Art Show

For the past year, Bethlehem Art Association members have been setting aside choice works of art to be offered to the public at surprisingly low prices at this year's open air show and sale on Sunday, May 5.

Using the spacious grounds of Delaware Plaza, the artist-members will drive in with their cars and station wagons loaded with paintings, drawings, sculpture, and prints. Working feverishly, they will, by 1:30, be ready for hordes of art lovers hunting for bargains (and bargain hunters looking for art) until the exhibit closes at 5 P.M.

If last year is any criterion, they will find a lot of what they want and will go home culturally enriched.

It's amusing, exciting, entertaining, stimulating. Don't miss it.

In the event of rain, the show will be held the following Sunday, May 12.

Candidate

John J. Mc Kenzie of Clarksville, has announced that he is a candidate for election to the School Board of Bethlehem School District. The election will be held May 8. Mr. Mc Ken-

Budget Up!

A $1,245,864 budget increase is being proposed by the Bethlehem Central School District Board of Education.

A budget totaling $6,911,585 will be submitted to district voters May 8. The school district is currently operating on a $5,665,721 budget.

The largest portion of the increase, about $700,000, has been earmarked for regular day school instruction, principally for salaries. The salary total is $3.4 million of the $3,830,900 appropriated under this section. This represents about a one-half million dollar increase over the current fiscal plan.

Salary negotiations between the district's Teachers Association and the Board of Education have not been completed. However, $2,610,543 has been appropriated in the budget for certified teachers from pre-kindergarten through 12th grade teachers.

The proposed budget would require Bethlehem property owners to pay an additional $12.50 per $1,000 assessed valuation. An estimated $17 increase would apply in the Town of New Scotland.

These increases are based upon the $7.26 state aid per pupil ratio. On a $7.60 per pupil standard, the Bethlehem increase would be about $11 and the New Scotland boost also would be less.

The state aid figure awaits action in the Legislature.

The increase in teacher salary appropriations includes salaries for additional teachers to accommodate the 225 additional pupils who are expected to enroll in district schools this fall.

The board pointed out that the district also will expand teaching services in the elementary libraries, music, art, physical education and speech therapy.

Additional non-instructional personnel will be required to service the new high school addition which is scheduled to open in January, officials pointed out.

An addition, $140,000 has been appropriated for debt service, which includes the redemption of about $450,000 worth of bonds for the high school addition. About $280,000 of the $738,220 debt service total goes for interest payments on bonds.

An additional $140,000 provision for building maintenance is the chief factor in the increased appropriation for plant operation and maintenance. The board has earmarked $630,855 for this purpose compared to the current budget figure of $488,890.

The second largest appropriation is $909,025 for undistributed expenses which includes employee benefits, insurance and sewer and water taxes.

The district anticipates a collection of $4,327,359 from real property taxes, compared to the $3,562,986 levied this year.

State aid is expected to increase from $1.7 million to about $2.1 million. Federal aid is anticipated in the amount of about $52,000, a $14,000 increase over this year's figure.

Summer School

The Bethlehem Central School District will again offer summer school courses in driver education and personal typing.

Driver education (July 1-August 21) is open to any youth residing in the district, in grades 10-12 as of September, 1968, and of at least age 16 on or before July 1, 1968, if he has not been issued a New York State Junior or Senior operator's license.

Personal typing (July 1-July 30) is open to any youth residing in the school district and in grades 9-12 as of September, 1968.

Application forms for both courses will be available in the Senior High main office on Monday, May 6, when registration will open. Registrants will be enrolled in the order in which their applications are received.

Guest Night

The Bethlehem Garden Club will have its annual guest night on May 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the National Commercial Bank in Delmar. Guests will be the Guilderland Garden Club, the Albany Evening Garden Club and the Delmar Progress Club Garden Club.

John G. MacDougal of Scotia and an engineer at General Electric will present a program on "Wild Flowers." Mr. MacDougal

More Taxes

Firemen responded to the call of the Coeymans Town Board to participate in a public hearing on a proposed estimated $1 tax increase in the Coeymans Fire Protection District and voiced their dissatisfaction.

Jack Bailey, president of the Ravena Hose Co., and Robert Payne, chairman of the Coeymans Hollow Fire Department, read statements which criticized the Town Board and the Coeymans Fire District for not discussing the question with representatives of their organizations before scheduling the hearing.

The Town Board reserved decision on the matter until the next meeting. A conference with representatives of the town's three fire departments will be held before a final decision is made.

