The Old Philologians and Doxian Honoraries joined together for their annual dinner recently at the De Witt Clinton Hotel to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Albany High School. Guests were: Edgar S. Van Olinda, Times Union, columnist; Dr. James Hepinstall, Superintendent of schools; John Bach, headmaster of Albany High School; Dr. Arthur Wallingford and Norton McKean of the Board of Education; and William Bochner, headmaster of Albany High School Annex. # Honor Court Troop 85, Boy Scouts of America, held its last Court of Honor of the season at St. Stephen's Church in Elsmere on June 17. At this time it was announced that Warren Everson was stepping down as Scoutmaster and that the Assistant Scoutmaster, Frank Leavitt, would assume these duties in the fall.

The following scouts were cited for advancement in rank at the Court of Honor: Star Scouts, David Houghtaling, Philip Moore and William Warren; First Class Scout, Peter Anderson; Second Class Scouts, John Chysagelos, Paul Lewis, Daniel Murphy, and Edward Stander; Tenderfoot Scout Timothy Sullivan and David Smith. Scout David Gazzeta received a special award from the Red Cross for recruiting blood donors for the Blood Bank.

Mr. Everson was presented with a gift from Troop 85 as a token of appreciation for his leadership during the years that he was associated with the troop. Mr. Leavitt has served as Assistant Scoutmaster for several years and is well known for his activity in area camping and swimming programs.

The troop concluded a successful fund raising campaign through the sale of household items. Scout David Hulme with the most sales, won first prize in the Sales Contest. Final plans for a week-long bicycle trip on Cape Cod in late June were discussed and refreshments were served by the scouts' mothers.

Election

At a recent meeting of the St. Thomas' Altar-Rosary Society, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Edward McCaffrey; Vice President, Mrs. Paul F. Sherman; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Carroll J. Kendrick; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Julius Preska; Treasurer, Mrs. Martin Scully.

RA-PID-GRO IN HOT WEATHER

FEED YOUR PLANTS WHEN THEY NEED IT MOST

During the hot summer weather, spray or sprinkle your garden with RA-PID-GRO at least every 10 days. Use more frequently in excessively hot, dry spells. Spray or sprinkle RA-PID-GRO at the rate of 4 level teaspoons per gallon of water until plants are dripping wet. Whatever falls on the ground feeds the tiny, fiber roots. When dissolved, according to directions, RA-PID-GRO can't burn. Because roots or foliage absorb only liquids, you are giving them food they can use almost immediately when you apply RA-PID-GRO. This wholesome liquid diet helps your plants, roses, flowers and lawn in hot, dry weather when they need it.

Come On In

Don't forget the book sale at the Delmar Public Library, Wednesday through Friday, June 26-28. Lots of bargains are yours for a quarter each.

Another don't forget: the summer reading train is getting ready to go. All children in grades one-six are invited so come on in and register - anytime is fine.

These are but two of the programs lined up for the summer at the library. Beginning on Wednesday, July 10, at ten A.M., the area pre-schoolers will have a forty-five minute story hour. This will be exactly what it says - nothing formal, no registering or having to come every time - simply a relaxed time listening to stories.

In August our teenagers will have their innings with three Tuesday evenings arranged especially for them. Now back to July which will bring three Wed-

we care

WE RAN THIS AD LAST YEAR.
WE THINK IT'S WORTH REPEATING.
WE STILL THINK
OURS IS A GREAT COUNTRY.

Is it square to be patriotic?

If it is... then, by golly, we're square.
Because we're proud of our American heritage... grateful for the free enterprise system that has afforded us the privilege of serving the American people for more than a century.

The United States is today, and has been since its founding, the land of opportunity.

We've been first-hand witnesses to this fact for a long time.
In our business, we've seen good, sound competition grow and prosper.

We welcome it.
It keeps us on our toes.

As July 4th approaches, we want to go on record as saying:
"We're proud of being Americans."

As we said:
"If this be square, then we're square."

