JETS Arrive

At 11:55 this morning, May 15, the Greyhound Bus Terminal was the scene of the first meeting between nine young business men, Experimenters from Switzerland, and their host families. Letters and photographs have been exchanged and anticipation has been high. The JETS should have had no doubt of their welcome when they stepped off the bus into the group of smiling people awaiting them.

Kurt Feller

organized tours of various businesses in the Delmar, Albany, Schenectady areas. Here they will be able to observe American business methods at work. The tours have been arranged by various members of the Bethlehem Community Ambassador Project who found the business men approached most eager and willing to arrange for visits by the group.

Following the stay in Bethlehem, the JETS will go to Amherst, Mass., for a six-week course in business methods, specially prepared for them by the University of Massachusetts. Here they will be joined by JETS from other countries whose home stays in other communities were arranged by The Experiment in International Living.

From this point on, most of the JETS plan to work for about a year in the United States. They will go to various sections of the country, working in many different businesses where they

LETTER

Dear Editor:

The State of New York has recognized the cost of living increase this year by granting all State workers a salary increase of either 5% or $600 - whichever is greater - over and beyond their normal salary increments. Now teachers of the Bethlehem Central School District are seeking a similar cost of living increase in their salaries, since they, too, have to meet mortgage payments, provide for families, and support children at college.

With an experienced faculty committed to creative changes in curriculum and teaching methods, then our school system has gained a reputation for superior education. Now, in the face of opposition to rising taxes across the nation, the frightened school board is apparently reluctant to assume a leadership role in defense of quality education in the schools. A new building is not enough: the essential ingredient of an educational system is the teaching staff. There is no more important job for the school board than the job of bringing this basic fact to the public's attention and supporting the faculty in their just request for cost-of-living salary increases.

The tax payers in this county benefited by a reduction in their town tax this year of $12 per thousand as a result of the Sales Tax. Therefore they are in an especially good position to absorb the slight increase required for adequate raises for the faculty members of the school district.

Taxpayers who deplore the

You can't miss Computer Park. Wolf Road is our main driveway.

Computer Park was planned as a business and office community. Only a mile from Albany Airport and Thruway Exit 24. Close to Northway Exit 3. Minutes from any of the Tri-Cities' downtown areas. And that means a location that's right in the heart of things. Easily reached by employees, customers and business prospects. None of them will get lost on the way to Computer Park. Because Wolf Road, one of the most important business arteries in the Capital Area, is the entrance way.

It's easy to get to Computer Park, and pleasant to work there, too. Because all the offices are total electric. Total electric guarantees the utmost in modern, clean, efficient and comfortable working conditions. And good working conditions produce good work . . . and good business.

If you'd like to get in on the remaining space in Computer Park, contact Willard T. Anderson, Anderson Development Corp., 3 Computer Drive West, Latham, N.Y., Area Code (518) 869-0833. Don't wait too long. A lot of other businesses know a good location when they hear about it, too.

overload of taxes in this decade could more profitably turn their attention to the national military budget, which accounts for over half of the federal budget, and demand improved auditing procedures and different priorities that could eliminate billions of wasted funds. Taxes for adequate teachers' salaries are minuscule in comparison to taxes for war. The benefits of adequate salaries in terms of retaining Bethlehem's outstanding teachers, upon whom the present high level of student performance depends are values this community should be willing to pay for. The School Board should undertake vigorous leadership to educate the public instead of weakly bowing before the first wind of tax protest.

Yours truly,
John A. Muntz, Ph.D.

Budget Aired

Over 600 Bethlehem residents attended an open meeting on May 7 at which the Board of Education presented a preliminary 1969-70 school budget in the amount of $7,290,963. The meeting was held to give district voters a chance to voice their opinions and recommendations regarding the budget before it is finally adopted by the Board and put to a vote on June 11.

Opening the meeting, Board President, Lindsay Boutelle described the financial problems facing the school district this year, and the extreme difficulty the Board has experienced in trying to develop a budget which will maintain the major portion of Bethlehem's highly rated program without over-burdening local taxpayers.

He pointed out that since New York schools will not receive an increase in state aid next year, all rising costs of supplies, personnel and other school needs will fall directly on local taxpayers. The district also expects 240 new students next year, and funds must come from somewhere to educate these children.

The 2nd draft preliminary budget, presented at the meeting, represents a reduction of $244,634 from the initial draft announced by the Board in February. In addition, the revised budget includes the State Fact Finders recommendations with regard to teacher salary increases, while the original draft did not include any salary increases as this matter was under negotiation at the time.

