Meeting Sunday

A "Company of Compassion" will be formed and chartered at a public meeting to be held in the Lounge of the Delmar Methodist Church, 428 Kenwood, on Sunday, October 23, at 8:00 p.m. All people of the community who are interested in the World Literacy program of Frank Laubach are invited to attend.

The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. Charles T. Hein, who is a Literacy Missionary working in Togo, West Africa, in an ecumenical mission program. At present he is on furlough, studying at the University of Syracuse. Mr. Hein will speak on the subject, "Meeting the challenge of the Silent Billion," and will also have pictures to show of his work in Africa.

The business of the evening will be the formation of a "Company of Compassion" which will be a group of people united in the purpose of supporting the work of the World Literacy movement, both spiritually and financially. It is hoped that the Company in Delmar will include people of all walks of life and of various faiths.

"Hurrah!" say Homeowners

New York State hunters are spending more time hunting a place to hunt than hunting their favorite game.

This may explain the noticeable decline in the number of hunters going afield this fall, a fact recently reported by the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. According to its latest survey, the population boom, more posted land, and urban growth are the reasons for less hunting opportunities than in former years.

State conservationists point out that there is actually more than enough land to go around, but not all hunters know where to find it. To help correct the situation, an Ithaca, N. Y. firm has published two "Sportsman's Maps" that show the location of more than 2,500,000 acres of public hunting land in the Adirondack and Catskill Mountains.

Issued by Outdoor Publications, the maps are intended to guide hunters to specific parcels of this free, open state land without trespassing on private property. Access to this public acreage is possible where parcels touch state, county, and township roads, and where state-maintained hiking trails originate on public land.

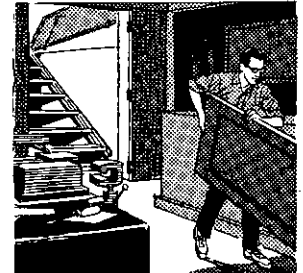

The maps show major and secondary roads as well as marked and unmarked hiking and access trails. They also show public campsites, lean-to shelters, look-out towers, mountain tops, trout streams open to public fishing, ski centers, and other outdoor facilities. The Adirondack map measures 42 by 50 inches, the Catskill map 22 by 34 inches. Both are printed in color.

Fashion Show

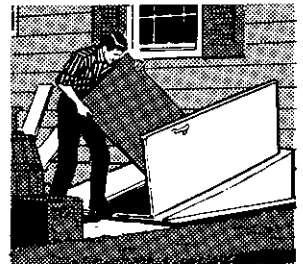

"Three Cheers for Fashion" will be the theme for the fashion show at the card party given by the Bethlehem Women's Republican Club at the Bethlehem Central High School on Monday, October 24, at 8:00 P.M.

Closing Up

Wilke's Laundry Co. Inc. in business in Arbor Hill since 1911, announced recently it is closing shop permanently. The firm is urging its 100 employees and customers to give their business to its old rival firm, Killip Launderers & Cleaners Inc. in the South End.

Over at Killip, meanwhile, plans are underway to move out of the South End - where the firm has been since before the turn of the century - and into a building almost double the size in the West Albany industrial park development.

"We're scheduled to be demolished here for the South Mall. The State has already acquired out site. We'd like to be in our new building by early next year," said Richard Klemm, president.

Elected

At a meeting of representatives of District 4-B of the Distributive Education Clubs of New York held on October 11, Linda Myers, a junior and a member of the Bethlehem Central Senior High School DECA Chapter, was elected District President.

District 4-B was recently established after a division of the former District 4, and is made up of the DECA Chapters at Averill Park, Bethlehem Central, Colonie Central, Lansingburgh, Phillip Schuyler, Watervliet, Columbia and Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Central Schools. Mr. Robert Pierson, coordinator of Distributive Education at Bethlehem Central, is the District 4-B Advisor.