"YEARS OF ROSES" parade of June 29th, will re-create 37 years of rose festivals, held in the village of Newark. The 1968 event, promises to be the largest and most spectacular in many years and - will last the entire week of June 22nd through June 29th, with daily attractions and two big weekends planned. Floats above, are glimpses of years-past parades and may bring back nostalgic memories for the hundreds of thousands of visitors who have come from every state and Canadian province, to attend the festival - since its inception - 37 years ago. Above left - Newark Rose Parade of 1953, featured intricate southern showboat - an entry of Jackson & Perkins Co. to introduce their new rose called "Siren." Above right - 1955 was the year of Spartans for the upstate New York village, hometown of Jackson & Perkins, world's largest rose growers. J&P parade float of that year, introduced the still popular orange floribunda rose named "Spartan" and, featured local youngsters as princesses of the ancient Greek city of Sparta, complete with gallant escorts. Above center - In 1944, this float - drawn by what appears to be 8 legged horse - was regal vehicle for Rose Festival Queen and attendants. This celebrated the 13th festival, just prior to construction of the now famous Jackson & Perkins rose gardens in Newark, New York. The Village of Newark is 32 miles east of Rochester and 60 miles west of Syracuse, off New York Thruway. Use exits 42 and 43, taking Route 88 north, to the rose gardens - at the south end of Newark. Festival week lasts June 22 through 29, inclusive. Jackson & Perkins gardens remain open until frost. Admission is free.

nights a week in Morgan's Castle at Jamaica Inn, Latham. Open heretofore only on Friday and Saturday nights, Morgan's Castle will now be open, from 9 o'clock on, Tuesdays through Saturdays; and will feature live entertainment, in addition to go-go girls and stereophonic music for dancing - or just plain listening.

Kicking off the new five-a-week policy will be the exciting Lord Superior, calypsonian par excellence; pet of Newport, New York and Palm Beach society, and favorite of the college circuit. He comes to Jamaica Inn direct from a three year headline engagement at Jamaica Arms in New York City.

Lord Superior, whose real name is Andrew Marcano, was born in Rio Claro, Trinidad, West Indies. At the age of fourteen, he began singing at local functions in his small town and in the neighboring villages. Because of his natural talent for improvisation, he was soon given the name "boy wonder" and was signed for the Young Brigade Calypso Tent—a showcase for new, young calypso composers—which runs two months prior to the famous Carnival of Trinidad. Then he toured the night club circuit in Trinidad and other islands of the Caribbean; following this, with appearances in Caracas, Venezuela, British and Dutch Guiana and Canada.

Superior has made several recordings for RCA; appeared in movies and travelogues. In the United States he was "discovered" in a Greenwich Village Coffee House and immediately booked for the Caribbean Pavillion at the World's Fair. This brought him to the attention of thousands of calypso lovers, and his popularity has been on the increase ever since.

For the next few weeks, Lord Superior will be strolling among the tables in Morgan's Castle, at Jamaica Inn, singing calypso songs and strumming on his guitar. He'll also appear in the main dining room during dining hours.

Beef Meeting

There will be a beef cattle-men's meeting on July 1, 7 P.M., at Spring Hill Farm according to Leonard Palmer, Cooperative Extension Agent.

Spring Hill Farm is operated by William Phelps Jr. and son. It is located in Shushan, New York, north of Cambridge.

Prof. Myron Lacy, Cornell University, will discuss housing and equipment. Cooperative Extension Agents Les Nuffer and George Trattel will discuss the agronomy program in connection with the Phelps' beef operation.

This meeting will interest not only experienced beef producers but also who are just getting started with beef, Palmer stated.

Vegetable Garden Pest Control

As all gardeners are aware, a vegetable garden requires good soil, seed, fertilizer and care to make the plants grow well. But don't stop there, because the "battle of the bugs" comes next. Bugs alone are not the only problems the plants have. They are also attacked by various plant diseases. This year, because of the wet weather, plant diseases are becoming quite prevalent.

