Sacred Cantata

The public is invited to hear a sacred cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Dubois, which will be sung at the Jerusalem Reformed Church in Feura Bush on Sunday, March 31, at 7:30 P.M.

Mrs. John Egy of Feura Bush will direct the Cantata and Elmer Smith, organist at the Jerusalem Reformed Church, will accompany at the organ.

Members of several area church choirs will make up the 50-voice choir. Participating soloists are Mrs. Elmer Smith of Jerusalem Reformed Church; Miss Antoinette Cambareri and Mrs. George Kendall of Unionville Reformed Church; Douglas Moak of St. Peter's Episcopal Church; Daniel Baker, Jr. and William Weitz, Jr., of Bethany Community

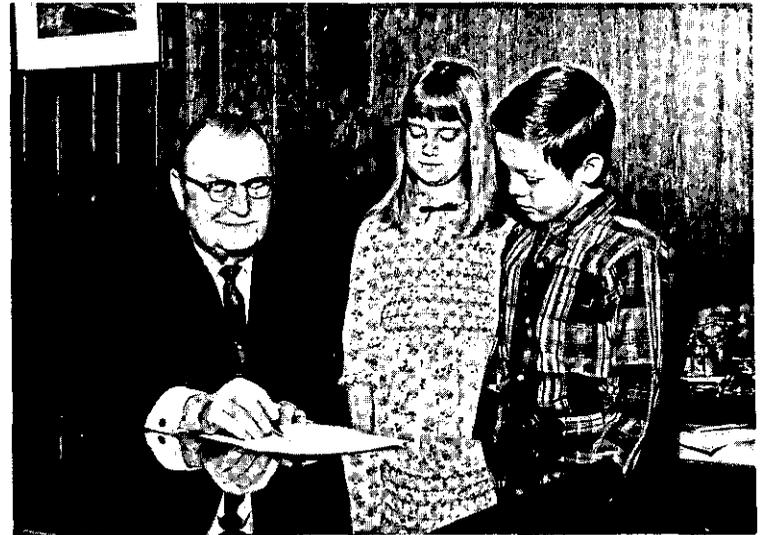

Breakfast

Dr. Alvin S. Roth, Rabbi Temple Beth Emeth, Albany, will be the guest speaker at the annual "Go To Church" Breakfast of Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post, American Legion in Elsmere, on Sunday, March 23.

The breakfast is held each year in connection with the Legion's "Back to God" program. All Legion members, their sons and friends are invited to attend.

Church, and Rev. John Egy, pastor of the Jerusalem and Onesequethaw Reformed Churches.

Participating clergymen are the Rev. Thomas Kendall, pastor of the Unionville and New Salem Reformed Churches, and the Rev. Jared VanWagenen, pastor of the Clarksville Community Church.

Bethlehem Supervisor Bertram E. Kohinke signs proclamation for Heldeberg Week as Susan Krause and Brian Parrott watch.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the Heldeberg Workshop has contributed to the educational enrichment of our young people in the Town of Bethlehem, and

WHEREAS, the further development of this program is in the best interests of all of our citizens, and

WHEREAS, our Town and surrounding communities take pride in the national recognition that has been afforded this program,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Bertram E. Kohinke, Supervisor of the Town of Bethlehem, do hereby name and declare the week of March 25, 1968 as "HELDEBERG WEEK" and call upon all citizens of the Town to join in support of the "Heldeberg" workers who will be soliciting funds for the development of additional facilities.

Bertram E. Kohinke
Supervisor

Campaign

For several years The Heldeberg Workshop has provided a unique educational experience for young people and has enjoyed a spectacular growth as a result of the enthusiastic support of the community.

To further enhance this project, the leadership of Heldeberg is entering a campaign to solicit funds in the amount of $100,000 to purchase a 270-acre site for the development of outdoor arts and science studies.

An informational booklet has been prepared and distributed with pledge cards throughout the area.

Bertram E. Kohinke, Supervisor of the Town of Bethlehem, has proclaimed the week of March 25th to be "Heldeberg Week." During this week volunteer workers will be calling for donations.

This program has been endorsed by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller and has received National recognition.