The tax boost is being sought by the Coeymans Fire District for the purpose of purchasing a $30,000 fire pumper.

Winthrop Irwin, chairman of the Coeymans district, informed

Mr. Irwin said it would be more practical to tax residents of the Coeymans Fire Protection District because of the heavy tax burden the Coeymans Fire District (a separate unit) now should-ers.

A OK

The application of Louis Guidetti for permission to develop a housing subdivision at Elsmere Avenue and Bender Lane received conditional approval from the Bethlehem Planning Board.

The board approved the layout of the subdivision pending final approval of drainage factors. The developer plans to construct six, four-unit apartment buildings, which now will be a matter for consideration by the Bethlehem Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board also approved a boundary change in the proposed Maple Glen subdivision to be located near the intersection of Route 9W and 32 in Glenmont. Developers Robert J. and Donald C. Wiggand plan to construct seven homes in the subdivision.

A public hearing on the proposed Fawn Ridge subdivision off Murray Avenue in Delmar was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. May 14. Requesting the approval are Martin S. and Clara Y. Fuller. If ap-

Season Opens

Women golfing members of the Normanside Country Club opened their 1968 season this morning, Thursday, May 2, with a 9-hole scotch ball event which began at 9 A.M.

Mrs. Anthony Casimo and Mrs. Paul Laffey were co-chairmen of the arrangements for opening day. Luncheon followed the golfing.

Approved

A $126,740 budget, a target of considerable criticism at a public hearing April 15, was approved unanimously by the Voorheesville Board of Trustees.

The new budget represents a $38,000 increase over the current total and calls for a 33 1/3 property tax increase. The tax rate will be increased from $32.75 per $1,000 assessed valuation to $42.35.

In other action, the board discussed the proposed replacement of the Pine Street Bridge. The board is planning to install culverts and widen the road where the bridge now exists.

Mayor Richard Bailey said, "It is hoped that the majority of the work can be done by village employees with the cooperation of the county this summer." The project would cost an estimated $4,000.

3 Win Honors

Three Skidmore College students who reside in the Delmar area have been cited for their scholastic achievements during the first semester of the 1967-68 academic year.

A total of 382 students were recognized for their attainments at the annual honors convocation Thursday night (April 25). Skidmore has approximately 1,550 students.

A quality ratio of 3.30 or more of a possible 4, or straight A average, is required to qualify for honors. A ratio of 3 to 3.29 is recognized by honorable mention.

Meeting

The May 8 monthly meeting of Bethlehem Business Women will be held at Schraaft's Restaurant at 6:30 P.M.

Gordon Molyneux will be the speaker, and will show slides on his trip to Lebanon. Mr. Molyneux is a teacher of Social Studies and English at Bethlehem Central Senior High School. He has done graduate work at State University of New York at Albany, was granted a Fulbright Fellowship for study and research in the Middle East, American University of Beirut, Lebanon and Sophia University, Tokyo, Japan for Far East Studies. He has attended several N.Y.S. Council for Social Studies Conferences and the Great Books of Western World Leadership Workshop in 1965. For five years Mr. Molyneux was leader of Delmar Great Books Discussion Group. He is co-writer of Humanities 12 - curriculum guide for the State for 1968, by the New York State Jaycees.

Mrs. Lloyd Maeder, scholarship chairman, will introduce the two Bethlehem Business Women's scholarship winners. They are Karen M. Kaulfuss, daughter of Rev. & Mrs. Charles Kaulfuss, 113 Devon Road, Delmar, and Susan F. Udell, daughter of Mrs. Albert Udell, Upper Flatrock Road, Clarksville. Both these girls will be graduated from Bethlehem Central Senior High School in June and plan to go on to further education in the fall.

The award for Outstanding Performance in Business Education will be awarded to Susan E. Totten, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Francis Totten, Elm Ave., Selkirk. Susan is an honor student in the Class of 1968, having maintained an average of 90% or over, for 3 1/2 years in senior high school. Susan has been employed by the Administration Office of Bethlehem Central School District, part-time, as her work experience in the senior year.

Mrs. Lindsay Boutelle, president, will preside at the business meeting following the speaker and awards.

Spring Concert

On May 8, the Music Department of Bethlehem Central Senior High will present the annual Spring Concert at 8:00 P.M. in the Senior High auditorium. This concert is the culmination of a year's work for students in choir, band, and orchestra as well as several smaller performing groups.

