

Roundup

Four Senior Girl Scouts from Delmar will be a part of 36 Senior Girl Scouts from the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council participating in a national Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Camp Drum, July 18-29, sponsored by the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council.

800 Senior Girl Scouts from all parts of the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, Ontario and Quebec will attend.

Girl Scouts from Delmar include: Cynthia Ann Warren, Patricia L. Morse, Deborah Davies and Christine Patterson.

The Roundup Director will be Miss Frances Plummer, Director of Program Services, Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Warren Everson, Delmar, former Girl Scout leader and Board member, will serve as Program Director. Other area people serving on the staff include Miss Rosemary Infante, Miss Betty Ann Shanholtzer, Mrs. Bruce Blumenthal and Miss Rosemary Samascot.

The Purpose of the Roundup is: "to make new friends, to gain a better understanding of others, to discuss mutual concerns, to learn from new situations, to increase our sense of responsibility to experience something that will stay with us."

A series of training events have been carried out throughout the winter and spring for the local group. Serving on the Hudson Valley Committee are Mrs. Clifford Bowdish, Jr., Chairman; Mrs. V.A. Van Volkenburgh, Mrs. Frank Odell, Mrs. Roger Klingaman, Mrs. George Endres, Mrs. Robert A. Jackson, Miss Mairanne Maynard, Miss Linda Fisher, and Miss Jeannette Rafter, Executive Director.

The program task group has worked out a tentative outline of the twelve days. Each day will be one of new discoveries. There will be a speaking-out day and a cooking-up-a-storm day; a conservation day and a voyage of discovery day. There will be all-encampment days with every Scout participating in the events in the amphitheatre. There will be swimming, games and sports. There will be "Me" time for the arts, and hobbies, for sketching and photography, for guitar playing, for contemplation and talk.

Discovery '68 hats and ties will be issued on arrival at Camp. The hat is a mod, small, round visored — combination of Dutchboy and Carnaby Street. Camper hats will be in solid colors, one camp in red caps, another in white and a third in blue. Staff members will wear red, white and blue striped ones. All ties will be red, white and blue.

Patrol flags will be designed for the encampment by the individual patrols. They may be any size convenient for packing, leaving shape and materials to the Patrol's discretion.

Each camper will receive an identification number. Numbers will indicate the camp, the troop, the patrol and the camper. For instance, Mary Jones might be — R (camp) 7 (troop) 4 (patrol) 3 (camper) and so — R743.

The Bethlehem Community Church is an interdenominational church affiliated with the National Association of Evangelicals. It originated when a number of local residents, some of whom were members of the Loudonville Community Church, decided to bring a community church to the Town of Bethlehem. The church met in homes on Sunday evenings during the early months of 1966. The Reverend Richard Roberts served the church during these months until Reverend Gay was called in September, 1966 and a full time program was instituted. Reverend Roberts has since become moved to larger quarters in the Community Room of the National Commercial Bank and Trust Company in Delmar. The congregation has increased from approximately 50 in September, 1966 to slightly over 200 at the present time.

The new building is located at the end of the Delmar Bypass on Elm Avenue on a 5 1/2 acre plot of land. This first building is a Fellowship Hall built in Colonial style constructed by A.T. Zautner & Son, Contractors. The building is to be utilized as a Sanctuary and Sunday School until future buildings are erected. This beautiful new building will seat 250 people. Each week the Bethlehem Community Church holds Sunday Services at 11 A.M. and 7 P.M. Reverend Gay is the host of "Meditation P.M." broadcast each Sunday evening at 11:10

LETTER

Dear Sir:
Would you please extend to all our Bethlehem neighbors my recommendation to give considerable thought to the speech Walter Langley made at the Memorial Day ceremonies?

As in the past, Memorial Day was celebrated gloriously this year in Bethlehem. The parade was wonderful, and for those who took advantage of the opportunity to hear Mr. Langley's call to active patriotism in these days of dire national crisis, the day had even greater meaning.

As Mr. Langley urged, may I

Picnic

The Elsmere Fire Company's Ladies' Auxiliary will hold its annual Past President's Night and Picnic at the fire house at 6:30 P.M., June 13. A meeting will follow.

Truth Is Stranger . . .