Throughout the year Linda, her officers, and committees will plan activities which will give the students in the distributive education programs an opportunity to share information and become better acquainted.

No One Likes to Complain . . .

- BANK? • SUPERMARKET?
- MERCHANDISE STORES? • CLEANERS?
- MOTOR VEHICLE DEPARTMENT?
- OTHER STATE AGENCIES?
- CITY STORES OR AGENCIES?
- VILLAGE STORES OR AGENCIES?

If so, WE HAVE THE ANSWER!

We realize that many people, rather than complain, find it easier to take their business elsewhere! As a result, undesirable and discourteous services are allowed to continue and even flourish in many public places.

Enlightened managements welcome honest complaints. Their desire is to better their customer relationship. Often though, they are protected and prevented from hearing the "real stories" that can cause dissatisfaction.

If you will fill out the following easy form (or add to it), we know we can make Life a more Pleasant Place for you and also do a "Two-Fold" Service for Management.

1. Have you had any unpleasant experiences in the past year?
Yes No
2. In what area did they occur - bank, store, etc?

3. Did you bring your grievance to the attention of the Management?
Yes No
4. Were you satisfied with the result?

5. Please let us know what problems you have had and the results, if any, you obtained.

of nine lectures, three of which have already been held. Topics range from basic Chinese history, the role of the family in China to current aspects of Chinese policy and society under the Communist regime.

The aim of the program and the enthusiastic response to it by area teachers illustrates the recognition of the very necessary need to "re-tool" in light of the new New York State Social Studies curriculum. Particular emphasis in the new curriculum for the secondary schools is on the Non-Western World. The program is designed to provide information and understandings concerning China to representative teachers who may then be a source of information to their fellow teachers in their respective schools.

ole James, Bethlehem Central Senior, who is the Area 4 Vice-President, in planning the DECA activities in the area.

On October 26, Hugh Brown, business teacher at Bethlehem Central, will attend a meeting of all teachers in the Capital District who are teaching automatic business data processing. This afternoon and evening meeting, called by Hobart H. Conover, Chief of The Bureau of Business Education, will provide an opportunity for the teachers of data processing to discuss the problems they may have encountered in setting up their courses and to show information.

New Display

Dr. Roy G. Fales, a retired educator living in Delmar, is a man dedicated to his hobby. He is a mineral collector and lapidarist. This might not sound fascinating to the uninitiated. However, the field of minerals includes semi-precious gems and unusual rocks.

Come to the Delmar Public Library. You may see and study Dr. Fale's very fine collection, beautifully displayed in the Community Room.

In 1924, Dr. Fales moved to the western part of the country. A brother in Montana suggested a visit to a museum to see a display of semi-precious stones. That did it - a lapidarist was born. As Dr. Fales says, "It is much like fishing, only more fun. Sometimes you come back with nothing; sometimes loaded with surprises." Asked what tools were essential he replied that they are not necessarily specialized. He uses many simple implements - a hoe, pick, shovel, crowbar, claws, hammer, things found in most garages or basements.

His collection of minerals (one does not call them rocks although there is the source of the material) includes those in their natural state and those which after cutting, faceting and polishing are the finished product.

One of the most interesting specimens is a round rock which was cracked in two and found to be filled with small crystals.

Two perfectly formed roses in bloom are actually pieces of gypsum from Mexico and selenite from Arizona. An agate geode seems to be so perfectly inlaid as to suggest the careful work of man rather than a happening of nature. Gore Mountain in the Adirondacks yielded garnet which is still used commercially. Small black Obsidians, called Apache tears, tell the sad tale of Indian wives weeping for their fallen braves. Herkimer diamonds displayed by the dozen are not valuable but shine entrancingly.

Dr. Fales has also included some of the jewelry he has made. Rings, earrings, pins, necklaces, and unset stones show a sure knowledge of his ability not only to search and find but to work through the many steps needed to have an artistic result.

