

LETTERS

Gentlemen:

The Slingerlands Community Players did a magnificent performance of "The Lark" at the High School on October 25th and 26th.

I saw no write-up after the Play in Spotlight or in either of the Capitol District newspapers.

It amazes me that we do not have any drama critic at these Plays.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Ruth E. Lay

Dear Sir:

In answer to the letter of a week ago, concerning "Police protection practised in our area Hallowe'en night," let me say that it is the responsibility of parents to accompany their "small fry" on Hallowe'en night for Trick or Treating, if the children are not old enough to assume proper caution when crossing streets.

Our Bethlehem Police are not asked to act as Nursemaids on Hallowe'en night, but to keep the peace on more serious offences, which do happen late in the evening, after 9:30 P.M. when "some villagers," as you say, "were already turning out their lights," and I might add - with the comforting knowledge that the Bethlehem Police were, as always, doing excellent work in their official duties of "keeping the peace," in the Tri-Village area.

Helena Ingraham

Dear Bethlehem Snowplows:

Hope you get a new big brother real soon, for it won't be long before you'll all be in use. The Town Board is workin' on adoptin' a brother for you.

Everybody knows the Walter trucks are big, strong machines and it's great to have the Walter folks for a neighbor in Voorheesville. Bethlehem wants to be neighborly, but there are a couple things about the way the Town Board's goin' at this that buffalo me - and other residents say the same thing.

First, neighborliness has to stop when you're spendin' people's money. If there's a bid some $11,000 lower by another very well known company havin' a large sales and service point in Albany, it ought to be considered along with your neighbor. Seems it would take a heap of spare parts and fixin' to overcome an $11,000 lower bid originally.

Second, I've heard that Walter has only one distributor in this whole area. So if you restrict biddin' to only those that handle Walter plows and there's only one Walter distributor in the area (and I hear it's an exclusive distributorship), then how do you get competitive biddin'? How do you get the benefit of lower prices that competitive biddin' brings? Guess the answer is that you don't, for the papers tell us the Town Board had only ONE bid on November 13, when they had to postpone the opening because only two of five members were present.

Seems to me the Town Board's kind of short-sighted and forgettin' to watch our pocketbooks. But I do hope you get a new brother soon - at a reasonable price.

"THE SEVENTH VOYAGE OF SINBAD" IS SECOND MOVIE ON TRI-VILLAGE NURSERY SCHOOL'S CURRENT PROGRAM

Wizardry and adventure are in store for Clarksville and Tri-Village children on Saturday, November 23, when "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad" is presented as part of Tri-Village Nursery School's daytime film series. Young viewers will "set sail" from the Clarksville School at 10 a.m. and the Bethlehem Junior High School at 2 p.m.

For 1½ hours they will help Sinbad the Magician search for the legendary Isle of Colossa, where he must obtain a fragment of the fabled roc's eggshell - vital ingredient in a magical potion. Finally, they will see the lilliputian Princess Parisa restored to her normal size by Sinbad's brew. Conjuring up the supernatural effects will be Kerwin Mathews, Kathryn Grant and Richard Eyer.

Admission will be 35¢ for children and 50¢ for adults, with a special request that children not bring refreshments into the auditoriums.

Adult supervision is provided at all nursery school film showings. Mrs. Jean Golden, executive committee chairman, reports that "Beaver Valley," initial film in the nursery school series, played to entranced, well-behaved audiences on November 11.

Walt Disney's "Melody Time," third film in the daytime series, is scheduled for the morning and afternoon of Friday, November 29.

With the resignation of the Curate of St. Stephen's Church, Rev. David Randles many a Tri-Village person has felt pangs of regret. The weekend of November 9 and 10, a special dinner party was planned for David and Patricia Randles by members of their discussion group. Mrs. Joseph North of Delmar and Mrs. Warren Kimmey rounded up many friends for the occasion. Among those who returned from out of town to bid farewell to the Randles were Village family and tell us that they are "booked solid" for the Christmas holiday season!

Mrs. Robert Kirkman, who with her husband and son, Bob, have moved this fall to 22 Borthwick Ave., will spend Thanksgiving with their daughter, Judy, in Denver, Colorado. She will continue on to California to visit her mother before returning home. The two Bobs will join another daughter, Janice, and her husband, Bernie, at the home of Bernie's mother, Mrs. Bernard Harvith of Fernbank Ave., for the holiday.

And that reminds me . . . this is the last opportunity this writer has to wish YOU a blessed Thanksgiving. We give Thanks . . . most gratefully . . . for this wonderful country . . . our own town where life is good . . . and neighbors like YOU!

If you've done your fall housecleaning and are looking for a place to donate household articles or clothes you no longer can use, there are many Tri-Village women who would be happy to take them to the Clinton Square Neighborhood House at 224 N. Pearl St. in Albany.

I've just learned, from a fascinating talk with Mrs. Arthur Cornelius, of the tremendous amount of time and energy and talent that is put into Neighborhood House activities by women from our area.

