The Million Dollar Difference

With six nights of a 135-night harness racing campaign already in the books, it appears that gaily redecorated Saratoga Raceway is well on the way to what could be one of its most successful seasons ever

Sporting a million dollar's worth of improvements, the picturesque harness racing plant launched its 24th season with a bang last Thursday night when almost 5,000 fans turned out to see some exciting racing in a "new look" atmosphere.

The big things spectators and horsemen both have praised thus far are the increased lighting, which has been more than doubled since last season, and the excellent condition of the track itself.

Although this has come to be expected at the Raceway, Track Superintendent Jack Wiswall had his strip in perfect shape of Mitchell's MEN'S WEAR

for the opener as evidenced by the new national season's record clocking posted by Shadydale Ace in the seventh event of the night

A four-year-old pacer owned by Helena R, and Olan C. Nutting of Chatham and driven by Billy Arthurs, Shadydale Scotlin completed his two laps around the lightning fast half-miler in 2:04 1/5 to better the existing national standard for his age and gait.

The win, incidentally, started a driving double for Arthurs, one of the fine young trainer-drivers who will be campaigning here regularly throughout the remainder of the season.

Shadydale Scotlin's sharp victory also provided an indication of things to come when some of the nation's top pacers and trotters arrive here for the various Battle of Saratoga Stakes during Grand Circuit Week.

The only half-mile track in the country with both trotting and pacing records under the magic two-minute mark, it's possible that these could go even lower when the big stables send their top horses out after purse money which will exceed $130,000.

Despite the "million dollar difference," Saratoga has still retained all of its previous charm and promises to be just that much more comfortable.

Nine-race programs are held nightly with several Invitational races scheduled this year along with the always exciting series of Early Closing events.

New Exhibit at Bank

A collection of original PAINT-INGS BY NORMAN ROCK-WELL is the current feature in the Community Exhibit Room at City and County Savings Bank. Frederick W. Stolz, bank president, announced the presentation.

Norman Rockwell, one of the best known Contemporary American artists, has long been a neighbor to area residents as his home is in Stockbridge, Massachusetts. His illustrations have frequently appeared in nationally known magazines, "Look" and the "Saturday Evening Post" among them.

Included in the exhibition will be many of Mr. Rockwell's well known works — THE CHOIR BOY, SELF PORTRAIT, THE BLACKSMITH, THE CRITIC and MR. LINCOLN FOR THE DEFENSE. Also displayed will be THE ART STUDENT, which has been widely acclaimed and shows a young artist in a moment of naive wonder on a visit to a museum gallery.

NURSERY SCHOOL CHILDREN LEARN SAFETY RULES

Prior to their street crossing at Delaware and Cherry Avenues on May 18 under the direction of supervision of Patrolman Daniel House, the boys and girls from the Slingerlands Nursery School had been busy painting signal lights, learning what the different colors meant and had even been having practice street crossings in school. This is all part of Mrs. Mary Carusa's program to prepare her four-year-olds for kindergarten next year.

Patrolman House had visited the Nursery School earlier this year to give the children a close look at a policeman. He explained how a policeman is a friend - not a foe – and he also tried to point out the children's roles as good citizens. He invited them to visit him at the police station and when they did in early May, they received a tour and explanation of the Station and a close look at a police car.

Mrs. Caruso also has a Bus Program consisting of showing the children - and any other interested friends - a film with ex-

A total of one hundred and three Kiwanians are serving in the Eighty-Ninth Congress of the United States a recent survey has revealed. The survey, undertaken at the time of Kiwanis' Golden Anniversary Year, showed twenty-two members of Kiwanis in the Senate and eightyone members in the House of Representatives. This number constitutes about a sixth of the national legislature.

Francis Barclay, President of the Kiwanis Club of Delmar, characterized this record as a dramatization of the traditional desire of Kiwanians to assume individually responsibility and to share in the burden of national, state, and local problems. "The^a number of Kiwanians in the national legislature at the time of our Golden Anniversary marks an all time high." the president said.

One of the highlights of this ear's record, he believes, came then the BC team beat Linton ligh School, 6-1. Linton is a Class school, and Bethlehem Central ist qualified this year as Class so it was the first time the two chools met on the courts.

Number one man on the team - and he's only a junior — is ohn Stevenson. Rounding out he top five are: 2) Don York,) Bob Scofield, 4) Tom Blatner, nd 5) Fred Taylor. The other eam members are Kim Clark, Dick Erhardt, Ross Dalrymple, squad captain) Andy Ditton, late Kullman, and David Karp.

Mr. Camp will be holding tennis linics this summer both here in Delmar and in Guilderland. Youngsters in grades 6 through 9 are invited to learn the fundamentals of the sport from him on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, beginning at 9:30 a.m., at the Junior High School courts.

The Guilderland clinics will be open to all ages, and will be held two evenings a week at the Guilderland Central High School courts. Mr. Camp also serves as the tennis pro at the Mohawk Golf Club, where he gives private lessons in addition to holding clinics.

So dust off your racket and high-tail it to the nearest court. The sun is shining, you need exercise, and playing tennis is the most fun in the whole world. (But, unfortunately for me, pre-schoolers don't make very good ballboys — or girls.)

I heard a sad story the other day, and I publicize it only in the hope of discouraging like behavior in our community in the future. A 17-year-old Elsmere boy took his gun and went hunting in Glenmont one recent Saturday. He shot a dog — a black and white collie.

On his nonchalant way home, he stopped at a house to ask for a drink of water. The five children of the family obliged him, and inquired as to his hunting success. He bragged about the "wild dog" he'd shot, and when he descirbed it, the five kids all got hysterical. They had a beloved pet – a black and white collie.

The young hunter took his leave in a hurry, and the frantic kids called their father who hiked to the scene of the crime and found the dead dog, which he identified as the family pet. The police were called, the hunter's parents were notified, and the bereaved family - in spite of a sleepless Saturday night - decided not to press charges because the parents promised to punish their boy themselves.

Maybe you could call this a happy ending: On Sunday night, limping and scratched from a canine battle, the Glenmont family's balck and white collie came home for supper. To the delirious kids, of course, it was like a reincarnation.

But some family's black and white collie IS dead, shot by a eckless youth and properly bured only because he was mistaknly identified. To the knowledge of the Bethlehem Police Departnent, there are no "wild dogs" unning loose around here.

We do, however, seem to have ome wild boys around who don't now what guns are for. We're Il proud of our community most f the time, so forgive me if I vash this much dirty linen in ublic. Perhaps those of us who ind this appalling will do our art to prevent such a thing from appening again,

Here's something we can be roud of: The Delmar Police epartment is currently sponbring a police school which has 8 students enrolled, representng police departments from five ountries.

The Monday night sessions, om 7 to 11 p.m. at Bethlehem entral Senior High School, bean this month and will continue rough November. This is the rst time Delmar has been the te for a municipal training . chool.