The Concert Choir, under the direction of Magdalene York, will open the program with a contemporary selection: "The Paper Reeds By The Brooks," a baroque number, "Exultate Deo" and a madrigal "O May God Bless Thee," followed by the

Canoe Trips

Plans have been completed by Mr. and Mrs. James H. Carnahan, 10 Wiggand Drive, Glenmont, for three seven-day Adirondack Mountain wilderness canoe trips for boys and girls during the last three weeks of August.

The trips, guided by Jim Carnahan and Jim Wolfgang, will start at Long Lake and end at Saranac Lake Village. The trips will all start on Saturday afternoons beginning with Saturday, August 11, at 2:00 p.m.

More than 700 teenagers have tripped with the Carnahans over the past twenty summers and life in the wilderness has been experience throughout the lake regions of northern Canada as well as the Fulton chain of Lakes in New York State.

The first two trips this summer will be for boy and girl swimmers who have not traveled in canoes before and the last trip, which will be from August 25 through August 31 will be for junior high and high school boys and girls who are good paddlers with

Canteen Show

The Annual Canteen Show, sponsored by the Sr. High School Youth Center Council will be held this Saturday, May 4, starting at 8 P.M. in the auditorium of the Bethlehem Sr. High School. Tickets (1.00) may be purchased at the door. Proceeds of the show will be used by the Youth Center Council to purchase supplies and equipment for the Bethlehem Youth Center, located in the Jr. High School.

Co-directors of this year's show are Eileen Gross and Paul Caruso. Assisting the directors are Donna Smith and Robin Schaap. Publicity chairman is Debbie Schermerhorn. Heading the ticket and program committee is Steve Hunting. Dennis Klim is in charge of stage and props. At the conclusion of the show a dance will be held in the Dining Room for all persons who attended the show. Little Lester & The All Night Workers, a group headed by Bob Bellizzi, will provide the music.

Candy Center

In the gay, colorful new Barton Candy Department at Rhinogold's Pharmacy in Glenmont, shoppers will see a bewildering variety of more than 300 fashions in chocolate. Included among the styles introduced by Barton's are tiny Bartonettes, sculptured chocolate minatures in loops,

Dancers Return

The Capital Area Modern Dance Council returns to Delmar! The Delmar P-TA will present this group once again in their adaptation of "The Wonderful Knapsack." Residents of the area will recall their successful production of "Alice in Wonderland" last year.

"The Magic Knapsack" is a story about a soldier who, after serving his king well, went to his master for his reward only to find the royal treasury empty except for three pennies. He accepts the three pennies and then begins a journey which turns his knapsack into a magic one bringing many surprises.

The dances are set to music by Prokofiev, Bartok and Weinberger. The trolls are played by children who have studied modern dance in Ruth Draper's classes in Schenectady.

The program is scheduled for Sunday, May 5, at 3 P.M. at the Bethlehem Central Senior High School. Tickets are 50¢ for children and 75¢ for adults. They may be purchased at Grover's at the Delaware Plaza or at VanCurler's on State Street or at the door.

This is the only fund raising event for the Delmar P-TA this year.

Objections?

Several residents of Elsmere questioned with mixed emotions the proposed construction of a new Nathaniel Adams Blanchard American Legion Post home at a public hearing before the Bethlehem Board of Appeals.

The Legion post is seeking a special permit, which is required to construct a private club in a Residential A zone.

The large crowd in attendance agreed generally that the new building would be beneficial to the community but persons who live nearby expressed concern over the architectural design and the storage of refuse.

The proposed $110,000 structure would be constructed to the east of the present post home at

THE SPOTLIGHT

Elsmere Avenue and Poplar Drive.

Mrs. John Granito, who lives at 22 Poplar Drive, adjacent to the site, said she would not oppose the building provided trash cans were not located on the east side of the building. Gus Williams, chairman of the Legion building committee, said the trash would be kept to the rear of the building.

Members of the planning board noted that the plans provide for only a 10-foot clearance between the proposed building and the Delaware & Hudson Railroad siding to the rear of the structure. They asked Mr. Williams whether this provided enough space to allow firefighting equipment to approach the building from the rear.

Anthony Granito, a supervisor for the State Division of Fire Safety and an Elsmere resident, informed the board that 10 feet of clearance would meet the fire safety minimum if the area were kept clear of obstructions.

