Local Businessmen Irked By Zoning Amendments

Bethlehem businessmen, 163 strong, turned out to a meeting February 16 at the National Commercial Bank auditorium to air their feelings and express their opinions on the proposed amendments to the Town's Zoning Ordinance.

The meeting, arranged by Raymond Brownell, A. Scott Rowe, and Louis Dempf, Jr., was an outgrowth of a public hearing held without publicity at the Town Hall on February 3rd. A show of hands indicated that only three businessmen subscribed to the paper in which the Town advertised the "official notice" of hearing and only five knew of the hearing prior to the date it was held.

Particularly irksome to those who did attend the hearing was that amendments were not read and as a result they were not aware that a business sign amendment (which sets a two-year limit for removal of signs that do not meet the requirements) was included.

Representatives of the Town and the Town's planning expert, Russell Bailey and Associates of Utica, were invited to the businessmen's meeting, but did not attend. A committee composed of those mentioned earlier, plus Sam Wolfe and Robert Rice, will present the Town Board with a resolution at its regularly scheduled meeting on Wednesday, February 24th. Such resolution would seek a halt to any action on the proposed amendments until specific resolutions which were discussed at the businessmen's meeting are drafted.

Mr. Brownell stated that the resolutions would be drafted as they were made, verbatim, and a copy mailed to all businessmen. In addition, the businessmen were asked to present any other suggestions they might have to the committee. Another meeting will then be called to pass on them.

Among the resolutions unanimously and enthusiastically passed at the meeting were ones dealing with off-street parking and rebuilding, non-conforming uses, advertising signs, and certain changes in boundary lines. There was a spontaneous outburst of applause for Mr. Rice as he concluded his speech which charged the Town with "gerrymandering" and "discrimination" and arbitrarily changing a boundary line to prevent a car wash from being built. By doing so, it also automatically placed two gas stations in violation of zoning ordinances.

One merchant drew applause and laughter when he asked, "I wonder how the Town is going to handle its "parking problems" at the garages it just bought on Adams Street? The street is a fire lane and there is no place to park except on the sidewalk and you can be arrested for that. There isn't even any room for the employees to park their cars."

Mr. Dempf, the Chamber of Commerce representative, will submit the final draft of the resolutions to the Chamber's Board of Directors and Opportunities for Growth, Inc., and seek their support. An informed spokesman for the committee said the scope of this effort will in the future include the businessmen in the entire Town of Bethlehem. A letter inviting all Bethlehem businessmen to join in this effort went out over the week-end. One committee member stated that even though all are not presently affected, the proposed amendments will, nevertheless, effect any area zoned in the future.

Kiwanians Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Four thousand people, Kiwanians and their wives, recently attended a gigantic Kiwanis International Golden Anniversary party in Detroit's Cobo Hall. Those in attendance represented every corner of the North American continent, and Western Europe as well. Detroit, scene of the big celebration, is the birthplace of Kiwanis, which today numbers about 270,000 members in 5,300 clubs located in fourteen countries of the free world.

Principal speaker was Kiwanis International President Edward Moylan, Jr. of Miami, Florida. Also on the program was Michigan's Governor George Romney, who brought greetings from Kiwanis' natal state. Harry A. Young of Detroit, last living founder of the big international service organization, was singled out for special honors. He spoke briefly to climax the affair.

Reg P. Merridew, President of the Detroit No. 1 Kiwanis Club, was presiding officer. His club and the Michigan Kiwanis District were the hosts.

The celebration lasted the entire day. In the afternoon, preceding the "party" itself, there was a program at Detroit's Ford Auditorium featuring the presentation of the organization's new motion picture, NO MAN STANDS ALONE.

Greetings to the Kiwanians assembled came from President Lyndon B. Johnson, who said:

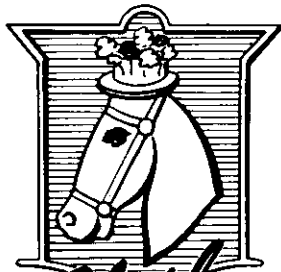

"It is a pleasure to extend to Kiwanians everywhere my warmest congratulations and best wishes as you observe the Golden Anniversary of your organization.

