Dear Sir:

I would like to write a few lines in response to the "local baby sitter."

I agree 100% that a girl should get 75¢ an hour but then they should do just that: baby sit and nothing else.

When I leave a sitter to care for my two children, it costs me anywhere from $5 to 7 dollars for refreshments for her. She has the use of my phone, plus watching colored television. These kids do not take this under consideration at all. My children are usually in bed when I leave, and all she really has to do is sit, eat, and watch TV. Most of the time I come home around 12:30 or 1:00 at the latest, and this kid is sound a sleep. Maybe all sitters don't have it this easy, but mine is very lucky. When she told me her price was going up to 75¢ an hour, I told her she had to stay awake and she would just get chips and soda for refreshments, and she said she wouldn't sit any more.

So I have another now, but I just wanted to write my opinion on this subject.

How about some views from other parents. At least we are keeping these girls off the streets and out of trouble.

Dear Editor:

The Community Cultural Council did it again! After presenting the great Fred Waring aggregation in the Jr.-Sr. High School gym two years ago with disastrous results, the people who run the Council repeated the same mistake on Tuesday, October 29. There's no great crime in making a mistake but it sure is criminal to err a second time under the same circumstances.

Fred Waring has been on the show business scene for almost 53 years. He is one of the all-time greats in the field of modern music. His singers and instrumentalists are personally chosen with painstaking care. Then, under leadership that fairly quivers with enthusiasm and know-how, he welds them into a 2 1/4 hour stage show that sparkles through every minute.

On October 29, some 1800 people (a capacity crowd) jammed themselves in the gym anticipating great moments in modern music. They were well rewarded — except that the gym's concrete walls must still be aching from the onslaught of some 40 performers.

Just why is it necessary to kill the beauty of it all because the CCC won't present the program in a suitable place?

It is a great tribute to a great musician that he can turn out programs in gymnasiums with concrete blocks and echo chambers as the backdrop. And again this year, every person in the audience stood at the end and gave Fred a 10-minute ovation.

On top of all this, the CCC reserved some 200 seats in the middle section (almost all of it!) for the patrons. It's a shock to pay out $4 for one of the best seats in the house only to find them parceled out to the patron list.

Good luck to the CCC — a few more disasters and mistaken judgments and the operators will need more than "luck."

Dear Editor:

I have maintained for some time that the so-called fourth estate has been constantly sliding in a downward spiral; it has been turning more and more to the left; and "slanted" news is an everyday occurrence rather than an occasional mistake.

But reporting hit an all-time low in one of the Albany daily papers in what was supposed to be a review of the Fred Waring show at R-C-S Jr.-Sr. High School on October 29.

Fred Waring stands for the purest elements from which this country has been forged. For over 50 years, this man has done the really great things in modern music that have been the epitome of American ideals. Flag-waving he has always done —

The Delmar Community Orchestra is, in every sense, a community effort. This non-professional symphonic group is composed of members from the Town of Bethlehem and the surrounding area. It was formed in 1940 as a small group in the Methodist Church and performed at monthly dinners of the Men's Association. It soon grew to be a full-fledged Men's Orchestra.

In 1966 its membership was broadened to include women and to become a community-wide orchestra. It rehearses weekly, continues to perform at the local Men's Association dinners and also presents several benefit concerts during each year. On Monday evening, members of the Orchestra paid homage to the following area members of the Orchestra who retired at the end of the 1968 season:

Donald S. Dewire was a Director of the Delmar Concert Orchestra, founded in 1931 and which dissolved in 1940. This Orchestra gave annual concerts and accompanied Gilbert and Sullivan presentations in a number of communities in the Albany area. He joined the Delmar Men's Orchestra in 1943 and served as Conductor from 1946 to 1958, following which he became a member of the percussion section. Mr. Dewire will shortly take up his residence in Florida for the winter and will spend summers in Wisconsin.

Albert (Bert) W. Clayton was also a member of the original Delmar Concert Orchestra, playing First Violin and serving as Concert Master. He joined the Delmar Men's Orchestra in 1944 and served as Concert Master until his retirement at the end of the 1968 season. Mr. Clayton will continue to reside in Elsmere. In recognition of their valued services to the Orchestra and to the entertainment of residents of the community, each man was presented with a plaque.

Dr. Samuel Kantor will replace Mr. Clayton as Concert Master of the Orchestra, which is under the direction of Samuel Bozzella, Chairman of the Music Department of the Bethlehem Central School District and Conductor of the local High School Band. The President of the Orchestra is Joseph Yungman, who is also a violinist in the Orchestra.