Richard Haverly, a member of the Legion post, who lives at 23 Poplar Drive, declared a larger clubhouse is needed but felt that the building should be of brick veneer finish on three sides to "conform with most of the homes on the street." The proposed structure would have a brick front and the remaining walls would be painted concrete block. Mr. Haverly stated his suggestion would benefit the post and also maintain property values in the neighborhood.

Hugh Brown of 36 Poplar Drive agreed with Mr. Haverly and suggested the board delay making a decision until complete architectural plans could be presented by the club. The location of doors and exits were not indicated on the sketches before the board.

Mr. Williams told the board the building was needed to accommodate the club's growing membership, which now stands at 754. The new building would provide about 40 per cent more floor space than the present facility.

He also pointed out the present building is used often by civic groups within the Town of Bethlehem and is currently the closest facility the town has to a community center.

May Day

The Tri-Village Council of Church Women will observe May Fellowship Day on May 3 at the Community Methodist Church of Slingerlands. This is a day of international celebration with the theme "Human Values in a Technological Society."

A petit luncheon will be served at 12:30 to be followed by the speaker, Rev. William Harris of Trinity Episcopal Church of Albany.

All women of the Tri-Village area are most cordially invited to attend.

Married

Miss Jeannine Sue Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burdette J. Parker of Delmar, became the bride on April 20 of Leo Augustus Kirkner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Kirkner, Sr., of Troy. The Rev. William J. Gaffigan performed the ceremony in St. Thomas' Church, Delmar.

The reception was held at Center Inn, Glenmont.

The former Miss Parker graduated from Bethlehem Central High School, Buffalo State Teachers College, and is a teacher in West Seneca Central School. Mr. Kirkner was graduated from Catholic Central High, Hudson Valley Community College, and will receive his bachelor degree in physical therapy from the University of Buffalo in May.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Cook of Brixton Road, Garden City, Long Island have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Jean Cook to Glenn Allan Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Guy Simmons of Colonial Acres, Glenmont.

The wedding is planned for June 29 in St. Joseph's Church in Garden City.

Miss Cook, who was graduated from Garden City High School in 1963, received her A.B. degree in psychology from Chestnut

Spraying Fruit Trees

One of the more challenging gardening activities is to raise apples and other tree fruits that are free of insects and diseases. A well timed spray program will help you meet this challenge.

Fortunately a multi-purpose spray has been developed that simplifies the task of deciding what spray to use and when. If you mix your own spray, use the following: Amount to use in each Pesticide gallon of water Captan - 50% Wettable Powder 2 Tablespoons Malathion - 25% Wettable Powder 2 Tablespoons Methoxychlor - 50% Wettable Powder 3 Tablespoons Dicolol (Kelthane) 18% Wettable Powder 3 Tablespoons Carbaryl (Selvin), can be used in place of Methoxychlor. Use 2

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading - not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

tablespoons of the 50% wettable powder in each gallon of water. This has the added advantage of thinning many varieties of apples when used in the two sprays following bloom. Thinning results in fewer but larger apples this year and an increase in blossoms next year.

Home orchard spray mixtures are available at garden centers. If you prefer to purchase your spray already prepared, be sure to read the label and make sure the same pesticides are included.

You may wonder why four different pesticides are needed in each spray. An explanation of the purpose of each material will answer this question. Captan is a fungicide that controls apple scab and other fungus diseases. Malathion is an insecticide that controls sucking insects such as aphids. The insecticides Methoxychlor and Carbaryl (Sevin) control chewing insects and are both effective against codling moth and apple maggot. Kelthane is only effective against mites, small insects resembling spiders.

In order to protect your fruit, the first spray should be applied before the blossoms open when the buds show color. Do not use the all purpose spray after the blossoms have opened. The insecticide in the mixture will kill bees that are necessary for pollination.

As soon as the petals have fallen make the next application of spray. From then on, fruit trees should be sprayed every 7 to 10 days until July, and every 10 to 14 days later in the summer. Stop spraying summer varieties at least 7 days before harvest. Fall and winter varieties should continue to be sprayed through the month of August. Usually a total of 8 to 10 sprays should be applied during the season for fall raeli products as books, balloons, pins, gift items, art work, stamps and coins. Refreshments will be available highlighted by the favorite Israeli food: falafel.

Decorations will consist of huge crafts projects built and displayed by member organizations of the Albany Jewish Youth Council. Street signs, artifacts, and booths will all reflect the spirit of Jerusalem the Golden.

