Town of Bethlehem: 175th Year

by Allison P. Bennett, Bethlehem Town Historian

These tales of old Normansville were told the author by Robert Denny, who has lived in Normansville for about fifty years and still conducts a bait business from his home there. He loves to think about "the old days" along the creek when the waters were much cleaner and deeper than they are today and the stream was alive with trout and small-mouth bass. He also remembers when Mrs. George Tallmadge was burning her papers and the wind took the wastebasket out of her hands and it flew into the waters of the creek. It was a gold color wastebasket and had been given to her husband as a commemorative present. Mr. Denny saw it shining in the water and was able to dive in and retrieve it — much to Mrs. Tallmadge's delight.

People from the city would ride the trolley car out as far as Graceland Cemetery where the cars turned around for the return trip to the city. Then they would take their picnic lunches and walk down to the bathing beach, about a quarter of a mile below the bridge. This was a natural beach with about 18 feet of water depth for swimming, and was called "Normansville Park." There was a dance hall up on the hill which was also run in conjunction with the park and was owned by the Harder family.

The Harder Mills were just north of the bathing beach and some of the old mill houses are still being lived in. When the mills were torn down the lumber was used to build other houses in Normansville. The Harder residence was the large Victorian style white painted house on the top of the hill just at the east end of the Delaware Avenue bridge. The mills were known as the Albany City Paper Mill, but progress and competition forced it to close down eventually.

In 1911-12 the bridge on the yellow brick road over the Normanskill was built. It is still standing but not much used now. In 1928 the present bridge was constructed. The creek was dammed at Normansville in two places, just below the present bridge and just above it. The dam above the bridge was near Pappalau's ice house. Ice was cut here from the creek in the winter and stored in the large ice house. There was also a carpenter mill in front of the ice house where the Pappalau's made their own wagons for use in the ice business. There were large horse stables behind the Pappalau mansion, which is still standing beside the creek today. The stables are gone, however.

The Hinkel Hotel stood at the east end of the old lower bridge on the yellow brick road. There was a large porch all around the hotel where the boarders used to sit and rock and pitch pennies at the fish swimming in the creek. Mr. Denny and the other neighborhood boys used to dive in front of the hotel and pick up the coins from the stream bed. The hotel was situated between the two dams and the water was quite deep there. The Hinkels had a little "showboat" which used to run around the stream between the two dams

1793 HAPPY ANNIVERSARY TO THE TOWN OF BETHLEHAM 1968

On March 12, the Town of Bethlehem is celebrating the 175th anniversary of its founding. The town was separated from the old Town of Watervliet on March 12, 1793 and since that day forward has seen steady growth and progress to become the suburban town we are all familiar with today. Its story, beginning with the days of the early fur trading posts, through its agricultural economy and small local industries of the nineteenth century, down through the era of the dirt turnpikes and plank roads to the modern Thruway of our own time, and from the Anti-Rent Wars up to the residential development and town structure of our present heritage, is told in a new booklet written by the Bethlehem Historian and available without charge to all residents of the Town. This booklet, "The Town of Bethlehem: A Brief History," will be available to the public on March 12 and thereafter at the Town Clerk's Office in the Bethlehem Town Hall and at the Delmar Public Library.

GOOD NEWS

When the Metropolitan Museum pays $2,500,000 for Rembrandt's "Socrates contemplating a Bust of Homer," that's news.

Is it still news when you can buy a good reproduction of it at the Village Shop (Four Corners) at a sale price of only $39.00?

Nobody asked us, but we think it is.

We also have names like: Corot, Monet, Renoir, Durer, Holbein, Toulouse Lautrec. The Metropolitan would give their eyeteeth for some of them. (if they were originals, of course) But they're not, so you can buy them on sale at prices ranging from 20% to 33-1/3% off.

Acquire a Rembrandt on sale. You'll feel deliciously cultured. Shrewd too.

175th Year (Cont'd. from Page 1) and take the guests for rides. There was a bar and restaurant in the hotel as well as a store and the farmers would stop there on their way to or from market in Albany. The hotel was eventually closed because of lack of business and vandals set it afire some years ago.

The Onderdonk family lived in the large square yellow painted farm house on the hill above the creek and there were great blackberry patches up behind the house. The hayfields were where the Delaware Plaza is now standing and cows were pastured on the Albany Public Market area. There was a carnival ground where the insurance company offices are now located and once when the Delmar Kiwanis wanted to use the field for a traveling carnival show the members had to cut the hay for Mr. Scrafford who owned it, before the carnival could come in.

