"GRANDPA KEL" TO BRING INTERESTING DISPLAY TO PLAZA TODAY, TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

Kelsey B. Smith, a 67-year old grandfather known to many Schenectadians as "Grandpa Kel," will bring a display of unusual talent to the Plaza today, tomorrow and Saturday. Mr. Smith is a one-time resident of Delmar and his son was Assistant Minister of the Methodist Church.

The artist-poet started writing verses when he was in his early 20's but didn't begin sketching until he went to a hospital where he was a patient from Dec. 4, 1957 to June 1958. He started sketching "for something to do," he said.

Smith, a retired salesman, has exhibited his sketches and verse at a number of Schenectady places.

There are about 80 poems in his Rhymography. Each poem has been illustrated and handprinted by "Grandpa Kel," in pen and ink. The sketches range from cartoons to landscapes. At the foot of each poem is a "Grandpa Kel" saying, "a bit of Philosophy."

One of Smith's favorite poems is "My Garden." He writes his verse "on scraps of paper, on envelopes" and whenever the mood hits him. He likes to write "happy verse" best.

He never has taken art lessons and says his sketching technique is "original." I use the squiggle method. I draw what I see. It may not be the recommended technique but it sure looked like the original subject when I get through with it," he said.

Smith started with line drawings and cartoons. His nature poems required "more complex subjects so I started producing landscapes. Modern art critics might say my pictures are not examples of good art but when you look at one of my trees or

TWO VACATION CHURCH SCHOOLS ARE OPEN FOR LOCAL YOUNG PEOPLE

Bethlehem Lutheran Church of Delmar is again sponsoring a Vacation Bible School this summer. It will be held in the church and on the church grounds between 9:30 A.M. and 12:30 P.M., Monday through Friday, August 13 to 24. All children between 3 and 13 may be enrolled.

The theme of this year's Vacation Bible School is "We Believe." With the aid of illustrated workbooks, art projects, songs, and Bible games and the consecrated efforts of a staff of Christian teachers and assistants, the children will be taught the wonderful truths of the Christian faith.

Registration may be made with Mrs. Walter Kinn, 116 Orchard St., Delmar. There will be no registration fee this year. A free will offering will be received in each morning's opening service to cover the cost of the program.

Those participating in this year's program are: Teachers: Mrs. James Ackerman, Mrs. Wm. Bailey, Mrs. Arthur Balluf, Miss Diane Distin, Mrs. Chas. Filkins, Mrs. Henry Finger, Mr. Donald Lofman, Mrs. Robert Millspaugh, Mrs. Gene Shaw, Mrs. Nelson Williams; Treasurer: Mrs. Richard Hussey; Music Director: Mr. Richard Bowman; Refreshments: Mrs. David Chambers; Transportation: Mr. John Gardiner.

Ladies' Auxiliary to Meet

The monthly meeting of the Selkirk Fire Company #2 Ladies' Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, August 14, at 8:00 P.M. in the Glenmont Fire Hall.

a house, there is no question that it is a tree or a house," he said.

Smith added, "Life is beautiful as it is. Why try and change it?"

A Vacation Church School for all the children of the Slingerlands area opened at the Community Methodist Church on Monday, August 5. The daily sessions met from 9:00 A.M. to 11:30 A.M. with the closing session scheduled for this Friday, August 17. Classes were held for all children from kindergarten through sixth grade.

The Vacation Church School theme "The Bible" was based on the cooperative curriculum for graded lessons as suggested by the National Council of Churches. Facilities in the educational building, youth chapel, choir room, and church sanctuary were used to create an interesting and active experience in religious education for the students and staff. Various translations and editions of the Bible and Bible Commentaries were displayed and used in the classrooms to supplement the curriculum texts. A recreation and refreshment period has been a part of the daily schedule and a transportation pool has been available for those who needed this service.

Families of the students have been invited to attend Parents' Day tomorrow morning at which time aspects of the program, display of crafts, and other functions of the school will be shared by the children.