A five dollar bill, torn in two pieces eleven months ago in Delmar, was put together last week in Sydney, Australia.

Two servicemen from Elsmere, pals from early boyhood, were R and R (Rest and Recreation) leave. They had not expected to meet, although last summer when they left for Vietnam, a day apart, each put a half of that bill in his wallet with the plan that if their paths should cross one day in the year ahead they would put the pieces together and spend it in celebrating their meeting.

When Philip Stoughton returns

Sp. 5 Philip Stoughton

Sp. 5 Leon Wilbur

home soon, it will be interesting to hear him tell the story of that night in May when, sitting at a table in a night club at the other end of the world, he looked up and saw Leon Wilbur just a few feet away. And when Lee returns, he'll have quite a tale to tell about how it felt when, thousands of miles away from Sunset and Herriek Avenues, he was clapped on the shoulder and, turning, saw his pal from home. Comments in the letters reaching their families this week suggest that it was an experience they will always remember.

Although at one time, prior to the Tet offensive, the two friends had made plans to get their leave at the same time and go to Sydney, those plans did not materialize. When they started out two weeks ago neither one was aware that the other was en route to Sydney.

Today both men are back at their posts, Sp 5 Philip Stoughton at Dak To in the Central Highlands, where he is stationed with the Headquarters Company of the 4th Infantry Division, and Sp 5 Leon Wilber, at Phu Lam, the U.S. Army Communications Center close to Cholon, the Chinese sector of Saigon.

It is quite possible that once more each wallet carries one half of a five dollar bill in anticipation of that day, now only a month or so away, when both men are back in Delmar.

name Frank Laubach and his stirring slogan, "Each One Teach One," have rallied the forces of the free world to fight against illiteracy, poverty, and despair.

Today, Laubach Literacy, Inc., Box 131, Syracuse, New York 13210, is the non-profit agency which is rapidly transforming his vision and pioneering efforts into a world-wide program. Through Laubach Literacy, Americans in a growing army of concern, channel their support for the teaching of tens of thousands of illiterates each year in our own nation and abroad.

Dr. Laubach began his literacy work among the Moros in the Philippine Islands in 1929. Because they lacked a written language, he adapted the Roman alphabet into their dialect and began teaching the entire tribe.

What started with the Moros grew to become a burning passion to reach all the world's illiterates with a message of hope.

This vision he has tirelessly pursued, and in his eighty-third year, "Dr. Frank" is busier than ever. He recently returned from Hong Kong, where he achieved a breakthrough in teaching reading, and writing in English to Chinese students. While in the Orient he helped develop literacy lessons in Vietnamese, for the thousands of persons in refugee camps there.

"Teach a man to read," says Dr. Laubach, "and you open his eyes to a vast new universe, with undreamed opportunities for improving the social, economic and spiritual life for himself and his family."

Mrs. Ann Wilkes, the artist, took the opportunity to explain the symbolism of her painting. Mr. Runge, the high school principal, accepted the painting from friends and neighbors of Mr. Norton. It was indicated that the plan is to hang the painting in the library of the newly completed addition with other paintings commemorating citizens who have been similarly honored.

Mr. Norton had been active in the community and had been class president, Key Club vice-president, student council representative, yearbook advertising editor, and the accompanist for the senior play of '62.

A TRADITION OF QUALITY SINCE 1913

we care

what do you think of a super market's own brands?

You know they cost less, but you don't think they're as good as the nationally famous brands?

Well, we can't speak for all super market brands, but we can tell you there is one that's as good as the nationally famous brands. Yes, that's right...the A&P Brand.

Prove it, you say.

All right, take our A&P Frozen Vegetables in Butter Sauce.

They're prepared only from Grade "A" vegetables, the best...you can't use better.

The butter sauce is made from 93 score butter.

And you can't buy a higher score butter.

Quality like this is typical of every product that bears the A&P Seal.

You see, A&P Brand products have everything the nationally famous brands have...except the higher price.

Since the A&P Brand can be bought only at A&P, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Workshop

Final plans have been formulated for the 3rd Annual Bethlehem Christian Workshop to be held July 8-12 under the sponsorship of the Bethlehem Community Church, Delmar.

