THEREFORE — I, BERTRAM E. KOHINKE, DO HEREBY PROCLAIM THE DAY, MARCH 23, 1968 AS DELMAR COMMUNITY ORCHESTRA DAY IN THE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM AND I CALL UPON THE CITIZENS OF THIS TOWN DURING THIS DAY, TO HONOR AND SUPPORT THE DELMAR COMMUNITY ORCHESTRA ON THE EVENT OF THEIR NINTH SPRING CONCERT.

An August wedding is planned.

Outdoor Art Show

A re-run of the highly successful Outdoor Art Show and sale held last year at the Delaware Plaza was announced this week by the Bethlehem Art Association.

Setting May as the target date, BAA President Johanna Saper said: "The Outdoor Sale last year exceeded all our expectations. We don't know if it was the casual idea of propping paintings and art objects against our cars, or the low prices for fine work, or the idea of talking over the purchase with the artist himself, or even the pleasant surprise of seeing so much work of such high quality emanating from this small area — whatever the reason, people loved it and bought good art at bargain prices."

"A definite date will be set soon, and rules governing the exhibit will be announced at the same time," she added.

Other activities by the BAA include children's classes conducted by Delmar artist Joseph Roberts. Mr. Roberts, who teaches Art at Philip Livingston Jr. High and the Heldeberg Workshop, holds classes at 231 Delaware Avenue on Saturday mornings from 10 A.M. to 12 noon.

A sketch class, held Wednesday at 8 P.M. at 231 Delaware Ave., Delmar, is open to members.

Meeting

The Town of Bethlehem Historical Association will meet Thursday evening, March 21, at 8 o'clock in the Red Schoolhouse at Selkirk.

The speaker will be Albert Nino of Coeymans, collector and authority on Indian lore and artifacts.

Articles Needed

The Jerusalem Reformed Church of Feura Bush is looking for any saleable articles such as furniture, appliances, household goods, etc. Bring to church or arrange for pick-up. Call HE 9-1881 or HE 9-3653.

At the Library

Hunted in Holland, an hour-long adventure film, is scheduled for showing on Saturday, March 16, at the Delmar Public Library. The film, dealing with three children who attempt to thwart a diamond-smuggling gang, will appeal to the elementary school age.

There will be a showing at 9:30 and a second showing at 11:00.

YOUR INCOME TAX

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I've never filed an estimated tax before. How can I tell for sure what my income is going to be this year?

A — One method of estimating your 1968 tax is to use the income and expense figures appearing on your 1967 return. If your income or expenses change during the year, you can amend your declaration when quarterly payments are due in June, September and January.

Remember, too, that an estimate is just that. As long as your payments are made on time and total at least 80 percent of your final 1968 tax liability, you will not be penalized.

Q — I want to deduct my medical insurance premiums but can't find the place to do this on the tax form. Where do they go?

A — Enter your medical insurance premiums on Page 2 of Form 1040. Use the first and fifth lines of Part IV, Itemized Deductions.

The premiums can't be deducted on Form 1040A. That form can only be used by taxpayers who don't itemize deductions.

Q — Is income from a scholarship taxable?

A — Scholarships and fellowships grants are tax free within certain limitations. For more details, send a post card to your District Director and ask for Document No. 5575 "Scholarships and Fellowships".

General tax information for students is contained in the new publication, "Tax Information for Students and Parents", Document No. 5972. Both are free.

Q — I'm in a car pool and drive over 40 miles to work and back.

Can we take a 10¢ a mile deduction for business travel?

A — No. Tax law considers commuting to work a personal expense and therefore no deduction is allowed. A deduction is allowed, however, for state and local gas taxes if you itemize. This is explained on Page 9 of the 1040 instructions.

Q — I have a pension from my company as well as Social Security benefits. I know Social Security is not taxable but how about the company pension?

A — If the company paid the entire cost of the pension, the amounts you received will be fully taxable. If you paid part of the cost, only a portion of your pension benefits will be taxed.

If you will recover the total amount of your contributions within three years after you receive the first payment, your pension will not be taxed until you have recovered your cost. If you will not recover the amount of your contributions within the three years, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year.

Additional information on this subject may be found in IRS Document No. 5018, "Retirement Income and Credit." This document can be obtained by dropping a post card to your local IRS office.

A Miraculous Escape

The winding road skirting the Normanskill Creek flowing 90 feet below, west of Kenwood, was the scene of an accident yesterday morning which chilled the blood of the three people who experienced the terrible ordeal. Two horses went over the ragged precipice and but for the jumping of the occupants of the wagon, they probably would have met the same fate.