Music Festival

The Bethlehem Central Senior High Music Department will present a "Baroque Music Festival" at 8:00 p.m., in the Bethlehem Central Senior High School Auditorium on March 7 (tonight), under the direction of Mr. Samuel Bozzella, Band Director, and Mrs. Magdalene York, Strings and Choral Director. Tickets may be obtained from members of the musical organizations or at the door.

The Band, Choirs, and String Orchestra have combined their efforts for the first time to bring together music from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The "Baroque Music Festival" is the culmination of their combined effort in learning.

Featured in the program will be works from the four schools of the Baroque Era. Bach and Handel will represent the German school; Scarlatti, Vivaldi, and Correlli will represent the Italian. Purcell is a well known English composer and Lelande represents France.

Several talented young soloists will be featured in the concert. Barbara Ganey accompanied by the strings will play an oboe concerto on themes of Perfolesi. The first movement of Correlli's Concerto Grosso Opus 6 No. 4 will be performed by Carol Raymond and Margaret Heilman on violin. The Choraliers will feature five soloists in the Vivaldi Gloria, and a Brass ensemble will play "Two Trumpet Tunes and Ayre" by Purcell.

The band, choir and orchestra will be combined to open the program with the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah. Another combination will be the Choraliers as they sing Vivaldi's Gloria accompanied in the first and last movements by the String

Library Notes

A most unusual and helpful book has been placed on the reference shelves at the Delmar Public Library. "Arts of the U.S." is the end result of a long range color slide project of the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Through careful selection, a specialist in each major area of American Art was chosen to write on the various aspects of art in his field and to select for reproduction those objects which, in his estimation, best record its development and achievement.

Photographs of these appear in black and white in the book. So well arranged are the table of contents and the index that to find what one is seeking is an easy matter. This is a book that will appeal to teacher, student and anyone arranging a program on a given subject in the art world as slides in color rather than the black and white in the book may be borrowed through the New York State Library.

A word of warning - you must reserve the slides well in advance - at least four to six weeks.

"Renewal"

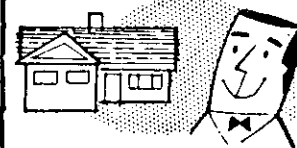

Programs with emphasis on "Renewal" will be held at the First Methodist Church in Delmar during the week-end of March 7-10.

The Women's Society meeting at noon on Thursday will feature as speaker the noted theologian Helen Huntington Smith. Miss Smith has just retired as Director of the Council for Lay Life and Work of the United Church of Christ, and is now a religious liaison worker with the United Nations in New York. This meeting will open with a luncheon in the church hall, after which Miss Smith will address the group.

On Thursday evening, members of the church will meet with the ministers to have a "New Look at the Bible," following leads given them by Dr. Ralph Elliott at a previous session.

Saturday evening will feature a "Happening," in the modern mode, using various forms of self-expression in a religions context. Sunday morning worship will feature a chancel drama, "Ambassador of Fire," produced by members of the congregation. This is a dramatic presentation of the life and work of the apostle Paul.

WSCS

The WSCS of the Slingerlands Methodist Church will hold its general meeting on Monday, March 11, at 8 P.M. at the Church.

A playlet entitled "The Convert" by Myra Scovel will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Frederick Stolz. Discussion will be led by Mrs. Robert Ruckterstuhl.

Fashion Show

A Spring Fashion Show and Luncheon will be held by the Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers on Tuesday, March 12, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Holiday Inn of America on Central Avenue.

Fashions from Town & Tweed will be modeled by Mesdames Simon J. Aman, Robert M. Beaty, John J. Bonanno, C. Kenneth Bullock, Robert D. Cronin, Paul J. Dite, Arnold O. Kern, Theodore E. Lefton, David C. Smart, Jack D. Staples, Russell I. Vail, C. Lynn Wickwire, and Harold Wolfe.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Richard S. Ward and Co-Chairman is Mrs. William H. Farwell, Jr. Reservations may be made with either Mrs. Ward, 439-6495 or Mrs. Farwell, 439-6554 by March 8.

Vision Tests

For the second year, the Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers, in connection with the Albany Association of the Blind and the New York State Commission for the Blind, will sponsor a free pre-school vision screening program which may detect amblyopia or other eye defects in children. The eye screening will be for all three, four, and five year old pre-schoolers in the Town of Bethlehem. It will take place on March 18, 19, 20, and 21 at the First Methodist Church in Delmar from 11 A.M. to 1 P.M. The Glenmont children will be screened on March 26 at the Glenmont Community Church from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M.

