TICKET CHAIRMAN Edgor L. Potter, Jr., is all smiles as he discusses the advance sale of Bethlehem Republican Steak Roast tickets with Martin Cross and Robert Collins. This 7th Annual Roast is being held on August 17 at Murray Jennex Sunset Park. John Lomenzo, Secretary of State, Louis Lefkowitz, Attorney General, and Joseph Murphy, Commissioner of Taxation and Finance, as well as other State officials, will attend, Arthur E. McCormick, President of the Republican Committee, announced.

Iris Sale at Conroe's

The Capital Hudson Area, of the Empire State Iris Society, will hold its annual iris auction on Sunday, August 14th, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Irwin A. Conroe, on Font Grove Road, Slingerlands. This auction, which is open to both irisarians and non-irisarians, offers opportunity for gardeners in the Capital District to purchase many of the more recently-introduced irises at a fraction of their purchase many of the more recently-introduced irises at a fraction of their catalog value. The auction is made possible through the contributions of iris growers in the area and through the assignment of new irises to the auction by the State Society. Auction irises represent the surplus increases of iris rhizomes which must be separated from the parent rhizomes at the end of every three or four years. However, most of the irises going to the highest bidder will represent one, two or three year increases rather than longer periods, thus insuring that the irises "on the block" are really new.

eties known as Siberian or as Japanese irises. Included in the offerings will be median irises. These are represented by miniature dwarf irises growing only a few inches high, by standard dwarf irises growing up to twelve inches high and by other groups a bit shorter than the common, popular tall irises. Naturally, the more expensive irises will be auctioned off; the bargain table irises will go on a first-come first-buy basis.

Preceding the auction which begins promptly at 2 o'clock there will be picnic services available, the beverages being furnished by the Society. Everyone and his family is free to participate in these facilities which, from a social view, highlight the occasion. Opportunities will be provided for the new iris grower to learn more about iris culture and varieties through visiting with iris society members. A spokesman for the State Society stresses the fact that the public is most welcome to take part in the whole program of the day.

Older irises, but still popular favorites, will be available on bargain tables for as little as four-for-a-dollar, even though each iris may well be in the dollar class. Capital-Hudson enthusiasts are interested in making it possible for flower growers to obtain new and better irises to replace the old-time irises, commonly known as flags, popular in Grandmother's day. The irises will be available in almost every conceivable color — black, white, red, yellow, blue, violet, green, brown — or blend. There will be plicatas, neglectas, amoenas, etc. There may even be some var-

It's Going to Rain

The presentation of Andre Obey's "Noah" is the culmination of this season's Charlatans' Summer Theater. Under the direction of Sydney Turner, the play will be given on Saturday, August 13, in the Bethlehem Central High School auditorium at 8:15 P. M.

Unlike "Where's Charley?" Charlatans' first production this summer, the cast of "Noah" is unique in that BCHS Alumni star in the major roles. Noah is played by Phil Rich, a sophomore at Union College. Several of the supporting roles, as well as the parts of the animals, are enthusiastically performed by present Bethlehem Central students, many of whom lent their talents to Charlatans' earlier presentation.

The basis of the play is the biblical story of the journey of Noah, his wife, his three sons and their wives (portrayed as three orphan girls in "Noah") to the Mount Ararat. However, the author fills in the scanty framework with his imagination, which can best be illustrated by Brooks Atkinson's comments on the play:

"But the canker of the world has crept on board (the ark). Ham is the sore spot. He doubts. And "Noah" becomes the story of a kindly, simple old man who grows lonely in his faith, who pilots his craft safely to shore in the midst of doubts, and who is rudely deserted by the young folks the moment they touch foot to land. At length he is reluctantly forced to conclude that God has not always been sportsmanlike in His treatment of His appointed agent. That is a touching moment when in the bleakness of his old age, on the damp earth of a cold land, Noah shouts at the heavens 'Are you satisfied?'"

Many are area scenes.

