Adventure

May 24 will be a "Day for Adventure" for forty children from the fourth grade class in Clarksville Elementary School. Joining the children of the fourth grade class in this adventure will be representatives from the fifth and sixth grades in the school. Parents, teachers and six consultants of wide experience and accomplishments in areas which are vitally important to each of us will be involved with the program.

The facilities of Trinity Institute at Lawson's Lake will be used for this program. These facilities have been made available to Bethlehem Central School District for the purpose of giving the children various educational experiences away from the school. The program, "Day for Adventure," will be the first to be held at Lawson's Lake under these circumstances, and it is generally agreed that many more programs will follow.

Overall, the "Day" is structured to encourage the continuation of nature studies, good conservation and health practices and to foster a deep appreciation of the natural environment in which we live.

Movies and slides chosen by the consultants to aid in the understanding of their subjects will be shown. Wild animals from the Delmar Game Farm will also be part of the display. Other displays will be on exhibit from the New York State Department of Health.

Another part of the program which is unique is that the Safety Patrol from the Clarksville School will be staying overnight on the twenty-fourth.

"The Hamagrael Happening," annual social event sponsored by the Hamagrael P-TA will take place at Normanside Country Club May 25, 6-8 P.M. This year, members of the faculty who are leaving the school system are being honored. Pictured are John Hanks, co-chairman of the event; Mrs. Anthony Giordano, president of the P-TA; and Thomas Connolly co-chairman.

Mrs. Robert F. Rudisill, Niskayuna admires a silver bowl presented to her by members of the Albany County Women's Republican Club in appreciation for her dedication to the club and Republicanism during her presidency. With Mrs. Rudisill in the photograph are Mrs. Henry Goetz, Albany, Mrs. Edgar Luby, Albany, and Mrs. Paul Judson Snyder, Loudonville.

No, that is not a new type of playground equipment, but after all, why not have things that serve a dual purpose? Actually the children are enjoying the new ramp at the Delmar Public Library. Because the staff wants everyone, and we mean EVERYONE, to use the library by coming in, the ramp was built. Those using wheelchairs, crutches or canes (the skiing season, you know) or baby strollers can now easily get inside and participate in all the library has to offer. Mothers and babies just push on in. Who knows what an influence this may have on the youngest set? It is easier and safer for lots of us — just another example of how anxious the Delmar Library is to have everyone reaping the many benefits it offers.

Mrs. Anne N. McDonough, Cooperative Extension home economist in Schenectady County, will be the guest on Table Talk this week as she explains how to make ironing simple and easy. Table Talk, a television program for homemakers, can be viewed every Wednesday on WAST, Channel 13, at 7:30 a.m. and on WMHT, Channel 17, at 4:30 p.m.

Remember the sad iron that Grandmother used? Mrs. McDonough will show the old sad iron and many other models including today's new steam-spray irons. This new iron can make ironing simple only if it is used properly. If not used properly ironing is still a tedious and time consuming task.

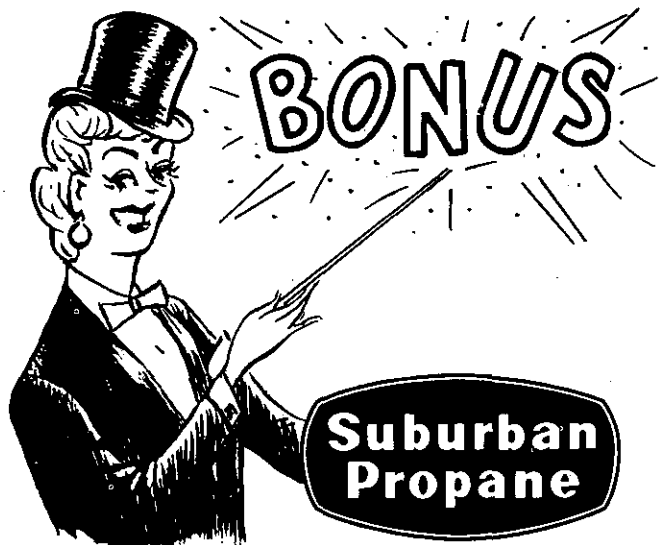

Different types of ironing boards and ironing board covers will also be discussed. Select-

At Fonda

Do you know what is coming to Fonda? The chrome be-decked open cockpit sprint cars. Yes, the U.R.C. sprint cars will be putting on their own show at Fonda Speedway. Saturday night, in addition to the big 8-race, double feature stock car program that has aroused feverish excitement as four different winners have driven off with the 1968 checkered flag.

