THE TRIUMPHAL ENTRY INTO JERUSALEM . . . they threw their cloaks over the animal and helped Jesus get on. As he rode on, they spread their cloaks on the road. When he came near Jerusalem, at the place where the road went down the Mount of Olives, the large crowd of his disciples began to thank God and praise him in loud voices for all the great things that they had seen: "God bless the king who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven, and glory to God!"

(Luke 19. 35-38)

THE DEATH OF JESUS — It was about twelve o'clock when the sun stopped shining and darkness covered the whole country until three o'clock; and the curtain hanging in the Temple was split in two. Jesus cried out in a loud voice, "Father! In your hands I place my spirit!" He said this and died.

(Luke 23.44-46)

THE RESURRECTION . . . "You are looking for Jesus of Nazareth, who was nailed to the cross. But he is not here — he has risen! Look, here is the place where they laid him. Now go and give this message to his disciples, including Peter: 'He is going to Galilee ahead of you; there you will see him, just as he told you.'" So they went out and ran from the grave, because fear and terror were upon them."

(Mark 16. 6-8)

BETHLEHEM EASTERN STUDIES CLASS TOURS ORIENTAL RUG COMPANY: Mr. Rod Kermani discusses the history of oriental rug patterns with Bethlehem High School students Carolyn Rogers and Uri Yokel during a recent class trip to Kermani's Oriental Rugs, Inc. in Schenectady. Students in the new Eastern Studies class at Bethlehem High toured the rug company to learn how the authentic hand-made rugs are knotted and dyed and what the various patterns signify. The new class, which is taught on a team basis by Dominick DeCecco and Gordon Molyneaux, stresses the art, literature, life style, traditions, and personality of Eastern peoples rather than history and governmental institutions. Both teachers feel that by learning to understand the people, students will develop a better understanding of the problems they face in the institutions they have created. Other unusual class activities designed to give students a "feel" for the Eastern cultures, include cooking an oriental dinner, learning the art of paper-folding, and inviting guest speakers from Eastern countries to visit their class. Bethlehem High recently received a $15,000 grant to establish a foreign area studies research center for use by this class and other foreign study courses now in the planning stages.

Citizens for Parental Rights

An organizational meeting of parents who are concerned about the trend in school sex education was held Friday evening in the community room of the National Commercial Bank and Trust Company, Delmar, with a capacity audience of over 80 people. It resulted in the formation of a local chapter of a regional group called, "Citizens for Parental Rights."

A policy statement was issued which put the organization on record as opposing sex education in the grammar schools. The organization's position was supported by the findings of leading psychiatrists, one of whom was quoted as saying that "premature interest in sex is unnatural and will arrest or distort the development of the personality." Dr. William McGrath, of Phoenix, Arizona, strongly condemned all individuals and groups "who would deliberately arouse the child's curiosity or stimulate his unready mind to troubled sexual preoccupation."

The organization also went on record as opposing sex education at the high school level "when the moral dimensions of sex are ignored or treated negatively." It is their belief that most school sex education programs have developed along lines suggested by SEX INFORMATION AND EDUCATION COUNCIL OF THE U.S. (SIECUS), and rely heavily on Siecus materials. The amoral attitude of Siecus is clearly spelled out in the Siecus information brochure which states: "Siecus can be neither for nor against illegitimacy, homosexuality, premarital sex, nor any other manifestation of human sexual phenomena."

The principal speaker, Frank Decker, clearly stated that it was not the intent of the lawmakers to include sex instruction in Law 787, when it was composed by the State Legislature; that sex instruction is not mandated by law, but has been introduced into schools by Boards of Education, as "Health Education."

Many parents stated that they do not want any sex education in the school for their children, because they feel that only a parent is qualified to teach the child, since parents alone know the personality of the child intimately. Thus, they take into consideration the type of sex education that the child is intellectually, emotionally and psychologically able to absorb without undesirable consequences. In support of their position, they cite the Gesell Institute book on Child Behavior, which warns against "the greatest error of all - telling too much too soon." They question the necessity for teaching the subject over a period of 13 years, from kindergarten through high school.

