

Anniversary Celebration

History and Program of Voorheesville Methodist Church

by Carlton E. Harvey, Sr.

American Methodism, as a separate organized church, dates from the Christmas Conference held in Baltimore in 1784. As Bishop Asbury moved about the Atlantic Seaboard after this Conference, he called one in New York in 1788. At this Conference, Freeborn Garettson was named Presiding Elder for northern and western New York and was assigned nine young preachers as itinerants to cover the Hudson, Mohawk, and Champlain areas. From the work of this group came Troy Conference.

One small pocket of people, mostly of English descent, had settled here in Van Rensselaer's West Manor. Having probably had some contact with Methodism previously, they began to meet in each other's homes and barns, and no doubt they were visited occasionally by Methodist itinerants. Tradition has it that Freeborn Garettson rode out from Albany to preach to them in a barn, probably that of Jacob Martin.

This group was raised to the status of a regular organized Methodist Society in 1815 by Reverend Elias VanDerlip, an ordained Methodist Itinerant who had been obliged to stop traveling and locate in order to care for the needs of his family. He was at this time conducting a business in Albany, but as opportunity offered, he rode out to preach and conduct services for just such groups as this one strung out along the foot of the Helderbergs and along Vly and Black Creeks. This group came to be known as the Black Creek Methodist Society.

Ten years later this group had become strong enough to build a church and so incorporated themselves as the North Methodist Episcopal Society of the Town of Bethlehem, and in 1826 a church building was erected. They carried on under the above name until 1832 when they were re-incorporated under the name of New Scotland. The reason for the change was that the Town of New Scotland was at this time set up from what had been part of the Town of Bethlehem. Troy Conference was organized in 1832 and they became a member church of that body, at which time they had fifty-four members. They were at that time a part of Water-vliet Circuit. During the years until 1870 they were members of various circuits.

In 1870 the Reverend H. C. Chase was stationed as Pastor of the New Scotland Church and the New Salem Church, these two forming a charge or station. During the next twenty years the village of Voorheesville came into existence due to the junction of the railroads. In 1887 a parsonage was built, this being the house now owned by Mrs. Sidney Smith.

By 1890 it became evident that the church must most to the village. A lot was purchased in the present location for $400, and the old church was taken down and rebuilt where it now stands. The sheds with hall above were placed in the rear of the church building but separate from it. These buildings were separate until thirty years later.

The church had become unofficially known as Voorheesville before the move, as had the village. In 1890 or 1891, due to some now unknown influence, the village Post Office became Farlin.

The name of the church was changed on Troy Conference Records for two years, but was changed back again and has since remained Voorheesville, as has the Village and Post Office. By 1904 New Salem Church decided to give up its separate identity and merged with Voorheesville.

The years from the coming of the railroads until World War I were a time of growth in the community and surrounding countryside. Due to the available transportation to the city this became a popular summer boarder section. Families were left here while the breadwinner commuted on the Altamont Local to his work in the city. The church was the center for much of the social as well as the religious activity, for the church hall was the only meeting place of any size in the com-

Following the end of the war, the 1920's were a period of great activity, particularly in the church. The Sanctuary was remodeled, a new pulpit was installed, and the stained glass windows installed. A pipe organ was given to the church, and to accommodate this the separate buildings were joined. At the same time the sheds were removed from beneath the hall, and Sunday School rooms were built, the sheds being placed in the rear. The church kitchen was improved, and a modern church plant for the day and the time was the result. The debt for all this work was finally cleared away in 1932.

The period from World War I until the end of World War II was marked by the usual activities of a village church. However, after the cessation of hostilities and the return to more usual activities, it soon became apparent that the village and locality were in for a period of growth. If the church were to continue to serve the needs of the community, it would be necessary to expand the church plant. In 1951 the next-door Hilton property was acquired. This gave not only a larger and more convenient parsonage, but also more room for church expansion. In 1954, the Quarterly Conference set up committees for the purpose, studying what could and should be done. All this resulted in breaking ground in 1956 for the building which houses the Social Hall and Sunday School rooms. The sanctuary was remodeled and another pipe organ installed. All this entailed a cash expenditure of over $92,000 plus uncounted hours donated as volunteer labor. This sounds easy and simple, but actually much sweat and some tears went into this project. The result has made it all worthwhile.