The screening will be done by volunteers from the Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers who have had eight hours of training by Miss Patricia J. Gnat, Co-ordinator of Pre-School Vision Screening, Albany Association of the Blind. Repeat screenings will be done on all failures and parents of youngsters who show a vision problem will be notified, so that professional and corrective treatment can be implemented.

Amblyopia, or "lazy eye blindness," is a disorder in which an eye appears healthy but actually has low or poor vision, which in many cases cannot be helped by wearing glasses. If not treated early in life, it can lead to blindness. When the eyes are not perfectly straight, two pictures are registered separately by the brain and no blending into one form takes place. This results in double vision, which the brain cannot tolerate. If this happens, the brain suppresses the picture in the weaker eye and this eye gradually loses its ability to see clearly.

Also, amblyopia can occur when both eyes are straight. For instance, when there is a major refractive error in one eye, that eye receives a picture which is blurred. This blurred picture cannot be fused with the clear picture that the brain receives from the other eye. In such cases, vision is suppressed in the eye with the refractive error and central vision in this eye does not develop further unless corrected early.

Amblyopia is known to effect one out of twenty American children. The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness points out that amblyopia is nearly 100% preventable. It could be conquered if parents would seek the knowledge and help which is available such as literature provided by the Society, the pre-school screening programs, which are being conducted all over the country, or by having eye examinations. Since the critical period of development of acute vision is between the ages of one and seven, a child's eyes should be examined before he is four years old, and treated, if necessary, the earlier the better.

Speaker

State Senator Thomas Laverne will be the guest speaker at the March 12 meeting of the Albany County Women's Republican Club at the Hotel Ten Eyck, 7:30 P.M.

Senator Laverne, (Republican, Rochester) has represented the 50th Senatorial district in the New York State Legislature since 1960. Considered to be one of the most knowledgeable and well-informed representatives in State Government today, Senator Laverne is recognized as a specialist in labor and industry legislation, having held the post of Chairman of the Senate's Standing Committee on Labor and Industry during the past seven legislative sessions.

His leadership of the Joint Legislative Committee on Metropolitan and Regional Areas has given him an opportunity to become more keenly aware of the problems facing residents of urban communities today: here, as in so many other fields, New York can become the legislative pacesetter for smaller and less-populated states.

Senator Laverne, a compelling and dynamic speaker, will talk about the recent crisis in New York City.

Whatever your dreams of luxury or comfort, share them with us and let us reveal an uninhibited new concept of beauty for the bath. As we have shown you with our kitchens, there is a world of difference between the ordinary and the inspired. And it's not the cost, but the Mayfair decorator that makes the difference.

unusual hardware
offered by very few other designers . . . knobs, pulls, faucet sets, towel bars and rings, shower sets and so on.

custom-made vanities
produced in accordance with our strictest standards of construction and in their unique beauty, reflecting your dreams of private luxury or echoing the decorative excellence of other portions of your home.

new floor, wall and ceiling treatments are all individually custom-designed, inspired by the newest creations and inventions of fine manufacturers and never to be duplicated; yours alone.

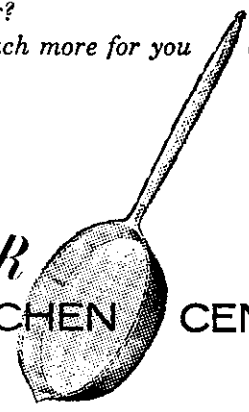

We can redesign all or part of any bathroom, new or old

We will transform it completely, with luxurious counter toppings, custom cabinetry, custom fittings and accessories and inspired treatment of plane surfaces. Imagine the pleasure of choosing hardware and accessories of Roman gold, pewter, satin brass, copper, antique silver, bronze, blue, green, soft black . . . whatever you cherish in your secret heart. Wouldn't you enjoy a Provencal lavatory bowl with gold faucets . . . or blue Delft with silver?

The savings account that helps itself to your money.

We call it Automatic Savings, and it works something like this:

You tell us how much you want to save, and each month that amount disappears from your checking account automatically.

Nothing depends on your getting down to the bank. Nothing depends on your will power. Nothing depends on your family's will power.

The savings account just takes the money.

Of course, if you want to skip a month, you can always make a withdrawal. (And you can always call the whole deal off.)

On the other hand, if you want to keep saving, you don't have to do anything.

With an incentive like that, you could save a fortune.