The 1968 U.R.C. sprint car racing program at Fonda will be even more like Indianapolis with the new starter's platform on the outside of the track where the man with the flags is elevated to the full view of drivers and spectators alike. He will command the eager group of open-cockpit drivers in their precision-tuned motors on racing "slicks" as they roar out of the pits and wait for his green flag.

Famous drivers such as Earl Halaquist, 1967 U.R.C. National Champion, Lou Johnson, Joe Conti, Eddie Gallione and twenty others will be at Fonda Speedway, Saturday night, May 25, for a program consisting of two heat races and a 10-mile, 20-lap feature event.

Fonda Speedway, the "Track of Champions," is first again with this big special event, providing the best and finest of top-notch racing attractions. Admission for the May 25 U.R.C., Modified and Late Model stock car racing combination event is $3.00 for adults and 75¢ for children, covered grandstand seats and parking included. Rain date of June 1 is set in case of rainout.

Dancer for an American syndicate for $100,000 as an eight-year-old in 1964, Cardigan Bay has amassed more than three-quarters of a million dollars racing at tracks in this country. Added to his total Down Under, he has $960,571 in the bank now. It's only a matter of time before he becomes the first millionaire harness horse in history.

The gelded son of Hal Tryax-Colwyn Bay has several sub-two-minute miles to his credit, with a mark of 1:58 1/5 on a half-mile track. In his only previous appearance at Saratoga, in 1964, the stout-hearted campaigner was defeated by Henry T. Adios in a memorable race in two minutes flat.

Several hopeful pacers will try to repeat Henry T.'s performance against Cardigan Bay on Memorial Day, among them W.W. Smith, holder of the Saratoga and world record of 1:58 4/5 for four-year-old pacing geldings.

Grants

Six area teachers are among 43 in the state to win grants for summer study programs of "non-Western" cultures.

Aimed at teachers' understanding of the major neglected cultures of the world, the programs include a tour of India, a 3 1/2 week seminar on African art and music and Regents grants to masters teachers for reading in foreign areas.

Among ten teachers and supervisors to participate in the Indian tour, to last 10 weeks this summer, are: Ralph M. Brown, of Feura Bush, Bethlehem Junior High School; Elaine S. Hotaling, of Ballston Spa, Galway Central School, and Melvyn Horowitz of Albany, Maple Hill High School, Castleton.

The African art and music seminar, July 10-Aug. 2 at the State University's Center for International Study at Planting Fields, L.I., will be attended by 18 teachers. Among them will be Thomas A. McCullough of Waterford, Waterford-Halfmoon High School; Patricia R. Miller of North Troy, Troy High School and Schools 5 and 14, Troy, and J. Robert Wabnitz, West Sand Lake, Algonquin School, Averill Park.

Participants at the seminar will receive grants covering room and board, plus a stipend of $300 and additional for dependents.

education has had its problems increased two-fold.

One question confronting the board is what items in the budget must be cut and the second is whether it will accept the teachers' salary schedule recommended by James Chapman, a mediator appointed by the State Public Employment Relations Board.

The board reviewed the two matters at its meeting Tuesday night and passed a resolution assuring district residents it would come back with a "decreased budget" but not a "legally defined austerity budget."

If a special informational meeting is held, state law requires advertising of the meeting 25 days before it is held, according to school attorney Theodore Carlson.

The defeated budget, which represented a $1.3 million increase over the current fiscal plan, was based upon a $6,400 teachers' salary starting base — a $500 increase over the current salary schedule — and appropriated an additional $190,000 for teachers' salaries improvements. This cost combined with the board's proposed additional benefits and present salary increments was estimated at $335,000 over the current budget. In addition, funds were allotted for increasing the current teacher staff.