The Workshop, for young people of kindergarten age through senior high school, will consist of a daytime program for children in the lower grades, to be held at various homes throughout the Tri-Village Area, and an evening program for boys and girls from 5th through 12th grade, to be held at Sunny Acres Day Camp.

A wide variety of courses will be offered, including several that have proved popular in past Workshops. In addition to the classes, each young person will be attending a Bible course, taught from an interdenominational perspective. The highest of academic and professional standards are maintained for all courses offered.

Children in the daytime program will be able to choose from 16 courses, including Holiday in Brazil (a popular holdover from last year) and Safari in Africa. Animal lore, construction art, bird hiking, American History, Water Magic, sewing and bachelor cooking are some of the other topics offered. Two favorites of past Workshops, Racing Wagons, featuring the 2nd Annual Racing Competition on Friday, June 12, and Fisherama, will be repeated.

A featured guest instructor in the Fisherama course, as well as in the evening Bible Classes, will be professional singer Marty Karl, formerly a member of the Mariners on the Arthur Godfrey Show, and a Christian leader.

Such interesting topics as archeology, auto mechanics, computer science, acrylics, polymer chemistry, mathematical puzzles and animal behavior will be covered in the 14 subjects offered in the evening program. Sports will get their share of attention with courses in archery, swimming, and body building and weight lifting (taught by a former "Mr.

Universe" instructor) in addition to a Junior Olympic Decathlon. Operation Magic Carpet will take the students on a trip to Israel, via that fascinating mode of transportation. That Girl in Your Mirror will provide helpful tips for teen-age girls. And, finally, there is Go-Go Gandolf, a delightful exercise in "hobbytry."

The daytime program will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on each of the five days. The evening program at Sunny Acres will be from 5:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., with supervised swimming and sports every night from 5:00 to 6:30. Bible study for all evening classes will be directed by Reverend Arthur E. Gay, Jr., pastor of the Bethlehem Community Church.

Brochures describing the Workshop in detail have been mailed to all homes in the Bethlehem-Voorheesville Area. Workshop application forms are included in these brochures. An early submission of application is suggested as class limits must be set in the interest of effective teaching and classes will be fill-but I feel it would be unfair to other residents who have appeared before the board and had requests denied if we grant them permission to schedule a new hearing.

"They made a professional presentation and had the services of an attorney," he added.

The board approved a request of the Bethlehem Auto Laundry for an exception to permit construction of a 28x68 foot extension to its present facility on Route 9W, south of the Route 32 intersection.

The extension will provide for four additional self-service washing bays and drying areas. The board granted the permit on condition that the management of the auto laundry control and supervise the flow of traffic entering and leaving the establishment to insure the safety of motorists using the laundry and traveling on Route 9W.

Before making the decisions, the Board conducted two public hearings. A request by Donald Forsyth of 45 Southwood Drive, Slingerlands, for permission to construct a 6-foot fence in the backyard of his residence brought objections from two neighbors Phyllis Gaines and Ann Alexiou of 70 Thorndale Road.

Both neighbors expressed concern about the fence being properly maintained presenting an attractive appearance. They argued that no other fences have been constructed in the area and that other residents in the area have planted trees and shrubs to provide privacy and a more attractive neighborhood.

The board informed the two objectors, that Mr. Forsyth could legally construct a 4-foot fence in accordance with the zoning ordi-

Plea Shelved

A request by the Atlantic Richfield Co. to be allowed to introduce new information at a re-hearing has been denied by the Bethlehem Zoning Board of Appeals.

The proposal automatically died when no member of the board offered a motion either to grant or to deny the request.

An application by Atlantic Richmond for a special permit was denied by the board a month ago on the grounds that the proposed service station would create a "traffic hazard" and would conflict with the "normal traffic pattern" around the proposed site at the intersection of Routes 9W and 32.

Atlantic requested the new hearing for the purpose of introducing proof of the safety factors of the proposed entrances and exits of the station.

At the original public hearing almost three months ago, three residents of the Glenmont area objected to Atlantic's request on the basis the station would create a traffic hazard.

When the new request was introduced last night, board member Charles Fritts said, "I will go along with the board's wishes, of 80 men for the position.

Mr. Prendergast will replace Edna Lawson who recently announced her retirement after 37 years of service in the R-C-S District.