Dinner

On Saturday, October 15, the Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Onesquethaw Reformed Church of Feura Bush will serve a Roast Beef dinner and have a Fair table of baked goods, home-made articles, etc. First serving at 5 P.M. $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12. Reservations may be made by calling 768-2074.

Housewives for Rockefeller

A candidate's success is often determined by the degree of work the women have done in an election. Women voters outnumber the men. Therefore, women hold the balance of power. As mothers, housewives, and citizens, they are directly affected by all legislation.

With this in mind, the Albany County Housewives for Rockefeller, have scheduled coffee hours and a tea to inform the women voters about Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's accomplishments on a local level, as well as other campaign issues. No funds or recruitment of volunteers will be solicited.

Success Story

On Saturday afternoon, October 8, 1966, the men of the Kiwanis Club of New Scotland held their annual Chicken Barbecue which proved to be the most successful barbecue that the Club has ever conducted.

Preparations began early Saturday morning and the first patrons arrived at the advertised serving hour of 4:00 p.m. A steady flow of diners continued until 8:15 p.m. at which time the total count indicated that close to 400 dinners had been served.

In proper modesty, the men are not prone to bragging, however, it was heard that many of the guests commented that the quantity and quality of the din-

Individually and collectively the membership of the New Scotland Kiwanis Club wishes to thank the area newspapers, radio stations, and other organizations who assisted in the advertising for this most successful affair. But most of all, they extend their thanks and appreciation to the public for their generous support of this event.

The success of this event means additional revenue for the Club which will be used in its entirety for Community Service, especially in assistance to the youth of our community.

Community Festival

The Town of Bethlehem celebrates the 25th anniversary of its White Christmas program this December. The special community festival, which involves persons of all churches and schools and talents, will take place on Sunday afternoon, December 11 at 2:30 and on December 15 and 16 at 8 p.m. in the evening. Performances will be in the Senior High School.

Originated as a community involvement to keep alive the true spirit of Christmas, that of caring and sharing for those of the area who are needing help, this program has several year-round facets. A clothes closet where needy persons may find extra wearing apparel, is open all year. There is a special fund for emergency use when school nurses feel a child needs special care. Citizens of Bethlehem every year at this time begin taking toys to the Town Hall and these are rejuvenated by Senior Citizens and many others in readiness for Christmas. There are baskets of food prepared and distributed at various times during the year. All this is made possible by the contribution of time and service and also by the offering taken at the White Christmas festival program.

Mrs. Warren Kimmey is Chairman this year for the production of the White Christmas festival program. Officers of the Central Committee include Mrs. Perry Dunn, Community Relations; Miss Marjory Reid, Secretary; Mr. John Haker, Treasurer. Committee Chairmen are: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dill, representatives of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, who are in charge of the White Christmas, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denny in charge of the Clothes Closet. Hospitality is chaired by Col. and Mrs. J. Marotta, representing St. Thomas' Church. Decorating, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Watson of the Delmar Reformed Church; Wardrobe, Mrs. Joseph

The newly formed Bethlehem Art Association will hold its first public meeting at the Community Room of the National Commercial Bank, on Oct. 27 at 8 P.M.

Created by area people, the association is open to artists, amateurs and art lovers generally, who have an interest in furthering contacts between the public and the art world and in making art more meaningful in this community. The association is further designed to sponsor exhibitions, classes, workshops, art rentals, etc.

Residents interested in joining are invited to attend the meeting where more definite plans will be discussed. Dues are $3.00 per person. Membership blanks may be obtained at the meeting, or by writing to: Margaret G. Foster, 67 Rowland Ave., Delmar, N. Y.

The Compost Pile

The home gardener can do much to keep up the organic matter in the soil by composting plant refuse. Autumn leaves are ideal for this purpose. In fact, any organic matter such as lawn clippings, plant material from the flower or vegetable garden and even small twigs may be used.

Where possible, these materials may be buried in the garden without being processed in a compost pile. However, in most small gardens or flower beds, this is not practical. It is then best to compost the organic material first. Composting allows the material to decay to the point where it may easily be worked into the soil.