In addition, they question the reason for the secret manner in which the subject was introduced into the schools without the approval of parents, who were unable to view the subject matter before it was introduced in the schools, or to vote on it. They also question Siecus-source materials being used in the school courses, as they are prepared by the same writers who staff Sexology Magazine, a pornographic piece of literature.

The local group concluded that "any attempt at sex education which ignores moral issues is just one more example of how human sexuality is being exploited and downgraded" in our times. They added, "Any adequate sex education program must emphasize that sex is a gift of God, and that its proper use is a sacred responsibility and privilege. An educational program which deals almost exclusively with the mechanics of sex, and which opposes the formation of moral judgments about the proper use of sex will damage both the child and society." They brought out that there are several court cases pending throughout the country, where children have been damaged either physically or psychologically by their inability to handle information they have been taught in the school. Anaheim, California, and San Luis Obispo, California, two of the first school districts to initiate sex education courses in their schools, are now in the midst of several court cases claiming injury to the child.

Dr. James Lieberman, of the National Institute of Mental Health, states: "To much information about sex can be as harmful to children as not enough.

New Captain

Jack Adams, a 1966 alumnus of Clayton A. Bouton High School, Voorheesville, has been elected captain of next year's State University of Albany varsity basketball team. A junior at the university, Adams has been a first string guard for two seasons, after leading the freshman team in scoring his first year at Albany.

Jack Adams

The 5-9, 165-pounder lettered three years in three sports, football, basketball, and baseball, in high school; but has confined his athletic activities to the cage sport in college. He gained second team All-Suburban honors as a high school senior and captained both the football and basketball squads.

In his first year at Albany, Adams averaged 18.9 points per game for a 7-11 freshman club. High high-arching jump shots and quick drives impressed observers, who predicted varsity stardom for the backcourt hustler. He fulfilled that promise his sophomore season, playing every game and scoring at a 10.0 average for the 18-4 Great Danes. This year his average dropped slightly to 9.0, as he started every game in an 18-6 season.

He has yet to score 20 points in his varsity career, his best effort being 19 against Utica last year. He is consistent however, and scored between 8 and 13 pts. in 17 games this season. Next winter, with Rich Margison, Scott Price, and Jim Caverly graduated, Adams and Jack Jordan will have to shoulder more of the scoring load. The two Jacks are capable of the burden and Adams will assume the added responsibility which comes with the captaincy.

Jack is a mathematics major at the University, where he is a member of Potter Club fraternity. In 1967 he received the James Warden Scholarship, given annually to a student possessing the qualities and ideals of the late Albany student-athlete. Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, 2135 New Scotland Road, Slingerlands.

Ambassador Project

On May 15, the Town of Bethlehem will receive an unusually interesting group of Experimenters, to be sponsored locally by our Bethlehem Community Ambassador Project. Nine young businessmen from Switzerland will be here for three weeks, learning something of how we live and work. Our town will be their first stop in this country.

This group comes here as part of the Jr. Executive Trainee (JET) Program of the Experiment in International Living. After the home stay, they will attend a six-week's course, tailored especially for them, at Amherst College. At the conclusion of the college course, most of them plan to remain in this country about a year, working and training in companies similar to those in which they are now employed in Switzerland.

Many businesses are represented; financial firms, IBM, grain trading, general exporting, dealers in raw metals, and printing and bookbinding, among others. Many of the young men are "foreign correspondents," handling foreign accounts and correspondence for their firms. Almost as many cities of Switzerland as businesses are represented.

In charge of arrangements for the JET group, is Mrs. Frank Lane. In addition to home hospitality, it is hoped that many people will wish to extend short term hospitality such as dinners.

Awards

In February, four students in Shorthand I earned certificates issued by the Gregg Publishing Company's Awards Department for their knowledge of the complete theory of shorthand. Those who took 100 words dictated in 10 minutes, and transcribed them, with 90 per cent accuracy were Ramona Bradley, Diane Bryson, Kathleen Fitzgerald and Laura Halsdorf.