A member of the R-C-S staff for the last 12 years, Mr. Prendergast was one of six candidates interviewed for the job after the 80 applicants were screened.

The new principal has a master's degree from Boston College and served as head teacher at the old Coeymans Elementary School

Award

L'Auberge des Fougères is, for the third consecutive year, the recipient of Holiday magazine's top Award for Distinctive Dining. The award was presented on Friday, June 7, at a luncheon at the restaurant in celebration of the occasion, to Frank Wells McCabe, owner with Mrs. McCabe of L'Auberge, and Claude Maure, maitre d'hotel, who represented Directeur Yves Longhi, by Holiday's representative Mr. Paul V. Reach. Only three New York State restaurants, outside of New York City, received Holiday's top 1968 award.

L'Auberge is the home of The Hudson River Club, for which one of the larger dining areas is named and decorated. The Beverwyck Room, another dining area, is hung with paintings of famous race horses and features Bourke Oochran, renowned steeplechase horse owned by Michael A. Nolan, Mayor of Albany from 1878 to 1883, and proprietor of the Beverwyck Brewery and Beverwyck Stables. Historic French prints decorate the walls of the main dining rooms and include the recent addition of famous drummers from Tambours et Trompettes by Guy Arnoux.

Mr. McCabe showed the guests several Santons de Provence now on display, hand-molded clay figurines depicting the people of Southern France and produced in that area for more than 200 years. He said that he has arranged to increase this collection for an exhibit in the fall.

Translated, L'Auberge des Fougères is The Inn of the Ferns, and the dining rooms of this French inn are appropriately fern-decorated.

Trust the Local Man

In any multi-billion dollar business touching home owners, you'll find some unethical operators.

How can you avoid them when you're buying home maintenance and repair? Here are some tips from John Concord, home improvement consultant.

"Trade with established lumber dealers and craftsmen. That's rule No. 1. Avoid being sweet-talked into proposals that seem too good to be true. They are."

Home improvement rackets are most prevalent in the spring and summer. Quoting a report to the President from the Consumer Advisory Council, Concord observes that most fraudulent home improvement schemes have common characteristics:

"Phony bargains, tricky financing, guarantees not honored, materials misrepresented, and performances exaggerated."

"Itinerant repairmen come in a variety of guises; the gutter, furnace or chimney repairman, the roofing or siding expert, the quack tree surgeon, the bogus termite control expert, home remodeling specialist, driveway blacktoppers and oilers, installings of storm windows and awnings, fire and burglar protection devices, water softeners, central home vacuuming units and intercom systems."

"Why take chances with passing salesman who are here today (to get your money) and gone tomorrow (taking it with them) and leaving little in return?" Asks the consultant. Patronize your local, established tradesmen and building supply yards. They are here today and tomorrow, and they'll stand behind their work."

Pruning Shrubs

Spring flowering shrubs will soon be due for their annual pruning. In fact, some of the earlier blooming ones are overdue. Shrubs that bloom in spring should be pruned after the flowers fade. This prevents seed formation and allows all the plant's energy to form next year's fruiting wood.

Pruning should be done in two steps. First restrict the growth of the new shoots and second remove some some of the old wood from the center of the plant.

To keep a shrub from getting too big, shorten all long, ungainly shoots. This is done by removing a third to a half of the current year's growth. This encourages side shoots and may increase the winter hardiness of the restricted shoots.

The shrub should then be thinned out by removing some of the stems at the base of the plant. First remove all the branches that have been forced down to the ground. Next remove all dead wood and weak growth. Finally remove some of the oldest wood. Each year about one-fifth to one-third of the stems at the base of the plant should be removed. These stems should be cut off as close to the ground as possible.

In all pruning keep in mind the shape and size you want to keep,

Planning Your Property

Once you have planted trees to frame your house and have planted the foundation shrubs, it's time to plan and plant the rest of the property.

Generally the property can be divided into two, three or four areas. Every home will have a public area in the front of the house and an outdoor living area in the rear. Many people will add a play area or a garden area or both, to the rear of the property.

Usually the public area is primarily lawn. One or two trees may be included. These are best located near the side property lines to maintain a spacious, open feeling. A well kept front lawn, plus the foundation planting and trees makes an inviting home.