Briefly then, the history of this Methodist Society divides into three periods. First a little rural church on a side road in the country (1815-1890) then a village church serving both village and countryside (1890-1950), and now a suburban church (1950 until present). No sharp line divides these periods, but rather the church has constantly grown and changed to meet the needs of those whom it serves.

Very little has been said in these lines concerning the dedicated leadership, both Pastoral and lay, that has been given over the years. Without it no such record could have been possible. We must pay tribute to these people whose faith and vision kept the flame alive over the years. We must dedicate ourselves to the future, that we may build well on the foundations laid for us in the past. We must see to it that our Church continues to meet the needs of this community in

Don't forget the 150th anniversary celebration of the First Methodist Church of Voorheesville on the weekend of June 4, 5 and 6. A full schedule of events has been arranged.

Friday, June 4 — At 8 p.m. in the Education Hall, a pageant entitled, "The Past is Prologue", written by Mrs. Michael Frohlich and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Arnold, directed by Mrs. Harold Schultz. Mrs. Sidney Vunck is General Chairman of the Pageant Committee, Robert Shedd is Set Designer.

Saturday, June 5th — At 2 p.m., ceremonies and unveiling of an historical marker commemorating the site of the former church on Route 156 in the village of Voorheesville. The marker was purchased and erected by the Junior High and Senior High Fellowships under advisors Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Ten Eyck II and Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Albert, Jr.

Sunday, June 6th — Worship services at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Former ministers will participate.

4 p.m. — A special commemorative service. Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke will deliver the address. A silver tea immediately follows this service in the Educational Building. Chairman Mrs. William D. Munyan, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Winn.

While gathering information for the Pageant at the First Methodist Church in Voorheesville, one could not help but be amazed at the contrasts between present-day conditions and those that existed years ago. Would you believe that, from a small band of worshippers in 1815, membership has grown to 640 today? Average attendance at Sunday School is over 150. In 1889 value of church and sheds was $3,000 and of the parsonage $1,500. Total value today, including buildings, land and furnishings is $164,500.

Early records show that penny collections were used for maintenance, wood, heating, etc. Records of expenditures in the 1840's list one item: "Paid Jacob Martin 20 shillings for one cord of wood and sawing. In 1864 we find financial records: "Expense for sexton, wood and oil $22.85, of which the sexton was paid $4.70." In 1920 the budget was $2,000; our current expense budget today is over $24,000.

Old church minutes include interesting items such as: "March 26, 1998 — Rev. Gregg pastor in the chair — father of Mr. Arthur Gregg, Altamont, historian. Speeches by S. Chesbro and F. Van Auken the necessity of including the care of the hall in the church."

Some entries in the minutes are "humorous" (to this generation): May 16, 1868 — "On motion the following resolutions were adopted after being read by D. Relyea.

Resolved — that no persons but members of this church be entitled to hold any office in it.

Resolved — that no admittance fee shall ever be taken at the door of this church.

Resolved — that no lecture or oration shall be delivered in this church without the consent of the majority of the trustees."

Special meeting held July 18, 1868 — "On motion, by a plurality of votes those resolutions passed by this body on the 16th of May, 1868 were rescinded; because they were offensive to the public, and were not necessary for the good of the Society or any member of it."

The Reverend Walter E. Taylor, Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Voorheesville, announced today that invitations to attend the Church's 150th anniversary celebration have been accepted by the following former pastors: "The Reverends Paul Morrison, Dayton Jones, James Bayley, Frederick Adams and Clarence Hock. The Reverends Arthur Hoppe and Robert White will not be able to attend.

Three members of the Voorheesville Church have been ordained as ministers and gone on to serve in the ministry.

Available Church records show that 48 pastors have served this Church since 1815, including Mr. Taylor, who has been here since 1952.

He has held various positions of leadership in the troop and has distinguished himself in the fields of astronomy and astrophotography, through design and construction of telescopes and special camera lenses.

His achievements recently won him a position as a finalist and guest of NASA at the Regional Youth Science Congress in Boston. There are any number of people (I'll admit I'm one) who feel sure they could write a great book — "if I only had the time." While this is partially an honest complaint, it also has to be recognized as a rationalization. Even if most of us had scads of empty hours stretching before us, we'd fill them in other ways than the hard, lonely labor it takes to compose a professional piece of writing good enough to be bought by a publisher and sold to the reading public.