In Shorthand II and transcription, March Hendrick and Cathy Miller earned certificates by taking three letters at 80 words per minute and transcribing two mailable letters in 20 minutes. Kathleen Furey, Jean Ginter, Nancy Odell and Mary Pike earned similar certificates for transcription skill, but they took the dictation at 60 words per minute.

Eye Test

The Voorheesville Pre-School Vision Screening program will be held on Tuesday, April 15, at the United Methodist Church hall between the hours of 10 A.M. and 3 P.M. The primary objective of this program is to make parents aware that an eye examination for children 3, 4 and 5 years of age is very important and might well avoid later vision difficulties.

The second objective is to make available to the children a FREE screening which may detect some difficulty that otherwise might go unnoticed, and to recommend eye examinations where indicated. A vision screening is a procedure which attempts to find those who seem to have eye conditions and therefore may need professional attention. An examination consists of a thorough inspection of the eye as to structure and function by an eye specialist.

The screening will be conducted by volunteers trained in an eight-hour course by the Pre-school Vision Screening coordinator of the Albany Association of the Blind, and is approved by a professional Advisory Committee.

One of the threats to young eyes which may be detected by such a screening is Amblyopia or "lazy Eye." This affliction is usually the consequence of one eye learning faster than the other, especially in the last stages of development. The strong eye is soon doing all the hard work, and the weak eye stops trying to learn. Unless this disparity is caught and corrected before the habits of vision grow rigid - no later than about age of 6 - the lazy eye will usually never learn to focus as it should. Fortunately, such vision difficulties can frequently be averted if treatment is started early.

Children ages 3, 4, and 5 years of age, if not yet attending school, are invited to participate in the free screening project.

The first meeting of the County guidance council was held on February 24. Richard Gannon, a member of the Narcotic Unit of the New York State Police, and Doctor John J. A. Lyons, Commissioner of Health, were also present. Agreement was reached that the local current problems were primarily concerned with two drugs: 1. Marijuana - pot, weed, hashish. (A calling card to Narcotic Addiction); 2. Amphetamines - speed, bennies, pep pills and wake-ups.

Our younger generation is undiscovered - let's seek them out - they are the future.

As a concerned Delmar resident, I want to congratulate Captain Peter Fish for his interest in the future of the Bethlehem. Our community is growing and we have to be prepared. Prevention is worth a pound of cure.

This is the statement to which the letter refers:

"Drug Abuse is presently endemic in our society and a public health menace of growing concern to government." In 1966 the legislature created a New York State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission. In 1968 the legislature added the Narcotic Guidance Council Law, which enables and encourages counties, cities, towns and villages to form their own Councils to fight drug abuse on a local level.

On February 10, the Albany County Legislature created an Albany County Narcotics Guidance Council and appointed the following members to serve for three years without compensation: Chairman: John E. Gainor, M.D., Deputy Commissioner of Health; Rev. John H. Mealey, Principal, Vincentian Institute; James S. Carter, Attorney; Mary Brandon, SENCAP; John Dennis, Student.

The first meeting of the County Guidance Council was held on February 24, at the County Health Center, Richard Gannon.

Board Report

The task of developing a 1969-70 school budget which will maintain the quality of Bethlehem's school program without placing an unreasonable burden on local taxpayers, continued to be the main item of business facing the Board of Education at a five hour meeting in March 24. The financial picture is extremely critical this year in view of anticipated reductions in income versus the rising costs of personnel, equipment, and other school needs.

During the meeting, the Board held an informal discussion with members of the Bethlehem Central Teachers Involvement Committee to hear their recommendations concerning the budget dilemma. The faculty group expressed the opinion that top priority should be given to budget items which directly affect the educational program such as needed teachers and classroom equipment. Herman Brown, chairman of the teachers' committee, said that if budget cuts must be made the teachers feel they should be in non-educational services such as transportation, recreational programs, etc.