The back yard is the place where you live outdoors. This living area will include the pa-

Back to School

A contingent of New York State Conservation Officers headed back to school this week at the Cornell Biological Field Station at Shackleton Point on the shores of Oneida Lake to attend a Law Enforcement seminar.

The one-week course will be held during four successive weeks with about 25 Conservation Officers in each group. Each of the Conservation Department's nine fish and game regions will be represented.

These seminars are designed to instruct Conservation Officers in how to better understand the Conservation Law and the Department's policies and programs, so the role they play will result in greater efficiency, greater employee satisfaction and, consequently, better service to the people of New York State.

Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne said, "More and more people are making increasing demands on New York State's natural resources. One of our closest ties with the persons using this natural resource wealth," Commissioner Kilborne said, "is the Conservation Officer. The importance attached to the job he is doing cannot be overstressed."

During the week-long session the Conservation Officers will be studying new developments in principles and techniques of wildlife management, game protection, licensing, enforcement procedures, wildlife re-

'68 CAMPAIGN RUFFLES WOMEN

In this all-important election year, to be in the majority you'll cast your vote for the fluttery, frilly, romantic ruffle—because it's on the fashion ticket for every party. It can run down the front of a body shirt, up the sleeves of a blouse, swirl around an exaggerated neckline, or tier the entire length of an evening skirt.

Cotton is the major candidate. Ribbed cotton, dotted swiss, lightly embroidered batiste, or nipped and tucked chambray get the primary votes. And the new, washable synthetics are coming up stronger than ever.

There are Victorian echoes and thoughts of the Thirties in the return of the ruffle. But the new plank in the '68 platform is today's promise of easy care.

When the ruffle was in the running years ago, it faced

On Thursday, May 23rd, twenty-eight sixth graders from Glenmont School visited Mystic Seaport, Mystic, Connecticut. On their day-long trip, the class relived life in a seacoast village in the 1800's. Mystic Seaport, a reconstructed whaling town on the Mystic River, is made up of many buildings, some dating back to 1690, which exemplify the many services, trades, and professions necessary to a seacoast community during the years when American sailing ships were at their peak. One of the highlights of the trip for many of the students was the Charles W. Morgan, an original whaling ship, which is open for inspection and exploration from bow to stern. The excursion was financed with the help of the Glenmont P-TA. The students who made the trip were: Claudia Amsden, George Bloodgood, Stanley Brooks, Gladys Chu, Michael Corbett, Chris Cumming, Cindy Demarest, Tom Galusha, Schuyler Hatt, Jim Hughes, Colleen Keating, Paul Knox, Jennifer Lewis, Wendy Lindskoog, Karen Magliocca, Pat Murray, Marianne Nash, Mary Beth Oates, Dave Peeney, Kathy Reilly, Jeff Rutkowski, Linda Schoch, Wayne Shiatte, Lynn Sickles, Michael Stankovich, Celeste Tesco, Carol Totten, and Charles Waldenmaier.

stiff competition because of all the extra care that such frills called for. Easily soiled, easily wrinkled, its limp showing made it a short-lived fashion candidate. But today the ruffle is one of the strongest and most popular contenders because a new technique has been developed for keeping its bright, fresh look. The secret weapon in the new ruffle campaign is ironing with a spray starch containing a soil-repellent. The Pruf laboratories have come up with an exclusive ingredient that puts on an invisible protective finish to resist dirt and dust. So the fashion campaigner Pruf-starches her ruffles into a crispness that also keeps them cleaner longer.

Advance polls indicate that while this season's first ladies of fashion will appear elegantly ruffled, this modern easy-care technique will leave them unconventionally cool, calm and unruffled from now right through election time.

HOT DOG - IT'S PICNIC TIME!

In the good old summertime, cooking should be "no sweat". You can eat out all the time—whether it's in your own backyard, in the park, or down among the sheltering palms. Don't get embroiled with heavy steam dishes - just grill - it's a thrill!

And, to be perfectly frank about it, tasty versatile hot dogs should be your lookout for an easy cookout. For kicks, you can get corny or cheese it.