"The enviable reputation which you have attained through your many lasting contributions toward the welfare and progress of the communities you serve is the highest tribute which can be paid to your membership. In your individual and collective efforts toward a better America you have set an inspiring example for others to follow. You have realized the value and necessity of citizen initiative as well as cooperation with his local, state, and national government to aid the less fortunate in our land of plenty.

"I know that the past record of Kiwanis International will spur your membership to even greater achievements and that your second half century of service to our beloved nation will be as successful and productive as your first."

President Moylan said:

"It is indeed a pleasure to say some thing to you on the occasion of our fiftieth anniversary here in the Motor City - this great hub of industry, the site of the origin of Kiwanis. It is my fervent prayer that as I have spoken by earnest convictions I have kept faith with those valiant men of Detroit 1915 who, that half a century ago, saw the light, caught the vision, and picked up the torch.

"To you, to the memories of those men, I say this is not time to entrench ourselves behind the door of yesteryear. This is the time to throw open the door of tomorrow, the door marked Opportunity."

Dear Editor,

The Bethlehem Junior High Mixed Choir would like to thank all the people who so generously contributed to Christmas caroling project.

This money was to have been used toward a trip to sing for the National Music Educators' Conference in Buffalo. However, since that trip has been cancelled, the money will be used for future mixed choir projects.

Again, we would like to thank the many generous people who contributed. We appreciate their interest.

Sincerely,

The Bell System will once again present its famous Science Series program, "The Restless Sea," over WRGB on Friday, February 26 at 7:30 p.m., EST.

Produced by Walt Disney Productions, the colorcast illustrates in filmed and animated sequences the work of oceanographers as they explore the mysteries of the sea.

The film covers natural and man-made phenomena such as hurricanes and mountainous waves; marine life from microscopic plankton to enormous whales; precision instruments that probe the ocean bottom; and the latest oceanographic equipment from underwater television cameras to the FLIP, a research vessel that literally flips on end to record underwater sounds.

A LIGHT'S ON FOR EDUCATION program will be held on Tuesday, March 2, at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Guilford Central High School.

The purpose of this meeting is to inform parents and taxpayers of proposed state legislation dealing with the education, protection, and welfare of the children of this district by showing the direct relationship of such legislation to the schools' current programs and services. Since public education is everyone's concern, the taxpayer will be shown how this affects him.

Through factual presentation by the experts, every citizen will realize he must either support new tax sources or face serious cutbacks in essential programs, some of which are already mandated.

Emil Sticht to Lecture Here

Mr. Emil W. Sticht of the New York Telephone Company will present "The Laser," as his topic for the usual Friday assembly at the Bethlehem Central Senior High School, February 26.

The main purpose of this lecture-demonstration is to acquaint his audience with the general field of laser research and help clear the air of misstatements and grandiose claims being made for the laser by bringing out its immediate value as a research tool and putting into proper perspective its potential in communications. The talk will be presented in non-technical manner and will be augmented by a 7 minute film on the same subject. An actual helium-neon maser is used to demonstrate voice transmission over a "light beam."

Do you care about your community? Are you concerned about the rights of all individuals? Do you believe in representatives of all religions working together for a better, more understanding world?

There are many people here in the Tri-Villages who feel strongly about these, and related, issues and they've been meeting together for a year now, at various informal get-togethers.

The group calls itself the Tri-Village Interfaith Committee on Social Concerns. It grew out of a weekend conference held a year ago by representatives of the Delmar Methodist, Reformed and Presbyterian Churches. Since that initial meeting, many area Roman Catholics and Jewish families have also participated in the group's aims and activities.

A spokesman for the group told me that so far it's "an amorphous organization," and there is no desire on the part of its members to make it anything else. "We appeal simply to those who have a keen interest in making our community as fine a place to live as it can be," he said.

At the meetings, held at irregular times during the past year, those who get together talked about promoting religious brotherhood, about inter-racial questions, about housing, about opportunities for our youth, and generally about working for a truly open and democratic community.

"While we're primarily interested in the Tri-Villages," one member explained, "we're also trying to relate ourselves to the Capital District as a whole, rather than remaining isolated."