The teachers' demands are based on a starting figure of $6,800. The board and teachers' association are $162,265 apart on salaries, according to Mr. Chapman's fact-finding report.

Another item which was the subject of considerable discussion at the board's annual meeting was a $125,000 appropriation to complete the equipping of the new high school addition.

Spokesmen at the meeting criticized the appropriation cited the voters' rejection of the $850,000 supplementary bond issue which was to provide funds for the completion of the new addition.

At a special meeting with the budget advisory committee, the board formerly explained the reason for the appropriation:

"Upon the defeat of the $850,000 bond issue, the addition was redesigned and as many economy measures as possible were effected, short of reducing teaching stations, to build within the $3.5 million figure.

"However, there remains a shortage to build all outdoor facilities and fully equip the school. The Board of Education has included in its budget $125,000 of which $100,000 is to be appropriated from accumulated balances to help make up the shortage."

The board also has been the subject of criticism from the other side. It was criticized by members of the budget advisory committee at its April 16 meeting for deleting provisions for four tennis courts from the site development plans.

Meeting

At the Annual Meeting of the Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance Service, Inc., held recently at the Selkirk #3 Fire House in So. Bethlehem, the following officers were elected: President, Louis B. Hauf, Jr.; Vice-President, Glenn Lasher; Financial Secretary, Aleta Kullmann; Recording Secretary, Carol Wilsey; Treasurer, Janet Allen; Captain and Glenmont squad leader, Janet Burns; First Lieutenant and South Bethlehem squad leader, John Perry, Jr.; Second Lieutenant and Selkirk squad leader, Betty Wilsey; Sergeant-At-Arms, George Van Wormer; Board of Directors member, Florence Slingerland. These officers were installed by Board of Directors member Harry Metchick, who also presided during the election.

At the business meeting following the election the proposed new revised Constitution and By-Laws were discussed further. Additions and corrections were noted, amendments accepted, and the completed document was voted upon as being ready to be presented to all of the members for consideration before the final vote, as provided for in the original.

A committee of officers was to be appointed to simplify the paper work of the Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance Service, Inc.

The next meeting will be held at the Selkirk #1 Fire House on Maple Ave. in Selkirk. B.V.A.S.

"Who's in control?"

Most of us like to feel that we're "in the driver's seat." But what happens when, for one reason or another, we lose control of our experience?

In this public lecture, Charles W. Ferris, an experienced Christian Science practitioner, shows how we can take control of our experience by submitting to the perfect control of God.

In three actual and vivid experiences he tells how health was restored, a business career saved, and human relationships corrected, all when the individuals involved were willing to submit to the perfect will of God.

Admission is free. Everyone is welcome.

members were invited by the Delmar Rescue Squad to join them at a special training session at the Delmar Fire House on May 20.

He's Back!

Mr. Bob Jackson of Delmar Lumber is tending his V&S (or True Value) Hardware Store again at 340 Delaware Ave., Delmar, after several days' absence. Just back from a big semi-annual merchandise market and convention in Chicago, he's eager to give his customers all the news in gifts and hardware for Fall and Christmas.

From an exhibit that filled more than 80,000 square feet at Cotter & Company, Mr. Jackson selected everything his customers could wish for. Hardware, housewares, electric appliances, he'll have them all, ready to sell, in a month or two. Since Delmar Lumber is a partner and co-owner of Cotter & Company, the nation's largest wholesaler and distributor of hardware and related lines, they buy their items at savings — which they pass on to their customers. These savings accrue to nationally-famous brands as well as Delmar Lumber's own Tru-Test, West-point and Servess products.

Lecture

"Who's in Control?" is the title of a Christian Science lecture to be given here Friday, May 24, by Charles W. Ferris, C.S.B., of Minneapolis.

The lecture is open to the community free of charge. It will begin at 8 P.M. in The Delmar Presbyterian Church, 585 Delaware Ave., and will last about an hour. First Church of Christ, Scientist is the sponsor.

Mr. Ferris entered the healing ministry of Christian Science after graduation from the University of Chicago and a period of service in the United States Army. He was a Chaplain's assistant during his Army career and also served as a Field Worker for Christian Science Activities for the Armed Services. In 1961 he became a teacher of Christian Science.