RETIRING — Two members of the Delmar Community Orchestra have retired and in recognition of their untiring years of dedicated membership, each was presented with a plaque. Left to right, D. S. Dewire, retiree; Samuel Bozzella, orchestra conductor, A. W. Clayton, retiree; Dr. S. Kantor, new Concert Master; and J. A. Youngman, orchestra president. Fran Gardinier Photo and when this reviewer says "His sanctimonious flag-waving was a pain, and so was his intimation that the answer to 'hate, bigotry, riots, looting, etc.'" was a few rousing choruses of 'Stars and Stripes Forever' - Waring never said that music is a cure-all for moral ills. What he said was that good, old-fashioned music might help some of us to think of our country with respect, reverence and love.

Maybe the reviewer was disappointed to find only healthy-looking youngsters on stage, all cut from a similar mold as Fred. And now I wonder whether this reviewer could have been the long-haired, bearded, hippie-looking individual who constantly took notes and sat in front of me?

Then he picked on Fred because he quipped, "I like the sound of today's music; it's the sight and smell I can't stand." Almost in the same paragraph he praises Jo Ann Wheatly, who, in our mind was one of the weaker parts of the program - and her husband scored no better with us.

The reviewer must be suffering from a severe case of mal de tete to praise the show as a production and then single out the man who put it together as the weakest link. His is certainly a mal-de-something-or-other!

Or maybe our reviewer couldn't stand the fresh-scrubbed appearance of the musicians and vocalists - maybe musicians to be tops must be unwashed, long-haired hippies.

Whatever it is that is troubling this man could be corrected if only he'd find an occupation more to his liking and appearance.

Toys Needed!

The Bethlehem Community Christmas celebration will continue for the 1968 season with the usual Festival which, among many other events, includes the distribution of toys and Christmas gifts to children of large families of the Bethlehem area. For the past ten years, the people of Bethlehem have been very generous in donating toys, games and larger articles that their own children have outgrown. These are sorted and reconditioned when necessary by the Senior Citizens Group with the help of men of the churches of the Tri-Villages. Work will start on Friday and Saturday, November 8 and 9, at the Masonic Temple in Delmar and continue on succeeding Fridays and Saturdays until the middle of December.

The year 1967 was a banner year when more than 1500 articles were handled and distributed to Bethlehem and New Scotland families and to various Settlement Organizations in Albany. We hope for a good showing in 1968.

Any one who may have toys and games that they may care to donate, may bring them to the Masonic Temple on any Friday

HELP!

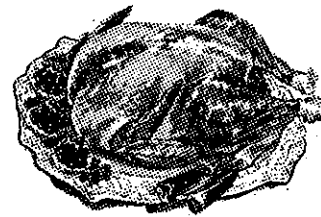

I am a 4 year old boy who has lost his playmate. He is a miniature Collie who answers to the name of "Prancer." His colors are sable and white. He is only 8 months old and needs me to take care of him. I need him to help me take care of my mommy who just had major surgery on her back.

Please help me find him. If you do, there is $50 waiting for you in my piggy bank. If you know where he is, please call my daddy at 439-9142 or come and see us in Feura Bush.

Thank you.

Bigger and Better

Film Programs

The Delmar Public Library has no intention of leaving anyone out of its programs. The children are busy with some planned activity every week — so now for the grownups. In addition to the Sandwich in a Book noon gatherings, movies for adults will begin on Tuesday, November 12, at 8 P.M. "Mark Twain in America" will be the starter. An American Film Festival award winner, this NBC "Project 20" uses 1,000 pictures to create the life of the famous author. Proto-types of his best known characters enliven the film.

Now children — don't forget grades 1-3 are invited to a story hour on Thursday, November 14 at 3:45. On Saturday, November 16, at 9:30 and again at 11:00, the regular Saturday morning movies will feature three films. The first, "Legend of Paramo" is a ghost legend of South America. The story was made in the Paramo Mountains so in addition to a fascinating story the scenery is magnificent. "Loon's Necklace" is a charming, colorful North American Indian legend. "Ti Jean," an old favorite will close the show. All programs are geared to an hour, give or take a few minutes.

HAPPY HOUR

ALL THE SPIRITS NEEDED TO MAKE IT SO

Serving table wines as apéritifs

No special implements or techniques are called for to use wines as apéritifs. A tray of generous-sized stemmed glasses, a corkscrew, and, of course, the wine (one bottle for every three or four guests for pre-dinner drinking) are all you need.

