket for speeding.

Convicted of speeding and improper passing. Fined $25.

Convicted of drunken driving and negligent homicide, in accident that killed a person. Served 10 months in jail. Released. Given a new 5-year license to drive.

And the next notch this killer filed on his automotive weapon is for YOU and YOUR DAUGHTER. Not quite a killing, this time, but he really brought you down on the wing!

You add it all up in your bewildered brain. It isn't just your smashed eye that's giving you trouble, now; your whole vision of society seems to have been smashed. The pleasant world you knew has dissolved into a jungle. The pleasant roads you traveled have dissolved into savage concrete trails where licensed killers prowl. You had always respected the law and its enforcement; now it all seems like a flimsy illusion that vanished when a criminal jumped you and your child on a city street, in broad daylight.

Anger begins to mount through the pain. Then fear arises to engulf everything—even the pain—for a while. "Will it finally be all right with me? Will I ever be able to walk again, and work again, and see again, as I could before a drunken, immoral, irresponsible, legally-licensed-to-drive fool crossed my path?"

Would that this were fiction . . . but the appalling fact is that it's true. Of course, some states are doing far better than others in legislating killers off the road. But there is room for improvement everywhere. One coast-to-coast look at our traffic toll tells us—no, shouts—that there HAS to be room for improvement!

What's the first step? Total revision of our attitude toward driving. We still cling to the notion that propelling a car through life's traffic is a common right that we grow into, like long pants. Everybody walks, every-

Too many people believe a career in public service means dull routine . . . no individual opportunity. But there's nothing dull about fighting to halt an epidemic . . . keeping impoverished families together . . . planning a housing development to replace slums.

There are openings in public service for virtually every sort of talent and training known to man. No matter what your interest, you can probably pursue it in a public service job which is stimulating, exciting, and, in a high sense, rewarding.

Whether you're interested in an elective, appointed or permanent post—training should include public administration, government and history. Debating and writing for school publications is helpful. EXPANDED PROGRAM
OF LANGUAGE INSTRUCTION

More children will demand more foreign language training at an earlier age. At present Latin and French are offered to 9th grade pupils and German will be added at this level in September. Foreign languages are now being studied by 430 students.

....Russian a Reality. Russian will be added to the senior high language offerings in September 1960. Miss Anita Palumbo, who is studying languages at Columbia University under a John Hay Fellowship grant, will teach these classes. The language program in the senior high school will then be comprised of Latin, French, Spanish, German and Russian.

Laboratory for Languages. Another boon to modern languages will be the establishment of a language laboratory at the senior high. Some of these stations will be listening and receiving stations which will be hooked in with a three channel teacher-controlled console; thus, students can be working on three different lessons or even three different languages. Teachers will be able to monitor each individual pupil station. Pupils, either individually or in groups,

The widely used handbook of management aids, "Your Business," is now available in a revised 1960 edition, the State Department of Commerce announced recently.

The publication, outlining seven keys to successful business operation, is now in its fifth edition since 1948. Over 250,000 copies of "Your Business" have been requested by businessmen, or persons preparing to start a business of their own. The handbook has also proved valuable as a training guide for new employees.

The 160-page "Your Business" contains a concise treatment of the most important aspects of sound business practice: financing, selecting a location, business insurance, record keeping, purchasing and inventory control, advertising and credit. "Your Business" also provides practical guidance on starting a new business. It has been revised to include certain government rules, regulations and services, as well as a bibliography of helpful publications on business subjects.

Compiled with the cooperation of individual business experts and professional groups, the booklet is designed to be of maximum assistance to the new or established businessman.

Copies of "Your Business" may be obtained without charge from the New York State Department of Commerce, 112 State Street, Albany, 7.

AGATHA CHRISTIE THRILLER AT SHELLEY PLAYHOUSE

The sixth play of the season on the Shelley Stage, August 10 to 14, will be Ten Little Indians, the Agatha Christie spine-tingler. Shelley audiences of other seasons will remember the exciting Playhouse Productions of two other Christie hits, The Mousetrap and Witness for the Prosecution.

The "Ten Little Indians" are a cluster of statuettes on the mantelpiece in a weird English island retreat; there's a nursery rhyme embossed above them, telling how each little Indian met his death . . . until there were none. Eight assorted guests have been invited down for the weekend; they've never seen each other, or their host, before.

The guests and the two servants are suddenly accused by a mysterious voice of having committed murder — and the voice vows revenge. The first little Indian topples off the mantelpiece — and immediately one of the guests falls dead! One down. Nine to go. Or are there . . . ?

It's an exciting idea . . . and an exciting play.

Bogarde . . . Peter Falk, who played Reles in "Murder, Inc.," is Hollywood's newest meanie, and is going places real fast. His voice and mannerisms remind me of the late John Garfield . . . Best L.P. Album of the week is on the R.C.A. Victor label. It's "Dance, Anyone?" with Ray McKinley directing the Glenn Miller orchestra. The musical style of the late Mr. Miller still remains with Ray McKinley fronting the band. Some of the memorable tunes are: "Sunrise Serenade," "Along The Sante Fe Trail," "Adios" and more . . . Dear Mrs. F.: Don't be disappointed. The television show "This Is Your Life" will not be leaving your living room. The show returns with new guests and for a complete season this fall. The only change is that it will be on Sunday nights instead of Wednesdays. The first show commences Sunday, September 25. Thank you for your card. Write any questions you want answered to Jonny Borne, in care of The Spotlight.

