SLINGERLANDS FIREMEN COMPLETE PRELIMINARY WORK OF ORGANIZING FIRST AREA RESCUE SQUAD

The Slingerlands Fire Department has completed the preliminary groundwork required to forming a complete rescue squad. A committee co-chaired by D. Cady Herrick II and Raymond Pastori, and members of Walter Eck, and Mark Scurrah reported at the February meeting that training, membership, equipment, and other associated details were in the process of being coordinated into a master plan.

Also included is the fund raising required which is always a great factor in any volunteer department. Not to be confused with an ambulance service, this unit would cope with any emergency, such as auto accidents, falls from cliffs, drownings, fires, or in short, any emergency that may arise in which human life is in jeopardy. To accomplish tasks such as these, it requires very highly trained and skilled personnel. means that the volunteers of the Slingerlands Fire Department will have to put many, many hours into rigorous training. This squad will employ a special truck, unlike no other in the area in carrying out their duties. Mr. T. Delaney of the New York State Civil Defense unit addressed the Slingerlands membership, outlining the training aids available for their use from the Unit. Presented to the Town of Bethlehem Fire Officers Association, the rescue squad was hailed as needed by the Town, and a very valuable unit in every day life.

Of one thing you can be sure, the Slingerlands Fire Department cares for the people in the hamlet and Town which they serve.

KEN FRATIS, QUARTER HORSE EXPERT, TO SPEAK AT ANNUAL AWARDS DINNER FEBRUARY 27

Mr. Ken Fratis, Director of Youth Activities, American Quarter Horse Association, Amarillo, Texas is scheduled to speak at the New York State Quarter Horse Association's Annual Awards Dinner, Feb. 27 at the Center Inn, Glenmont.

Mr. Fratis is a surprising person of many accomplishments. He served as 9th president of the AQHA. He was a member of the first racing committee of that organization. A top-notch horseman, he is an experienced blacksmith, specializing in shoeing his Quarter Horses just the way he thinks they should be shod. He is an expert archer and an excellent rifle shot. He is an architect-engineer and an artist at water colors and pen and ink drawings. In addition, this man is a successful rancher and irrigation farmer. Mr. Fratis was born and reared on a ranch. The pleasure he derives from appraising the spread of Quarter Horse ownership among the nation's youth, stems from interest in events established primarily to encourage girls and boys to participate in livestock activities. The State Association includes in its program for the year, Youth Activities whereby young exhibitors compete in their own age group.

The dinner of roast beef family style, will be served at 7 P.M. Beautiful trophies will be awarded during the evening festivities to high point horses in various divisions (points earned during 1964) owned by members of the State Association. Show stables from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Vermont will be represented. A good Quarter Horse movie, "They re Off and Running" will be shown in 16mm color and sound. All horse enthusiasts are welcome to attend this affair. The dinner committee is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony T. DeLorenzo, Voorheesville.

The members of the SS HOPE taught these in Peru how to use equipment, such as incubators, laundry equipment, etc. Miss Munton will show films and display dolls from Peru.

Schreck Has One-Man Show

Viewing the work of John R. Schreck currently on display at the Delmar Public Library is a rare and unusual experience, for this high school senior has been painting for most of his eightteen years. Since his recognition as an artist with a still life painting selected by the Smithsonian Institute when he was eleven, John has gone on to receive twenty-six honors and awards, in various fairs, exhibits and shows, including the Eastern Regional Fair, Altamont Exposition, Roeliff Jansen Art Exhibit at Hillsdale, and the Bizarre Bazaar on the Left Bank at Del-

Working in all media including oil, pastel, water color-and sculpture, he uses both modern and traditional style, enjoying expressing his ideas in his work, and working toward a style primarily his own.

John is preparing for college with hopes of finishing his art studies at Prat Institute, Brooklyn. As part of his preliminary training he attended an advanced art course for two weeks at the State University of Buffalo. He has studied with Harold Laynor, a member of the Village Four, and consulted with Clover Mikol, a charter member of the Village Four and prominent local artist.

His exhibit will continue throughout February.

Dr. Pettit Directs Play

Dr. Paul Bruce Pettit, Chairman of the Department of Speech and Dramatic Art, will direct "Ethan Frome" for presentation in the Richardson Hall Studio on February 26 and 27 and March 1-6.

"Ethan Frome" is a dramatization of the famous Edith Wharton novel of the same name. It is one of the finest of American plays. This tale of a poor little group of lonely New England villagers who live on their rocky hillsides is told with great skill and sensitiveness. Few plays have a more realistic and devastating end . . . or since the theatre insists on tall effectiveness, a more effective one either.

"Ethan Frome" was produced originally by Guthrie McClintic at the National Theatre with Raymond Massey and Ruth Gordon in the starring roles. The play was hailed as a major achievement in the American Theatre and was described as "The American Theatre at its absolute best."

The cast includes Alex Krakower as Ethan, Norma Gitter as Mattie Silver, Mary Temple as Zeena, Charles Heineman as Jotham and Bruce Werner as Dennis Eady. The Milt Cavendish Trio, a popular University folk singing group, will provide the on-stage musical accompaniment.

Many of you have probably heard a man by the name of Hank Kunze on WGY'S "Farm Paper of the Air," which is aired weekdays at 12:15 p.m. Mr. Kunze is the program's farm adviser, and every day he answers questions sent in by listeners about farming and gardening.

You may or may not know also that Henry R. Kunze is a neighbor of yours - he lives in Delmar at 100 Mosher Rd. His radio job is really his hobby, for he works full time for the State Education Department in the administration of our compulsory education laws.