All of the white wines should be thoroughly chilled in the refrigerator before serving. Chilling will take at least an hour. It is better to start with the wine too cold than not sufficiently chilled—it soon warms up in the glass.

All wines served as apéritifs are the better for nuts, crackers, olives, or slivers of cheese served as accompaniments. Hostesses who have prepared elaborate canapés often find they are more appreciated with wine than with the usual cocktails. A word of warning: wine is a real appetizer. Trays of tidbits disappear with alarming speed. And the dinner bell becomes a sound more appealing than ever.

Education Week

In observance of American Education Week, the Bethlehem Central Junior High School has scheduled Tuesday, November 12, and Wednesday, November 13, as Open House Visitation Day for parents and other interested citizens.

American Education Week, which is sponsored by the National Education Association, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, The United States Office of Education, The Bethlehem American Education Committee and the American Legion, this year emphasizes, "America

Has a Good Thing Going - Its Schools."

The week of November 10-16, will give Americans an opportunity to observe the activities and classes which their children experience in their daily growth.

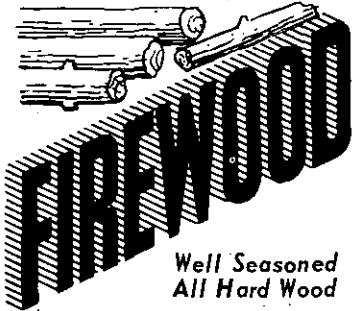

As a conclusion to the week's activities, the Vocal Music Department, under the direction of Joseph Farrell, will present a Poe Assembly. The Poe Assembly, created by English, Art and Music Students, will satirize and dramatize the Works of Edgar Allan Poe. A few seats will be available for parents interested in attending the assembly.

Next Meeting:
Exploring Mexico

Armchair travelers and photographic buffs, please mark November 12 as a "must" for a visit to Delmar Camera Club.

At 8 P.M. at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Elsmere. Tony Lento, Assistant Professor of Education at SUNY will show his travel slides of a recent trip to Mexico. The first half of the show concerns itself with Mexico City and its rich historical heritage. You will see the people of Mexico, see Mexico's

The second half of the show deals with the area of Mexico south of Mexico City. You will travel through Cuernavaca and Taxco and finally on to Acapulco and all its beauty.

The slide show is synchronized with narration, background music and original sound effects. This should be one of the season's outstanding programs.

At the October 24 club competition, awards for black and white prints went to Alice Porter for "Old Sugar Mill," Jerry Gaige for "Schoharie Valley" and "Abandoned," Monica Bishop for "El Capitan" and Florence Becker for "Sky Monsters."

The color slide winners were Alice Porter for "Arrangement," Monica Bishop for "Swimmer," Charles Clark for "A Midsummer Night," Mary Johnson for "Dawn" and Howard Gallagher for "Early Morning."

2 in Who's Who

Two Delmar residents are among 34 students at State University College at Oswego selected for the 1968 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Louise Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Jackson, 36 Lyons Avenue, and Carol Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Brown, 3 Herber Avenue, are listed in the publication. Miss Jackson is an English major at Oswego and Miss Brown is a psychology major at the college.

In Chorus

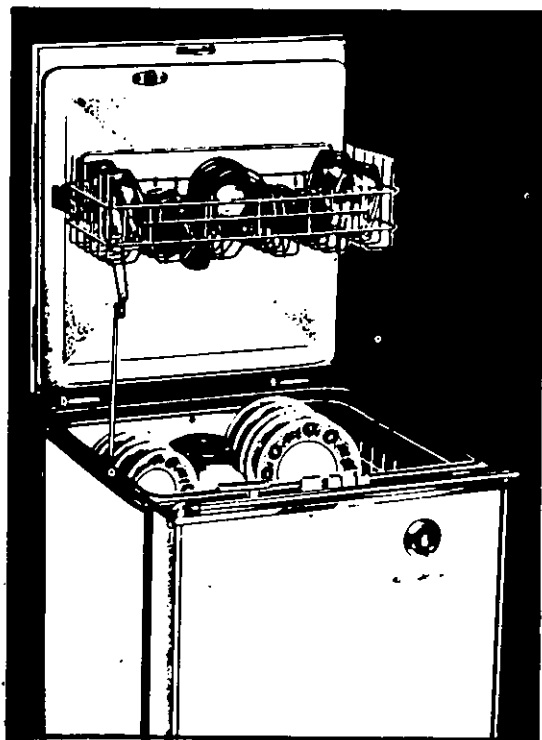

Carol L. Stone of Delmar is a member of the Skidmore College Chorus which sang in a joint concert with Worcester Polytechnic Institute Glee Club on November 2, in Skidmore College Hall.

