Keith Bury Wins Derby

Keith B. Bury of 148 Kenwood Avenue, Elsmere, a member of Den #3 of Cub Scout Pack #258, emerged as the victor in the Elsmere Pack's annual Pinewood Derby held Wednesday evening, January 17th.

In the miniature auto racing event held in the gym of Elsmere Elementary School, Bury edged out a victory in a field of 65 entries to the cheers and applause of his fellow Cub Scouts and over 100 spectators and officials. Donald Andrews and Andrew Creighton came in a close second and third respectively.

The Pinewood Derby is an annual race of wooden racing cars of less than 5 ounces built to national Cub Scout specifications by the Cub Scouts with some permissible assistance from parents. The winner of the pack event can compete in the Fort Orange Council run-off in June.

In the Derby, the cars race in heats of two down specially constructed inclined wooden runways. Three fathers of pack members constructed two of these 32 foot runways for the event. The cars are gravity powered and are released by official starters simultaneously. Official starters were Cubmaster Bob Ehmann and Asst. Cubmaster Pete Ellis. Dan Furey, Committee Chairman, directed the event.

CUB SCOUTS AND SPECTATORS watch with intense interest as two entries in the annual Elsmere Cub Scout Pack Pinewood Derby speed down the track. The Derby was held at the Elsmere Elementary School on Wednesday evening, January 17. Keith Bury emerged as the winner in a close contest.

ON JANUARY 17, the "Committee That Cares" mailed 52 packages to men in Vietnam from the Town of Bethlehem and surrounding area. This month's mailing was handled by the Delmar Rotary Club, one of the participating organizations. All of the contents of the packages were donated by the Club. The work of the "Committee That Cares" is carried on at the American Legion Post, by some 20 service-minded organizations and churches in our community. Each organization contributes to the work of the committee and handles monthly mailings. Due to an ever-increasing list of servicemen now in Vietnam from this area, the committee recently appealed for funds. If you would like to contribute, make your check payable to "The Committee That Cares," P.O. Box 134, Delmar, N.Y. 12054. This month's packages contained: Bouillon cubes, sharp cheese, dry soup mix, tea bags, Kool-Ade, plastic bags, chewing gum, plastic comb, hard candy, rubber bands, hot chocolate mix, toothbrush, toothpaste, Sanka, Tang, ketchup, mustard, pocket book, calendar, salt, pepper, marmalade, St. Valentine's Day cards. In above picture, left to right: Assistant Postmaster, Henry I. Klein; Postmaster, James A. Mulholland accepting the packages from Delmar Rotary Club members, Mel Miller, Ralph Smith, Roy LaMoy and Bob Roth.

Final Forum

The final session of the Community Forum on Vietnam will be held at 7:30 p.m. this Sunday, January 28, in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church, which is located at 428 Kenwood Avenue, Delmar.

"Possible Alternatives to Present U.S. Policy in Vietnam" will be the subject of the panel discussion which will be moderated by Dr. DeWitt C. Ellinwood, professor of history, SUNY at Albany. Panel members will be: Dr. Levon Bedrosian of Elsmere, a physician practicing in Albany; John A. Daniels, Religious Society of Friends, Albany Monthly Meeting; and Dr. Richard A. Kendall, professor of history, SUNY at Albany and a specialist in the history of American foreign policy.

In commenting on the series, Rev. Robert B. Thomas, senior pastor of the Delmar church which is sponsoring the Forum, observed: "The sessions so far have attracted a sizeable audience of concerned citizens who are interested in a chance to increase their own understanding of the very complex and tragic Vietnam situation. They clearly appreciate this opportunity to share their own questions, information and judgements about it. The tradition of freedom of expression is a precious one for us as Americans and as Christians, but we must remember that it carries with it an obligation for each citizen to act intelligently and responsibly rather than in ignorance or prejudice. If this Forum adds to our understanding and awareness, it is serving its purpose."