Mr. Boutelle said that a tax increase of $11.80 per $1,000 assessed valuation would be necessary to finance the present budget draft, versus approximately $20 per $1,000 for the February version.

School Superintendent, Dr. Richard Moomaw, detailed the cuts which were made in preparing the 2nd draft. The largest and most reluctantly taken economy measure was elimination of 16.3 new teaching positions which were considered necessary to maintain the present teacher-pupil ratios next year. When asked what the effect of this teacher reduction would be upon district children, the Board indicated that class size could be expected to increase slightly at most grade levels. Several advanced courses for gifted high school students would also have to be dropped, and no additional art, music, or P.E. teachers could be provided to expand these programs for elementary children. Also, only one reading teacher will be available for the 1,000 students at the Middle School next year as one of the new positions was to have been an additional reading teacher for this school.

Other major cuts announced by Dr. Moomaw included elimination of the summer remedial reading and arithmetic program for elementary children who are having difficulty with these subjects. Dr. Moomaw explained that this program was formerly funded by the Federal Government, but this financing would not be available next year so the program could only be continued at taxpayer expense.

The position of Admin. Assistant to the Superintendent was also eliminated from the initial budget, as was a new position of School Planner which was proposed by the Budget Advisory Committee to help prepare long-range projections of school needs. Summer work on curriculum revision was also reduced from $12,000 to $4,000 in the second budget draft. Per-pupil expenditures for books and other school supplies has also been kept the same as this year, even though the same amount of money will buy less due to rising costs of supplies and equipment.

After listening to comments and answering questions posed by parents and teachers attending the 3-hour meeting, Mr. Boutelle said that several ballot options may be presented to voters on June 11. The 16.3 needed teachers is one option being considered by the Board as well as funds for three additional school buses.

Mr. Boutelle said, "As Board members, we are not happy about making the reductions and cuts we have made, but the voters must make the final decision. By providing budget options, we will allow Bethlehem residents to buy the educational program they wish for their children."

Community Colleges of the State University of New York (continued from last week)

An increasingly popular feature of locally-sponsored Community Colleges is the Continuing Education or Evening Division which offers to students part-time programs of study. Courses which at a later date, may be transferred to a degree program. Students elect to attend the Continuing Education Division for a variety of reasons, among which are employment during the day, present inability to meet admission requirements for the full-time division or simply the desire to increase one's skill and capabilities or to qualify for promotional opportunities in his job.

In the Continuing Education Division, it is possible to take up to four Courses each semester, the only requirement for registration being high school graduation in the case of degree programs and simply desire and motivation in the non-degree curriculum.

In the former program, after having completed a specified number of courses which varies, depending on the particular Community College, one may apply for matriculation to a degree status, and if accepted, he may continue his studies at the college toward a degree either in the Day Division or in the Evening Division.

In general, Community Colleges stipulate that in order to be eligible for a degree, a student must spend a minimum of one year as a matriculated full-time student.

To sum up the salient features of county-sponsored Community Colleges of the State University of New York, they are comprehensive in that some curriculums are highly academic and some specifically vocationally-oriented. Community-oriented in that the college exists to serve the educational needs of the Community, and heterogeneous in their student body, providing for a wide spectrum of students, both young and mature, the average, the underachiever, the academically-talented, and the disadvantaged.

At the April 30 meeting, Miss Vinie Burrows opened the program with a presentation, "Walk Together Children." This was followed by the film, "Now is the Time." The evening program consisted of three documentary films: "A Time for Burning," "I Wonder Why," and "No Man is an Island," followed by a second discussion period.

Library Notes

A Japanese Satsuma teaset is now on display at the Bethlehem Public Library. Although Satsuma pottery dates from the late 16th Century, authorities agree the best period covers the late 19th Century. Markings on the teaset indicate the 1875 era was the time of its making. Also on display is a brass tray typical of the delicate tracery used by the Japanese as opposed to the heavier, ornate type generally associated with oriental brass work. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Neres are the owners and loaners.

Movie time again for the children. Come to the Library on Saturday, May 17, at either 9:30 A.M. or 11 A.M. "The Bicyclist" is a sprightly tale told by a red bicycle. It has lots of exciting experiences (and without the viewer even realizing it, a good lesson in bicycle safety, too.) "Tocatto for Toy Trains" tells factually the workings of real little trains. Buster Keaton goes for an hilarious ride across Canada in "Railrodder" (actually he takes his trip on a hand-car.) Lots of fun and laughs for everyone.