Prof. Virginia Walker Waner, chorus director, also plans eight other concerts, including Skidmore's first combined chorus appearance in St. Thomas Episcopal Church in New York City on Palm Sunday with the W.P.I. group. Concerts are slated at W.P.I., in Worcester, Mass.; with the Colgate University Glee Club at Colgate, Hamilton, N.Y.; with the Villanova Glee Club at Skidmore; and for special campus events during the year.

Miss Stone is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Stone of 198 Westchester Drive South, Delmar.

Mission Program

The Rev. Louis Buchheimer of Wantagh, N.Y. will be the guest speaker and show slides at the November 12 meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

Pastor Buchheimer served at True Light Chinese Lutheran Church in New York City for 22 years. During that time he also served on the Synod's Board of Missions and traveled extensively in China, Japan and Europe where one of his duties was to purchase property on which to build orphanages.

He accepted a call to go with the Armed Services Commission and was stationed in the Philippines for three years and at Norfolk, Va., for one year.

He was selected as Project Director for the Lutheran Exhibit at the Protestant Pavilion of the New York World's Fair preceding his retirement.

While visiting Delmar, Pastor and Mrs. Buchheimer will be guests of their daughter Mrs. David Eaton, who was recently re-elected president of the Albany Zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

Guild President, Marilyn Gehr, has announced that the public is cordially invited to attend the P.M. meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Meeting

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Tri-Village Little League will hold a general meeting Thursday, November 14, at the National Commercial Bank Community room. Time of the meeting is 7:45. The nominating committee headed by Florence Fury will present a slate of officers to the group for the coming year.

Black and white 8x10 pictures of the ladies who participated in the mothers softball game will also be on display - come and laugh at yourselves as well as at your friends.

Everyone who has a son who participates in Little League is considered a member of the auxiliary and will be welcomed. Please try to come.

Speaker

Peter Miller, an anthropology instructor at the State University at Albany, urged people in take a stand on the racial problem in a talk before the Society for Social Concerns of St. Thomas Church in Delmar recently.

"People's passive attitudes - that is the trouble with American society today," Mr. Miller declared.

He spoke of third party presidential candidate George Wallace, and H. Rapp Brown, Negro militant, as representing the extremes. "It is good that people are taking sides," he remarked.

"You can not be in the middle of the road and get things done. You must become politically involved on one side or the other."

"We just can't sit around and say it is wrong; what is happening to the Negro," Mr. Miller continued. "You have to get the problem out in the open."

When asked how he would compare the intelligent quotients of the black man and the white man, Mr. Miller responded, "An IQ test measures a person's comprehension of the American middle class culture.

"The white man learns his culture while the Negro is forced to learn two cultures, that of the Negro and that of the white man. When you speak of measuring intelligence, the question is intelligence to what."

Two Different Stores

We don't know if you've noticed.

We've been sort of sneaking the message across.

Ready? O.K.

There are TWO DIFFERENT Village Shops!

TWO!

There. We said it and we're glad.

This is the story:

For months now, we've been transferring Our Early American accessories from the Village Shop at the Plaza, to the 2nd Village Shop at the Four Corners. Now the job is almost complete.

As a result, the Village Shop at the Plaza is a CONTEMPORARY Shop, full of gifts from all over the world and the U.S. The accent is on today, but actually the things are usually versatile enough to go with any decor.

On the other hand, the 2nd Village Shop at the 4 Corners is specifically an EARLY AMERICAN shop, featuring furniture and accessories of an earlier day. The accent is traditional and nostalgic.

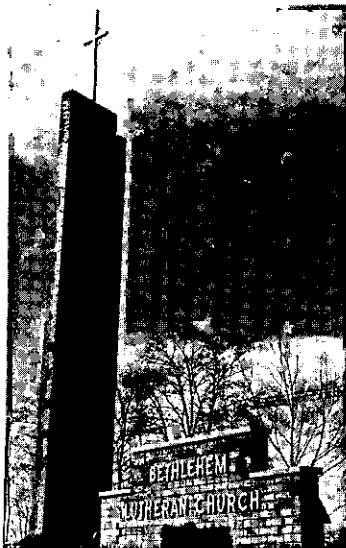

So if your interests run in either direction, drop in when you get a chance. We're sure you'll find it interesting.