These on-the-spot dogs that are hot are Tip-Top Corn Cheese Franks on scrumptious toasted rolls. Stuffed with golden corn niblets and served up on a hot roll pre-spread with cheese pickle filling they are an instant grill-in at any picnic site. The only at-home preparation is the cheese pickle filling which you can do in a jiffy.

TIP-TOP CORN CHEESE FRANKS

Split frankfurters and stuff with drained corn niblets. Grill stuffed franks over hot coals. Heat rolls and spread generously with cheese pickle filling. Place franks in pre-spread rolls and serve immediately.

CHEESE PICKLE FILLING

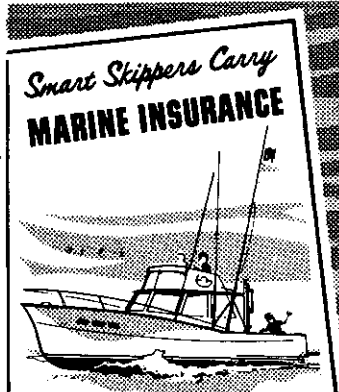

3 tablespoons butter 1 cup milk
3 tablespoons flour 1 cup shredded cheese
 ½ cup pickle relish

Melt butter. Add flour and stir until smooth. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add cheese. Stir until melted. Add pickle relish. Cool. Store in refrigerator in a covered jar.

GET INTO SHAPE - AND STAY THERE!

A recent study revealed that 48% of a large sample of the nation's youngsters couldn't pass a basic physical fitness test! The test included three basic exercises - pullups to measure arm and shoulder strength, situps to measure flexibility and abdominal strength, and squat thrusts to measure agility. Chances are Mom and Pop wouldn't have passed the tests either - thanks to a bevy of modern "conveniences" that enable most of us to work without physical exertion!

Regular exercise, say doctors, helps strengthen the body's 600 muscles, including the heart. In addition to feeling better, you'll probably look better if you exercise - for, it only takes an extra 100 calories a day to produce a 10-pound yearly weight gain. A daily 15-20 minute walk is enough to offset these calories, however.

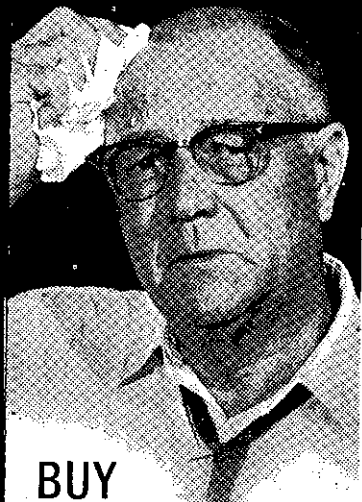

You don't always have to take time out from your work for exercise. Some simple steps fit right in with homemaking or a job. Sweep the floor with brisk movements: you'll get more exercise, and the floor will get clean faster. Instead of kicking your slippers out from under the bed in the morning, reach down and bend to get them. Take a brisk walk to the bus stop - not the one you usually take but the next one down the line. Get off the elevator at your office building two or three floors below your destination and climb the remaining flights.

You can help your youngsters and teeners shape up by encouraging them to take part in games and sports that involve a lot of activity. One new craze that seems to fill the bill, because it provides plenty of action and excitement for kids and adults alike, is a game called Grab-a-Loop from the Milton Bradley Company. It's comprised of belts to which are attached six plastic loops of different colors. You can pull any of the loops out of their brackets with a gentle tug.

The object of the game is to get more of your opponent's loops than any other player does. At the end of the game, you also score points for having kept any of your own loops. This can happen if you've moved fast enough.

When played earnestly, Grab-A-Loop results in a frenzied scramble of dashing, dodging, grabbing limbs. It's best for the beach or backyard, and is fun indoors if you have everyone remove their shoes and put aside anything that's breakable.

Bicycling is another good form of exercise. A survey in The Netherlands showed that illness among Dutch school children dropped 12% after cycling was introduced into school athletics in that country. The moral? It pays to be a big-wheeler!