Filling Needs

Albany Business College is finding it difficult to keep up with the law of supply and demand — requests for ABC graduates far exceeding the available supply. As a result, the 111-year old Albany school is extending its deadline for applications for enrollment for Day Division classes starting in September, 1968.

"It is one of our main objectives to the community to provide well educated and skilled young people for the business world," ABC Placement Director John R. Carnell said. "With the demands increasing each year, we feel we can help meet this need by going beyond our normal application closing date," Carnell added.

Albany Business College, still expanding both its curricula and classroom facilities, offers majors in Data Processing, Accounting, Marketing-Retailing, and Secretarial (medical and executive) fields. All have Business Administration minors with the usual electives — elective subjects which incidentally are continually up-dated to meet the challenge and necessities of the times.

HANDS FULL! — Like thousands of others come next September, a young student at Albany Business College started his higher business education at the beginning of the past academic year loaded down with books and material. In photo above, resourceful office secretary Mrs. Evelyn Lee of Albany, "presents" James E. Gorgos of Binghamton with his new class schedule as the undergraduate prepared to start his collegiate career. Almost 400 young men and women, who have completed studies as Data Processing, Accounting, Marketing-Retailing, Medical or Executive Secretarial majors, will graduate ABC on June 8.

education and the business world — are something Albany Business College watches closely. As a result of this "watchful eye," ABC continually makes adjustments in its academic and non-academic programming, its facilities and its teaching methods. All this, necessary to provide the student with the most current changes and innovations in the expanding business world.

With the pendulum of post-high school education swinging, greater emphasis is being placed on both vocational and business training and education. ABC's placement department indicates an increasing demand for business educated young men and women to fill positions in business, professional commercial, industrial and governmental sectors.

ABC graduates, according to the records the students make themselves, are assured of a choice of excellent positions even before they receive their diplomas.

Another trend — an increased awareness of the importance and necessity for higher business education, shows a greater percentage of ABC graduates transferring ABC credits to selected four-year colleges. Young students are finding a business education serving a two-fold purpose, the first being that they are receiving the 'type of training which is practical and useful for a lifetime. Secondly, many students find ABC a "stepping stone" for continuing their formal education on a degree-granting level.

The U.S. Office of Education provides an interesting, but not particularly well known statistic. While high school graduates choosing to enter a profession such as engineering, medicine or law must enter a four-year college, the U.S. Office of Education reports that 46.2 percent of students who enroll in the four-year schools do not complete their courses. Subsequently, more "undecided" young men and women are beginning to choose shorter educations for specific career goals.

ABC has noted an increase in enrollment of students who have terminated, for one reason or other, their four-year studies and changed career objectives. Veterans too are electing the shorter and "frill-less" business educations in an effort to "make up lost time."

Another trend to be noted is the potential student's interest in a school's faculty. In this area, Albany Business College's teaching staff is well qualified both educationally and vocationally. A majority spent time in the employment field prior to assuming classroom duties, giving the student the added advantage of having his teacher better equipped to relate textbook material to the changing times. Others "keep up" with their specialties as active members of numerous professional, civic and business organizations.

The ABC extra-curricular activities program, already one of the most expansive in the area, also responds to trends and statistical surveys, locally and nationally. The program supports the usual non-academic activities as fraternities, sororities, sports, religious, musical and dramatic groups.

At the same time, ABC now has a Data Processing Club, Literary

The weekly student newspaper, one of the few weeklies found in small-college circles, has instituted a short journalism course for all its new staff members. This program has elicited a number of inquiries from many small and large colleges.

In another important adjustment in traditional instruction, a greater and different emphasis has been placed on public and conversational speaking for each student in school. The adjustment substitutes practical experience and teaching through discussion for the usual textbook approach. Innovated this year, the program has been met with resounding success. Proposed plans call for the use of audio-visual television equipment for immediate play back as a teaching aid in this area.

Unlike many other institutions of higher education, ABC is not limited by tradition or other barriers in its restless effort to keep abreast of the times in educating young people and retraining or educating those already employed.