Brownie News

Twenty-one happy little girls were invested into Brownie Troop #260 on October 29 at the home of their leader, Mrs. Freeman T. Putney. Mothers were invited and Hallowe'en punch and cookies were served. The group has been active making sit-upons, work boxes and leaf book-marks. They also enjoyed a picnic at the Delmar Game Farm. Now they are looking forward to Thanksgiving and Christmas projects, one of which is a caroling party.

Mrs. Putney is assisted in the leadership with Mrs. David O'Keefe, Mrs. Robert Morris, Mrs. Leonard Tompkins, and Mrs. Bertie Reed.

The girls who were invested into the troop are: Jackie Aluise, Judy Barr, Ann Clark, Ann Digeser, Nina Ali Lorenzo, Joanne Donnelly, Susan Hungerford, Heather Leslie, Kimberly Levine, Pam Morris, Cynthia Mastrodonato, Lisa O'Keefe, Sara Putney, Jane Rathjens, Suzanne Reed, Marianne Sciartelli, Carolyn Strasser, Darlene Tompkins, Sandra Tubbs, Mary Ellen Quinlan and Donna Warren.

Attended Workshop

Dr. and Mrs. Evan W. McChesney, 14 Alden Ct., Elmsere, recently attended a three-day workshop for Experiment volunteers at the Experiment in International Living headquarters in Vermont.

Mrs. McChesney is Chairman of Individual Home Placement for the Experiment in this area. Dr. McChesney is presently Treas-

The Experiment in International Living has been engaged in international educational exchange since its Founder, Dr. Donald B. Watt, first introduced a group of American youths to their French and German-speaking counterparts in Switzerland in 1932. It has since developed into a world-wide operation with representatives in some sixty countries, involved annually in the exchange of more than 5,000 young men and women between the United States and 100 different nations.

The three-day program, which began October 25, provided an opportunity for the informal exchange of information and ideas between the volunteers and the professional staff, and for the planning of Experiment programs for the coming year.

New Chairman

Bankers and lawyers are in the same leaky grammatical boat when it comes to the use of words, the president of the New York State Bar Association told an audience of 300 state bankers recently.

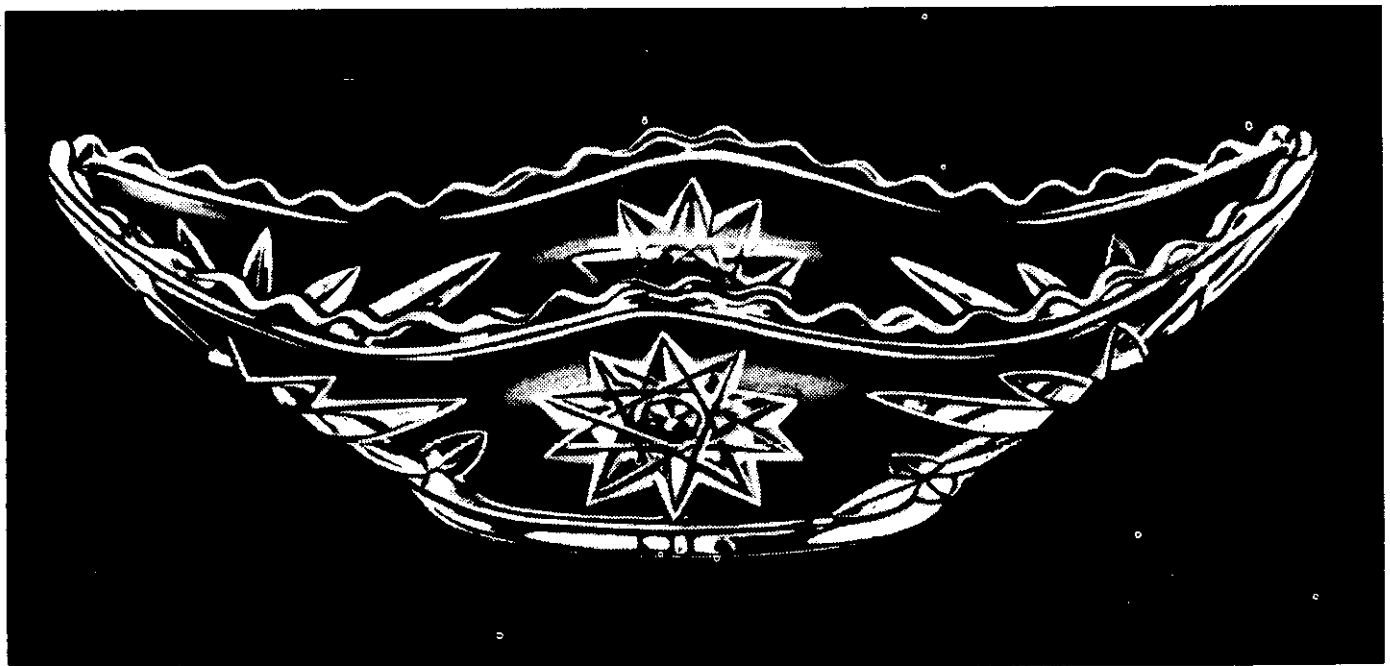

"A continuing problem for both lawyers and bankers, especially lawyers, is how to eliminate complicated, traditional boiler plate and, instead use simple language that the clients can understand," Lyman M. Tondel Jr. said.