A casual interest in one of Mr. O'Bryon's first paintings some years ago by Michael M. Engel, director of Research Laboratories for M. Grumbacker, Inc. of New York City, provided an early incentive for Mr. O'Bryon to go ahead with his paintings. Dr. Engel, a life fellow of the British Royal Society of Arts, noted art critic and writer, suggested a contact with the late Edward P. Buyck, internationally known artist then living in Slingerlands who subsequently provided an assist to Bill and several other aspiring painters.

Bill's favorite painting which usually hangs in his office at the National Commercial Bank where he is a vice-president, is an example of painting knife technique. The subject is at Mystic Harbor, Connecticut, looking out to sea. Another painting on exhibit is an imaginative night scene aglow with flashing lightning which casts an eerie light on a stone house in the hill country. It is aptly named "Mountain Fireworks" and was painted from a preliminary sketch in charcoal.

Most recent is "Woodland Lights", finished only last week. It is a demonstration in color vibration, patterned somewhat after the style of French Impressionists.

why does the fish in Cap'n John's frozen fish dinners taste fresh-cooked?

Because you cook the fish. It takes no longer than heating pre-cooked frozen fish...only 20 minutes.

You see, we're sort of fanatics about fresh fish flavor. So we refuse to pre-cook the fish.

Here's what we do:
We dip the fillet in milk batter.
Bread it. Top it with butter.
We blanch the peas.
Partly cook the potatoes.

So everything's done at once (in only 20 minutes) when you cook it.

The result.
A fish dinner that tastes like the fish is fresh-cooked. It should. Because it is.

One important tip.
Be sure the oven is really pre-heated to 400° F.

Are our Cap'n John's Frozen Fish Dinners a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

Mr. O'Bryon attributed his enthusiasm for painting to another Delmar resident, Mrs. Clove E. Mikol, artist and art teacher who is his greatest critic outside of his wife. "Clover's encouragement, suggestions and advice are a great source of inspiration," Mr. O'Bryon says. The current show will continue through August.

is threatening to be passed disturbs me greatly. My brothers and I would be absolutely heartbroken if we had to keep our dog tied up.

I have always thought that a suburb was a wonderful place for kids and dogs to grow up together. If dogs are allowed to roam free in the city, why shouldn't they be able to have that same freedom here?

I wish that there was some way to make people understand that it is not all dogs who cause trouble, just unlicensed, uncared for, stray dogs. I think that if every unlicensed dog found was picked up, there would be very little dog trouble in Delmar.

And so, Mr. Kohinke, I am asking you to please put this dog ordinance to a public vote, at least then we dog lovers will have a fair chance. Even though I am not old enough to vote, I am sure that there are enough people in Delmar who are, who will side with me on my views.

Very truly yours,
Mimi Fruscione

Slingerlands Bypass

Opponents of the proposed route of the extension to the Slingerlands Bypass have been assured that a thorough study will be made in the light of their main objection, the isolation of New Scotland's center.

Daniel Ruddy, State Department of Public Works planning engineer, told a gathering of about 75 persons who appeared at Bethlehem Junior High School recently for a public hearing on the proposal, "There is so much opposition appearing at this hearing to the dead-ending of New Scotland Road, that I can assure you we will restudy it."

Republican Assemblyman Clarence Lane, who added his objections to those of other citizens, said State Department of Public Works Commissioner J. Burch McMorran assured him Monday the situation would be restudied and a solution found.

The aspect of the proposal drawing the most fire was the isolation of New Scotland Business center from access routes from Albany to Slingerlands. Traffic going east on New Scotland Road would have to travel on the Bypass from St. Joseph's Convent to the New York Central Railroad overpass which will be the terminal of the bypass.

New Scotland Supervisor Willis J. McIntosh, speaking for the Town Board and Town Planning Board, called this proposal "highly undesirable." He pointed out that the main business district in the vicinity of the intersection of New Scotland Road (Route 85) and Route 85A would be cut off from its main source of income.

Also, fire trucks would be forced to take a circuitous route to provide protection to the area. This Mr. McIntosh said, would constitute, "an unnecessary risk of life and property."