Although a suburbanite nowadays, Mr. Kunze comes by his interest in farming naturally since he grew up on a farm. He was graduated from the University of Connecticut, and then began teaching vocational agriculture at a high school near Buffalo.

While teaching, he did graduate work at Cornell and Niagara University in school administration and supervision, and received a master's degree from Niagara. Then he began teaching at the State University Technical and Agricultural Institute at Cobleskill, instructing in agriculture but also in such different subjects as chemistry and economics.

Before long, Mr. Kunze was named head of the department of horticulture at Cobleskill and in that capacity he began travelling around to speak to groups about gardening and farming. "Those were the days when we went out and looked for students," he told me, noting that times have changed just a bit.

He happened to give a short talk that was aired on WGY, and then the station invited him to take on a weekly program. That was in 1955 and the 15-minute show, "How Your Garden Grows," was on every Sunday morning. The show was discontinued after a year, but then in April of 1960, Hank was rehired to do the 15-minute stint every Saturday morning.

Shortly after that, Enoch Squires resigned from his daily slot on the 'Farm Paper" program, and Hank Kunze assumed responsibility for eight minutes on the show each day.

No, Mr. Kunze does not run back and forth between Albany and Schenectady every day. He gets together with Don Tuttle, emcee of the 'Farm Paper' show on weekends and tapes those eight-minute segments one, and sometimes two, weeks in advance.

Mr. Kunze enjoys working with Don Tuttle, as any regular listener of the show can tell. Their conversations are completely spontaneous, and marked by much good-natured kidding.

The Kunze family has been living in Delmar for the past 10 years, since Mr. Kunze began working for the State Education Department. His wife, Shirley, is a teachers' aide at Hamagrael Elementary School and is a devotee of tropical fish. Son, Tracy, 18, is a senior at Bethlehem Central and enjoys outdoor sports.

Hank Kunze considers his radio work "a very fine hobby," but he finds it impossible to accept any outside speaking invitations. "Much as I'd like to, I don't speak to groups at all anymore," he said, "because I travel all over the state for my job, and I can never tell when I'll have to be out-of-town."

Besides his fulltime job for the State Education Department and his radio "hobby," Mr. Kunze devotes one night a week to teaching a course at Russell Sage College, and has been garden editor of The Schenectady Gazette for the past seven years.

Mrs. Kunze recently helped organize Brownie Troop 106 in Delmar, and is the troop's assistant leader.

Tracy is also an enthusiastic Explorer, and the Kunze family enjoys camping out during the summer months, usually in the Adirondack Mountains.

The ladies are resuming their schedule of a card party and luncheon the second Thursday of each month. Mrs. Paul F. Devio was chairman of the one on Feb. 11, and hostesses were Mrs. William E. Tinney, the Women's Association president; Mrs. Frank Noone, and Mrs. Andrew Sneddon.

Mrs. Sneddon is in charge of arranging for duplicate bridge competition among the female members every other Thursday of each month, and Mrs. George P. Alford and Mrs. Charles Redmond head a committee that sponsors bridge for couples every Friday night.

Officers of the Women's Association for this year are: President, Mrs. Tinney; vice-president, Mrs. Victor G. Manych; secretary, Mrs. Malcolm D. Graham; and treasurer, Mrs. Richard Girvin. Break the new car habit.

Don't go away, now. We're not asking you to give up smoking or eating or anything like that. We're just asking you to buy a compact car that lasts an average of eleven years.

Eleven years in Sweden that is. Where 80% of the roads are unpaved and there are no highway speed limits. Where winters are long and temperatures drop to 30° below.

We don't know yet how long the average Volvo will last here in the States where the roads and weather are better, because Volvo did not become part of the local scene until a few years ago.

Here's why Volvo has grown to be the biggest selling imported compact in that short space of time (do not confuse Volvo with Volkswagen. Volkswagen is an economy car and quite à bit smaller. Volvo is a compact, the size of Falcon, Corvair and Valiant).

1. Volvo doesn't make you feel like you're driving last year's model. Changing body styles every year is silly. The only changes we make on a Volvo are changes that will improve it as an automobile.

- 2. Volvo doesn't rust out before you make the last payment. Every surface on the Volvo body, inside and out, is rust-proofed with zinc phosphate. Then six—that's right, six—coats of paint (2 prime, 1 undercoat, 3 hand-rubbed enamel) give it a remarkably tough hide.
- 3. Volvo doesn't develop squeaks and rattles. We were using all-welded, single-unit body construction to make Volvos safe and strong and quiet while most other car manufacturers were still having committee meetings on the idea.
- 4. Volvo has a simple, tough, 4-cylinder engine. Many car men call it an "overbuilt engine." Tougher than it has to be. Possibly. It's the same engine that powers Volvo tractors.
- 5. Volvo doesn't force you to choose between performance and economy. It has both. And this, despite everything else we do to the car, is probably the reason for Volvo's growing popularity. Volvo out-accelerates other popular-priced compacts in every speed range...yet gets over 25 miles to the gallon like the little economy cars. It actually does.

- 6. Volvo doesn't cost you an arm and a leg for optional equipment. Heater-defroster, whitewalls, bucket seats, safety belts, padded dash and sun visors, etc., are standard.
- 7. Volvo has a full line of cars to choose from. Four compacts including a station wagon plus a gran turismo road car (a gran turismo road car is a dignified sports car).
- 8. Volvos have a high resale value. The better a car is built, the better it holds up and the more you get for it when you sell it. (We only mention this to reassure you. Volvos are scarce on used car lots.)

That's about it. If you still want to buy a new car every couple of years, there's not much more we can say. Except next time things get dull go to a dealer and drive a Volvo. It'll liven up your day.
