Theatre Presentations Set for Jr.-Sr. High School Students

The start of another school year brings the announcement of an outstanding series of live theatre presentation planned for the Junior and Senior High School students by a Parent Committee headed by Mrs. Albert Davis.

The first presentation will be on Thursday, October 15, when George Alexander, popular concert, TV, and recording artist, will bring his folksinging talent to the stage of the Bethlehem Central Senior High School. Mr. Alexander is an exceptionally gifted singer-guitarist who includes in his program songs in Spanish, Russian, Italian, Swedish, French, and Japanese. Recently Signature released his first LP Album, "America's Greatest Folk Songs." Upon hearing this album, Walt Disney and Art Linkletter engaged him to represent American Folk Music at the recent Olympics. He has toured extensively and has been received with glowing notices at each of his performances.

Bethlehem Central students will have a genuine treat in store for them at each of the three planned presentations. On December 1, the National Shakespeare Company will present "The Taming of the Shrew" with a cast of experienced Broadway professionals who have appeared in many Shakespeare productions. On February 1, Jose Molina Bailes Espanoles, nine Spanish dancers, singers, and musicians, will present a colorful program of Spanish dances of Castile, Barcelona, Granada and other exciting parts of Spain.

FIVE BASIC FACTS TELL WHY THIS IS

"AMERICA'S NO. 1 GET-WELL CARD"

- 1 BLUE CROSS COVERAGE IS BROADER

There is no limitation on the amount of money Blue Cross can pay a hospital for your care. (Most other plans pay a fixed sum which often proves inadequate when the actual hospital bill comes in.) As hospital costs rise, Blue Cross becomes worth more to the individual and his family.

Semi-private room charges in northeastern New York range as high as $32 per day. Intensive care units (semi-private) are as high as $76.50 per day. Depending on the hospital care needed, Blue Cross could pay — and has paid — over $10,000 for hospital care for a subscriber during a single hospital admission. And note this: no subscriber has ever been cancelled because of the amount of his bill, his age or his condition of health.
- 2 BLUE CROSS RETURNS MORE PER DOLLAR

Not-for-profit Blue Cross does not pay agents' commissions out of the premiums you pay. (A savings of up to 20%.) Blue Cross is tax-exempt. Thus, Blue Cross returns 96 cents out of every premium dollar in benefits. On a national average, other companies return only 79 cents out of every premium dollar. (This figure from U. S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare.)
- 3 BLUE CROSS CUTS EMPLOYER'S COSTS

Employers can save money with Blue Cross contracts. Blue Cross does the paperwork. There is no claims handling by the employer. This can save the employer an amount equal to as much as 2% of premium costs.
- 4 BLUE CROSS IS MORE FLEXIBLE

Blue Cross contracts are so flexible that they can be tailored to meet the health protection needs of the most diversified large groups imaginable. According to Dun & Bradstreet, 7 out of 10 of the "best managed" companies in the country provide Blue Cross for their employees. Locally, more than 40% of the population enjoys Blue Cross protection. This includes over 4,000 employer groups in northeastern New York.
- 5 BLUE CROSS GUARANTEE RATES UP TO 3 YEARS

Under the Blue Cross Personal Protection Plan, rates are guaranteed for one, two or three years, as desired by the subscribing firm. At renewal time, each firm's future rates will be based on the amount of hospital care actually used by that firm's employees during the coverage period just ended — not by hospital use in the community as a whole.

The Association held its first meeting of the fall on Sunday evening, September 27, at the home of Harry T. O'Brien, 22 Euclid Avenue, Elsmere. Mr. O'Brien, chairman of the group of homeowners, stressed the importance of the proposed revision to the Town of Bethlehem zoning ordinance and urged all citizens to become familiar with the possible changes before the town officials begin public hearings.

"Delaware Avenue, the main entrance and thoroughfare of the Town of Bethlehem, deserved our best efforts at beautifying and regulation. Transition regulations which protect residential streets at their intersection with Delaware Avenue are needed for safety reasons," stressed Mr. O'Brien.

Those attending the meeting in addition to Mr. O'Brien were Mesdames Robert Hunter and Edward Sargeant Jr., Martin Barr, Lawrence Jones, Lawrence Monette, Gordon Molyneux, Robert Morris, James Quinlan, Alexander Rihm and William Schraa. All interested citizens in the Town of Bethlehem are invited to join the group.

The Elsmere men drill each week and the volunteers have contributed over 3,500 man hours for fire training purposes.

DIAPER HYGIENE: 12-15 months

By Erma W. Macready, R.N.
Baby Care Counselor
Pensacola, Fla.

Baby, between twelve and fifteen months of age, doesn't seem to be a baby anymore. From a tiny helpless infant, baby has become a sturdy and agile little person with a mind of his own.

Many mothers, at this time, become conscious of baby's need for less changes. Baby now usually is able to stay dry for as long as two hours at a time.

As a result, mothers often develop a false sense of security about the threat of diaper rash. If baby doesn't wet so often, they reason, there no longer is any need for concern.

This fallacy is the subject of this sixth in a series of guest columns by baby care counselors on maintaining good diaper hygiene during baby's entire diaper wearing age.

It is a mistake to think that diaper rash occurs only during baby's early months. Babies can get diaper rash as long as they wear diapers. For that matter, the most distressing and dangerous cases of diaper rash tend to be among older babies. This was found to be so in a study reported in the Journal of Diseases of Children published by the American Medical Association. The study showed that the most serious cases of diaper rash did not occur in infants but in children over one year of age. The possibility of diaper rash remains as long as diapers are worn. It is therefore important that the fastidious diapering routine followed when baby was younger be continued. Baby should be changed promptly with correctly processed diapers.

Even throughout the toilet training period when training pants worn by day and diapers for naps and at night, diapers should be processed just as carefully as in previous months. The six steps in the proper processing of diapers at home are explained in a free booklet, "A Mothers Guide to Diaper Hygiene." Write, the National Baby Care Council, 1620 Locust Street, Philadelphia, Pa., 19103.

Here's another hint for the comfort of a growing baby. Make sure the diaper is not too small nor pinned too tightly. Your diaper service counselor can tell you what size diapers to order and give you hints on pinning them for greater baby comfort.