"Little Mary"

"Little Mary Sunshine" by Rick Besoyan will be presented by the Albany Civic Theatre with area residents in major roles. "Little Mary" is a musical spoof poking gentle fun at the bygone days of operetta when Jeannette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy sang beautifully romantic melodies of Strauss, Herbert and Romberg surrounded by snow-capped mountains, handsome rangers, virtuous maidens, Indians, intrigue and nostalgia. It takes us back to the days when the world was much simpler than it is today. Tickets are obtainable at the box office from 7 to 10 each evening. The performances will run from January 30 through February 4, February 6 through 11, February 15 through 18, with one matinee at 2:30 on Saturday, February 3.

"Father, where shall I work today?" and my love flowed warm and free. Then He pointed me out a tiny spot, and said, "Tend that for Me". I answered quickly, "Oh no! Not that, why no one would ever see. No matter how well my work was done—not that little place for me!" And the word He spoke, it was not stern, He answered me tenderly, "Ah, little one, search that heart of thine: Art thou working for them or Me? Nazareth was just a little place, And so was Galilee!"

Appointment

Governor Rockefeller has pulled the political surprise of the year — he named his official secretary to the Thruway Authority.

He thus slammed shut the door against political importuning for the $17,000 a year part time position.

Alton
G.
Marshall

And he put one of the truly bright lights in the state administration, Alton G. Marshall, of Glenmont on the three-member authority.

Mr. Marshall will not leave his $32,265 a year post as official secretary to the governor — and will not receive a $17,000 Thruway Commission salary. Actually, he was sort of "state manager," the man who handled all the programs and details.

Governor Rockefeller said that the appointment was tied into the "massive overhaul of our transportation and highway system. Our programs, the most extensive in the nation, demand the utmost skills and talents in its planning and execution.

"Al Marshall brings to bear those skills and talents in enormous measure."

Under the law, Mr. Marshall can hold both positions, but he cannot draw a salary from the Thruway Authority.

Meeting

On January 27, the Clearwater Chapter of Trout Unlimited representing the Capital District will play host to its sister chapters at the annual meeting of the New York Council of Trout Unlimited. The meeting will be held at Schrafft's Motor Inn on 9W beginning at 1 P.M. A highlight of the meeting will be the attendance of Martin Bovey, President and Tom Smith, Executive Secretary from the national headquarters.

Methodist men of the Slingerlands Methodist Church after hearing Dr. Harry Hamilton, assistant professor of atmospheric sciences at State University of New York at Albany, on Elsmere resident, and Mrs. Helen Ackerman also of Elsmere.

The two speakers showed slides "It's Your Move" on the problems an Albany Negro family encountered last year when they tried to find housing. The family followed leads on 25 houses in Albany and such so-called suburban areas as Delmar and East Greenbush.

Mrs. Ackerman said about 15 Negro families live in the Tri-Village area and there has been no appreciable increase in five years. Albany has 18 per cent non-white home owners, a low percentage in the state she added.

The particular need in Negro housing is in the $8,000 to $13,000 bracket, Dr. Hamilton, a Negro said.

Several of the Methodist Men asked the speakers to inform the men's club if a Negro family sought housing in Slingerlands and was rebuffed. They knew of no such instances of rejection.

Mrs. Ackerman remarked that several years ago a group of people in the Tri-Village area had conducted informal coffee sessions at which human rights and housing were discussed. An attempt to get enough signatures of residents supporting welcome signs and labeling Bethlehem a "fair housing community" failed miserably, she said.

She believes that a similar project should be attempted now.

The Methodist men seemed to believe that the Negro would find community acceptance as the Jew had. Ten years ago, they said, few Jewish families lived in the Tri-Village area but their numbers have increased to the point where they have a Tri-Village Jewish Association and are thought to be considering building a synagogue.

Hot Seat

Landscapes hang on the office walls, name plates are changed, and another family portrait appears behind the desk — personal effects which mark the change in chief administrator at Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk School District.

