Barbara Schoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schoner, 7538 Rosedale, Allen Park, Michigan and Barbara Brewster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, 1719 New Scotland Road, Slingerlands, get together in the Girl Scout Senior Lounge between sessions of the 37th National Girl Scout Convention underway in Detroit. They are among 600 Senior Girl Scouts from all over the country who were selected to observe the convention process of setting guidelines that will determine the course of Girl Scouting in the United States for the next three years. Many of the Seniors are serving as convention aides to the elections committee, production staff, ushers and program researchers.

JET-AGE HEATING EXPERTS — Vince Donnelly, left, and William G. LeQue, servicemen, of Main Bros., 318 Delaware Ave., Delmar, are recent graduates of the Specialized Service and Installation School on Heating Equipment held at the Texaco Research Center, Beacon, N.Y. Attending classes for Texaco Fuel Chief marketers and their service managers, they are shown with test equipment in the new heating oil laboratory. Service Club

The Bethlehem Central American Field Service Club, under the leadership of president Dick Salmon, is beginning a new year. The club tries to interest members in the lives and customs of foreign students. One way it accomplishes this task is by sending Bethlehem Central students abroad each year and receiving a foreign student at Bethlehem Central in exchange.

Last summer Cheryl Darrone was Bethlehem Central ambassador to Argentina. Cheryl had a wonderful time there, and the club has gained much knowledge of Argentine life from her reports about her experiences.

This year Bethlehem Central is host to Christa Kienzer, a bright vivacious eighteen year old exchange student from Wolfsberg, Austria. Christa is a senior and is living with Susan Mathews and her family. She has expressed her enjoyment of life at Bethlehem Central but says that the English Language is very difficult.

Christa is holding down a schedule which includes English, French, Russian, Social Studies, Physical Education, and Choir. She is quite a linguist! In Austria, Chris took thirteen required subjects and attended school six days a week. The classes were programmed so that she would not have a class in all thirteen subjects every day. Her classes began at 8:15 and ended at about 1:15.

Christa's main interests include reading, playing the piano, dancing, and that sport which has become a great world-wide past time, skiing. Unfortunately, her school in Wolfsberg does not sponsor any clubs so she follows these interests on her own.

When she returns home she will attend the University of Vienna.

Meeting

The enjoyable task of choosing the countries for "Experiment" visits next summer is once more upon us. As it has done for many past summers, the Bethlehem Community Ambassador Program will invite a group of foreign visitors to our community for a three week homestay, and an "Incoming Ambassador" from another foreign nation for approximately six weeks of homestays. (Local families may apply to be host families in the spring).

The countries from which these visitors will come will be decided upon at an open meeting on Wednesday, November 9 at 8 p.m. in the library of the Bethlehem Senior High School. The country to which our Bethlehem Community Ambassador will be sent next summer will also be chosen. All interested area residents are invited to attend, and may freely nominate countries and vote on their selection at this meeting.

Another interesting feature of the meeting will be the introduction to the community of our recent Incoming Ambassador, Miss Ufuk Ozbudak, of Ankara, Turkey. Miss Ozbudak will speak on her "Impressions of America" as gained through her stay in the area this past summer.

Visit UN

The sixth grades of Hamagrael School have decided to take a closer look at the world situation by embarking on a trip to the United Nations on November 3. The trip enriches the present social studies program which covers the world, past and present.

Miss Kirkman and Mr. Ros-suck, teachers of the group, felt that such a trip would strengthen the concepts presented in class and would give students a first hand look at the U.N. and the role it plays in our present lives.

The children have taken the financial end of the planning in their own hands. A paper drive and bottle collections throughout the Hamagrael area have taken place. A bake and book sale took place in school.

What are the children going to look for on this trip? They want to see people of different countries, the architecture of buildings, the art and native dress from peoples around the world. They want to see the Children's Book Week, October 30 - November 5, is being celebrated by the Delmar Public Library with a program of films for the registered nursery school children in the Tri-Village area. The children have been invited to attend morning programs during the week. The films; "Snowy Day," "The Country Mouse and the City Mouse." and "Circus Baby," are based on the children's favorite stories and picture books.

During the week a display of new books for children is being featured in the Children's Room of the library.