Because I realize this, I'm always impressed to hear of people who have put in those hundreds of hours of labor at the typewriter — and have turned out good books. We have many such people right here in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rienow, who live on Hollyhock Hollow Farm in Selkirk, have just published a book about the United States Senate entitled "Of Snuff, Sin, and the Senate." It's available now in area bookstores, after being well received by major book critics and some prominent senators, besides.

Robert and Leona Rienow have published many other books and articles. One article, on conservation, appears in a recent issue of Saturday Review. The first book on which they collaborated came out a few years ago, and was concerned with the atomic threat in our world today.

Dr. Rienow, who is a professor of Social Studies for the State University of New York at Albany, has written textbooks on political science, and Mrs. Rienow is the author of many children's books.

oyed chatting with Mrs. Rienow about her latest book this past Tuesday morning. The two Tri-Village zones of the club were guests of Mrs. Rienow for a morning coffee hour at her lovely farm home. About 70 women were invited, and most went out of their way to attend the informal social function.

Now convalescing at home, after five weeks in the hospital, Mrs. Edward B. Pritchard of 92 Roweland Ave. in Delmar. Neighbors and friends rallied in full force to help out the temporarily — motherless family, and Mr. Pritchard and the children express their deep appreciation for all the wonderful acts of kindness shown them.

Confided one their neighbors to me: "Eileen Pritchard must be one of the most popular women in Delmar, if the constant stream of visitors she's had is any indication."

The Pritchard offspring include Charles, who is married, has a small son, and is stationed with the Army in Germany; Edward, (Skipper) who attends college in Florida; Pamela, who graduates this month from Maryrose Academy; Jere, a junior at Bethlehem Central; and Sean, a sixth grade pupil at Hamagrael Elementary School.

Many area families welcomed the summer season by being among the first to jump in the Normanside Country Club swimming pool when it was opened over this past Memorial Day Weekend.

A Delmar family which enjoys the club swimming facilities is that of Mr. and Mrs. William H. James, who live at 122 Winne Rd.; Barbara, 18, graduates this month from Bethlehem Central, Carol, 16, is a BC sophomore, and Billy, 10, is a pupil at Hamagrael School.

Dennis, is in a Miami hospital after suffering a neck injury while diving into the surf.

I spoke to Mrs. Emery last week and she asked me to extend her most heartfelt thanks to all the people who helped out in so many ways during the aftermath of her son's accident. Just after she arrived home, she happened to hear a song on the radio that, she said, reflected her sentiments exactly. The song is about "those dear hearts and gentle people . . . who live in my hometown."

Dennis' spirits have remained high throughout his ordeal, she told me, and he's determined to go back to the University of Rochester next fall. He has a telephone by his bedside, and told his mother last week by telephone that his doctors were hopeful they could remove him from traction this week, and are having him fitted for a brace. He has full use of his limbs, and can have his back raised to a 45-degree angle.

Mrs. Emery mentioned a few examples of hometown interest in Denny's plight that have meant a great deal to him and to her. His volume of mail has been "tremendous," and when the nurses deliver it, they frequently congratulate him on winning the hospital prize for most mail that day.

Among the visitors he has had in Miami were Rex Trowbridge Jr. and Judy Trowbridge, who were vacationing in Ft. Lauderdale at the time of the accident and took a special trip to Miami to see him. Rex is a student at Syracuse University, and Judy attends Cortland State.

And here's another "small world" item: The granddaughter of Mrs. Mary Conner, who was the late Dr. McDowell's nurse and now works in Anne's Hair Shop, is a candystriper in the Miami hospital and she visited Dennis at the request of her grandmother, who is a close personal friend of Mrs. Emery.

Mrs. Emery is also very grateful for a letter she received from Mrs. Charlotte Johnstown of Delmar, whose son, Johnny, is recuperating from a serious boating accident suffered last summer.

"I don't know Mrs. Johnstown personally," Mrs. Emery said. "and I thought it was wonderfully kind of her to take the time to express her sympathy — when she's been through so much herself."

This is the time of year when our school kids celebrate the approaching closing of the classrooms for a while, with as many parties as they can sandwich in between studying for exams. But it must be their teachers feel a bit like celebrating too — for they've been doing some partying of their own.

One that was much enjoyed by about 125 people was the Elementary Faculty Banquet, which took place May 26 at the Normanside Country Club. Chairman of the event was Richard Herman, principal of Elsmere Elementary School.