Fortunately, a "multi-purpose" spray formula has been developed at Cornell to help vegetable gardeners in their "battle with the bugs." This spray formula is safe on all vegetables, safe for humans and animals when used as directed, and will do an effective job of controlling most insects and diseases. This mixture can be purchased already prepared, or you can prepare your own by using the following in each gallon of water: 4 level tablespoons of 25% Malathion wettable powder, 2 level tablespoons of 50% Carbaryl (Sevin) wettable powder and 2 level tablespoons of 80% Maneb (Dithane M-22 or Manzate) wettable powder.

Wettable powders are recommended since they are less likely to injure plants. For best results, mix the powders first with a small amount of water and then add the full amount of water needed. One gallon of spray is enough for 50 to 100 feet of row, depending on the size of the plants. Shake the spray occasionally to keep the materials well mixed. Dusts of the same materials may also be used.

Apply the multi-purpose mixture every 7 to 10 days to prevent plant diseases from getting established and to keep you ahead of the insects. Plant diseases cannot be cured once they are in the plant, so it is essential to spray regularly before a disease strikes. Stop spraying 7 days before harvesting your vegetables (14 days before harvesting leaf lettuce).

Two new Cornell bulletins will help you have a more successful vegetable garden, and help you win the "Battle of the Bugs." They are, "The Home Vegetable Garden," (free) and, "A Guide to Safe Pest Control around the Home," (25 Cents). These are available at your Cooperative Extension Office.

Elder Lorin D. Leavitt and Elder Kent A. Stanton, missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, working in the Delmar & Elsmere area, will forgo contact with home and family this year so they can bring their message of Christ in America to local residents.

"We find that during the summer season, people are especially interested in our message," said Elder Leavitt of Las Vegas, Nevada, who supervises missionary activities in this area, "because this is a season when almost everyone gives special consideration to the spirit of liberty and freedom."

Elder Leavitt said one part of the Latter-day Saint message which creates special interest is the description of the struggles for liberty and freedom by the

Table Talk

"Canning Fruits and Vegetables" will be the topic of the July 3 Table Talk program. Mrs. Eleanor J. Wages, program hostess, will present the program on WAST, Channel 13, at 7:30 A.M.

To obtain optimum quality in the canned product it is necessary to select fresh, firm fruits and young, tender vegetables. To maintain the quality and properly seal the jars, the proper canning procedure must be followed. Mrs. Wages will demonstrate the use of both a water bath canner and a pressure canner. A pressure canner is a necessity when canning low acid vegetables such as beans, beets, corn and pumpkin. Botulism, a type of food poisoning, may result if these vegetables are not processed in a pressure canner. Processing times and types of syrup pack for fruits will also be discussed.

A bulletin entitled "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" will be made available to viewers of the Table Talk program.

Table Talk is a program for homemakers presented by the Home Economics Division of Co-operative Extension in eleven area counties.

PLASTIC CAR HAS CLASSY CHASSIS

This "classy chassis" arrived in the United States recently from West Germany. The automated model (not the girl) is showing off the world's first car body engineered entirely with high-strength plastics and rigid urethane foam. Designed by Farbenfabriken Bayer AG, the prototype is being introduced to American design engineers by its subsidiary, Mobay Chemical Company, of Pittsburgh. Called the "Modelle," the car has already undergone two years of brutal road tests in Europe. It is a dramatic breakthrough for plastics in functional uses traditionally reserved for metals. Incidentally, the bikini on the girl-type chassis is also made entirely from urethane foam — the same basic material used in the car body. The bikini was a winning entry in the First Annual Design Contest sponsored by the Foam Fashion Forum.

The savings account that helps itself to your money.

We call it Automatic Savings, and it works something like this:

You tell us how much you want to save, and each month that amount disappears from your checking account automatically.

Nothing depends on your getting down to the bank. Nothing depends on your will power. Nothing depends on your family's will power.

The savings account just takes the money.

Of course, if you want to skip a month, you can always make a withdrawal. (And you can always call the whole deal off.)

On the other hand, if you want to keep saving, you don't have to do anything.

With an incentive like that, you could save a fortune.

