To: Mr. Brownell
American institution of cs (for lack of a better
e that includes all facets is gem) has, due to abuse, rious chipped edges, the detrimental of which is the ving around of idle and ingless words and phrases.

Brownell, in your an-cement for candidacy for visor of The Town of Beth-a, (Re: Spotlight, July 1, the last sentence of which reads "Mr. Brownell said that he feels he is better qualified to be the Town Supervisor than Mr.

Kohinke." I ask WHY?! It is the concensus that words are cheap and action dear. Why do you believe you would make a better Town Supervisor than Mr. Kohinke?

I believe a village paper such as "The Spotlight" offers an excellent opportunity for debate and discussion. Mr. Brownell,
I await your reply!

LUTHERAN CHURCH LAUNCHES DRIVE FOR $40,000 TO EXPAND PRESENT FACILITIES

This year marks the 10th Anniversary of Delmar's only Lutheran Church. As an expression of gratitude to God, the Congregation will undertake a "10th Anniversary Expansion Program."

4 major additions to our present plant on Elm Avenue, Delmar, will be made:

1-A new Parsonage will be built near the Church.

2-The entire Undercroft of the Church will be divided into 10
Sunday School classrooms.

3-A new Allen Organ will be installed in the Church Sanctuary.

4-Present parking facilities will be expanded.

The groundwork has been laid for a $40,000 Fund Drive which will reach its climax this coming Fall. The end of the drive will be marked by special celebrations and Thanksgiving Services. The 62 "Founders" of the Congregation still remaining with us will be honored at a special affair. To generate interest, a Slogan Contest is being conducted among the children of our Congregation.
The child submitting the best slogan for our 10th Anniversary Drive will receive a special prize and recognition.

Two committees of the congregation, the Stewardship and the Planning Committees are spearheading the Fund Drive.

John Raymond of Glenmont is the General Chairman. The other members of the Committee are:
Jerry Jonas of Albany, Walter Kinn of Glenmont, James Michaels of Glenmont, David Eaton of Delmar.

Bethlehem Lutheran Church was begun 10 years ago under the leadership of the Rev. Lawrence Heuchert, now Pastor in Litchfield, Illinois. Succeeding him was Pastor Harold Scheibert, now Pastor in Marblehead, Mass.
The Present Pastor is the Rev.
Paul H. Gassmann who was installed this past May.

ANNUAL FARMERS' PICNIC AT PICARD'S GROVE ON TUESDAY, JULY 13

The Annual Farmers' Picnic will be a 50th anniversary picnic to be enjoyed by all three departments — Home, 4-H and Farm.

It will be held at Picard's Grove on July 13 with supper at 7:00 p.m. However, people who wish to enjoy sports, should arrive early. Mr. Boomhower, who is Chairman of the annual event, said that there will be games and prizes for the youngsters.

"There will be some surprise entertainment features but no speeches," Mr. Boomhower said.

Members and friends of all three departments — Home, 4-H and Farm will be attending. An invitation has been extended to Grange members and all other agricultural organizations in Albany County.

The record of the earliest picnic states how cars lined up at the Court House, motored to the southern half of the County where they met another group of Albany County people in decorated cars. Then they all motored in procession to Columbia County for the day.

Mr. Boomhower stated that a very large crowd is anticipated this year. It is not necessary to make a reservation. For further information, you can call the office at the Old Post Office Building or any member of the Albany County Extension Service
Association, Mr. Boomhower said.

Thomas S. Melvin, Jr., 3 La-Grange Road, Delmar, previewed Japan during a two-day stay in Honolulu last week with the rest of the 58-member Yale Glee Club, which boarded a Japan Air Lines Jet Courier June 23 en route to Tokyo on a round-the-world tour. During ten concerts in Japan, they will be joined by 33 Japanese singing groups.

The Yale group continues to Hong Kong, Thailand, Malaysia, India, Russia and Sweden before returning home August 18. One of the trip's highlights will be a royal command performance in Bangkok where the glee club's program will include songs written by the King of Thailand. The Yale men prepared for their first trip to the Orient and around-the-world with a series of lectures by faculty members on the Yale campus.

The theme of the trip is "People to People Through Music." In a number of countries the young singers will stay in local homes and their concerts will include local songs. Informal concerts, which include explanations and examples of American folk music, have been scheduled by the Yale group at universities they will visit in countries along their route.

Polluted Water Exhibit

The combination of prolonged drought and water pollution has currently forced drastic restrictions on the use of clean water. Lawns are withering, pools are empty and the threat that many must drink from the polluted Hudson River becomes more of a reality every day. At present man cannot control the amount of rainfall, but he can limit the contamination of it. Pure rivers and lakes could provide a more than adequate supply of water for industrial, residential and recreational use.

The New York State Museum has installed an automated color slide exhibit that shows local industries, city sewage outlets and dumps as major sources of pollution. Contrasting pictures of contaminated and clean waters give the viewer graphic examples of how poorly we use our most important resources.

The Museum exhibit halls located on the fifth floor of the State Education Building in Albany, are open, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., each weekday including Saturday.