After a sirloin of beef dinner, the teachers and guests were entertained with some original skits, and then the high school dance band played until 11 p.m. Among those attending were Board of Education members and many representatives of the junior high and senior high school faculties.

I'm sure they could've danced all night — except that they knew how soon that ol' 8 a.m. bell would be ringing.

Prize Films to be Shown Here

On Friday night, June 4, the CINEMA ARTS GROUP will present another evening of outstanding films. After two overwhelmingly successful programs, this will be the third and final presentation of the season. The program Friday consists of four Academy Award winning short-subjects, an early Charlie Chaplin Comedy, and a feature length, award-winning Mexican Film.

Including in the program of shorts are: DYLAN THOMAS, a colorful and sensitive tribute to the poet, narrated by and featuring Richard Burton; THE RINK, one of Chaplin's funniest mutual films; HAPPY ANNIVERSARY, a bubbling French short and winner of last year's Academy Award; A TIME OUT OF WAR, proclaimed by critics as one of the finest films ever made; and DREAM OF WILD HORSES, a surrealist slow-motion study of horses.

The feature film is YANCO, a poignant story of a Mexican boy, and the tragedies that involve him. The film has won sixteen international awards and despite a tremendous ovation at it's Lincoln Center premier in 1964, it has never been released to the public in the United States. The program will begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Bethlehem Central Junior High auditorium. Admission is one dollar.

Shorthand featured at ABC

An easy-to-learn shorthand system will feature the six-week summer session at Albany Business College, beginning July 6th, William R. Paju Jr., director of the summer school division announced.

ABC's Summer school begins July 6 and graduates August 13. Seven courses are being offered. Applications are now being accepted.

Annually over 100 students, ranging in age from 12 to 70, enroll in the Albany school's summer program. Classes, Monday through Friday, are held in modern, well-equipped and air-conditioned classrooms during the morning hours only.

Courses being offered include Stenoscrypt ABC shorthand; beginning and intermediate typewriting; Gregg shorthand review and dictation; practical bookkeeping for small businesses; business machine operation; developmental reading and note-taking for personal use.

The Stenoscrypt shorthand course is based not on symbols, but on the alphabet. Notes are easy to read and translate immediately and accurately. The course is a 90-hour vocationally oriented program.

Typewriting and developmental reading courses are particularly adaptable for the high school and college student seeking improvement. Students usually combine the two courses for a full 9 to noontime program.

Gregg shorthand review and dictation is a complete review of the principles of Gregg shorthand with dictation given from 10 to 100 words-per-minute.

Practical bookkeeping for small business includes the theory of debit and credit, analysis and journalizing of transactions, posting, trial balance and simple statement preparation. The business machine operation course is the usual companion course with bookkeeping. Students gain experience on machines used in modern business offices including adding machines, calculators and comptometers.

Developmental reading is a course designed to help make better students and employees through better reading habits relative to speed and comprehension.

Note-taking for personal use is an easily and quickly learned system of shorthand particularly useful to students, club officers and others who must take notes.

Instructors for the summer school are regular members of the ABC faculty. Certificates are presented to students completing individual or combined programs of instruction.

Interested students may contact the school for the special summer school bulletin.

The Albany Business College is a fully accredited and registered private business school. It is registered by the board of regents of the University of the State of New York and accredited by the accrediting commission for business schools, the agency recognized by the United States Office of Education.

and Senior High School who wish to master correct keyboard techniques, the touch system of typewriting, and the numerous shortcuts so essential to speed and accuracy. Of great benefit to the student will be the emphasis upon neat and perfect typewriting assignments. Another objective of the Typewriting Course will be to train prospective applicants for the Key Punching Course as a Key Punch Operator.

IBM Key Punch - This training for key punch operators will be taught in an intensive 4-week course. A complete introduction to the machine will be given so that the student will be able to operate the machine herself. The student will actually practice on the machine for the total number of hours of the course and will be given problems to master as though she were on the job. A major objective of the course will be speed and accuracy to meet the minimum requirements of tri-city area industrial offices.

The Comptometer - This course will be completed in the 6-week course Term and the content will be comprised of facility in the operation of the machine for the fundamentals of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Other business problems will be presented so that the student, upon completion of the course, will be familiar with the more detailed aspects of on the job performance.