Few other educational institutions can associate teaching and learning so directly and on so many fronts with the life and work of the business community.

Being a private educational center, ABC can survey, research experiment and respond to trends immediately - develop-

Is writing fun? Where did you ever get the ideas for this book? Why is a book made in galley form first? What does researching a book mean? What kind of research are you doing for your next book? These were among the questions which Mr. Clements answered for the children.

At the Glenmont School, Lisa Momberger, Kathy Keilly, Kathy Farrel, and Richard Howton acted as hosts for Mr. Clements. Steven Grossman, Stuart Bailey, Kim Tornquist, and Eileen Smith were his hosts at the Delmar school.

Test Driver

As a test driver for Chevrolet, Paul Awrey has logged almost a million miles in the past two decades.

So how does he relax after a day of 200 miles or more over the loops and straightaways at the General Motors Proving Ground near Milford, Mich.?

He takes a little drive in his own car - "pleasure" driving that adds up to about 25,000 "off-duty" miles a year, all within Awrey's special set of safety rules.

Obviously, safe driving is of prime concern, and as an experienced, expert professional he is well-qualified to pass along the procedures, attitudes and habits which he and his fellow test drivers feel distinguish the safe skilled motorist.

On the eve of another major holiday and accompanying heavy traffic, here are the observations and suggestions of these men:

"Safety is much a matter of courtesy and patience."

DOES FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AND FOURTH ESTATE MEAN BETTER READING FOR YOU?

Over the hundreds of years of our independence, no one has enjoyed more freedom of purpose than the "fourth" estate - the press. This is still true today, even as we have adopted more restrictions on our personal life, the press still enjoys the widest of freedom. True, sometimes this freedom is not exercised to the fullest for the benefit of the most . . . but generally we do a fairly good job. The Spotlight is a member of this fourth estate, and as such, should warrant your support.

atching test vehicles circle track and saying to myself at one day I would be out there a driver."

Awrey joined the Chevrolet engineering Test Group just after he turned 20 and has been in the job for more than 17 years since, with the exception of two years of military service.

He has handled almost every type of vehicle imaginable, including the Turbo-Tital III, the turbine-powered experimental "truck of the future," introduced by Chevrolet in 1963.

"Test driving has given me the opportunity to visit and view almost every state in the union, including Alaska. I drove there in a tractor-trailer in the Chevy convoy on the Alcan run," he says.

It all adds up to hundreds of thousands of miles - in Awrey's case, safe and enjoyable miles.

Is the interior of your home a mirror of your real self?

So many of us are timid in the expression of our innermost dreams of beauty. "I might make an awful blunder" holds us back . . . and so, we live in someone else's idea of how a home should look. It is not so when you consult a Mayfair interior designer. Carefully considering your ideas, your likes and dislikes, your family's pattern of life, he will place his years of experience at your service . . . transforming your home into the place of beauty you've always wanted it to be. He will help you live in the beauty of your own, personal taste . . . not according to formula.

Award

On Saturday, May 18, the Bethlehem Police Benevolent Association presented the Citizens Valor Award to John J. Zboray of Glenmont for his outstanding work in saving the lives of five men on the Hudson River waterfront in the Town of Bethlehem on September 18, 1967.

The certificate read as follows: Town of Bethlehem, Albany County, State of New York. Police Benevolent Association presentation, "Citizens Valor Award" - John J. Zboray, for his concern and welfare of human life, for his courage and exhaustible efforts, in saving the lives of five men from possible death on September 18, 1967. Do here affix my name during this, Police Week, May 12-18, 1968. Daniel W. House, President."

Foundation Planting

A house must be attractive both inside and out to be a real home. It may be modest and simple, but it must be neat and in good repair. In addition, its external appearance must give the feeling of belonging to its surroundings. Nothing contributes so much to this appearance as appropriate plantings about the foundation.

A house rising directly from the bare ground or even from a good lawn, with all the foundation showing, is usually unattractive and uninviting. If, on the other hand, an old lilac bush has run wild at one corner of the house, and if an elderberry bush and blackberry tangle have clothed another corner, the severe straight lines are softened and the house has a look of belonging in its surroundings. The transformation from a bare and uninviting building to a homelike picture is easily accomplished by appropriate plantings about the foundation.

