

LETTER

Dear Editor:

When the State raised the crown of Delaware Avenue, they neglected to do anything about the two foot drop this caused in the gutter section. At my location this causes a very hazardous situation. To date it has cost me over $50.00 for tail pipes and mufflers. If you slow down to turn off Delaware Avenue into the driveway, you always risk getting hit by some car following you; if you do not slow down, you risk hitting your muffler.

What to do?

I took this up with Town officials a year ago. They agreed that they would do something about correcting the situation.

I have yet to find where "passing the buck" stops. Who is responsible for this section of "no man's land?" The Town says it's the State; the State says it's the Town. In the meantime I go right on scraping in and out of my driveway.

The sunken road could become another Waterloo.

K.B.J.

Here's Another Poem!

That our village will develop
Is a fact we all must face,
And I prefer to see it done
With a maximum of grace.

The proponents of this project (Who reside here just as we),
Are more concerned with our small town

Than outsiders would be.

A drug store, yes - but liquor?
NO!

I have not heard it mentioned,
I'm sure the group whose plans
these are

Are very well-intentioned.

S.L.A. seems more intent
On poetry that scans,
That learning all the solid facts
Of proposed suburban plans.

Before you get hysterical
And jump to wrong conclusions,
Just check the facts and spare us

Your poetical delusions!

SCHOOL CHOIR IN CONCERT AT SLINGERLANDS JUNE 11

"A Salute to the World's Fair" will be the theme for the concert presented by the Slingerlands School Choir on Thursday, June 11, at 8:00 P.M. in the auditorium.

Highlighting the concert will be an authentic Japanese song which will be sung in the native language. Dr. Kay Niya, a native of Tokyo, who has sung with the opera there, recorded the original Japanese for the choir. She also outlined the choreography for the dance ensemble which is being directed by Mrs. Richard Ristau and William Morrison. Mrs. Ristau has designed and handpainted the costumes assisted by Mrs. Donald Estey. Those appearing in the Japanese dance are: Lesley Brown, Susan Carter, Polly Clayton, Deborah DeFlumer, Christine Estey, Susan Farrell, Rachel Follett, Marion Hathaway, Diane Paquette, Mary Pendleton, Karri Lynn Rappe, Leigh Rockwood, Lisa Scurah, Stephanie Sinnamon, Karen Sutter.

An Hellenic song is the other number in the ethnic group which honors nations from abroad who have exhibits at the fair.

Mrs. Roger Creighton, harpist, and Mrs. Ralph Bates, pianist, will accompany the choir during the concert. Soloists will be Patricia Cannizzaro and Robert Gavaletz. The narrator will be Paul Zimmerman while Michael McNamara will extend greetings.

Members of the Music Literature Study Group will present their original compositions. These range from an instrumental trio to a musical fantasy centered around Johannes Brahms.

For the final number the song will underline the theme of the fair which is "Peace Through Understanding."

Choral Readers to be Here

A concert of secular and sacred readings by the 24-member Choral Readers of Northwestern College will be presented Tuesday, June 9, at the Glenmont Community Church (Reformed) in Glenmont.

Reverend J. David Boyce, pastor of the Glenmont Church, said the Choral Readers group is the only touring concert of its kind in the nation and the June 9 performance will be their first presentation in this area. The public is invited to attend either the first concert at 7:30 p.m. or the closing series at 8:45 p.m.

This is the fifth touring season for the Choral Readers group which was formed in 1959 by Dr. T. England, chairman of the department of Speech and Drama at Northwestern. The readers rehearse daily throughout the school year and each member is required to attend one hour credit course in Choral Reading before becoming a group participant.

those students with specialized training including IBM Machine Accounting and Medical Secretarial skills.

Another elective course for diploma students is Public Relations. While other schools and colleges in the country are beginning to include this subject in their programs, ABC students have received this training for over 10 years.

At the present time, ABC has enrolled over 700 students in its day program and another 150 in its Evening division of adult education. These students represent over 225 high schools, 15 different states and foreign countries.

For its regular day school students, ABC offers one and two-year diploma programs in Automation Accounting-Business Administration; Business Administration-Accounting; Executive Secretarial and Medical Secretarial Training.

ABC's Evening Division of Adult Education also offers diploma programs in Business Administration-Accounting and Executive Secretarial training fields.

In addition, there are a number of special certificate courses available. As part of its Evening Division, a special 18-week, 54-hour Seminar on Public Relations has been included as a community service. Presently there are 31 adult students participating in this popular adult education course.

ABC's Summer Session, a six week program starting July 6, will feature typewriting and Developmental Reading courses. Other courses available for the three-hour morning sessions include Notehand, shorthand, record-keeping for small businesses and business machine

One of the newest and youngest businessmen on the local scene is Brian Gallagher, proprietor of Gallagher's Ski and Sport Shop on Delaware Avenue in Delmar.

Young Gallagher, who is pushing 24, opened his store in February and reports that business is gradually getting better and better. He started "very small," he told me, and is building his supply of sports equipment slowly but surely.

A native of Delmar, Gallagher now resides at 368 Kenwood Ave. with his wife, the former Marie Sandola of Oneonta, and their son, Brian Jr., six months old.

Gallagher is a graduate of Vincentian Institute and the State University at Cobleskill, where he majored in business management and was graduated in 1961. He was employed for a time by the Delmar Liquor Store, and has traveled extensively throughout Europe.

The new sports shop is located in the building once occupied by the Crannell Lumber Company, which has moved to Troy. During winter months, Gallagher expects that 90 per cent of his business will be with skiers. He rents skiing equipment, in addition to selling it.

He also stocks equipment for all sports, with the exception of hunting gear. "I've got all the necessary equipment for golf, tennis, fishing and camping," he assured me recently.

Gallagher decided to operate a sports shop because he is an avid sportsman himself. He has skied for many years, and enjoyed most other sports at one time or another.

Being in the business greatly limits his own opportunity to use the stuff he sells. At present, the shop is open from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 to 9 on Friday, and from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Throughout the skiing season, he plans to be open seven days a week. His wife, a nurse at the Albany Medical Center, helps out at the shop whenever she can find the time.

Young Gallagher is optimistic about his future as a retailer of sports equipment. "I figured if I didn't do it now, I never would," he said, in reply to an observation about his youth and relative inexperience in the business world.

He cordially invites all area sports enthusiasts to stop by the shop and look over his stock.

Players (her classmates from the Cathedral School were also in the audience) and Mrs. Johnson gave a special greeting to the two lead players.

During the reception, at which punch, sandwiches and cookies were served, Mrs. Dapert had a chance to talk informally with the Johnson girls and with Warrie Lynn Smith, Lynda's roommate. "They were very warm and friendly," she reports, "and the female Johnsons are much more attractive in person than in most of their photographs."

The cold, snowy weather on that date just over two months ago kept picturesque Washington from looking its best - the magnolias on the White House grounds had all frozen and turned brown - but Mrs. Dapert said that all the coldness was on the outside.

"This was my first visit to the White House," she said, "and all of us who were there thoroughly enjoyed ourselves."

If I offended anyone with my recent remarks about the Village of Normansville, I'm sorry. My purpose was mainly to point out and praise the spirit among residents of Normansville today, especially as it is reflected in the new life and vigor of the Normansville Community Church.