Rook Stumps In Bethlehem

Edward Rook, Republican candidate for the 102nd New York State Assembly seat, has hit the campaign trail hard in the Town of Bethlehem with two speeches before the Bethlehem Republican Committee.

His first, given October 18, before the Republican Committee and Workers' dinner at the Center Inn, Glenmont, outlined the stagnation in Albany's Democrat leadership.

Mr. Rook departed from normal political tactics to name his opponent in the race and label him as a man whose election would contribute "nothing to the structure of Government or the well-being of the constituency."

Any Democrat politics, he continued, is characterized by its stagnation. "It is their pride that they will not introduce 'untried gimmicks.' In truth, government in their hands is run on a day to day basis without thought for the future. It is enough that we are able to stumble through the today - tomorrow will take care of itself."

In his October 25 address, Mr. Rook plugged the entire GOP team: "I'm proud to have these men as running mates of mine - they deserve your vote and support - not just because they are Republicans, but because

Mr. Rook viewed each of the Republican candidates running in the state and local November races and showed the GOP workers present the strong points and stumbling blocks of each.

On Governor Rockefeller: "If you like the State University and you like the South Mall that we have built under the stewardship of Governor Rockefeller, then I think we better start showing it now and not just on election day."

On Chuck Lanigan, candidate for Comptrollership: "He's a progressive thinker who has a great record... (he) understands from first-hand experience the needs of cities, towns, countries and villages and, if elected, will lift the office of Comptroller out of its current doldrums of caretaker administration."

On Louis Lefkowitz: "Louis is deserving of reelection on just the basis of his work in the Bureau of Consumer Frauds which is running down the unscrupulous and the gangsters masquerading as businessmen."

On Dan Button: "The choice is clearly for Dan: 'Cast a thoughtful man'."

On Louis Russo: "Louis Russo has been running a great race against tremendous odds... he is a man who is filled with warm humanity, and has the capacity within himself to translate that humanity into action."

On his own race, Mr. Rook said: "Frank Cox, my opponent has been achieving something of a record. He has compiled the smallest legislative record ever written in seven years and he wants to try for nine. He isn't a has-been, he's a never was and he never will be."

I Believe

The following is a statement by Milton Alpert, candidate for delegate to the State Constitutional Convention:

"I want very much to serve as a delegate in the State Constitutional Convention because I believe in and want to work to bring into being in our State Constitution:

"1. A strengthened system of local government and home rule based on the principle of local self-determination, with adequate financial resources and a proper role in the federal-state-local governmental partnership.

"2. Adequate Constitutional protections for labor and a sound foundation for government and business relationships which will encourage substantial investments in new industrial plants and businesses.

"3. A program which will provide excellence in education for all children and young adults regardless of the type of school they attend; this includes college and university educations for those who want to go to college.

"4. Full assurances of basic civil rights.

"5. A strengthened court system which will assure speedy and fair decisions to all.

"6. Adequate Constitutional protections and guarantees so that our civil service system and those persons who work for the state and local government will be the best in the United States.

"If elected, I promise to work for the above and to vote in the Convention for what will be good in the interests of the people of New York State."

A Statement from Grand Union

You can be sure that Grand Union is aware of the public's increasing concern about food prices. It is very important that you, as food shoppers, keep clearly in mind the basic facts about the food retailing business. It is just as important that our customers understand clearly Grand Union's policy on pricing. Our policy today as it has been for 94 years is "to sell food at the lowest possible price and still be able to pay good wages and make a fair profit."

Grand Union's net profit of not quite 1.4¢ on a $1.00 sale in 1965 was considerably less than half the average of 3.4 net profit on sales for all other kinds of business in the country.

are higher today than they have been for years. As of September, the Consumer Price Index showed the cost of food purchased for home use to be 14.2% above the 1957-1959 base. At the same time, the overall consumer price index for all kinds of goods and services was 14.1% above the same base.

This marked the first time in twenty years that the food index has been higher than the overall index. That it was only 1/10 of 1% higher is a strong answer to those who say that food prices today are out of line or that there have been "outrageous increases" in prices for food in the past few months.