The most important locations for plant groups are the most prominent points. These are the front corners of the house or of the porch, or a large bare wall unbroken by windows. At these points the largest or most conspicuous plants should be used. Of lesser importance may be the entrance steps or angles in the house, where smaller plants are usually appropriate.

A good general guide for your foundation planting can be reached by drawing two lines, beginning at the middle of your front doorstep and running one line to each front corner of the house, ending at a height half way between the eaves and the ground. You might draw this on a snapshot of the house, or on a line drawing made to the proper scale; or you might anchor a string at the middle of the front doorstep and, angling it upward, attach the ends to the outside corners of the house half way between the eaves and the ground. Your foundation plants, when they are fully grown, should fall within these lines.

If the door is in the center of the house the lines will be symmetrical; if the door is to the side, one line will rise more steeply to the corner, indicating that taller plants on that side will help to achieve a balanced effect. If you would like your house to appear wider, place plants beyond the corners of the house that will grow to a height within a continuation of your lines from the doorstep.

A few well selected shrubs can help make your house a home that belongs in its surroundings. For more information, request the bulletin, "Foundation Plantings About the House."

Adequate Wiring

William E. Borst, Manager of the Adequate Wiring Bureau of Eastern New York, Albany, N.Y., recently pointed out to homeowners that the addition of air conditioning calls for additional housepower in many cases. He urged homeowners who are planning to add air conditioning to their homes to be sure the homes are adequately wired, to insure efficient, as well as, safe performance of the air conditioning unit.

According to Mr. Borst, over

90 percent of today's homes were built at least thirty years ago and asking an outdated wiring system to perform satisfactorily today is most unrealistic.

To perform satisfactorily, modern home wiring systems should have at least a 100 ampere electrical service. A 150 or 200 ampere service is even more desirable to provide sufficient housepower for both today's and tomorrow's needs.

"Every homeowner whose wiring system has not been checked recently should ask for a FREE housepower inspection from an AWB member electrical contractor to make certain the wiring system can carry present electrical demands, safely, efficiently and economically," Mr. Borst said. "If your home does need rewiring, your AWB member bank can arrange convenient monthly loan payments to suit your particular budget."

"Air conditioning is becoming more and more popular because people are more comfortable the year round than ever before. When air conditioning is added to the many other electrical appliances being used in homes with outmoded wiring the homeowner is asking for trouble," Mr. Borst continued.

"The addition of air conditioning is not the luxury it used to be," said Mr. Borst. "The cost of room air conditioners has decreased in the past few years and even the installation of entire house air conditioning is within the reach of the average family. What's more, the increased comfort the family enjoys with air conditioning more than makes it worth the modest additional investment."

The cost of electricity has also been going down, making it one of the best bargains available to the American family."

There's a Difference

Cherry Belle is a popular radish, round and red, with crisp white flesh. It retains its eating qualities for a long time.

If you think that a radish is a radish and all of them are just alike, you're wrong as wrong can be. Just one example: it may take as short a time as 22 days, as long a time as 29 days for different table varieties to be ready to eat.

There are numerous varieties, too, colored scarlet, red, white or scarlet and white. Shapes vary — from long, tapering roots of white radishes like White Icicle to round, red radishes like Cherry Belle (illustrated) or the new, scarlet Red Devil.

The two-toned variety is Sparkler, with round or almost round roots, their upper portions deep scarlet, their lower thirds white. This is an attractive addition to a relish plate.

In addition to the "spring" radishes that every gardener grows, there also are summer radishes that, because they take a longer time to mature (40 days) are ready for use later, and fall and winter radishes.

With these, maturity depends on planting time — early summer for fall use; midsummer for late fall and winter use.

A morning glory of shining white which will bloom all summer long can grace your garden.

The imaginative name in the title above is that of a morning glory. As you can guess, its flower color is shining white.