The school has been voluntarily staffed by members of the church and community with Mrs. Ralph Mosher acting as Director. Classroom teachers and workers are: Mrs. Alfred Houghton, Mrs. Robert Illingworth, Mrs. Robert Ruckertstuhl, Mrs. John Pendleton, Mrs. Frank Britton, Mr. J. Conrad Robert, Mr. Walter Roberts, and the misses Suzanne Clark, Dee Sabin, Carol Roberts and Gail Hayes.

HOW TO SOOTHE A BAD BURN

Sunburn season is here. Smart people will keep the soothing lotions at arms reach.

There's another kind of burn to which we are all exposed—fire that burns property.

You never can tell where fire will strike. Could be your home, your place of business, your summer cottage.

Best way to combat this burn is by having ENOUGH fire insurance to keep the sting out of your pocket-book. That means adequate insurance to cover today's higher repair or replacement costs.

George Butman Announces Prizes for GOP Steak Roast

Mr. George Butman, Chairman of the Prize Committee for the Bethlehem G.O.P. Steak Roast which will be held Wednesday, August 22, at Murray Janex Park, today outlined the plans made by his committee. He said, "We are going to award more prizes this year and some of them will be cash. It's almost impossible to find gifts that everyone likes, so we decided that this will be our best plan."

Edgar Potter, the general chairman, pointed out that the sale of tickets has been very satisfactory. He said, "We will be able to handle a much larger crowd this year due to the fact that the park facilities have been enlarged. There will be several clam bars this year so everyone should be able to get all the Bi-halves they want." He indicated that there are still lot of tickets available and they can be obtained by phoning him or any of the committeemen in the town.

MORE ABOUT SARATOGA

Returning to the Saratoga scene after being run at Belmont last year is the $50,000 added Whitney, an allowance stakes race for 4-year-olds and upward at one mile and a furlong on August 4, the first Saturday of the meeting. This is the race in which Our Hope finished ahead of Kelso last year, but then was disqualified for interference.

Also returning to the Saratoga schedule after a year's hiatus is the Test, a seven-furlong race for 3-year-old fillies on August 2.

All Saturday stakes races will be telecast as "Race of the Week" over a network from 4:30 to 5 o'clock, EDT. The four stakes to be aired are the Whitney on August 4, the $50,000 added Alabama on August 11, the Travers on August 18 and the Hopeful on August 25.

There will be nine races daily with first post time at 2:00 p.m.

The extension of the Northway closer to Saratoga will make for easier driving from the New York City area, Westchester, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts. Upon leaving the New York Thruway at Exit 24 in Albany, follow the Northway to Malta, thence Route 9 to Saratoga. From Western New York leave the Thruway at Exit 27 in Amsterdam, follow Route 67 to Ballston Spa, then Route 50 to Saratoga.

WHO'S AFRAID? YOU SHOULD BE! CIVIL DEFENSE LISTS PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES FOR FALL STORMS

Since most disastrous storms, torrential rains, and floods normally develop in August, September and October, the New York State Civil Defense Commission today issued a list of precautionary measures for vacationists and owners of small craft, as well as for the average householder.

"Public awareness of the dangers to be expected is the greatest safeguard against natural disasters," Lt. General F. W. Farrell, State Civil Defense Director, said today. "Individuals who take precautionary measures in time can substantially reduce the toll of life and property from hurricanes and floods."

General Farrell also announced that the 81 Civil Defense Directors in the State of New York must be prepared to have their forces perform emergency duties, should a natural disaster strike. "When storm warnings go up," he said, "Civil Defense workers should be ready to give assistance to the Red Cross and other civic agencies. In recent years, the efforts of Civil Defense workers in these periods of peril have been widely recognized by the public - resulting in increasing appreciation of Civil Defense activities."