Mr. Lane said it might lead to the necessity of forming another fire district just to protect the area.

A property owner said the area would become "a rural slum" if it were cut off.

The project would extend the Slingerlands Bypass from its present terminal at Maher Road in Slingerlands to the overpass located just east of the New Scotland Town Hall. Mr. Ruddy said five homes would have to be taken for the project which will cost about $5 million. This includes the addition of two lanes to that portion of the Bypass now under construction.

The project has no relation to a link with the Delmar Bypass he said.

The other objection voiced most often at the hearing concerned the last half mile of the extension from Route 85A to the overpass. Mr. Ruddy said that part is necessary to handle the volume of traffic projected in department studies and he predicted that someday, in 15 or 20 years, the road would stretch as far as Thatcher Park.

Mrs. Warren Furbeck, who organized an earlier information meeting on the extension said, "Until you find a further purpose for the road, I request you stop at Route 85A. In 10 to 20 years you may change your plans. Will you please consider it?"

Mrs. Furbeck also provided the hearing with one of its lighter moments when she asked Mr. Ruddy if New Scotland South Road could be cut off instead of New Scotland Road. "We're going to bargain," Mr. Ruddy said laughing.

He had given as the reason for cutting off New Scotland Road the department's wish to keep access roads to a minimum.

Miss Ruth Miner, deputy secretary of state in the Dewey administration, asked, "Is it true the state prefers to carry out its fancy about access roads at the expense of safety, convenience of the community? I know of no greater example of the deadening of economic development."

Referring to the vital unanimity of opinion on this point, she concluded, "If all are for us, who can be against us?"

Other more homely, objections were registered. One woman said, I'm not in favor of super highways. I don't like driving on them."

Another speaker said the extension would be another instance of "using up America for concrete and blacktop."

and repertoire. His music varies from Spanish melodies and Uruguayan folk songs to selections from Gershwin and Broadway hit shows. "I consider myself between classical and popular," he says. But he likes best what he calls "international folk music."

Jorge Morel, born in Argentina, has been playing guitar since the age of 12 when he was presented with one as a birthday present from his father. He has appeared throughout South America on stage and television. His American debut was on the stage of Carnegie Hall where he appeared with the Kingston Trio.

Since his Carnegie Hall appearance, Mr. Morel has appeared in concerts throughout this country and Hawaii, played many of the better known clubs and has cut two albums for Decca Records.

More than just a performer, he is his own arranger as well as an imaginative composer. One big ambition is still to be realized: "to solo with symphony orchestra."

Jorge Morel, a dedicated, skilled musician, with much talent and much heart, is featured nightly, except Monday, at the Golden Fox. He should not be missed.

Dr. R. Glenn Reed, Jr. Marietta, Georgia dentist, was elected president of Kiwanis International recently at the organization's Fifty-first Annual Convention in Portland, Oregon; according to Arthur Fleahman, Jr. president of the Kiwanis Club of Delmar.

As leader of the international service organization, Dr. Reed will be spokesman for its 275,000 members in 5,400 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean, the Far East, and Western Europe. He succeeds Edward C. Keefe, Oklahoma City education association executive, who has held the presidency since August 1, 1965.

Dr. Reed has been a Kiwanian for sixteen years. Prior to becoming president of Kiwanis International, Dr. Reed served one year as president-elect, two years as vice-president, and four years as a member of the International Board of Trustees. He has also been president of the Kiwanis Club of Marietta, governor of the Georgia Kiwanis District, and chairman of a number of Kiwanis International Committees.

Dr. Reed is active in professional affairs. He is a past president of the Northwest District (Georgia) Dental Society; a past member of the executive council of the Georgia Dental Association; and a member of the American Society of Dentistry for Children. He holds the Honorable Fellow Award from the Georgia Dental Association, and is a Fellow of the International College of Dentists. Active in civic and service affairs, too, Dr. Reed is a past president of the Cobb Country, Georgia Chamber of Commerce, and is president of the Cobb County Development Corporation. He was named Young Man of the Year for Cobb County in 1960; and he was honored as one of the Five Outstanding Young Men of the State of Georgia in the same year. He also holds the Distinguished Citizen Award from the City of Marietta. He is a veteran of naval service in World War II, and in the Korean War. He and Mrs. Reed have three daughters.