On Staff

Four local water safety instructors are serving as members of the American National Red Cross teaching staff at the annual Aquatic Schools, the first of which opened Sunday, June 16 at Camp Tevya, Brookline, New Hampshire according to Carl E. Gardner, chairman of Water Safety for the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross.

Those serving on the faculty include: James Wolfgang, 36 Marietta Place, Albany, and John Caviston, Newton Road, Newtonville, both teaching at Brookline, New Hampshire; and Robert Carr, Feura Bush Road, Delmar, and Harriet Rawle, 544 Providence Street, Albany, both instructors at the Elms Camp, Hammondspport, New York.

The Aquatic Schools provide instructor training in swimming, life saving, first aid, canoeing, sailing and rowing. Some of the schools also give instruction in such specialized fields as swimming for the physically handicapped and synchronized swimming.

The last of the annual instructor courses in water safety, prior to the start of the summer Learn to Swim program, was recently completed at the Bethlehem Central High School, Delmar, with Brian Kelly, as supervising instructor.

Those completing the course included: Barbara Becker, David Blessing, Mary Boland, Dan Caldwell, Elizabeth Davenport, James

The Capital District's busiest Emergency Room is now bigger than ever.

Albany Medical Center Hospital yesterday formally opened its new Emergency Room, which is more than twice the size of its predecessor.

The 8,143 square foot Emergency Room represents a large-scale expansion and renovation of the emergency facilities opened by the Hospital in 1952. The annual emergency caseload then was about 14,000 people, last year over 38,000 people came to the Emergency Room for care.

The $250,000 expansion and remodeling project was begun two years ago. During part of this time, the Emergency Room was temporarily located in what is now the Hospital's obstetrics and gynecology clinic.

The Emergency Room expansion is housed in the bottom floor of a two-story addition to the hospital's west wing. Contained in the new Emergency Room are:

- 10 examining and treatment rooms
- three suture suites
- large nursing station and reception area
- a specially equipped room for care of psychiatric emergencies
- a treatment room for poisoning cases
- cast-setting room for fracture cases
- two X-ray suites and a high-speed film processor
- 3 two-bed rooms for short-term observation of emergency cases who may require admission to the hospital.

All of the treatment rooms in the Emergency Room are equipped with suction equipment and oxygen outlets, and there are two-way inter-communications linking the treatment rooms and the nursing station.

The operating suites are equipped with more powerful, variable intensity overhead lights, and the Emergency Room has its own laboratory for blood and urine tests that are needed quickly.

The general contractor for the project was Sano-Rubin Construction Co., Inc., of Albany. Schmidt, Garden and Erikson, of Chicago, were the architects-engineers.

Biting Flies

Despite this year's prolonged, cool spring, it won't be long before many species of biting flies, including the pesky mosquito, will be on the wing looking for nice bite-size humans to pep up their protein diet.

This is the word from Prof. B.V. Travis of the N.Y. State College of Agriculture of Cornell University, who notes that some of the hardier breeds are already with us.

Travis says that adequate control of biting flies, including mosquitoes, black flies, punkies, horse, deer, and stable flies, should be a community project administered by professionals.

"An individual can do very little to alleviate the problem in and around his own home if the neighbor's pond a few blocks down is a thriving nesting ground," he notes.

The insect specialists said that, although a person does have jurisdiction over the control methods on his own property, he should observe prudent spraying methods.

Because of the long flight range of many biting insects, it is often necessary to include several square miles in an effective control program. Water management, one means of control, should be done only under the guidance of experienced directors.

Destruction of natural water areas, by pesticides or drainage, can be a severe hazard to wild life, the professor says. It also can do irreparable harm to the soil.

Travis warns that insecticides should never be placed in any food or drink containers, such as a soft drink bottle. "Clearly label all insecticide containers and lock them up wherever possible," he cautions.

SOUTH PACIFIC

For uncounted centuries the South Pacific was an awesome challenge; its limitless waters uncharted, its islands unnamed. Today it is an invitation to travelers from all over the world. That invitation is being eagerly accepted by thousands more people each year.