200 APPETIZING RECIPES FOR THE DIABETIC

Here is news for the diabetic who is tired of dull meals. COOKBOOK FOR DIABET-

ICS, a new paperbound book, was a Canadian best-seller: it was just revised and edited for American use by Gaynor Maddox. Originally prepared by the Canadian Diabetic Association with the Ontario Dietetic Association, it was compiled by a panel of experts to provide variety and excitement for the Diabetic's diet in a wide range of dishes from soups and appetizers through main dishes, breads, salads, cakes and other desserts. All of the recipes can be served to the entire family. Here is one of the 200 recipes:

Mocha Fluff

- 1 1/2 tbsps. unflavored gelatin
- 3/4 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 tbsps. artificial liquid sweetener
- 2 cups hot, strong coffee
- 3 tbsps. lemon juice
- 3 egg whites

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add artificial liquid sweetener, hot coffee and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Add lemon juice. Cool. When nearly set, beat until mixture thickens. Add stiffly beaten egg whites and continue beating until the mixture holds its shape. Serves six.

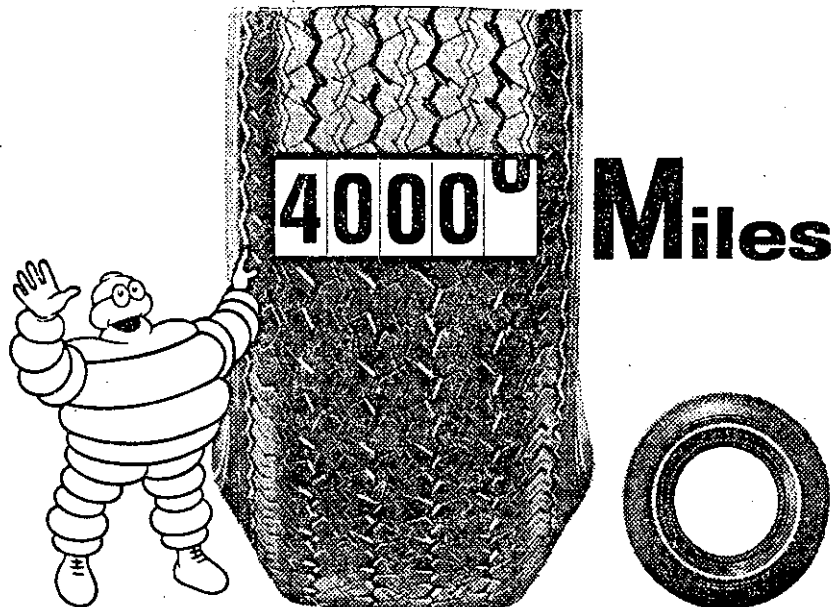

The "Cookbook for Diabetics," available at local health food and book stores or by sending $2 to Taplinger Publishing Company, Inc., 29 East 10th St., New York, N. Y. 10003, has 199 more tasty treats for diabetics.

Expanding

Though Jamaica Inn, Latham, recently marked only its fourth anniversary, it's already embarked upon its second expansion program.

Two years ago co-owners Gilbert Munroe and Marvin Friedman, finding their volume of business too great for their original office complex, added a wing to the building - not only to house their ever-increasing office staff, but to provide a beautifully appointed banquet office and waiting room to service their banquet clientele.

This time Jamaica Inn has entered upon an expansion of its balcony cocktail lounge.

The expansion will cover approximately 700 square feet - about half the square footage of an average ranch house. To accomplish this the stairs leading from the inside courtyard to the Under-the-Sea Bar and cocktail lounge had to be moved forward 3 feet, then I-beams had to be run about 20 feet into the courtyard area. These beams will support the expansion, which will take the form of graceful bays with wrought iron railings - creating the effect of Jamaican balconies overlooking a central courtyard.

Two dance floors, one on each side of the center stairway, are included in the plans. The floors will be of teak parquet, considered more decorative and better than oak. With this addition, dancing at Jamaica Inn can henceforth be enjoyed in either the newly expanded balcony area or, as in the past, in the courtyard

The wrought iron railings of the new balconies will be wood-topped, matching the decor of the present railings. The expanded area will be fully carpeted; and year round air conditioning added. Presently the cocktail lounge has only summer air

Munroe and Friedman said they're sparing no expense to provide increased comfort for their Under-the-sea Bar and cocktail lounge patrons - While at the same time further enhancing the beauty of the Inn.

Don Wexler, general manager of Jamaica Inn, and Michael Stance, general contractor for the new construction, expect the work to be completed before the