But the community which knows Dr. Frank Filippone is awaiting to see whether the man will change and what this superintendent's leadership will bring the school system. Dr. Filippone became superintendent Jan. 1 when Dr. Virgil Tompkins resigned and accepted a post with the Liverpool School District.

"Anyone with ideas and conviction wants to take a crack at the job of superintendent," Dr. Filippone observed although any school administration text calls this a "hot seat" which is getting hotter as teachers become more militant, parents and students demand more, and boards of education jealously guard their control.

An administrator must be "in tune with his community," Dr. Filippone believes but as a leader he must look beyond, into the long range educational picture. "But you lead or you don't lead," the warmly responsive educator admitted. His standard, he added, is to "treat people with dignity" and even in difficult situations "leave them with a shred of dignity." Compassion is a trait he nurtures.

A "middle roader" according to his own estimate, Dr. Filippone will not jump on the pet hobby horse of current educational theory "I don't want to waste time in experimentation," he declared.

Since the earnest but easily smiling administrator believes that reading is the number one educational failure after the racial problem, this will be where his concentration will be placed.

He would like to see a reading coordination for the school system and another reading specialist at the junior-senior high school level. Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk now has two elementary reading teachers and another reading specialist at the junior-senior high and one high school specialist.

"I don't foresee the day we'll swing away from reading," Dr. Filippone observes. The trend toward independent study places more emphasis on reading ability.

The school system Dr. Filippone inherits is still rural in Character but it gets "good material to work with," the former junior-senior high school principal believes. They have "basis character" and present a minimum number of troublemakers, he said. "I used to tell my faculty they didn't know what good kids they had." Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk has had no severe vandalism. "I call some of the kids "diamonds in the rough," Dr. Filippone commented with a laugh.

Centralization of the school district is only 10 years old. About 35 per cent of the pupils went to some form of higher education or training before centralization; now about 52 to 53 per cent continue - what Dr. Filippone calls "modernizing" the pupil to fit in the more complex world to which he graduates. The community college has played a particular role for Ravena-Coymans-Selkirk's graduate.

He likes conservative clothes and quiet ties.

No one to pound a table to make a point, he prefers quiet, direct talk over problems.

Dr. Filippone is the youngest of four boys in a family of eight children who grew up in Albany. His parents came from Italy and his own case has reinforced his belief in the "American dream." Unlike a brother who is a heart specialist, Dr. Filippone did not know always he wanted to teach. Even at State University of New York in Albany, where he obtained his bachelor's and master's degrees he was undecided. When he got out of four years of the Army, he made his career choice. In characteristic step-by-step career fashion, he first

"wanted to be a good teacher" and taught social studies for eight years at the junior high level.

He spent two years in the State Education Department working for the adult education field and became convinced he was geared to secondary school work. At Goshen he became assistant principal.

The administrator recalls humorously the years in which he was part of the "dawn patrol."

These were the years when he and five other men would get up at 3 a.m. to drive to New York City for five hours of classes at New York University and Columbia University. He received his doctorate from New York University.

"We used to compare courses and talk about our work - maybe just to keep awake," Dr. Filippone recalls. His wife, Florence whom he had as a student in a business English adult education class, typed the 600 pages of his dissertation comparing the careers and impact of three New York State commissioners of education.

To unwind and escape the pressures of his job, Dr. Filippone has what he calls "little escapes." He used his work in the Rotary and the Men's Association as diversion. Attendance at professional educators' conferences keep him up to date but also take him away from the continuing pressures of administration. "I'm also a frustrated writer," Dr. Filippone, father of a girl and two boys, comments. He has written a newsletter for the faculty at the high school and he'll continue a school system newsletter.

Dr. Filippone sometimes will remark "this may seem square" but if it is, he makes "squareness" his asset.

AMERICAN THEATRE LEAGUE OF THE CAPITAL DISTRICT

cently on the recommendation of Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz is enacted into law.