There has always been a magnetic lure to that tropical world. One of Somerset Maugham's best known works "Rain" had its setting in Pago Pago. Gauguin deserted his family in France to paint his masterpieces in Tahiti. Robert Louis Stevenson's former home on Western Samoa is now the residence of the island's governor. One of the theater's classical musicals was adapted from James Michener's famous "Tales Of The South Pacific".

Into the latter half of the 20th century the South Pacific still guards some of its ancient secrets despite the research of scholars. Its history and its legends are intermingled.

What is the accurate story about the Bounty's mutiny? The mutineers told one account when they reached Pitcairn Island. Captain Bligh made a 100% conflicting report before the Admiralty Board when he at last reached London.

What are the origins of the natives of the Pacific? Did they, by some navigational miracle, sail in their handmade canoes from the West Coast of South America as the skipper of the Kon Tiki tried to prove some years ago? Are the Polynesians descendants of migrating natives of the Middle East as some anthropologists insist? What were the beginnings of the Maoris of New Zealand? How far back into the millennium must one go to know the first aborigines of Australia? The secrets remain.

But the recent years have brought about changes. The vivid paintings of a French exile who died a pauper hang in the great museums of the world, worth a king's ransom. The ocean is no longer uncharted, endless stretches of water. The lovely islands have names. The floating palaces of cruise ships long ago replaced the lumbering sailing ships. A Clipper today means not a ship but a jet aircraft crossing the Pacific at 30,000 feet at nearly 600 miles an hour.

There are still the explorers; thousands of them from all parts of the world determined to see the magic of the Pacific for themselves. They come with guide books, cameras, drip-dry holiday clothes, and the assurance they will have the best of it without the inconveniences or downright hardships of the past. There will be air-conditioning, soft beds, international cuisine as well as local specialties, and one-day laundry service at the new hotels which have sprung up all over the South Pacific.

An example are those of Inter-Continental Hotels. Their locations form a kind of horseshoe on the map of the Pacific. Starting with Tahiti where the Hotel Tahara's Inter-Continental tal will open late in 1968, across to American Samoa (the United States' only possession south of the Equator) where the Hotel Inter-Continental Pago Pago looks up at Rainmaker Mountain. Down to New Zealand where the new Hotel Inter-Continental Auckland was opened last March, overlooking the historic harbor of Auckland. Over to Australia and in the gracious city of Melbourne rises the Hotel Southern Cross. A continent away is Indonesia with the Hotel Bali Beach on the shores of that fabled island and the Hotel Indonesia in the capital city of Djakarta. Then to Singapore to visit the Singapura Inter-Continental and on to Bangkok for the Siam Inter-Continental, Thailand's newest and most luxurious hotel.

Somerset Maugham, Captain Cook, Dutch planters, Australian colonials, and Anna of the court of the King of Siam would have envied today's traveler. He can enjoy the world they knew; only he can do it so much more pleasantly.

Women Wanted!

Medicine, once a man's profession, wants women. Within the next ten years, this country will need twice as many doctors as are graduating this year. Women are needed in medical research, too, as well as in the areas of teaching, school and public health, industry, administration and foreign service.

What It Takes

Earning an M.D. requires three to four years of college, four years of medical school, followed by internship and residency. It's estimated that the cost of this education is around $20,000. But the deserving student needn't be held back by lack of funds. There is a wide variety of scholarships, grants and student loans to ease financial burdens.

Boats

Boating is big business — and it's big business too for the pirates who are making the biggest haul in maritime history at the expense of the pleasure boatman, according to the State Conservation Department.

With more than 425,000 boats registered in New York State last year the losses to modern pirates approached a fantastic amount. In New York City waters alone the reported loss of boats, equipment and merchandise during 1967 amounted to $31,826,- 745. No county in New York was immune to pirates in 1967. Even in centrally located Madison County, the loss was $20,000. This year, with more pleasure boats than ever before on the water, the loss will increase unless boat owners take care to protect their property.