The Committee sponsored a meeting last night, at which the Rev. Angelo Mongiore spoke on "The Need for Integrated Community Life." The Rev. George Phelps of the Delmar Presbyterian Church spoke at a similar meeting last month about his experiences in Mississippi last summer.

If you're interested in adding your voice of concern to this group, you can get further information through local churches or by watching The Spotlight for announcements of future meetings.

Two Slingerlands girls, both members of the same 4-H club, are among the four Albany County winners of this year's New York City Homemaking Award Trip. They are Joan Kleinke and Linda Springer.

They will take the three-day trip to New York on April 26, 27 and 28 with Mrs. Julie Donaldson, the associate country 4-H agent, and the other two winners, Eloise Scherzer of Guilderland and Dorothea Beall of Preston Hollow.

Girls are chosen to make the trip each year by the Homemaking Committee of the Leaders Association, on the basis of their overall excellence in 4-H club activities.

The four Albany County winners will join the girls who were awarded the trip from all 22 counties of the Eastern District for three activity-packed days in the Big City. They will visit the Sealtest Laboratory, Avon Cosmetics, McCall Patterns, Prang Studio, Fashion Institute of New York, Helena Rubenstein's theater, Sears-Roebuck, B. Altman's and the NBC studios. They've also got tickets to one of the biggest hits on Broadway - "Funny Girl."

The girls received notice of their selection in the mail the other day, and then their names were announced at the Leaders Meeting on Tuesday night.

At the same time, announcement was made of the two girls chosen to attend this year's 4-H Club Congress at Cornell University in June. They are Karen Aupperle of the Jolly Homemakers Club, and Sue Kleinke, Joan's cousin and also a member of the Slingerlands Club.

Karen and Sue will meet with 4-H girls from all over the state at the Congress on June 23, 24 and 25. Their trip is sponsored by Zonta, Inc., and is also a reward for outstanding 4-H work during the past year.

All the area 4-H clubs are currently engaged in various fund-raising projects to pay for the swimming pool which is being installed this year at the Capital District 4-H Club Camp near Stephentown.

The youngsters are selling everything from light bulbs to gift wrappings to pay for their pool, so keep your eyes and ears open for a chance to donate to this most worthy cause.

teacher at Bethlehem Central Senior High School is Miss Mary Esther McHugh, who is herself a BC graduate of 1960. Miss McHugh was a graduate this month from Cornell University, and is now teaching chemistry and biology at her high school alma mater.

LIONS CELEBRATE 10 YRS. OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

The Bethlehem Lions Club marks its 10th anniversary this month, having started with 29 members in its original charter on February 15, 1955.

During the past 10 years over a hundred men in the community have been Lions at one time or another. They have raised funds for their many projects through their annual pancake breakfast and lightbulb sales and their joint sponsorship of the Delmar Men's Orchestra.

Lions support has been extended to many different organizations and programs over the years.- to the White Christmas program, the Johnny Fund, the Community Ambassador program, the Girl Scouts, the Ambulance Fund drive, the Bethlehem Centennial program, the Sight Conservation Society of Northeastern New York, and the Lions International Flood Relief Fund.

The Bethlehem School District has been the recipient of a Braille dictionary and a vision testing machine. The Albany Home for Children received a movie projector and construction materials for a new playroom. And needy individuals in this community have received free dental services, eye examinations, and eye glasses.

The Bethlehem Lions are also members of the "Minute Man" program of the capitol district which provides transportation at any time of day or night to rush local donor eyes from Albany Medical Center to the airport for flight to other cities.

If you have ever wondered what to do with a discarded pair of glasses, give them to the Bethlehem Lions Club, which periodically sends all such collected eye glasses and cases to New Eyes for the Needy, a charitable organization for sight conservation.

Another full-time project is the transporting of senior citizens each week to their Thursday night activity at the Junior High School. Last year, from September to May, 66 senior citizens received a total of 408 rides.

One of the Bethlehem Lions' most rewarding project was conducted last October, a free glaucoma clinic that revealed several cases of glaucoma among the more than 160 persons who attended the clinic.

In observing their 10th birthday, the Bethlehem Lions wish to extend their thanks to the community for the fine support that they have received in their many projects and fund-raising programs.