Cattle Show at Stuyvesant

This will be one of a series of events sponsored by various groups in the interest of promoting rural-urban understanding. Brown Swiss breeders will have

Kohinke Urges Rt. 396 Survey

Bethlehem Supervisor Bertram E. Kohinke announced recently that he will request the State Department of Public Works to survey Route 396 for possible future widening and resurfacing.

Mr. Kohinke said he will ask that the department pay special attention to the part of the route which forms Maple Avenue in Selkirk.

Selkirk residents have found it difficult to sleep while heavy trucks clank across a bump caused by railroad tracks in the center of the hamlet.

Mr. Kohinke said he is making the request in view of an increase in traffic using the route. Auto transport trucks, concrete and gravel trucks, as well as passenger cars frequently use the route as a means of access to the Thruway interchange at Selkirk, which links with the Massachusetts Turnpike.

"I'm confident that they will look into this as early as possible," Mr. Kohinke added.

Russians Face Wage-Price Gap

Although Russia has an extremely wealthy upper class, most Russians are poorly paid, the Catholic Digest claims. Young office workers and schoolteachers, for example, make barely $100 a month. Manual laborers average about $130. This is simply insufficient, given the high prices, to provide for basic family needs. This is why so many women work.

Canvassing stores in Moscow, a shopper would find prices like these: shirts, $20-$30; shoes, $18-$50; fur caps, $100; suits and dresses, all over $100; beef (unrefrigerated), $2 a pound; chickens, $2.50 a pound; eggs, 25¢ apiece.

An apparent bargain is cigarettes, at 25¢ a pack on up. But they contain about an inch of tobacco stuck onto a paper cylinder twice as long!

Council, and her daughter, Katrina, 17, is a member of one of the local troops which are preparing now for the trip out west.

Catherine has studied English at her school in Rennes, in the province of Brittany, but doesn't yet speak it fluently — although Mrs. Bowdish told me she is picking it up rapidly. And Catherine explained to me very clearly one reason why she likes America. "In America, everyone is always smiling." She illustrated with a bright smile. "At home, it is different." She made a serious face.

Catherine's father is a professor at the university in Rennes, and has made lecture tours in this country. He is apparently anxious to have his children learn other languages and cultures, for Catherine's brother, Sylvain, 12, is now visiting in Germany. She also has two younger sisters, Damiene, 8, and Marie Laurence, 6.

The Bowdish family is entertaining Catherine for about a month, and the French girl said simply: "I'm happy here." She has gone shopping with Katrina and Robin Bowdish, and among her purchases was a pair of bermuda shorts — which they don't wear in France. (They wear short shorts.)

Catherine found she had to adjust to different eating habits here; she is accustomed to eating lightly in the morning and evening and having a big midday meal. She also admitted to some surprise at the amount of socializing done by her American hosts.

Obviously, French teenagers aren't much different from the American breed, however, for Catherine told me at home her friends enjoy sports and clubs and dancing. She herself particularly likes The Beach Boys, and Peter, Paul and Mary — but at mention of the Beatles, she wrinkled her nose in distaste. (A real individualist!)

Catherine enjoys studying languages and hopes eventually to be a teacher. She spent one day recently teaching French to some classes at the Delmar Grade School, and Mrs. Bowdish said she did remarkably well.

An expert swimmer, who has represented her province in various competitions, Catherine is also interested in art and has greatly enjoyed visiting some of the local galleries with members of the Bowdish family.

She's been seeing many of the sights of the Capital District, and last week spent a day at the World's Fair. After taking part in the Girl Scout Roundup in Idaho from July 15-28, she will fly to New York City for a few days and then wing her way home.

A recent house guest at the Delmar home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walsh Jr. was Jane Russell Waterfield — yes, THE Jane Russell of Hollywood fame, who is now retired from the acting business.

Jane and Tracy Walsh are old friends, dating from the days during the second world war when their husbands were both stationed at Fort Benning in Georgia. At that time, Jane had already made the picture, "The Outlaw", which had been banned, and was under contract to Howard Hughes.

The Waterfields have three adopted children: Tom, 15, Tracy, 14, (named after guess who) and Buck, 9. On this visit, Jane was accompanied only by her daughter, who got along famously with young Hutton Walsh, who is 15.

Jane was on her way from Buffalo to New York City, attending to some business connected with an organization she started called WAIFF, which arranges for the adoption of war orphans by Americans.

The Waterfield family lives in Sherman Oaks, California, and Tracy Walsh hadn't seen Jane in five years, but they keep in touch with each other. "Jane is a wonderful person," Tracy told me. "She's always been beautiful, and she's also very outgoing and kind."

Mr. Walsh has been in the hospital recently, but he and his wife enjoyed visiting with other friends they've had since their service days, who came to Delmar from Maine and Virginia over this past 4th of July weekend.

The Delmar Public Library is taking a page from the book of the Albany Public Library system (now, there's an appropriate simile!) and will hold a book sale on July 15 and 16.

More than 500 books — everything from Who's Who to Dr. Seuss, as Head Librarian Barbara Rau put it — will go on sale for 25 cents each.

The books have been discarded for library use, some due to simple old age, some because they are unneeded duplicates, and some because there simply isn't shelf space for them.

The sale will be held during regular library hours on those two days, and you are all invited to come in and browse through them. Proceeds from the sale will go toward financing the outdoor bulletin board soon to be constructed on the library lawn.