Saturday Hours - 8 - 4

About 24 hours after he cut the cake to commemorate the 175th anniversary of the town's founding, Town Attorney Arthur McCormick said, "The $125,000 will probably be more than sufficient to cover the purchase price of the property."

The 4-acre site includes about 1,650 feet of river frontage. The river frontage has two areas removed from it, one of them Smith's Marina.

The property is north of Vroman's Creek and south of Winne Road in the southeast part of the Town. Winne and Lyons Roads will give access to the park site which will be developed with nature and organized recreation areas.

According to Mr. McCormick, who presided over the town board meeting in the absence of Supervisor Bertram Kohinke who is vacationing in Florida, the purchase will be made from Wiggand & Bagle Inc. of Cedar Hill.

Although the $125,000 will cover the purchase price of the site, Mr. McCormick said this does not eliminate the possibility of securing state and federal aid to help finance the purchase and development.

At an earlier meeting, Paul Dickinson said the federal government could provide 50 per cent of the cost of purchase and development and the state as much as 25 per cent.

Industrial Park

The Bet-Mar Holding Corp. has received the Bethlehem Planning Board's stamp of approval on the organization's plans to develop its proposed Bethlehem Industrial Park.

Arthur Zautner of Delmar, retired town building inspector, and his son George, who is in the home construction business, are the principals in the holding company. The firm purchased the 93-acre tract about 18 months ago.

The site will be developed for light research and manufacturing in accordance with Bethlehem zoning ordinances. According to Arthur Zautner, construction is to start in the early spring.

The rectangular-shaped property, which has both wooded and open acres, has a frontage of about 900 feet on Route 9W and 2,200 feet adjoining the Thruway property. The proposed industrial park, which has water and gas available is between Thruway Exits 23 and 24.

Held Over

Don Wexler, general manager of Jamaica Inn, Latham, has announced that the John Cole Trio will remain at the Inn until April 7. The newly formed combo - it was put together less than a month ago - features John Cole at the piano, Carmen Carmanica on bass and guitar, and Jack Tokar at the drums.

The group opened at Jamaica Inn on February 27 for what was to have been a two-week engagement. According to Mr. Wexler, "Their all around good music for dancing and listening, plus their vocal and instrumental specialties, have drawn such good comments from our customers we decided we'd better keep them another four weeks."

gram on veal cookery being tele-vised at 4:30 p.m. on April 3.

According to Mrs. Eleanor J. Wages, Table Talk hostess, few homemakers prepare veal for family meals. This may be due to the fact that it is somewhat more expensive than other red meats or because the homemaker is not aware of the many methods used to cook veal.

A demonstration will be given showing how veal cutlets can be obtained from a veal round roast. This will prove to be a good way to cut the cost of veal cutlets. Mrs. Wages will also prepare veal birds and a delicious veal stew showing how variety can be achieved in meat dishes.

Homes Tour

The annual Homes Tour of the Albany Area Wellesley Club will take place on Saturday, May 4. This year the tour will focus on the charming and historical township of Coeymans in south-east Albany County. Except for the Warren home in Greene County, all the tour houses are in the township of Coeymans.

Coeymans was named for Barent Pieterse Coeymans, an immigrant from Utrecht in 1636. He purchased land from the Kat-skill Indians in 1673 and secured a patent from Governor Lovelace on April 7 of that year. The oldest home in the area is that of Barent's daughter, Arriantze Coeymans. It is an old stone and brick house, begun about 1716. The building still stands near the Coeymans Landing and is in the process of being restored. The Armer house, on the tour, dates to 1723.

The following owners have con-sented to open their houses to tour visitors: Mr. and Mrs. James A. Warren, Route 9W, West Cox-sackie; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Armer, Route 144, Coeymans; Dr. and Mrs. Ira D. Ave., Coeymans; and Dr. and Mrs. Warren Knox, Old Ravena Rd., Selkirk. Also noteworthy, though not actually on the tour, is the old Coeymans School across the street from the Keirn home. This was built in 1873 and served as the Village of Coeymans public school from 1899 to 1963. It is considered an architectural treasure, but is presently under threat of demolition unless a community use can be found for it.