Here's some news for you Bobby Darin fans. In the new Columbia star studded musical "Pepe," Bobby sings a brand new tune "That's How It Went, Alright!" Bobby will also make his dramatic film bow in Universal International's "Come September" starring Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida and Sandra Dee . . . One of the best local radio and television announcers in the area is Mark Edwards. His show "Opinion" is a must on my schedule. It's on nightly from 8 to 9 o'clock on radio station WROW . . . Don Siegel has been signed to direct Elvis Presley's new picture "Flaming Lance" for Twentieth Century Fox . . . Max Baer, Jr., son of the late heavyweight champ has been signed to a contract by Warner Brothers. Max is 22 years old . . . Jack Garfein is directing his wife Carroll Baker in the new United Artists film "Something Wild." Most of the picture will be shot in New York . . . Albany has been chosen as one of the first cities to play "Oceans 11," starring Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Peter Lawford, Sammy Davis, Jr., Angie Dickinson and Joey Bishop. It is now playing at the Strand theatre. Don't let this cast mislead you, this is not a musical . . . Elizabeth Taylor and Paul Newman are cast to do "Two for the Seesaw" . . . Yves Montand and Lee Remick will do the film version of William Faulkner's "Requiem for a Nun" . . . Ava Gardner's newest is "The Angel Wore Red" with Joseph Cotten and Dirk the privilege to practice medicine — for drivers, as well as doctors, must prove that they have sufficient skill and maturity to safeguard life and welfare.

We cannot blame our state vehicle departments for the licensed killers and potential killers who prowl our concrete trails. Neither can we blame our state legislatures. We can blame only ourselves. Because until we get up on our hind legs and overwhelmingly demand licensing, enforcement and record systems with stronger, sharper, teeth in them, we will never have them.

And until we do have them, there will be many a pleasant street in many a pleasant town where life for the innocent will suddenly turn hideous, or be destroyed.

COMMUNITY EXCHANGE AT GLENMONT OFFERS
BARGAINS

Community Exchange, sponsored by the Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Glenmont Community Church (Reformed) will have its next sale on Saturday, August 13, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. at one of Waldbillig's barns on Wemple Road, Glenmont. Mrs. John S. Warner is chairman.

Bargains in clothing, boots, shoes, skates and toys, all in good condition, are assured. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Paul Andress, HE 6-0454, or Mrs. William II. Waldbillig at HE 9-2598.

VACATION SCHOOL AT BETHLEHEM LUTHERAN CHURCH

Plans for the Vacation Bible School to be held at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Elm and Murray Avenues, Delmar have been completed.

Formal registration of children aged 3 to 13 years will be held Saturday, August 13, from 9 A.M. to noon, and from 1 P. M. until 4. Classes will start at 9:30 A.M. August 15, and be in session until 12:15. At the end of the ten days of school there will be a Parent's Night Program. This program will be given in the church at 7:30 P.M. August 26.

Bus transportation will be provided in Delmar. The route of the bus will be established after registration. In remote areas, children will be picked up by car.

Registration fee is $2. This fee covers the cost of study materials, milk and cookies served during the recess period, and transportation.

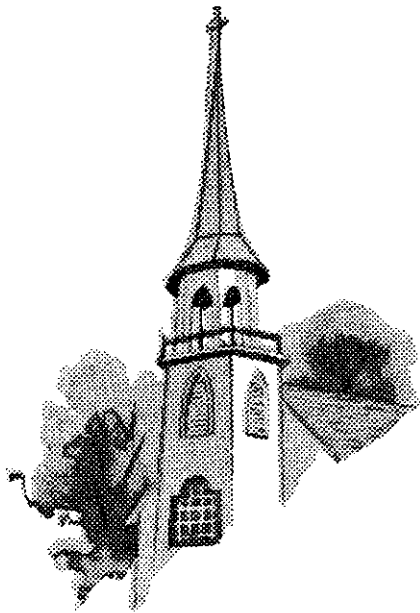

Among those assisting in this endeavor are: Mrs. William Bailey, Charles L. Murn Jr., Mrs. Mae Westervelt, Mr. and Mrs. John Gardiner, Mrs. Arthur Balluff, Mrs. Dorothy Burgess, Miss Sandra Clark, Miss Diane Distin, Mrs. Charles Filkins Jr., Mrs. Henry Finger, Mrs. Ernest Gall Jr., Miss Barbara Grenier, Miss Christine Gutman, Miss Terri Haker, Miss Donna Jewell, Mrs. Walter Kinn, Mrs. Erich Krugman, Mrs. Leif Lie, Donald Lofman, Mrs. Alton Marshall, Mrs. Gene Shaw, Mrs. Lulu Smith, Miss Sharon Westervelt and Miss Barbara Wilson.

FILMS ON MISSIONARY WORK ABROAD SHOWING AT CAMP PINNACLE

Each evening this week, movies of different countries will be shown at Camp Pinnacle as missionaries describe their experiences. To climax the week's program the annual rally will be held on Friday, August 19, and all of the missionaries will speak. Those participating will be: Dr. Richard Buker of Burma, Miss Janet Cuthbertson of China, Rev. Russell Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beckett, Miss Lois Cox and Miss Doris Moore, each from different sectors of Africa, Miss Ruth Shanley of Belgium, Miss Edith Platt of Venezuela.

The Csehy Trio will sing and play on a variety of instruments at the daily services each morning and evening as well as at the three Sunday services at 11 A.M., 4 P.M., and 7:30 P.M. The public is cordially invited to all programs. Camp Pinnacle may be reached via Beaver Dam Road near Thacher Park or via route 157.