Workshop

Plans for the fourth annual Bethlehem Christian Workshop, to be held the week of July 7th-11th, are nearing completion.

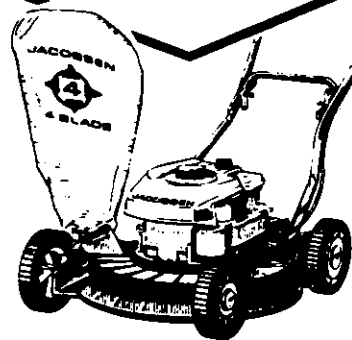

The Workshop, sponsored by the Bethlehem Community Church, is open to all area young people from pre-kindergarten through high school age and offers courses in a wide range of interest areas. Each student attends a Bible study course taught from an interdenominational perspective.

The Workshop, which has proved highly popular with young folk in the Tri-Village area, was the subject of a picture article in the March, 1969 issue of the nationally circulated Christian magazine, "Moody Monthly."

As in past years, daytime classes for younger children will meet at various homes, while evening classes for middle school and high school students will be held at Sunny Acres Day Camp.

THREE BIG WORDS: Paid in Full

During surgery, the skilled hands of more than one surgeon are often needed, plus the back-up of highly intricate and costly equipment. But no matter how complicated the operation, your surgeon's bill can now be paid in full by Blue Shield's new Plan C.

Under other Blue Shield programs, participating physicians agree to accept Blue Shield's allowances as full payment only for those subscribers whose income is below a certain level. Higher income families pay the difference between the Blue Shield allowance and the physician's regular charge.

Now, all physicians participating in Plan C have agreed to accept Blue Shield allowances as paid-in-full benefits, regardless of the subscriber's income. Think what this means to you as a subscriber. Ask the person in charge of your health insurance program about Plan C.

EMPLOYERS: For full details on this new, modern plan for groups of as few as four employees, contact your Blue Cross and Blue Shield representative today. He'll show you how you and your employees can enjoy paid-in-full benefits through Blue Shield's Plan C.

"The Hospital Credit Forum is pleased to honor Blue Cross of Northeastern New York, whose endeavor and steadfast faithfulness to its ideals and objectives have helped make the hospital Credit Forum one of the major organizations in Northeastern New York. The Hospital Credit Forum presents this award in appreciation for 16 years of service."

Mr. Hammersley, Executive Director of both Blue Cross and Blue Shield, accepted the award from James Waters, Credit Manager, Albany Medical Center Hospital, and President of the Forum. Mr. Frank Fitzgerald, Credit Manager, St. Peters Hospital and Program Chairman, introduced Mrs. Jean Lansing, Business Manager, Albany Medical Center Manager, who praised the following Blue Cross Executives for their dedication and service to the Forum: V. Van Kirk Brownell, Assistant Executive Director; John C. Marsh, Comptroller; Frederick J. Bond, Director of Marketing; William Peterson, Director of Hospital Affairs.

Mrs. Lansing and Mr. Bond were instrumental in the original formation of the Forum.

Check 'em!

William E. Borst, manager of the Adequate Wiring Bureau of Eastern New York, today reminded homeowners that spring is a good time to check their homes' wiring systems.

"With the coming of spring, many homeowners are planning to fix up their homes. Major as well as minor modernization projects which have been postponed are being done now during the mild spring weather. And, any modernization project should include a complete check of the homes' wiring system," said Mr. Borst.

"Many older homes do not have sufficient housepower to meet today's increased electrical demands. When these homes were built, many years ago, electric service of 60 amperes was considered sufficient. Today, 100 amperes is considered the minimum, with 150 or even 200 ampere service desirable to provide adequate electrical power needed for today's modern living."

Mr. Borst urged those who are planning to modernize their homes to be sure to get a free housepower inspection from an Adequate Wiring Bureau member electrical contractor. He will make a complete survey and offer recommendations to assure you a safe and efficient home wiring system.

"AWB member banks will arrange financing for rewiring jobs, if necessary, with special low-cost monthly payments."

"Sufficient housepower in your home will add immeasurably to your peace-of-mind and the satisfaction of getting top performance from all of your electrical appliances and equipment," Borst concluded.

Initially, the Council will limit its activities to matters concerned with personal health services, both preventive and diagnostic, rather than to problems of environment.

Information on existing health resources is already being gathered.

The Council will appoint committees to study specific areas of health service, and to submit reports and proposals for improvements. The committees may include invited representatives of institutions, organizations and professional groups which are not Council members.

The medical needs of the county will be assessed initially by examination of the waiting lists of various institutions.