Special Warnings for Vacationists

Because the three hurricane months are also popular vacation months, the following safety measures apply particularly to vacationists and boat owners:

Follow storm warnings closely. Tune in frequently on radio or TV before starting on a fishing trip or cruise.

Secure pleasure craft when official storm warnings are issued by the Weather Bureau.

Haul boats to safe locations upon receiving advisory storm notices.

Arrange that vessels at anchor have plenty of slack in moorings to avoid swamping.

Add an extra anchor to secure boats.

Make loose gear fast.

Leave beaches or other spots which may be threatened by high tides.

Keep a sharp eye out for high water in places where streams may flood from heavy rains.

General Precautions for the Householder

Insure that portable battery radios are in order.

Stay close to radio and TV sets for storm warnings, and Civil Defense alerts.

Use battery radio set or car radio in event of power failure.

Keep your car in top condition with battery, lights, etc., in good working order and with the gas tank at least three-quarters full.

As a safeguard against damage from flooded cellars, check cellar windows and move valuable material to a safe place.

Store canned goods, drinking water, canned heat, can openers, and paper dishes in a safe place.

Have available an axe, a crowbar, and a saw.

Check gutters to be sure they are not clogged.

Move furniture and other movable objects on porches and lawns, to safe spots.

Special Precautions Before the Storm

When storm warnings go up, time is short and these precautions must be taken at once: Board up windows or leave storm shutters in place.

Use strong lumber for all bracing.

Sterilize the bath tub, jugs, bottles, etc., and fill with drinking water.

Put car in garage or park away from trees and poles, and shut the windows tightly.

Close house and garage windows and doors except one window on the lee side (the side away from the wind).

Keep food in the refrigerator at a minimum to avoid spoilage.

At the first warnings of danger, turn freezer setting up so that, if power fails, food may stay frozen for three or more days.

While the storm is going on, keep away from windows. In a tornado, in this area, the southwest corner of the basement will offer the best protection.

If out-of-doors, take refuge in a ditch or ravine.

Avoid all loose wires - they may be live wires.

Stay in a safe place until the storm has passed. If the center, or eye, of the storm passes directly over, there will be a lull lasting from a few minutes to a half-hour or more. Then the wind will suddenly blow from the opposite direction, sometimes with even greater violence.

Finally, keep these instructions handy before and during a disaster period.

There's Something About it; They Come Back to Saratoga

Saratoga is a place that people come back to. If they go out into the world they come back to it. Monty Wooley went to Hollywood and stage fame, but came back to the tall trees and shaded lawns. And one of the leading citizens of the town at this writing is Frank Sullivan, back home again after years of the bright lights on Broadway and a career as a man of letters with such publications as The New Yorker.

They were natives, but so, too, in a sense, are those who have come to Saratoga for the Thoroughbred races of August. They, too, come home again, as often as they can. Sometimes the luck of the game will keep them away for a year or two. For those who didn't make it last season, there will be some new things out at the track on Union Avenue. But there will be the old things, also.

To the everlasting credit of the officers and Trustees of the New York Racing Association, they have seen to it that Saratoga shared in the recent face-lifting of all New York racing. But not at the expense of the Victorian charm of this oldest active racing center in the country.

There were major additions a year ago - escalator, new elevator, new Turf course in the infield, additional seats in the grandstand, new odds board in the paddock. And all of it accomplished without disturbing the character that brings its sons back to Saratoga.

What has been done this season is not as dramatic as a year ago. It has been more a clinching of the advances. For the horsemen, however, there is one addition of real importance. Over in Oklahoma, where a good many stable and like to work of a morning, there is this year the addition of a seven eighth mile Turf training course. Grass races have proved highly popular and now the trainers with this type of horse will have a place to train without having to cut up the course on the main track.

This has been done without sacrificing the Steeplechase and Hurdle training and schooling parts of Oklahoma. The infield sport has always had a strong tradition at Saratoga and will maintain it.