It may take a bit of an effort, L.J. Flowers, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation Law Enforcement, Division of Motor Boats admits, but a few practical steps can reduce the chance of theft to a minimum. Mr. Flowers suggests:

1. Use steel chain or cable and locks for mooring.
2. Keep docks and mooring areas, if possible, illuminated all night.
3. Install adequate locks on all ports, hatches, doors and windows.
4. Install a hidden switch in the electrical system.
5. Close the fuel line valve when you are leaving the boat unattended.
6. Stow all portable equipment out of sight in a locked compart-

9. Immediately report any loss to the nearest law enforcement agency and to the Navigation Law Enforcement Bureau, Division of Motor Boats, State Office Campus, Albany, New York 12226.

These steps will make it more difficult for any would-be pirates to strip your boat — and make it easier to recover equipment which might be stolen.

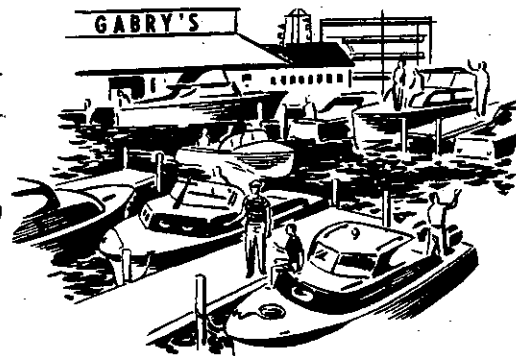

It is the indifference and carelessness of boatmen that makes the work of the pirates easy.

It doesn't take a fashion expert to tell us that the pampersoftness of the new fabrics will win us over this year. ion manufacturers have been so quick to develop satin tricot in undergarments.

Colorful coordinates that feel like a second skin, without clinging, like Lovable's pretty new bra, chemise, girdle, bikini and petti-slip with applique lace are ideal under today's sleeker silhouette because they follow a smooth body line. Delightfully easy to care for, they can travel ideally right into underfashion wardrobes for back-to-school or college.

Lovable calls their new satin tricot coordinates, "Pretty Soft," because that's what they are—pretty and soft!

The butter-soft Antron Lycra girdles, for example, smooth on the body with the greatest of ease. They're rather amazing looking however, because when they're on display in the store they look somewhat small, yet on the body have tremendous power to control the figure in a lightweight manner that's so necessary with new softer fashions.

Without a doubt, gals, now is the time to treat yourself with kid gloves and indulge in satin tricot underfashions that will make you feel deliciously feminine from the inside out!

when you stop to think that this battalion of poles supports the wires that deliver 90% of the nation's electricity to homes, farms and industry.

Wood is a natural insulator of electricity, and utility poles are a natural national asset. Recently, in keeping with the national interest in outdoor beautification, the utility pole has taken on a new look and will set a new standard of industrial beauty.

This country's familiar overhead electrical delivery system represents a national investment of 26.6 billion dollars, but replacement by any other system would cost homeowners billions more. Poles are a standing example of a good way to keep utility costs at a minimum.

tensively for cooking in Oriental countries, it is new to most American home makers.

Here's one answer to that perpetual complaint of home makers — "if only someone would invent a new vegetable". The one pictured is more a celery than a cabbage, but really isn't quite either one.

It may be used for any purpose for which you use celery, raw or cooked, but don't expect it to taste like celery for it doesn't. Instead it has the mildly pungent flavor of Chinese cabbage.

The big advantage of this vegetable over celery, as far as the gardener is concerned, is its ease of growth, for celery is a very "fussy" crop to raise.

It requires, for instance, rich soil, copious watering and blanching, while loose-leaved Chinese cabbage requires none of these.

High School Graduates
 No Experience Required

Becoming a technician in many businesses is very difficult if you do not have college training or related experience.

General Electric's new Polymer Products operation will give you this chance if you have the aptitude for technical work.

This is an opportunity for technically oriented high school graduates to start a new career as a technician in the rapidly growing plastics industry. Extensive on-job training and college level courses in plant or through tuition refund on campus will prepare you for further advancement.

A broad range of openings in laboratory processing areas are now available.