The measure, which amends the Town Law and the Village Law, would eliminate sections of these laws requiring ownership of property as a qualification for election, appointment or continuance in certain offices and for voting on certain propositions.

"The sections of the Town Law which relate to property ownership as a prerequisite for holding office were declared unconstitutional by the state Court of Appeals last year and it is only proper that the law should be changed to remove these unconstitutional provisions," the Attorney General said.

"In striking down the provisions, the Court of Appeals stated that '... it is impossible today to find any rational connection between qualifications for administering town affairs and ownership of real property.'

"Such a requirement, moreover, is archaic in modern day society. In our rapidly growing towns and villages there are many former property owners who now live in rented premises and many young people who may be highly qualified to serve in public office but who do not as yet own real property. To deny them the right to hold public office simple because they rent is unfair," Attorney General Lefkowitz said. Villages and special districts, including fire districts, would seem to be in the same classification as towns where the Court of Appeals declared unconstitutional a property ownership requirement.

The bill would change the village law which now provides that certain propositions must be submitted at a village election upon the petition of "owners of real property". The amendment provides that the words "qualified voters" be substituted for "owners of real property."

School districts are not included in this bill because there are two alternatives to a property ownership requirement for holding office on such boards - that of being a renter of premises or the parent of a child in school.

The bill was introduced by Senator Samuel L. Greenberg, (D), of Kings, Senator D. Clinton Dominick, III, (R), of Orange and Assemblyman John M. Burns, (R), of New York.

Assets Climb

Home Savings Bank assets in 1967 climbed to $105,829,000, and according to president Harry D. Yates. Dividends paid to depositors increased by $14,880,000, he said.

Yates and other officers of Home Savings were reelected at the annual meeting of the trustees this week. Howard E. Archer, executive vice president who was elected trustee since 1961, was elected trustee emeritus.

Yates said "In spite of the unsettled conditions in the money market, I look forward to the continued healthy growth of Home Savings, principally because the Capital District is enjoying the greatest economic development in its history. The South Mall, the fantastic growth of the State University, the planned enlarged activity in new housing all combine to insure a healthy economy for Albany and environs.

"Our success in our Colonie office is a reflection of the increased activity in the Colonie area. This section is growing beyond belief and I predict an expansion in the next few years that will mark it as one of the soundest business areas in New York State."

Dries Dishes Faster

Here is good news for the gal who hates to do dishes — a new double dry dish towel solving many of your drying problems! By a special weaving process The Kendall Company has created a towel with terry loops on one side, plain smooth surface on the other. Besides, this new weave packs in extra cotton-blended yarns making it so thick and absorbent the towel seems to hug your dishes dry. With the super-sized 18x31 towel, soft and silky to hold, it will dry a fourth again as many dishes as the average towel.

Dry silver on the plain side which is snag-free; perfect for knives and forks which catch in terry loops. That plain side is wonderful, too, for polishing glassware, with never a speck of lint.

This towel launders easily and normal stains come out completely. A gentle shake returns it to the original fluffy appearance. Styled to match modern kitchens, these double dry towels have two-toned spaced stripes on white in aqua or orange with pistachio yellow-green and red-pink.

Coordinated with the towel are matching dish cloth and pot holder. The pot holder is constructed with air space between its two layers of terry fabric which insulates against heat longer than quilted types.

SECRETARIES AN OPPORTUNITY

It is not often that an experienced secretary can change employers without taking several steps backwards both in pay and responsibility.

This is not the case at General Electric's new Polymer Products Operation. Continued growth has created several new secretarial positions—not steno. pool openings. These are diversified and interesting positions in a fascinating new business. Interesting people too, in a world wide market network.

Excellent starting salaries and regular performance reviews mean you can progress without additional tests, etc. Our location is off Route 32, just minutes from downtown Albany. No traffic or parking problems, either.

If this sounds attractive, don't hesitate to call us for more information or to arrange an interview.