Mr. Tondel, who spoke at the opening dinner session of the 22nd annual conference of the trust division of the New York State Bankers Association, said the expression law and order is

When the winter months seem never-ending, a few spring flowers will be a welcome addition to any home. Mrs. Eleanor J. Wages, Table Talk hostess, invites television viewers to watch "Forcing Bulbs for Indoor Bloom" on Wednesday, November 13, on WAST, Channel 13 at 7:30 A.M. This program can also be viewed on WMHT, Channel 17, at 4:30 P.M. on Wednesday, November 20.

Charles C. Fischer, Associate Professor in Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture at Cornell University, will explain how to select, plant and store bulbs for spring flowering. A cold storage temperature of 40 degrees F is recommended and Mr. Fischer will explain how to attain this temperature.

Map Ready

Hunters who plan to be in the Catskill Mountains for the opening of the deer season November 18 may find themselves spending more time hunting a place to hunt than hunting their favorite game. The population boom, more posted areas, and urban growth are reasons hunters may find less open land readily available than in former years.

State conservationists point out that there is actually more than enough land to go around in the Catskills. But not all hunters know where to find it. To help these hunters, an Ithaca, N.Y. firm has published a "Sportsman's Map" that shows the location of some 250,000 acres of public hunting land in the Catskill Mountains.

Issued by Outdoor Publications, the map is intended to guide hunters to specific parcels of this free, open state land without trespassing on private property. Access to this public acreage is possible where parcels touch state, county, and township roads, and where state-maintained hiking trails originate on public land.

The map also shows public campsites, lean-to shelters, lookout towers, trout streams open to public fishing, ski centers and other outdoor facilities. It is printed in color and measures 22 by 24 inches.

At Center

"Seidman and Son," a stage version by Elick Moll of his best-selling novel of the same name, will be presented by the Drama Workshop of the Albany Jewish Community Center on November 28, 30 and Dec. 1.

The play stars Dennis Hurley (Morris Seidman) in its central role of a father frustrated in the affectionate hope of having his son join him in his business.

Described by one Broadway critic as a "likable, friendly, good-hearted and surprisingly gentle comedy", the play was presented in New York by the Theater Guild in the fall of 1962 and scored a happy Broadway success throughout the season.

"Seidman and Son," spins a tale of the many complications that beset Morris Seidman's vocational and domestic life. One of Morris's problems is the warm feelings that he holds for a woman designer in his firm — feelings that present him with a serious dilemma in his own marriage of 24 years.

Chiefly, however, life is complicated for Seidman because he has said to his son, Harold, "Come into my business." What happens to make him wish he had never made the offer is both hilarious and touching. For Seidman's son may have a formidable intelligence but in Papa's business, he is an utter fiasco. With a fine flair, he antagonizes long-time employees and valued customers.

io and Champlain, the St. Lawrence and Hudson Rivers, and the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, Long Island Sound and the inland waters of Long Island. The regulations are already in effect in Lake George and Greenwood Lake.

This announcement follows the decision of the Department of Health that no sewage treatment device now available for use in pleasure craft and small boats produces an effluent capable of meeting Health's requirements for purity.

Devices which provide complete treatment of a vessel's sewage may be approved in the future but macerator-chlorinators now available do not accomplish the minimum treatment required by law.

The Conservation Department is charged with enforcing this regulation under the provisions of the law regulating the discharge of sewage from vessels.

The Department's Division of Motor Boats is already conducting research to establish standards for holding tanks and incinerators toward establishing a list of approved units which may be used in New York State.

Biafra Aid

In spite of the dangers and sometimes staggering obstacles, the International Committee of the Red Cross flew a record 144 mercy flights into Biafra during the month of September, it was reported in a statement released by the American Red Cross today.

Over 1,250 tons of food and medical supplies for the beleaguered population were delivered on these flights, and 431 foreign nationals were brought out of Biafran territory by the six ICRC planes and the additional aircraft leased by the Committee from commercial airlines.

