

LETTER

Dear Editor:

Would the person (and I use the term loosely) who threw hot steaming water on my pet collie care to see the results of his labor? I'm sure he would be delighted to know how much agony and torture my dog, King, enjoyed at his expense. My dog is now in the hospital suffering 3rd degree burns over his entire back and tail. You, dog lovers of the Tri-Village Area, are to be commended for a most thorough job of taking off a few years of his life from his declining years. I am sure you would receive a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that infection has set in; my dog is completely denuded of hair in the posterior and is now on tranquilizers.

My parents gave me this dog when I was 5 years old. I am now 14. They gave me King so I could grow up with him and learn along the way a little human warmth and kindness.

It is too bad some people never learned this.

Kathy Baxter

After countless hours of suffering, King died on Monday, April 15. -Ed.

Dr. Snow to Speak at PTA

Dr. Corinne M. Snow will be the guest speaker at the Bethlehem Central Pre-School P.T.A. at the Bethlehem Center School, Rt. 9-W, April 24, at 1:15-2:45 P.M.

"Bringing Up Mother" is the subject to be discussed and all mothers are welcome to hear and question Dr. Snow - herself a mother and physician.

Baby-sitters will be provided for pre-schoolers 2 years and older. Younger children are welcome.

Grace L. Hudowalski

Mrs. Fulkerson, DAR Chairman Of Girl Homemakers, will Present Prize at Meeting

Mrs. William Fulkerson of Troy, who is State D.A.R. Chairman of Girl Homemakers, will attend Tawasentha Chapter's Meeting, April 23, 1963, at 1:00 P.M., at St. Stephen's Church, Elsmere, to present the first prize for State Dress Contest to Miss Christine Dushek of South Bethlehem. The prize of a $25.00 Series E Bond has been awarded Miss Dushek for the cotton school dress, which she made as a member of the Busy Buddies 4-H Group. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dushek. The following girls, winners in Tawasentha's recent local dress contest, will also be presented with various awards: Barbara Donawick, Carol Kleinke, Paulette Zitko, Joan Hill, Eloise Scherzer, Joan Kleinke and Martha Zabriskie. These girls, along with other contest participants will present a Fashion Show for the Chapter Meeting. Mrs. Winthrop P. Robinson is the Chapter's Girl Homemaker Chairman.

The Chapter will hear reports from delegates to the 72nd Continental Congress in Washington and also hear the report of the Nominating Committee. After the business meeting, tea will be served.

National Library Week To Be Celebrated April 22-26

National Library Week will be observed in Bethlehem schools next week. On Tuesday, April 23, the Delmar and the Glenmont Elementary schools will entertain Mrs. Grace Hudowalski, WMHT television teacher, who will talk to the children of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades about the folklore of this area. Mrs. Hudowalski, president of the New York Folklore Society, is currently teaching regional history on the Schenectady educational television station. She is a member of the Historic Sites Committee for the State and has recently authored a booklet The Adirondack Experience. Formerly Travel Promotion Supervisor for the State Commerce Department, she has long been an enthusiast of the folklore and historical aspects of the State.

Visiting the Glenmont School at 10 o'clock and the Delmar School at 1, she will encourage the fun of reading about our folk tradition and its heroes. After speaking to the children in auditorium programs in each school, she will talk with them informally.

The programs are sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations in the two schools with Mr. Robert Darrone president of the Delmar, and Mrs. Karl Kundel president of the Glenmont Association. Member's of the community are invited to attend the assemblies.

LITTLE LEAGUE WILL SPONSOR NAVY BAND CONCERT

The Herald Trumpets of the United States Navy Band announce the arrival of the President and First Lady.

The famous United States Navy Band plays an evening concert in Delmar on April 29. Cognizant of their billing as "The World's Finest," the Band will offer their musical best in the Bethlehem Central Senior High School Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Tri-Village Little League.

Today, the United States Navy Band is composed of approximately one hundred individual artists, each of whom could take his place with the world's greatest symphony orchestras. The Navy Band contains within itself a complete symphony orchestra, which presents the works of the great masters as skillfully as any group in the country.

Tickets may be purchased from: Grover's Stationery - Delaware Plaza; Delmar Pharmacy - Four Corners, Delmar; Van Curler's Music Store - Albany; or Jim Marotta. Send mail orders to Tri-Village Little League, Box 164, Delmar, N. Y.