'Reading' Eye

You'll see a great speed up in many of your department store and utility bills in the future as business turns to a new tool that makes data available faster. The new tool is an "eye" that can read marks or figures entered on documents by route meter men, sales clerks, and others. The new tool is an 'Optical Scanner' with an electronic eye which operates much as the human eye - except what it reads is turned into impulses that activate electronic equipment which, in turn, prints out invoices or other data.

Heretofore, intermediate steps were needed to get data into electronic printers. Clerks were used to punch holes into tabulating cards which were then sorted and fed into equipment to print the data punched in each card. With optical Scanners most of this preliminary work is eliminated as Scanner "eye" reading permits immediate printing of the data.

An example of this is the meter reader who checks your consumption of electricity, gas or water. He can now make a mark or enter data on a card which can be "read" automatically by the Scanner - thus, your invoice is ready almost immediately.

Scanners are highly precise and extremely particular about the forms they must read. Because of this, the business forms industry, for one, faces a mountain of problems in designing and manufacturing forms that will not cause "misreads" by the Scanner.

"Business forms for Scanners must be made with the same precision required in making a fine watch. A whole new generation of skilled printing craftsmen is being educated to the extreme tolerances needed in forms to be scanned," says Maurice O. Beverley, General Production Manager of Moore Business Forms, Inc., the world's largest manufacturer of business forms and probably the largest producer of forms for optical Scanners. "Ink colors, quality of paper, placing of the design elements - all have to be perfect if misreads by Scanners are to be avoided.

"In the past we thought that business forms had reached a high plateau of quality and ex-

Most people do not realize the amount of spray needed to thoroughly cover the tree and the fruit. Trees should be sprayed inside and out until a noticeable amount is dripping from the tree. This may require 6 to 10 gallons on a large tree or half that amount on a well grown dwarf tree.

For more information on spraying fruit trees, types of sprayers, and the use of pesticides for other purposes around the home, send 25¢ to the Cooperative Extension Association, Agricultural Division, 209 Federal Bldg., 441 Broadway, Albany, N.Y. 12207 and request the bulletin "No. 74, "A Guide to Safe Pest Control Around the Home."

Celebration

The twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the State of Israel will be celebrated at the Albany Jewish Community Center, 340 Whitehall Road, on Sunday, May 5, from 2-5 P.M. The celebration is being planned to help deepen, solidify and tie the people of the Capital District to the State of Israel which became free and independent in 1948.

The event, given community-wide support, will joyously mark the observance of the anniversary and the miraculous events of last June in which the Israelis were able to overcome the terrible odds and multitude of countries aligned against them.

The program will consist of a simulated street scene in the united city of Jerusalem. Booths will be constructed and display information on aliyah, study, service and travel to Israel. Other booths will sell such is-actness — but optical Scanning has taken us far beyond what we had expected ten years ago. The precision forms of today are ten times more precise than the forms industry had anticipated for the future. And the rapid advances in electronic equipment strongly indicate that the business forms industry faces a demand for even more highly sophisticated forms in the future.

"Today specialized craftsmen are being assigned to a printing production job only after intensive specialized training, far beyond the skills normally expected of printers and pressmen. These training programs, such as our Company has, insures correct use of new pressroom equipment required to produce forms for optical Scanners and for equipment still on the drawing boards. Moore, for one, is able to provide the precision products that are required today and for the foreseeable future."

It is this combination of equipment and precision business forms that is speeding industry's data work — and getting your bills to you faster!

New Breeds

Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne today announced news that will gladden the hearts of pheasant hunters across the State. Two additional strains of pheasants will be stocked in experimental numbers this week in New York State. The newcomers are the Korean Ringnecked and the Japanese Green.

Both birds are expected to thrive in cover which is not suitable for the familiar ringnecked pheasant. Approximately 1,400 Korean Ringnecked pheasants will be stocked in four locations in central and western counties and approximately 200 Japanese Green pheasants will be stocked in a single location in Sullivan County, west of Swan Lake. The Koreans will be planted in Allegany County, north of Angelica; in Cattaraugus County, east of Cattaraugus; in Chenango County, north of Bainbridge; and in Tioga County, north of Smithboro.

Equal numbers of cock and hen birds will be stocked in each site and every bird will be wearing a leg band. The areas in which the new birds will be stocked are brushier and of higher elevation than is best for the popular ring-necked pheasant. Of course, all of the stocked sites will be closed to pheasant hunting to give the new strains a good chance to establish themselves. Boundaries of the closed areas will be identified with appropriate signs.