On the same evening, Miss Anita Palumbo, head of the Foreign Language Department, made a presentation to the Board on the language program in the junior and senior high schools. She pointed to the outstanding record achieved by Bethlehem students in language proficiency tests, and described the audio-lingual method and continuous progress system used in teaching languages in Bethlehem schools. When asked by the Board if she felt any of the five languages now offered at the high school level could be cut out without harm to the program, Miss Palumbo indicated that some consideration has already been given to omitting Russian due to limited student enrollment. She said that student interest in French, Spanish, German, and Latin was good, and over 60% of the high school students are enrolled in foreign language classes.

Elsmere principal, Richard Herrmann, submitted an 8 page report to the Board, outlining a proposed pilot program designed to provide more attention to the individual needs of students in elementary grades. The plan, which was developed by the faculty at Elsmere school, calls for students to be dismissed early one afternoon a week so teachers could meet together to discuss the needs of groups or individual students and develop program adaptations to meet these needs. The plan also called for a revision in the daily schedule to give teachers more opportunity to work with small groups of students. For example, by sending 1/2 of the students from two different classes to physical education class at the same time, the teachers could work with the remaining students on particular subjects in which they need added help. Mr. Herrmann suggested that this plan be implemented in the Elsmere School on a one year pilot basis, and tests be administered before and after the program to gauge the effectiveness of this system. The Board will study this plan before taking final action on the matter.

Another item of business for the busy Board members was approval of tenure appointments for eligible teachers in the school district. The following teachers were named to tenure appointments: Donna Christman, Ruthann Cons, Elizabeth Deily, Jane Feisthamel, Judith Gelburd, Nelson Harrington, Muriel Heicklen, Mildred Hughes, Judith Kirkman, Constance Miller, Hedi Moore, Roger Quackenbush, Karen Rothaupt, Dorothy Seim, Nancy Smith, Robert Smith and Hugh Williams.

Saturday morning movies monthly are a full house deal at both the 9:30 and 11:00 showings. As for summer — that is so filled with all kinds of goodies we have to schedule each brim day. Even the Teens have evening programs.

In line with such activity a few changes have been made in the children's room. All fairy tales are shelved behind the librarian's desk; all children's records are over there (only catch — you still must be fourteen to borrow a record) and best of all — about thirty film strips with correlated records are available.

If you wish to borrow one, ask one of the children's librarians.

Now, see what we mean — about loving the kids?

At their 45th annual meeting, of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Inc., announced that the Garden Group of the Delmar Progress Club had received two Citations for Excellence. Attending the meeting at the Park Sheraton Hotel in New York were the Co-Chairmen of the Group, Mrs. Howard Geyer and Mrs. John Mather. Federated Garden Clubs of N.Y. State include 536 clubs with over 22,000 members.

The first citation was for the 1968 Fall Standard Flower Show Schedule prepared by Mrs. Lucien LaMaitre with Mrs. Sidney Vunck as consultant. A flower show schedule is a complete guide for exhibitors and visitors describing the divisions of the show including both artistic and technical demands upon exhibitors. This schedule was of particular interest in that the artistic arrangements were based on the 175 years of history in the Town of Bethlehem. Co-chairmen for the flower show were Mrs. Alfred Myron and Mrs. Paul Moran.

The second citation for excellence was received for "consistent and inspired work" in the Garden Therapy Program conducted on a volunteer basis by Garden Group members at the Albany Veterans Hospital under the leadership of Mrs. Sidney Vunck and Mrs. Reuben Warrall. Their committee included Mesdames Franklin Amos, John Brown, Howe Cassavant, Frederick Guy, William Jones, Eric Lake, Edgar Vail and George Winegard. Mrs. Alice Porter did the photography work required to submit a record of the therapy program.

in this area: the Art of Haiti exhibition at Mayfair, Central Avenue at Lark Street in Albany.