Mercy flights from the island of Fernando Po were made on all but three nights during the month of September, the report states, and there were a number of other flights turned back because of military operations, mechanical difficulties, or weather conditions.

The Committee also has trucks and ships available for the mass transportation of relief supplies into the Biafran area as soon as agreement can be worked out with Nigerian and Biafran leaders. ICRC estimates some 20,000 tons of food and medical supplies are presently stored in Nigeria or en route to that country.

The Committee has assembled relief and medical teams from Four Red Cross Staff members have been killed during the operation and a number of others injured. ICRC reports.

"Negotiations, as well as operations were rapidly stepped up with the assignment of August Lindt, former Swiss Ambassador to the United States, as General Commissioner of the ICRC in West Africa.

Meeting

The LaLeche League of Albany will begin a new series of meetings this month designed to help women who are interested in breast-feeding their babies. The first meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Alston, 23 Ruth Terrace (Westmere), Albany at 8 P.M. on Wednesday evening, November 13.

MISS KATHERINE HOAGLAND, of Delmar, has pledged the Bethany College Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority at Bethany, W. Va. Miss Hoagland, of 74 Devon Drive, is a freshman at Bethany.

The only moving part in an electric baseboard heating system is in the thermostat.

You know, anything you use from household appliances to the car you drive, the parts that wear out are always the parts that move.