Mrs. Cornelius and Mrs. Conrad Spuck are co-chairmen of both the luncheon program and the "country store" at the old refurbished police building. "This is a neighborhood where there are real needs," Betty Cornelius told me. "The families are poor and living conditions are bad - but most of these people are also proud and good people."

Five years ago, a hot lunch program was instituted at the Neighborhood House, for children who attend Schools 5 and 6. For many of the youngsters, the meal is the only decent one they get each school-day. If they are able to pay, they do - 14 cents. Between 70 and 75 children are served every day, and last year, for the first time, the Albany Community Chest made available $1,000 for the project.

In an effort to meet another great need in that once-elegant section of Albany, a library was started last year at the House. Mrs. Eugene Larchar, representing the Delmar Progress Club, has worked tirelessly to gather volumes for its shelves. A study group for the library was also organized, and area college students meet there regularly to help the youngsters with their homework.

The "country store" is located in the basement of the building. A great number of Delmar area men, women and children helped lay its floor and paint the walls. In the store, for purchase by needy persons in the neighborhood, are collections of clothing, small furniture, and all sorts of household items.

"This is strictly a pennies operation," Betty Cornelius said "We might sell a good white shirt for 15 cents, or a pair of children's shoes for a dime." But it's very important to the people to be able to pay something for what they get. Often, too, they will choose some article, such as a bedspread, to make their home more decorative - rather than something that is really a necessity.

"The volunteers eventually recognize," Mrs. Cornelius explained, "that these people need such things for the good of their souls - and we respect that need along with all the others."

Who are some of your friends hereabouts who lend their time and talents to the Neighborhood House? They include, besides the two co-chairmen, Mrs. G. Perry Dunn, Mrs. Philip Cline, Mrs. S. J. Andorn and Mrs. Edmund Mayberry.

Other leaders of volunteer groups are Mrs. Henry Mac-Millan, Dutch Reformed Church; Mrs. Theodore Krantz, St. Stephen's Church; Mrs. John Glick, Delmar Methodist; Mrs. Charles Carroll and Mrs. John Pike, Westminster Presbyterian; Mrs. John Flandreau and Mrs. Henry Hall, P.E.O.; and Mrs. William Sharpe, Methodist WSCS. I don't know - and don't dare figure out - how many shopping days are left before Christmas, but members of the Delmar Presbyterian Church are preparing for the holiday season already. Their second annual Friendship Tea is scheduled for 2 to 4 p.m., November 26, in the Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. William Nostrand and Mrs. Charles Francisco are co-chairmen of the handicraft items to be put on sale. Included will be many Christmas decorations and stocking stuffers, as well as small children's toys and knitted articles.

Members of the Youth Fellowship of the church will be there to take orders for Christmas wreaths - and I understand they made some beautiful ones last year. Some baked goods will also be on sale, and everyone is invited to drop in to look over the displays; have a cup of tea, and meet some friendly, interesting people.

Bethlehem Women's Republican Club. Mrs. William Johnston, club president, said the response to this new pre-election project was most heartening because everyone who attended one found it both enjoyable and informative. I goofed in listing the various parties and neglected to mention one of the nicest - hosted by Mrs. Donald Stokoe for about 30 of her friends and neighbors in Slingerlands on October 28.

This women's organization, which last year claimed 1,100 members, is currently winding up this year's membership drive scheduled to end December 1.

"We hope area women, especially newcomers, won't feel we're exclusive," Mrs. Johnston said, "and will get in touch with one of our district chairmen if they are interested in joining." Membership is open to all women who believe in the principles of the Republican Party and who intend generally to support its candidates. Dues are only 50 cents yearly.

Prizes will be awarded to the two district chairmen who can claim 1) the greatest numerical increase, and 2) the greatest percentage increase by December 1.

The election district chairmen to call, if you're interested in joining, are (1) Mrs. Donald Stokoe, (2) Mrs. Elmer Morway, (3) Mrs. F. Harris Patterson, (4) Mrs. Otto deHeus, (5) Mrs. Robert J. Wiggand, (6) Mrs. Richard Bennett, (7) Mrs. Henry Weisheit, (8) Mrs. G. Donald Sager, (9) Mrs. Patrick Ennis, (10) Miss Helene Keller, (11) Mrs. Albin Studler, (12) Mrs. Robert Rice, (13) Mrs. Frederick Guy, and (14) Mrs. David Mead.

If you aren't sure which election district you live in, you may call either Mrs. Johnston or Mrs. Patterson, who is general membership chairman.

A striking stuffed elephant, to serve as the club mascot, in connection with the drive, was recently presented to the group by member Mrs. Donald Essex, who created and designed it just as she does many other unique stuffed animals for a number of New York City retailers.

Last year, the club won the state-wide membership contest as the largest unit club in the state, and the ladies are hoping to repeat that record.