The seventy paintings and sculptures in the show were sent to Mayfair by Le Centre d'Art in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. They are the work of primitive painters and sculptors . . . "primitive" only in the sense that the artists have had no academic training.

The paintings show an intense sense of composition, with riotous tropical color fairly bursting from the canvases. The artists have painted what they know: landscapes, local personages, animals, processions, street and family scenes, flowers and religious scenes.

The sculpture, strongly influenced by the sophisticated African heritage of the artists, has an awesome strength and biting symbolism. Some works are made of homely materials: oil drums, for instance, that washed ashore on Haitian beaches; but they soar with imagination and vigor.

Vodoun (voodoo) plays a strong role in Haitian art. Actually a complex set of folk beliefs quite unlike the violent nonsense of the movies, its secret rituals have mingled with Roman Catholicism to form a world in which reality vies with the supernatural appearance of talking owls and evil serpents. This fusion of cultures is evident in almost every Haitian work of art.

Before the late DeWitt Peters went to Haiti in 1943 on an English-teaching mission for the U.S. Government, painting was limited to the decoration of buildings, doors, walls . . . even automobiles. Sculpture was limited to ritual and utilitarian objects. Peters, an accomplished painter, found these decorations and earnest carvings exciting and began to give the artists encouragement and instruction. In 1944, he opened Le Centre-d'Art, which has grown in influence year by year. Today it enjoys wide recognition throughout the island, although it still operates on the very modest funds supplied half by the Haitian government and half by a special grant from the

In the late 1940's, Rene d'Harncourt of the Museum of Modern Art in New York said "The discovery of Haitian folk art and the development of its school of painting by Le Centre d'Art is one of the most stimulating and exciting events in modern art." But despite this recognition of a new force in creative expression, relatively few Americans have ever seen a Haitian painting or bronze.

The Art of Haiti exhibition will be on display at Mayfair from April 9 through April 22. Several paintings and pieces of sculpture are on loan from private collections but many may be purchased.

Famed Exhibit

Visiting physicians including an Egyptian of 1500 B.C. and a Belgian surgeon of 1500 A.D., will make their "home" here during a special showing in the Community Exhibit Room of the City & County Savings Bank through April 25.

The lifelike "visitors" are part of the series of 45 oil paintings, "A History of Medicine in Pictures," commissioned by Parke, Davis & Company as a tribute to the heritage of the medical profession.

George A. Bender, of Parke-Davis, Detroit, who conceived the series, said that for the paintings approximately 300 persons were interviewed; more than 500 special references were checked; and two six weeks' trips through Europe were made for on-the-spot investigation.

The artist, Robert A. Thom, of Birmingham, Mich., completed this historical collection in 1964, the paintings and their stories having been developed at the rate of six a year.

The idea for the medical series was inspired by a group of paintings and stories on the History of Pharmacy which were done by the same author-artist team some 10 years ago.

These medical paintings are not mere artist's conceptions, but are authenticated down to the smallest detail. Each painting was very carefully researched before a brush touched the canvas. However, no painting was considered complete when it first came off the artist's easel. Each painting was rechecked very carefully with experts in the particular field before it was considered finished.

Chief advisor on medical history was Dr. Erwin H. Ackerknecht, professor and director of the Institute of the History of Medicine and Biology at the University of Zurich, Switzerland. His knowledge of the history of medicine was of great value to the author-artist team, he said.

Hundreds of hours of time and thousands of miles of travel lie back of each of the original paintings now on exhibit. One painting in the series required some 15,000 miles of travel and more than 12 months of investigation before it was considered ready to be shown.

Every effort was made to make sure that each painting was au-

THE FIRST vaccination against smallpox was performed by Edward Jenner, English rural physician, in his apartment in Chantry House, Berkeley, Gloucestershire. Exudate from a cowpox pustule on the hand of dairymaid Sarah Nelmes was inserted into scratches on the arm of eight-year-old James Phipps, May 14, 1796. The vaccination was effective, for two later attempts to induce infection with smallpox were unsuccessful. Proving and reproving his discovery, Jenner published his vaccination findings in 1798. Despite opposition, vaccination became accepted practice during Jenner's lifetime.

thetic, not only as to medical history and significance, but including everything to be seen within the picture area.