Harry S. Wemple, the milk dealer of Bethlehem, who has a large route in the city and vicinity, accompanied by his little son, Harry, aged 8 years, and his helper, Joe Loshier, aged 19 years, was driving along the road that leads over the Devil's Bridge in the Kenwood cut, when one of the horses shied and the team went over the precipice. The wagon followed on top of them, and Mr. Wemple picked up his son in his arms and leaped to a place of safety just as the forward wheels went over the cliff. Loshier also leaped, and got out of the wagon while it was in midair. The horses fell to the bottom of the abyss where their mangled remains were nestled among the jagged rock.

The scene of the accident is one of the most picturesque of the many scenes in this vicinity. It is located about one-fourth of a mile south of the celebrated Kenwood convent. About 100 yards to the west are the falls of the Normanskill, while the kill flows through the declivity in a gentle sweep, purling among the rocks with which the place abounds and tapping the borders of a sloping burst of meadowland upon the south. A long, narrow island, shaped like a toothpick, is in the kill just below the scene of the accident and directly opposite is the wheel house where is gathered the power that supplies Chamberlain's grist mill. Upon either side of the kill at this point there rises a high precipitous wall of rock, breaking the face of the ground into rugged grandeur. On the southeast side of the canyon the rock rises to a height of at least 300 feet and its top is fringed with trees that stand out in gaunt perspective against the sky.

Mr. Wemple arose as usual yesterday morning shortly before 5 A.M. and attended to some of the chores that were necessary to be done about the place where he lives, which is a short distance from the scene of the accident. At half-past five he hitched up the team and with his son and assistant started out to serve the customers. There were 8 cans in the wagon, each full of milk, and a number of milkman's sundries in the bottom of the wagon under the seat. While the horses were being driven over the Devil's Bridge, which is built over the culvert through which the trains of the D & H Railroad Company roll, they showed signs of being restive, and as the east end of the bridge was reached they were almost beyond control. Joe was driving and Wemple was on the side away from the gulch. As the team struck the opposite side of the bridge, a cloud of smoke came up through the cracks of the structure and the horses' speed was accelerated there at greatly surmounts the top of the cliff and were in mid-air.

Wemple yelled to Joe to jump, and seizing little Harry about the waist, despite his lameness for rheumatism and the cramped position he was in, he leaped to the ground while his helper followed him. The horses plunged to the bottom in a heap, the wagon on top of them. The air was full of flying milk tickets and milk cans, while the milk flowed through the roots and stumps of the hillside and soaked the ground as though it were rain. One of the horses, "May," was a very valuable animal and lived for about 15 minutes after the accident, but her companion a gray horse, was killed instantly. Mr. Wemple was able to secure 240 quarts of milk from neighboring farmers and supplied those of his customers that he could, and the debris from the accident was removed late in the day. A large number of people came down to the scene during the morning,

Gas Odors?

Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation has asked area residents to report gas odors, or any suspicious odors, to the company for immediate investigation by the utility's servicemen.

Niagara Mohawk said it maintains crews on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to investigate calls on electric or natural gas service. The servicemen will quickly respond to a call report-

Utility officials said the amount of frost now in the ground usually will stop any seepage of leaking gas upward through the ground. However, they noted that frost leaving the ground during a mild spell can cause a subsurface heaving and a subsequent disturbance of gas distribution lines.

The power firm said it has a continuing leak detection program, including scheduled testing of underground openings, such as manholes and catch basins. Large buildings and publicly occupied buildings also are inspected regularly, with major pipelines patrolled on foot or by mobile leak detection vehicles. During the winter months such surveys are stepped up.

At the same time Niagara Mohawk urged all persons or firms proposing to excavate in streets, highways or any place where underground gas facilities may be present to notify the utility form before starting the work. The company will then advise of the exact location of gas facilities in the area and of the steps necessary to prevent damage to the mains.

Business Aide

The Bethlehem Board of Education has created a new position in the school district with the appointment of another administrative assistant.

The board approved the appointment of Delbert Collis to serve as assistant business administrator. Earlier this year Frederick C. Burdick was employed to serve as assistant to the superintendent.

Mr. Collis, who is currently chairman of the business education department at Mount Pleasant School in Schenectady, will assist business administrator Dale Everett.

Mr. Collis will receive a salary of $13,500 a year and Bethlehem officials hope that he will be able to assume his duties

March 20. According to Superintendent Dr. Richard Moomaw, Mr. Collis' resignation is effective March 20, but he will not be able to assume his position at Bethlehem until a later date unless the Schenectady school can secure a replacement for him.

The board has also accepted the resignation of Constance Snyder, junior high school French teacher, effective June 30. She has expressed a desire to teach on a substitute basis.