The composting process can be hastened by making conditions more favorable for the microorganisms which decompose the material. This is done by supplying nutrients for these organisms and keeping the decaying material moist enough to favor their growth.

One fertilizer recipe that can be used to supply these nutrients is a mixture of 3 pounds of 10-10-10 or 10-6-4 or similar fertilizer and one pound of ground agricultural limestone. The above mixture is enough to use in the decomposition of 50 pounds of organic matter. Since a bushel of dry leaves weighs about 10 pounds, this mixture will be enough for five bushels.

Build a compost pile in layers. Each layer of plant refuse should be about six inches thick. Sprinkle the fertilizer mixture on top of each layer at the rate of 2 cups for each 10 square feet of surface. If the plant materials are dry, water lightly. Continue this process until plant refuse is all piled. Placing a 2-3 inch layer of soil between the layers of organic matter will also help to hasten the decay process. The top of the pile should be made slightly concave to catch moisture.

Little decay will take place until warm weather is with us again next year. After about a month of warm weather, the pile may be turned over. This step is not a necessity, but will hasten the process and will help to destroy insects.

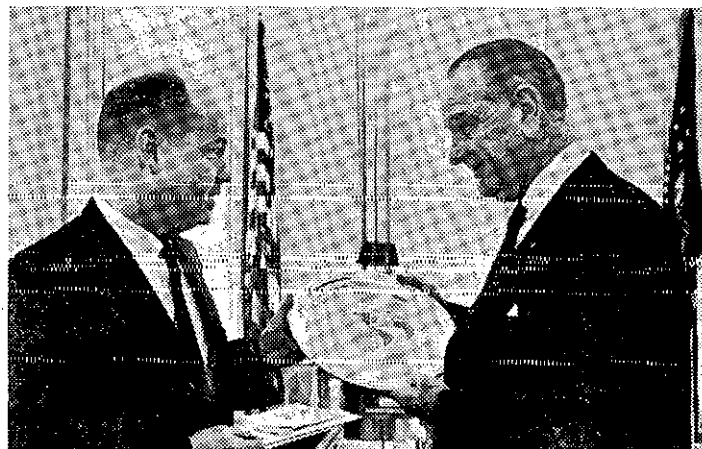

When thoroughly decomposed, the compost is comparable to manure in its effect on the soil, and can be used at the same rate and for the same purpose.

Composting is your opportunity to improve your soil at little cost. Save those leaves, make a compost pile in layers, add some fertilizer and you end up with a product that will improve your soil.

Kiwanis

Dr. R. Glenn Reed, Jr., Marietta, Georgia, president of Kiwanis International, presented President Lyndon B. Johnson with an engraved silver tray on

Dr. R. Glenn Reed, Jr., Marietta, Georgia dentist, president of Kiwanis International, presented a silver tray to President Johnson in mid-August, commemorating the fifth year of Kiwanis' international extension program. Reed also thanked the President for his support and the support of the nation which, Reed said, have made the program possible. The presentation took place in the White House.

August 10 commemorating Kiwanis' first five years of international expansion, and thanking the President for the support which has insured the success of the program. The presentation was made at the White House.

The inscription on the tray reads: "Kiwanis International as of August 10, 1966. On this date Kiwanis serves in eighteen countries of the free world. . . thanks to the climate of the country of its origin, and the continuing support of the government of the United States. This tray is presented in grateful appreciation to Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States, the leader that nation."

Kiwanis International's extension program began in 1962 when the Kiwanis Club of Tijuana, Mexico was organized. Prior to that time Kiwanis had served only in the United States and Canada.

Dr. Reed also reported to the President on the progress of Kiwanis' community service and international programs in which the United States government is interested, including the "We Care" program aimed at thanking Viet Nam veterans for their role in defense of the nation's policy of protecting fundamental freedoms.