The physical characteristics of the models, their faces, the costumes, furniture, surroundings, architecture, the tools of the physician, and household implements — each of these was carefully checked and researched to make sure that it belonged in the scene and to the particular period and place in which the event was pictured.

It was hoped to begin the series in 3500 B.C. in Egypt. However, the author-artist team Methods of controlling and preventing yellow fever resulted from investigations conducted in 1900 at Camp Lazear, Cuba, by a United States Army Commission led by Major Walter Reed (1851-1902). This research proved conclusively that mosquitoes carry the yellow fever virus from person to person. First volunteer patient to be infected by mosquito bites was Private John Kissinger. Examining physicians were Major W. C. Gorgas, Havana sanitation; Dr. A. Agramonte, pathologist; Dr. Carlos J. Finlay, Chairman of the cooperating Cuban Yellow Fever Commission and first man to point to the possible infective role of mosquitoes; Dr. James Carroll, bacteriologist; and Dr. Reed, commission chairman.

WHEN SURGEON Joseph Lister (1827-1912) of Glasgow Royal Infirmary removed dressings from James Greenlees' compound fracture, he found the wound had healed without infection — something unheard of before. For six weeks, beginning August 12, 1865, Lister had treated the boy's wound with carbolic acid. Now, Lister had proof of success of his principle of antiseptics — which was to revolutionize principles of wound care and to open new vistas in practice of surgery, of medicine, and of environment sanitation. Hospitals were turned from houses of horror to houses of healing; countless lives were saved.

al and fund-raising Crusade in Albany County.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Arthur Wright, Chairman of the Albany County Unit, American Cancer Society, who stated that Mr. Hellman had accepted the position because of "his deep concern for the urgency for cancer control and the need to combat this health enemy by education."

Serving as National Crusade Chairman for the 1969 Crusade is Miss Virginia Graham, nationally known author and television personality.

Miss Graham succeeds Lawrence Welk, television's popular bandleader and entertainer, who served with distinction throughout 1968.

In accepting the position in this area, Mr. Hellman noted that the American Cancer Society had expanded its slogan for the Crusade. "This year, the ACS says it this way: 'Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check.'" The goal for Albany County is $100,000.

Citing figures from a recent Cancer Society survey which revealed that 57% of the public did not go for checkups regularly, Mr. Hellman pointed out the urgency for checkups is seen from the statistics that, "While it is true today that one in three is saved from cancer, it is equally true that one out of every two could be saved. In 1968 approximately 100,000 persons died who might have been saved by earlier and proper treatment."

The two strongest reasons for hope in beating back challenges by the disease, he stressed, were a knowledge of cancer's seven warning signals and regular physical examinations, including

Your Refund

If a tax return is properly made out, it takes five to six weeks to issue a refund, Donald T. Hartley, IRS District Director for Northeastern New York State said today.

He advised taxpayers who do not receive their refunds within this period to wait at least ten weeks before writing about them. To write earlier will only delay processing, he said.

To avoid refund delays, taxpayers should be sure their return is accurate and complete. They should check to see if the return is signed (two signatures if a joint return), all W-2 Forms are attached and the Social Security number shown on the name label is correct.

If you do not have a name label, or use the card Form 1040-A, double check your Social Security number to make sure its accurate.

Moles

This year the moles have started working early! Extension Agents in the Capital District have received many questions about this pest, both in the office and at the recent Flower Show at the Colonie Center. Conservationists with Cooperative Extension list the following facts about moles, their habits and their control.

Moles and the tunnels made by moles can become quite a problem on lawns. They are unsightly, make walking somewhat hazardous, and do a lawn no good.

A mole is a persistent animal and if you want to eliminate him you have to understand him. A mole digs tunnels in search of food and his favorite food is grubs. Where there are no grubs there are rarely any moles. So instead of fighting moles directly, eliminate their favorite food.