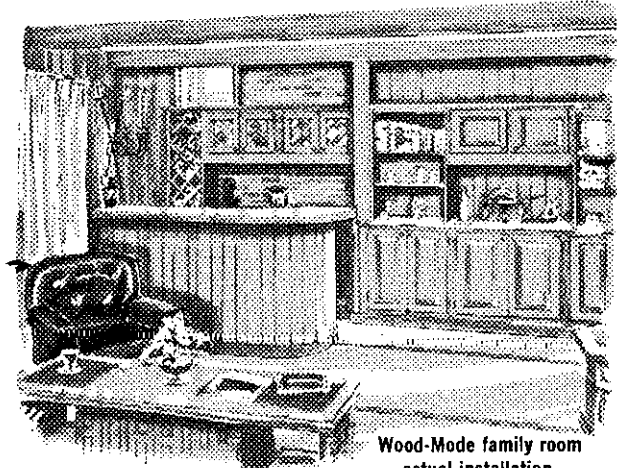

Morning glories give so much for so little. They bloom from July until frost and are easily grown from seeds planted in full sun.

A spot protected from high winds is ideal and rich soil is to be avoided so vines do not produce excessive foliage.

Vines grow 8 feet and more high, provide shade as well as flowers.

Breakthrough

Open-throated snapdragons, a real novelty for your garden, are easily grown, floriferous.

Just as occasionally two astronomers in widely separated parts of the world may simultaneously be searching for a new star, so plant breeders, working in their separate establishments, sometimes are breeding for the same new form in a flower.

So it was with the "open-throated" form of snapdragon flower.

Think back to the last time you looked into a snapdragon bloom. Remember, when you were a child you used to squeeze the sides of an individual floret to make it open its "mouth" to snap at a friend?

That "mouth" had a lower lip that humped upward, the top of the "hump" touching the upper lip of the floret. This hump is eliminated from the new form.

Although the open-throated snapdragons, exemplified by the Bright Butterflies and Bellflower strains, are as easily grown and prolific of bloom as any other snapdragons, they look more like penstemons.

These open-throated snapdragons will make visitors to your garden wonder if they can believe their eyes.

The plants of these snapdragons are sturdy, those of the Bellflowers growing 2½ feet high, those of Bright Butterflies to 3 feet and base-branching.

Flowers are 1½ to 2 inches across; petals slightly ruffled at the edges. Sometimes the throats contrast with the petals, for instance, golden-orange petals and cream throats.

IT STARTED WITH A WOMAN

While fishing is usually thought of as a man's sport, the first fishing expert was really a woman.

A printing of a bit of outdoor writing penned on parchment around fourteen twenty-five has been credited to a sweet little English nun named Dame Juliana Berners.

Juliana was born of a royal family in England and did some fishing and hunting as a girl with some of her sporting cousins and friends. Later on, she entered a nunnery at St. Albans and wrote the first known works on fishing.

Juliana wasn't any slouch concerning the art of angling, say the fishing experts at Mercury outdoors. For instance, here's how she recommends making a fishing rod.

First you cut a smooth six-foot staff of willow or aspen. Heat it in an oven, get it good and straight, and let it dry for four weeks. The next trick is to get a piece of plumber's wire, heat it red hot, and burn a hole clear through the staff. Then store it in a smokehouse for a while.

Now you take a stroll in the woods and cut a slender slip of hazel the same length. Soak it thoroughly, straighten it out, and let it dry in the smokehouse too. The next step is to trim the hazel whip so it can be inserted into the butt section. Now, fashion a metal pin to hold the two together, and you have a two section fishing rod.

Juliana advocates such a two section rod because it forms a good walking staff for a Sunday afternoon stroll, and can easily be transformed into a fishing rod if you happen by a good fishing hole.

For a line, Juliana advocates the long horsehairs woven together and colored with a mixture of ale, crushed walnut leaves and alum. Such a line, she says, blends with the water and fools the fish more readily.

In her tips for anglers she recommends not casting a shadow on the water, fishing below waterfalls or in deep pools, fishing when the wind is west and using a wire leader either out of the south or the when fishing for pike.

She makes one more recommendation which is just as true today as it was five hundred and forty-three years ago. Choose your bait with care, she says, "for you cannot bring a hook into a fish's mouth unless there is food on it that pleases him."

Fishing wasn't and isn't the exclusive male sport that some people think it is.