Many factors, most of them beyond the control of Grand Union or any other food retailer, have helped to increase food prices in recent years. These include higher wages, higher costs of Government, higher prices for farm products and higher transportation costs. Here are three factors that are not well known:

1. Our nation's huge farm surpluses which tended to keep food costs at a low level for some twenty years, have been used up. Farmers and cattle growers, as well as food processors, are now hard put to keep up with increased demands from a growing population with higher than ever income. Tight supplies and increased demand always result in higher prices for any merchandise or service. Food is no exception.

2. At the same time the growing number of U.S. Servicemen in Viet Nam and elsewhere aboard makes it essential that we send constantly increasing supplies of food from home to the battlefields. This contributes to the upward pressure of food prices. There is no one, however, who would say that we could do anything else than see to it that our fighting men in service overseas are well fed.

3. Our Government's commitment to feed the poor in countries around the world through the multi-billion dollar "FOOD FOR PEACE" program is a third factor contributing to higher prices in food.

These are just some of the basic underlying reasons for higher food prices. There is a much brighter, more positive side of the picture.

As a percent of spendable income the cost of foods has gone down steadily for years. Wages have gone up 29% in this country since 1957-1959. Food prices since that time have risen only 14% — less than half as much. That is good news.

Because of the far greater growth in spendable income, food costs today represent — on the average — an expenditure of just 18.2% of the American family's after-tax income as against 26% in 1947-1949. This is 18.2% less than ever before in our Nation's history and less than in any other country in the world.

At today's prices, food still represents a genuine bargain!

Every customer can be assured that we at Grand Union are doing everything we can do to keep prices down! You can be proud of being part of the best food distribution system the world has ever seen.

college, reports that there has been an increase of 25% over a year ago in the number of employers paying employee tuition charges. The National Commercial Bank and Trust Company of Albany has the largest single contingent whose employer is footing the bill, with Albany Medical Center Hospital second in number.

Dean Spears also noted a sharp increase in the number of married women returning to the labor market in nursing, teaching or business. They are registered in refresher courses in those fields while starting their careers again.

Few countries on earth can match the diversity of terrain and climate, and richness of flora and fauna of Mexico. Snow capped peaks, smoking volcanoes, deep canyons, thick jungles, and sunny beaches provide dramatic settings for an exciting "field trip" with naturalist Chess Lyons.

Sad Day

Friday, October 21, was a sad day at the Delmar Public Library. Mrs. Alvin Spatz left the Library for the last time as a member of its staff. Over the last 22 years, Mrs. Spatz watched and helped the library grow from the original small building with its comparatively small circulation to its current healthy size. Often, as librarians came and went, Francis capably took over as acting librarian. The loss of her kind efficiency will be felt not only by the staff but by the large borrowing public who had come to know and admire her so sincerely. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Spatz joy and all the good things as they go to their new home in Reading, Pennsylvania.

Bethlehem Central Junior High School celebrates this event by issuing an invitation to all interested parents and citizens to visit its building and attend classes on Tuesday, November 8, and Wednesday, November 9, between 8:00 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

The faculty hopes to illustrate this year's theme, "Education Adds Up," by creating a program providing visitors with a chance to see a variety of valuable student opportunities being promoted through numerous classroom techniques.

Meeting

On November 9, 1966 the Bethlehem Garden Club, Cooperative Extension Service, will hold its monthly meeting at the Delmar Library at 1:00 p.m.

Mrs. Lucien H. LeMaitre will be the leader and has prepared an interesting talk and demonstration on "Improving Containers."

Normanside Notes

The program is in charge of Mrs. Paul F. Devio and Mrs. Charles M. Loftus, co-chairmen.

The monthly luncheons will start on Thursday, November 10, at 12:30 p.m. Social Chairman Mrs. Peter J. O'Brien has asked Mrs. Elmer E. Austin and Mrs. S. Lawson Curtis to act as co-chairmen for the first event, and they will be assisted by Mrs. Donald E. Lane and Mrs. James W. Lawson. Reservations are in order for this event and may be made with either of them or by calling the club manager.

That's the question. Independence from what, and for what? It's essential to know. Whether you're a teen-ager or an adult, your freedom depends on it. Chains drop and horizons are unlimited for those who find the spiritual basis of life. Hear this public Christian Science lecture, "How independent can you be?" by THOMAS O. POYSER, member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

sented as a civic service, is open to the public.