TRI-CITY BALLET SCHEDULES PROGRAM ON APRIL 27

The Tri-City Ballet Guild, the youngest performing member of the Northeast Regional Ballet Association, will present "The Shawl," which will have its premiere performance on April 27, was chosen by Doris Hering, the dance critic and associate editor of Dance Magazine, to be performed at Detroit during the Northeast Ballet Festival in May. Other ballets to be presented on April 27 at Mohonasen High School, are "The Big City," and "Static," both with choreography by Lillian Sealy. Ballet mistress for "The Big City" is local teacher Bagha Follet, director of the Classique Dancing School in Elsmere.

The Tri-City Ballet Guild has thirty performing members and is a civic non-profit organization which provides a medium for the development of dance talent on a near professional level and offers a means of expression for dancers, choreographers, musicians, designers and artists and all those whose arts and crafts go into the making of a dance performance.

Tickets may be obtained at Classique Dancing School. Matinee at 2:30 P.M. and evening performance at 8:30 P.M. Children $1.00, Adults $2.00.

Spring has finally arrived, bringing with it that mysterious fever that causes normally industrious folk to indulge in lapses of laziness and day-dreaming.

One man who can't afford to contract that "ailment" is Dr. Harold Bookbinder, director of program development and guidance for the Bethlehem Central Schools. This is his busiest time of year, because it's "zero hour" for graduating pupils who plan to go on to college and Dr. Bookbinder is the one to whom they turn for aid and advice.

Actually, of course, most members of the Class of 1963 wisely began to think about where they'll go for their higher learning, and 128 have been accepted at one or more schools. Dr. Bookbinder, who succeeded Philip Auerbach in the Bethlehem Central guidance post last fall, believes in encouraging pupils to aim their sights high. "We're not trying to set any kind of acceptance record," he told me. "We want each youngster to attend a college that will really challenge him."

Among the acceptances that have been received to date, a good percentage are from top-rated, "name" schools, including Harvard, Yale, Princeton and other Ivy League colleges. About 70 per cent of Bethlehem Central's graduates do continue their education beyond high school.

Dr. Bookbinder supervises a counseling staff of seven persons, three at the Junior High School and four at the Senior High. He is a graduate of Penn State, and earned his master's and doctor's degrees at the Teachers College of Columbia University.

He served as director of guidance services for the East Greenbush Central School District for six years, prior to his appointment here. He and his wife live at 50 Darroch Road in Delmar.

His major year-round goal, he said, is to help pupils achieve as well as they are able in their schoolwork. He and his staff try to iron out learning problems, by working with parents and teachers as well as the pupils themselves.

He is concerned with aiding pupils in selection of high school courses and vocational plans, in addition to college plans. Representatives of different careers visit Bethlehem Central Senior High School every week, and youngsters who might be interested in each career are notified to meet with the representatives.

Career films and trips to industry sites are arranged from time to time, and representatives of various colleges also visit the school regularly to talk with pupils.

"We try to help those youngsters who don't plan to go to college just as much as the ones who do," Dr. Bookbinder pointed out. "Mrs. Hosey," he said, "does an excellent job of working with her business students to see that they obtain good positions."

Referring again to his task of guiding pupils into the "right" college for them, he explained that "there are no guarantees anymore." Sometimes a college will turn down one pupil and accept another with a lower average, he said. Since there is no sure way of knowing just what a college is looking for, he went on, he encourages each pupil to apply to more than just one school.

When he isn't busy working with "his" youngsters, Dr. Bookbinder finds time for community activities. He is second vice-president of the Delmar Kiwanis Club, a member and former president of both the Capital District Guidance Association and the Rensselaer County Mental Health Society, and an elder of the consistory of the Delmar Reformed Church.

More than 100 Town of Bethlehem women are devoting their time and energies at present to the Capital Funds Drive of the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council.

A training meeting was held on Tuesday in the parish house of the First Methodist Church, for all team captains and workers. Miss Jeanette Rafter and Mr. Howard Dening were present to outline plans, and the meeting was chaired by Mrs. Frederick Edmunds, coordinator of District 9.

The drive will continue through the month of June. The local council hopes to raise $300,000, for the development of three Girl Scout camps which our area scouts attend during the summer months.