The resignation of Mrs. Jeanette Earls, junior high mathematics teacher, was accepted and will also be effective June 30. Mrs. Earls has been teaching in the Bethlehem Central School District since 1930.

William Fuller was named to fill the freshman swimming coach vacancy created by the resignation of John Farrell. Mr. Fuller will be paid a pro-rated amount, $70 of the freshman swimming coach's remaining salary allowance.

The board also accepted the resignation of Dorann Platel, third grade teacher at Hama-grael School, effective June 30. Miss Platel has accepted a position in another community.

To Remodel?

A renovation project to convert the old fire hall at Voorheesville into a municipal building is being contemplated by the Voorheesville Village Board.

According to Mayor Richard J. Bailey, the board is discussing plans to remodel the structure which was left vacant last fall when the fire department moved into its new building. The facility would provide additional village office space and a meeting room for civic groups.

More concrete plans for the building are expected to be discussed at the village board meeting in late March.

The board recently approved a resolution affiliating the Village of Voorheesville with the Albany County Water Study.

New Pool

A $45,000 addition has been attached to the proposed Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk School District indoor swimming pool facility which is to be voted on by district residents along with a $2.9 million junior high school bond issue March 30.

The $45,000 addition to the swimming pool facility would increase the total cost of the structure to $295,000. The additional monies are being sought so that a remedial exercise room may be included in the building.

The original plan called for a building 110 by 66 feet to house the 42 by 75-foot swimming pool. According to Dr. Frank Filippone, district superintendent, the size of the pool would remain the same but the overall dimensions of the building would be "somewhat larger" to accommodate the exercise room.

The swimming pool building would be located to the north of the present Junior-Senior High School gymnasium.

Dr. Filippone said the remedial exercise room would be used to provide special exercise training classes for those pupils in need of special exercises. The facility could be used also as a special training center for the physically handicapped.

The superintendent said the addition might be used for inter-scholastic wrestling.

The original cost of the proposed junior high was placed at $2,989,000 but the sum to be requested in the bond issue election was changed to $2.9 million because of legal stipulations attached to the bonding procedures.

The junior high and swimming pool proposals will be voted on as separate issues. Plans for both programs are currently in the hands of the State Department of Education, whose approval is needed before the proposals can be brought to a vote. Dr. Filippone foresees no difficulty in receiving the approval of the state department.

The proposed junior high would be a two-story structure designed to accommodate 920 pupils in Grade 6 through 8. It would be constructed adjacent to the present junior-senior school parking lot, facing the present school.

The new school would house 20 classrooms, six science rooms, two art rooms, two home economics rooms, two shops and one large instructional center which would also be used as a music room.

The building would also include a large instructional materials center and gymnasium. The plans do not call for an auditorium.

Hunting in '67

More deer were taken in New York during the 1967 game season than were ever before harvested in the State, according to an announcement today by Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne. The season total of 78,481 whitetails taken by gunners and archers topped their previous record of 73,693 set only last year. Included in this new record also is a record high of 51,215 adult bucks, exceeding the 1966 record of 43,875.

Not included in the overall statewide harvest figure were an additional 175 deer taken during the special post-season hunt on the Seneca Army Depot in Central New York.

"The record deer harvest again demonstrates the effectiveness of New York's deer management program, particularly the party permit system," Commissioner Kilborne explained. "By prudent harvest of antlerless deer along with adult bucks, the State's deer herd is balanced at the level which allows an abundant harvest each year without weakening the necessary breeding stock."

"An overabundance of deer does not mean, as some think, better hunting or easier kills. Rather, too many deer mean excessive agricultural damage and deterioration of winter range food supplies. This latter factor results in widespread starvation during a severe winter because it produces many deer in weakened condition instead of the proper number of deer in good condition. New York's deer management program is designed to maintain deer population levels compatible with man's use of the land and the winter range food supplies," the Commissioner concluded.

season. This take has been exceeded in six of the past 10 years; the record being 648 bears taken in 1965. This season, Adirondack hunters harvested 376 bears and Catskill hunters took 73, near the average for the past 10 years. Central and Western hunters bagged only eight bruins, an all-time low.

A regional breakdown of the deer harvest indicates that Central and Western hunters harvested 30,226 deer, Catskill hunters bagged 27,578 deer and Adirondack nimrods took 20,677.

Record buck harvests were reported in 22 countries, 11 in Central and Western New York, seven in the Catskills and four in the Adirondacks. Nine more counties either tied their previous adult buck take record or had the second highest take recorded.

A detailed, county-by-county summary of the big game season take will be ready shortly.