Any birds which leave the posted areas, however, may be harvested by hunters. Conservation Department biologists urged that hunters bagging such strays return the bands with complete information as to location of kill so that dispersion patterns can be calculated.

Stocking is planned for the same areas for up to three consecutive years, depending on results of field investigations. Additional areas for stocking Japanese Green pheasants will be selected in future years when more birds are expected to be available.

The new game birds were reared at the Department's Game Farm near Delmar, Albany County, from eggs obtained in Korea and Japan. The Korean eggs were collected from the nests of wild birds, while the Japanese eggs were obtained from a Japanese game farm and were one generation removed from the wild state.

No Plan

Many farmers give little thought to planning for retirement. In fact, many never do retire, according to a Cornell University financial expert.

"Many of them don't want to retire, others can't afford to, and still others simply don't know how," says Prof. Robert S. Smith, agricultural economist at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell.

The development of today's fast moving, highly commercialized, and increasingly mechanized agriculture has made it difficult to "retire on the farm," he says.

A basic reason for this is that a commercial farm could become a financial liability if it is not operated at full capacity. "Many farmers at retirement age cannot afford to slow down or shut down the plant only to see depreciation eat up the farm investment they have spent a lifetime accumulating," Smith points out.

A farm couple, planning for retirement, needs an income as long as either lives, and financial planning must start with this knowledge.

The amount of money needed can only be estimated at best, and depends on how much the couple is accustomed to having.
A real problem in planning, Smith says, is the change in the value of a dollar, and chances are that gradual inflation will continue in years ahead.

What resources does a farmer have to retire on? In most cases, he has social security and income from continued operation or sale of the farm; he may have income from other savings or investments such as life insurance and annuities.

"Social security in itself is not a retirement plan and will not provide a satisfactory retirement income for many farmers, though it is an important start towards a retirement program," the economist points out.

When someone is available to take over the farming operations, a farmer can often make equitable arrangements to retire gradually from the ownership and responsibility of the business and continue to live on the farm.

4-H Lab

New York State 4-H members of high school age will have an opportunity to develop the skills and confidence necessary to be community leaders at a state Leadership Laboratory, June 21-26, at Aurora.

A five-day session, sponsored by N.Y. State Cooperative Extension, will be held at Wells College, Aurora, for high school students who have completed their sophomore year.

Laboratories on recreation, home improvement, and home management will be led by Prof. Bernice M. Scott of the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, and Profs. Clark E. Garner, and Elizabeth Wiegand of the N.Y. State College of Home Economics, Cornell University.

In these laboratories, teenagers will learn to plan programs and recreation workshops, methods and techniques in carrying out an interior design plan, and skills in managing their money.

Prof. Scott said the program is intended to train leaders with imagination and to help them develop skills to put it to work. Participants are expected to practice what they learn in community groups in their home counties.

Interested 4-H members can apply through their county 4-H Extension offices. Registrations will be accepted until May 31, and acceptance will be based on county quotas.

Cole Returns

John Cole, playing the piano and singing songs of today and yesterday, returned to Jamaica Inn, Latham, last week. This time John will be doing a solo on Sundays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursday, and will be joined by a rhythmsection on Friday and Saturdays.

The original John Cole Trio, which played at Jamaica Inn during late February and March, has since disbanded - primarily because John had a prior commitment as a single to honor in Syracuse.

A native of Utica, John got his start in show business two years ago at the leading hotel in his home town. Since then he's Miss Betty Moul is a young woman who has made a second career as a global traveller combined with that of dedicated volunteer worker in various parts of Asia. Since 1966 she has devoted her energies to the An Lac Orphanage in Saigon. Her first career is that of a secretary to Senator Jacob Javits in his New York law office.

She will speak and show color slides of the An Lac Orphanage in Vietnam at St. Peter's Church, 107 State Street, Albany, Sunday evening, May 19, at 7 p.m.

Land Use

There is a lot of confusion in farm areas around rapidly expanding cities across New York State, and farmers are caught in the middle of it. As a result, many farmers are hesitant to make new investments, and good farmland near cities is being put out of production prematurely.

This is how Prof. Howard E. Conklin, N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, described the feelings of many farmers in urban fringe areas about their future as farmers under the mounting pressure of urban penetration.