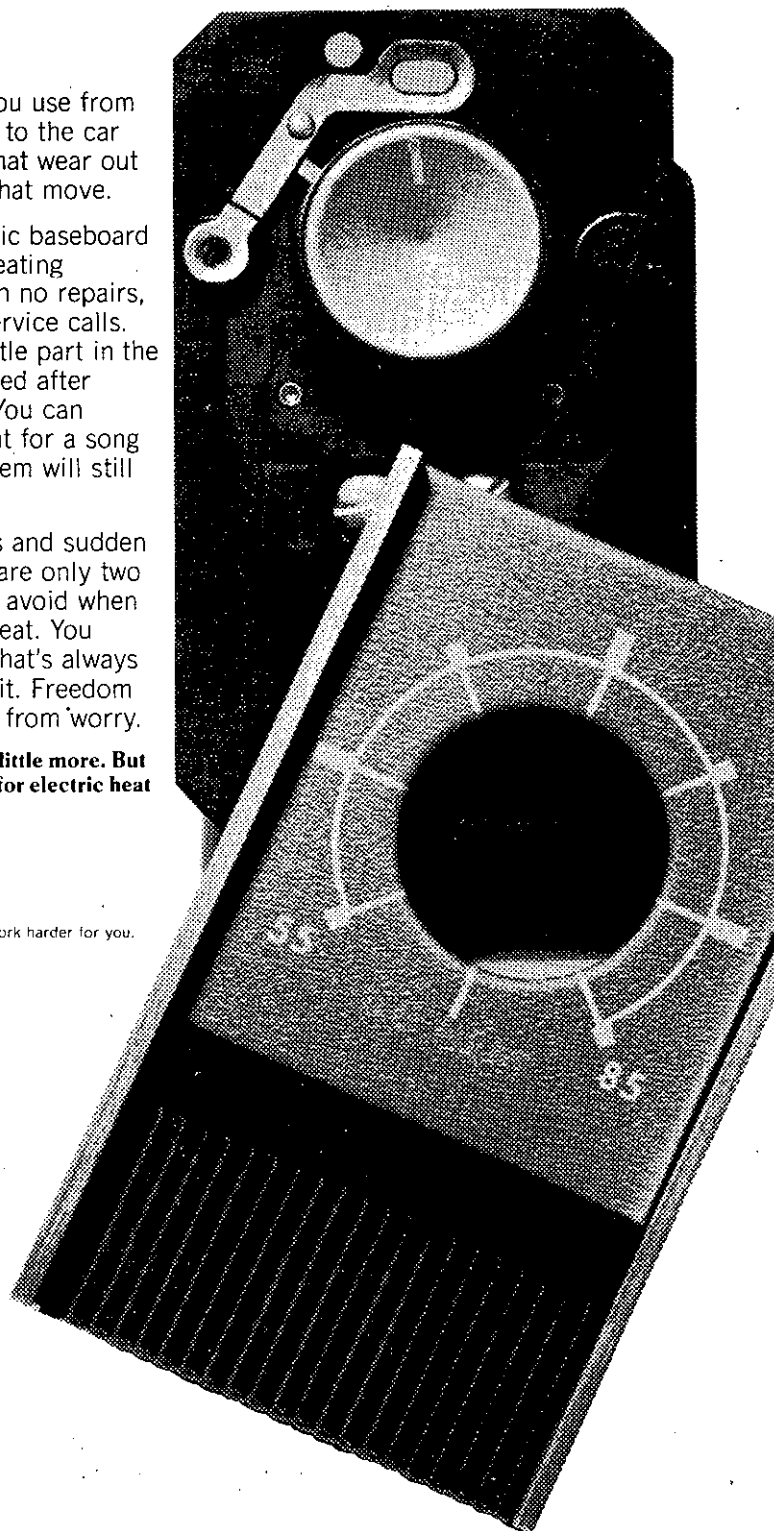

When you have electric baseboard heating it keeps on heating through the years with no repairs, no breakdowns, no service calls. So maybe that one little part in the thermostat will get tired after a generation or two. You can replace the thermostat for a song and your heating system will still not miss a beat!

Freedom from repairs and sudden breakdown expenses are only two of the headaches you avoid when you choose electric heat. You get clean heat. Heat that's always there when you want it. Freedom from drafts. Freedom from worry.

Sure, electric heat costs a little more. But remember; you don't pay for electric heat with headaches!

CHRISTMAS IS COMING AND HERE'S THE PROOF

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are now available to members of our 1968 Christmas Club. There's nothing like having all bills paid in advance when the holidays roll around.

We hope that some of this money is in your pocket right now. And if it isn't, be sure it will be there next year by joining Christmas Club for 1969. Do it this week.

Winter Burn

Now is the time to give your evergreen shrubs the protection they need for winter. The broad-leaved evergreens, such as rhododendrons, and newly planted narrow-leaved evergreens, such as taxus, have the greatest need for winter protection.

According to horticultural specialists at Cornell, evergreens carry their leaves all winter and are constantly giving up water to the air. This water loss, called transpiration, is reduced in winter but never stops. When evergreens are exposed to the winter sun and wind, this water loss may take place faster than the roots can replace the water. The result is 'winter-burn', shriveled wood and dried scorched leaves.

Prevention of winter burn considers both increasing the intake of water through the roots and reducing water loss from the leaves. To increase the intake of water, make sure that there is plenty of moisture in the soil.

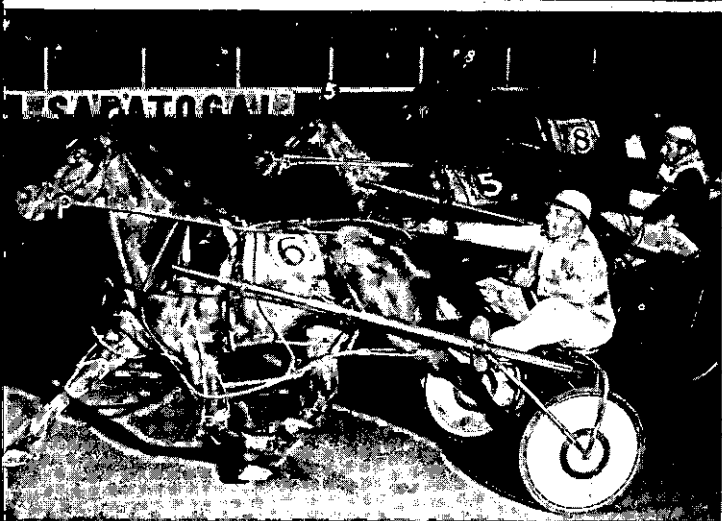

During a dry fall water your evergreens thoroughly so the soil is moistened to a depth of at least 12 inches. This watering should be done just before the ground freezes.

Mulching your evergreens also helps increase water uptake. A mulch will reduce water loss from the soil, but more importantly, it will moderate soil temperatures and reduce the depth of freezing. Since root activity and water decrease at low temperatures and stop when the ground around the roots freezes, the mulch will greatly increase the amount of water taken up by the root.

Wind breaks and sun shades help to reduce the amount of water lost from the leaves. When the water loss is reduced, the roots don't have to take up so much water.

You could say that the prevention of winter burn is really a matter of keeping the water supply in the plants equal to the water demand caused by the loss through the leaves. To reduce the problem, increase the supply by watering and mulching, and reduce the demand by using wind breaks and sun shades.

The Cooperative Extension Association, Agricultural Division has two bulletins that will help you have healthier evergreens next spring. They are "Culture of Rhododendrons in New York State" and "Solving Cultural Troubles of Rhododendrons and Other Ericaceous