Grubs are mostly the larvae of various beetles including the Japanese beetle. They live in the soil and feed on the roots of plants. By getting rid of them you avoid grub damage and send

The insecticide Chlordane, when applied to the soil as directed, will grub-proof your lawn for about five years. Even some of the crabgrass preventors help to grub-proof lawns. Both Bandane and Zytron will grub-proof your lawn for one to two years.

You Can Do It!

Trees and shrubs that flower in the spring can be shaped and have straggling branches cut out and, at the same time, provide blooms now for the home, advises a Cornell University floriculturist.

Some varieties that will bloom in less than two weeks at this time of year include: pussy willows, spring witch hazel, Cornelian cherry, birches, elms, red maples, and other trees that produce catkins. Forsythia takes from two to three weeks to bloom indoors.

Prof. Raymond T. Fox at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell, reminds home owners that shrubs and trees that flower in spring form their flower buds in fall. After six weeks of cold temperature, branches from these plants can be brought indoors for flowering. And the closer it is to the blooming season, the less time it takes to bring the branches into bloom indoors.

Fox suggests that branches be cut after a day or two of nice weather because they will develop faster. Select branches with fat buds (these are the flower buds) and mash the ends of the stems with a hammer so they will absorb water easily. The branches should then be soaked overnight in water warmed to room temperature.

Place the branches in a pail of water and keep them in a garage or room for one week where the temperature is about 65 degrees. Temperatures above 70 degrees prevent the flowers from developing fully and they dry more quickly. This period at a cool temperature allows the branches to thaw and the buds start to develop.

Shadbush, redbud, flowering quince, andromeda, flowering almond, bridalwreath spirea, flowering crabapple, and the fruit trees are easily forced, also.

This is a good time to force forsythia branches, Fox said, because this year the flower buds have not yet been killed by long periods of cold weather, at least in Central New York. For the past several years there has been little forsythia in blossom in spring because the flower buds have been killed during winter.

Bearded Yet!

One of the most challenging hunting opportunities in New York State will be offered again this year to eager nimrods with the opening of the second annual limited spring season on wild turkeys. Dates will be May 5 through May 10.

Bearded wild turkeys only, may be taken in six western counties - Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Chemung, Schuyler and Steuben. Holders of 1968-69 hunting or combination hunting-fishing licenses may participate in the hunt by obtaining their free Spring Turkey hunt permit no later than May 1. Application for a permit may be made in person or by mail to:

Regional Game Manager
New York State Conservation Department, Room 409
Exchange National Bank Building
Olean, New York 14760

Each applicant must submit his name, home address and 1968-69 hunting or combination hunting-fishing license number. Mail applicants must include stamped, self-addressed (including zip code) return envelopes, at least 4 1/8" x 9 1/2" (No. 10 envelope).

This spring hunt is subject to the same regulations as last year's; namely, hunting hours will be sunrise to 10 A.M. The use of dogs, electronic callers or baiting prohibited. Only a longbow or shotgun loaded with number 2, 4, 5 or 6 shot may be used. The spring season limit is one bearded turkey, so a hunter may apply for a permit even if he took a bird during the regular fall season.

Conservation Department biologists explained that the dates of the hunt were timed to coincide with the peak of the incubation period when nesting hens are least likely to be disturbed. The early morning hunting hours also serve to protect brooding hens because they usually do not leave their nests until midday.

Spring turkey hunting is a quality sport. It is a game of camouflage and calling, and above all, one demanding great patience. Wild turkeys are extremely wary and quick to spook if they detect any unnatural movement or sound.

Last spring, 122 fortunate nimrods bagged bearded turkeys; more than half of which were taken in Cattaraugus County. More than one in four hunters afield at least saw a bird. While only 40 percent of the hunters afield used calls in hunting, 73 per cent of the hunters who bagged their quarry employed calls. Clearly, the use of a call is a table factor in a successful hunt.