Thousands of acres of farmland have been abandoned in areas near Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany, and other urban centers across the state, and have turned into pockets of a vast no-man's-land, he said.

How to encourage farming in such areas until the land is actually needed for other uses has been one of the major concerns of the New York State Commission on the Preservation of Agricultural Land.

Conklin made these comments while discussing the Commission's recommendations at several regional meetings, held recently under the sponsorship of the N.Y. State Cooperative Extension.

One of the proposals calls for establishment of a permanent, independent Agricultural Resource Commission at the state level to continue studies of the complex problem of saving good crop lands.

Other recommendations include designation of prime agricultural districts, improvements in tax assessment procedures on real estate, a five-year tax deferment for new farm investments, and better management and use of state's water resources, including the Barge Canal, for irrigation.

The Commission also calls for creation of special zones in which agricultural would have priority over other uses. This is to insure that local zoning ordinances would not be used to promote residential settlement and discourage farming shortly after farmers had made heavy investments in their businesses, Conklin said.

Under the present law, he said, farmers are not given special tax arrangements, nor can they obtain low-interest loans for new investments, while manufacturing industries often enjoy such benefits.

Pilot Course

Televised training which will prepare young people to safely operate motor boats will be offered this month in an 11-county area around the Capital District. "Make sure — Make Shore," the New York State Conservation Department's new series of half-hour boating safety program makes its local television debut on educational station WMHF channel 17, Schenectady, beginning Thursday, April 25. The series will be broadcast for 13 consecutive Thursdays at 4:30 p.m. and will be repeated Fridays at p.m., beginning April 26.

Channel 17 covers an area roughly from Glens Falls to Catskill and from Amsterdam to Pittsfield, Massachusetts, including the following counties: Albany, Columbia, Fulton, Greene, Montgomery, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Schoharie, Warren and Washington.

Based on the State's Young Boatman's Safety Course, the new series was designed to fulfill the provisions of the Navigation Law. This requires each young person 10 through 14 years of age to earn a boating safety certificate through completion of the course before he is permitted to operate any motor boat along or when not accompanied by someone at least 15 years old.

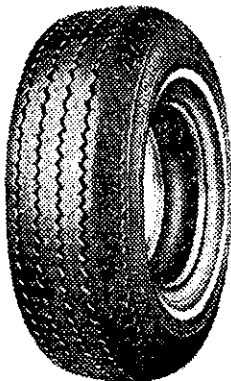

Any youngster wishing to enroll in the course is required to preregister by submitting his name, address and date of birth to the State Conservation Department, Division of Motor Boats, Albany, N.Y. 12226. Upon registration he will receive the "Make Sure — Make Shore" study manual, workbook and a blank boating safety certificate application. He will also receive the name and address of the volunteer coordinator for his area who he must contact for information regarding the final examination. Each registrant must pass the examination to be eligible for a boating safety certificate.

Taped on location at Lake George, New York, the series was produced by the Mohawk Hudson Council on Educational Television and features Al Cahill, well-known local television personality, as teacher and host for the 13 programs. Mr. Cahill, an authority on boating and water safety, is uniquely qualified for the role. An avid sportsman, he is Chairman of the American National Red Cross Water Safety Committee and a Director of the National Aquatic School for the Boy Scouts of America. Last summer he conducted a course in canoeing for Scouts from all over the world at the 1967 World Scout Jamboree.

Although the series was produced for those youngsters wishing to qualify for boating safety certificates, course content and the manner in which it is presented make it a valuable and interesting refresher course for boaters of all ages. Each half-hour program deals with a different aspect of safety on the water and guest authorities add variety and credence to the presentation of each topic. Topics include rules of the road for boatmen, the New York State Navigation Law, required boating equipment, navigation aids and weather, types of boats and proper maintenance, basic small boat handling, first aid and rescue breathing, water skiing and other water sports.

Commenting on the "Make Shore - Make Shore" series, Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne said, "The concept of safe motor boat operation can best be brought to the people through education.

SECRETARIES

AND SATURDAY AT

WASHINGTON AVE., ARMORY

It is not often that an experienced secretary can change employers without taking several steps backwards both in pay and responsibility.

This is not the case at General Electric's new Polymer Products Operation. Continued growth has created several new secretarial positions - not steno pool openings. These are diversified and interesting positions in a fascinating new business.

Excellent starting salaries and regular performance reviews mean you can progress without additional tests. Our location is off Route 32, just minutes from downtown Albany. No traffic or parking problems either.