The Fifty-first Annual Convention of Kiwanis International in Portland attracted about 16,000 people, Kiwanians and their families, for the first such Kiwanis meeting in Portland since 1920. Convention highlights included a speaking slate composed of 1965-66 Kiwanis President Edward C. Keefe, The Honorable Eugene J. McCarthy, U. S. Senator from Minnesota; The Honorable Mark O. Hatfield, Governor of Oregon; Canadian Centennial Commissioner John Fisher; and retiring after twenty-four years in the post, Kiwanis Secretary O. E. Peterson. Delegates to the convention also adopted several amendments to their constitution; passed a number of resolutions upon which their 1966-67 community service program will be based; saluted the nations of Kiwanis (there are now seventeen); honored the top clubs of the organization in each of five different size categories; and developed new ideas in community service and club administration.

The 1967 Kiwanis International convention will be held in Houston, Texas.

176th Year!

For an organization reaching its 176th birthday on August 4, 1966, the U. S. Coast Guard is showing amazing vigor in every facet of its operations. This historic agency, whose cutters fought Napoleon's Navy and scourged piracy from the Gulf of Mexico, today is helping to defend freedom in Vietnam.

Between the Coast Guard's founding in 1790 and Vietnam lies a long record of distinguished service to country and humanity.

The Coast Guard owes its birth to Alexander Hamilton, first

Secretary of the Treasury, who conceived of a modest revenue fleet to put down the smuggling which was threatening to bankrupt the young Nation. From that first fleet has grown a far flung service whose operations extend around the globe. Its many duties include maintenance of constant military readiness, a comprehensive program of maritime safety, a world-wide aids to navigation program, oceanographic research and many other services designed to promote national security and to assist the maritime community. That's a lot of work for an organization whose approximately 33,000 officers and men would only half fill New York's Yankee Stadium.

The Coast Guard in Vietnam: Today, in the coastal waters of Vietnam, Coast Guard Squadron One is writing a new chapter in the 176-year-old saga. Its 26 eighty-two foot cutters are helping to bar the movement of men and materials from North Vietnam to communist units in the south.

Squadron One has been in Vietnam since July, 1965. It was dispatched there at the request of the U. S. Navy which was familiar with the Coast Guard's skill in coastal patrol work. The Squadron's cutters, together with Navy units and naval forces of the Republic of Vietnam, make up the Coastal Surveillance Force. It is an important part of the sea war to prevent a communist take-over of this small, brave country fighting for its independence.

In the more than a year that it has been in action, Squadron One has compiled an impressive record. It has accounted for a least 75 Viet Cong killed, wounded or captured, and has inflicted an unknown number of unconfirmed casualties upon the enemy. The Squadron has detained and turned over to South Vietnamese authorities hundreds of suspects. In the same period Squadron One has destroyed or captured sixteen enemy junks, including a steel-hulled vessel, and seized or otherwise denied to the enemy weapons, ammunition and supplies upwards of 350 tons. In more than 30 gunfire missions, the Squadron has lent support to friendly forces ashore and has damaged or destroyed numerous enemy structures, fortifications and positions. The Squadron's hard-worked personnel have inspected thousands of junks suspected of carrying Viet Cong soldiers or materials to the fighting fronts.

In June, 1966, the cutters POINT SLOCUM and POINT LEAGUE intercepted a 100-foot vessel attempting to run the blockade. She was carrying supplies to the Viet Cong guerrillas. In a running gun duel, the two cutters drove her ashore. A latter inspection showed that the enemy ship was carrying enough weapons and munitions to maintain two Viet Cong battalions.

In commenting on the Squadron's performance, Rear Admiral N. G. Ward, Commander, U. S.