Co-chairmen of the Wellesley Club Homes Tour are Mrs. Thomas H. Dinnel and Mrs. Alexander N. Slocum, Jr. The ticket chairman is Mrs. Duntan F. Tynan and tickets will be available from all Wellesley Club members.

The brochure describing the houses is being written by Mesdames Reynolds Holding, Freeman T. Putney, Jr., and V.A. Van Valkenburgh.

Mrs. Carl Ernst and Mrs. A. David Goodman will be co-chairman of hostesses and refreshments will be served at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John F. Mosher under the direction of Mrs. C. Jordan Vail.

Houses on the tour will be open from 1 to 5 P.M. for the benefit of the Wellesley College Faculty Advancement Fund. No children under 14 will be admitted and no spiked heels, please!

Library Notes

The current exhibit at the Delmar Public Library will be of great interest to area residents. Members of the art class under the adult education program in the Bethlehem School District have hung their various paintings in the Community Room.

These artists represent a cross section of the area residents.

It sounded like the great American hoax at first but with a tragic undertone. However, a bit of investigation proved "Operation Rescue" to be serious and to touch, in a practical way, on the matter of deep concern to everyone aware of the truth that wild life the world over is fast disappearing. Many of us are concerned - we write letters and talk about this but seldom can we actually do something concrete to help. Now is your chance.

this — in the next year a four hundred square mile area in South America will be flooded to make a lake for an engineering project. In this area are thousands of animals that will perish unless moved to other areas. Some are practically extinct now. Your discarded hose will be braided into strong, pliable ropes that will be wrapped around the legs, or if need be, bodies, of the animals to save them from injury as they are moved.

Earl Pudney of WRGB is working on this project and is the contact man in the Tri-City locale. The Delmar Library urges you to cooperate.

ASB reaches $300,000,000. Thanks to our depositors.

And the future looks brighter than ever.

We're the first savings bank in Northeastern New York to reach total assets of $300 million—and proud of it. But we're not running this message just to talk about our accomplishment.

We're grateful to our depositors who have made it all possible through their confidence in us. For our part we intend that our leadership shall continue. We shall pay consistently high dividends—our current 5% is the highest in the State. We shall continue to be eager to help with our mortgage and home improvement loans. We shall continue the progressive attitudes that will be of greatest assistance to our depositors and the increasing population of the areas we serve.

To some, reaching $300,000,000 in assets might seem an end in itself. But to us, it looks like it's just the beginning.

What's a savings bank got to do with credit?

Quite a lot. For one thing, your savings and your savings habits are important when you need credit.

To put it simply, a good credit rating is based on good financial management. And good financial management is based on good savings habits.

We've been helping people get the savings habit for 100 years. May we help you?

Friendly Coming

Work has started on clearing the site for the once controversial Friendly Ice Cream Corp. Restaurant in the Town of Bethlehem. The restaurant is expected to open in August.

When the Friendly Ice Cream Corp. initiated proceedings about a year ago to construct a restaurant at 270-272 Delaware Avenue, it became involved in a zoning hassle which was not resolved until several months later.

Recently a home on the future site of the restaurant was demolished, clearing the way for construction of the new building. The work will probably get underway in the next couple of weeks, according to Bethlehem Building Inspector Robert Collins and Richard Mastocks, regional real estate supervisor for the firm.

The restaurant will be a one-story brick structure of Georgian colonial design and will have a seating capacity of 58 customers and a parking lot for 40 cars. The 80x35 foot building will be exactly the same as the Friendly Ice Cream Restaurant on State St., Schenectady. Drive-in service will not be permitted because of Bethlehem Zoning regulations.

When proceedings were initiated early in 1967, the firm asked for an exception to construct the restaurants in a CC Zone. The Bethlehem Zoning ordinance prohibited construction of restaurants in CC commercial zones and the company's request was rejected by the Bethlehem Board of Appeals.

William Crannell of 11 Laurel Drive, Elsmere, one of the owners of the neighboring apartment building at 274 Delaware Avenue represented the residents of the building and opposed the exception contending the restaurant would affect the privacy of their homes. He also said parking at the restaurant would be inadequate and an overflow of cars would cause hazardous traffic conditions.