JOAN HOWE HAS ONE-MAN DISPLAY AT DELMAR LIBRARY

Landscapes, still life, and a few portrait sketches comprise the one man show of oils by Joan Howe now on view at the Delmar Library and continuing through the month of August.

Mrs. Howe, who is a third generation artist, and her husband, Melvin P. Howe, spend summers with Mrs. Howe's aunt, Miss Luch Anderson, on the Altamont-Voorheesville Road. Here Mrs. Howe paints in the studio formerly used by her father, celebrated illustrator and landscape painter, Victor C. Anderson. Winters the Howes spend in their Florida Keys home in Marathon, near Key West.

Mrs. Howe is largely self taught, although she studied art at the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Virginia, and subsequently with private teachers, including Nan Greacen, N.A. of Scarsdale, New York; Gerald Leake, N.A., R.A., of Key West Florida; and Allen Glicksman and Edmund FitzGerald of Mamaroneck, New York.

She has had one man shows in Coral Gables, Key West, and Marathon, Florida; White Plains, New York; and Lexington, Missouri. For the past five years she has held a show each season at the Martello Gallery and Museum in Key West.

Mrs. Howe is a prolific painter. "Quantity, not quality," she quips with a laugh, turning out between forty and fifty paintings a year. Her style is realistic, and her works have popular appeal and bring ready sales. "Alas, I do not win any prizes," sighs Mrs. Howe. "I'd like to paint to please the judges, and I keep saying now this time I'll do something really different, but it comes out just pleasing those who say they don't know anything about art but they know what they like!" She is currently represented by galleries in Florida and New York.

Her father, the late Victor C. Anderson, was a member of the Grand Central Art Galleries and the Salmagundi Club of New York and a frequent exhibitor in the National Academy before his untimely death in 1937. Her grandfather, Frank Anderson, was a painter of the old Hudson River School and hung in the National Academy almost a hundred years ago. One of Frank Anderson's landscapes, a scene of the Hudson River from Peekskill, New York, hangs as a permanent exhibit in Albany's Institute of History and Art.

ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

YOUR CHILD AND MUSIC -
 By Max Aronoff, Director
 The New School of Music
 Philadelphia, Pa.

Preparing your child to love music is one of your most important responsibilities as a parent. Every child is musical; the vital question is whether you as a parent are willing to take the trouble to train his ear, develop his sense of rhythm, and above all, accustom him to beautiful musical sounds.

I see scores of young children in our preparatory courses each year. The amazing difference is quite evident between a youngster who is growing up in a musical environment and the one who comes from a home where music is never performed and rarely heard. Early exposure to classical music is extremely important, more important than parents generally recognize.

When new parents come to members of our faculty for advice, we urge them to continue playing classical music on their phonographs, radios or home instruments while their infants are in the nursery. Make the first sounds your baby can distinguish, musical sounds. A little later, as he grows bigger, play rhythm games with him - even the traditional Pat-a-Cake can develop his feeling for musical rhythms. Sing to him, play to him, and encourage his own tiny attempts to sing or to exercise the family piano.

All kinds of homemade instruments can be improvised for the toddler's delight and instruction. If mother can stand it, pots and pans make marvelous practice drums. Incidentally, if the mother is a pianist herself, there is definitely no reason why she should not help her young child explore the keyboard.

Giving a youngster his own phonograph records is another excellent psychological maneuver to foster his interest in good music. When my son was four, I started presenting him with his own recordings of Mozart, Bach, Beethoven and the other great composers. The records were worn-out specimens from my library, but my son coveted them and developed a lasting appreciation of music that was once considered "unappealing" to the young.

If children are accustomed to good music, they can also appreciate concerts at a surprisingly early age. Perhaps you live near a large city with a symphony that schedules youth concerts. Also, take advantage of the recitals by touring soloists and ensembles.

(Mr. Aronoff, violinist with the famous Curtis String Quartet, will discuss music lessons for children in a future column.)