William Masselos has been referred to as "one of the greatest American pianists of our time" by Jay S. Harrison in the Herald Tribune. Mr. Masselos made his debut from Town Hall in New York at eighteen. He has an extensive background since he was a student of the late Carl Friedberg and is a graduate of the Julliard School of Music in New York. A Ford Foundation Grant enabled him to commission a piano concerto from Ben Weber which he premiered with Leonard Bernstein and Leopold Stokowski. Masselos has premiered many works such as the First Piano Sonata of Charles Ives, many piano works of Ben Weber, and other music by Alan Houhaness and Charles Chavez. He has appeared several times as soloist with the New York Philharmonic and has worked with such conductors as Leonard Bernstein, Pierre Monteux, and Dmitri Mitropoulos.

Mr. Masselos is renowned for his classical repertoires as well as for his contemporary music. He seems to especially like contemporary American composers. In his concert at Saint Rose, William Masselos will perform works of Aaron Copland, Robert Shumann, Erik Satie, Charles Ives and others.

He has recently been acclaimed in Mexican and European concerts.

the New York critics. "A man who knows how to captivate children with his voice and guitar," wrote the New York Times. And from Bill Leonard of CBS: "The best children's entertain-

Meeting

The WSCS of the Slingerlands Methodist Church will hold its general meeting on November 14 at 8 p.m. The Rev. Frank Snow will speak on "New Directions in Campus Ministry at the State University."

Colonie Center

Colonie Center, the gigantic new shopping plaza, situated on the site of the former Colonie Country Club represents the fifth regional Center built by the Homart Development Co. Homart, a wholly owned subsidiary of Sears Roebuck and Co. was formed in 1960. Since that time it has seen five Centers come into being, with approximately six more slated for Grand opening ceremonies by 1970.

Homart Centers are under construction around the country, each designed to fill the needs and offer specific services to an individual community identity. In Colonie some sixty-two local and national shops are enclosed in a two-level, air conditioned mall, displaying merchandise that ranges from knitting supplies to candy, and from full service bank facilities to the highest in contemporary fashion apparel. A giant Sears Department Store and an equally large Macy's store occupy locations at either end of the malls.

The tenants in each of the Homart Centers vary, with the exception, of course of a Sears Major full line department store. They include local merchants and popular regional retailers, as well as an array of famous national chains. In this way each Homart Center can best provide the local patron with familiar brands and hometown service.

The first regional center established by the Homart Development Co. was Seminary South, located in Fort Worth, Texas and was completed in 1962. Since then Hancock Center in Austin, Texas, Coronado Center in Albuquerque, Mexico, Inland Center in San Bernardino, California (which celebrated its Grand Opening this past Columbus Day, October 12) and the all new Colonie Center in Colonie, have joined the fold. The sixth Homart Center, the Midland Mall in Warwick, Rhode Island is now under construction and is expected to open its doors next year.

A distinctive feature of each Homart center is the attention given to meshing the center with the mood and tempo of the specific community to be served. For example; at Coronado Center in Albuquerque, an area rich in Spanish history and folklore, the center is designed with a smart reflection of the colorful pagentry of its Spanish ancestry. Even the name, "Coronado," illustrates the importance placed upon making the center a meaningful outgrowth of the Community itself. At Colonie, the country-club atmosphere has been retained with much of the architectural accent upon conveying the urban mood which is inspired by the booming growth of the Great Northeast.

At Saratoga

There's a red-hot battle brewing for 1966 driving honors at Saratoga Raceway and it looks like Don Bromley is going to have a job on his hands trying to duplicate the clean sweep he registered here in 1957.

Although the 41-year-old Fort Edward reinsman has copped both the Spring and Summer average titles this year, he had dropped eight percentage points behind perennial contender Howard Parker last week as the latter boosted his season's average to .431.

Bromley, who posted a brilliant .461 mark in sweeping to the Spring crown and then edged Parker, .3939 to .3933, for the Summer title, was sporting a .423 average at that time with 60 wins, 46 seconds and 30 thirds to show for 226 starts.

Meanwhile, Parker has registered 43 victories and added 30 seconds and 28 third-place finishes in 160 trips to the post.

These two veteran campaigners had also played prominent roles in another unprecedented achievement at the Spa track last week when six drivers hiked their combined total number of victories to 419.

Leading the parade was Ken

Heeney, the first driver in the track's 25-year history to top the century mark in wins. Hee-
