Bethlehem White Christmas Rehearsal Under Way

A group of Bethlehem citizens are hard at work rehearsing the opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" for the 1969 Bethlehem White Christmas Festival. The moving one-act opera, composed by Gion-Carlo Menotti, will be performed December 11, 12, and 14, in the auditorium of the Bethlehem Middle School.

PHOTO #1 — Philip Ackerman and Stuart Bailey work on the crutches they will use when they play the lead rolls of Amahl. Philip is working with Cast #1 which will give two performances, and Stuart with Cast #2, which will give one performance. The boys have been rehearsing the difficult lead rolls for weeks in preparation for the White Christmas performance.

PHOTO #2 — Philip Ackerman adds rustic touches to the crutch he will use in the performance of Amahl and the Night Visitors. The crutch is being built in the industrial arts shop of our Bethlehem Middle School, not far from the auditorium where the opera will take place. Watching the construction are Aaron Shaloum, Instructor of Industrial Arts, and Stuart Bailey. The boys will each play the lead roll of Amahl, the story of a crippled shepherd boy who sees the Star of Bethlehem.

The opera will be held in the auditorium of the Middle School, where the Bethlehem White Christmas first began many years ago.

"A Hill Farm Year," written in 1956, and "A Hillside Harvest," written the following year, reflect his role as author. Unfortunately, both books are out of print. The "San Francisco Chronicle" says of the essays: "His is an inspirational work of the better sort in which God seems to be evident - in sifting snows, September grapes, a grove of hemlocks - far more frequently than in the collected works of Norman Vincent Peale."

Gift for 17

Teachers at Delmar Elementary School won't be getting Christmas presents from their classes this year. Ten dollars from each class' dues was earmarked for the teacher's holiday gift. But this year, each teacher requested the money go instead into an emergency fund for Channel 17.

Channel 17 School Services Manager Erik Van de Bogart received $488.43 in bills and checks from the Delmar school at a special National Education Week program in the school auditorium Friday afternoon, November 14.

In addition to the Christmas money, the Emergency Fund was swelled by contributions from the PTA and parents. Some families contributed as much as $10 each, reported Mrs. Robert Smart of the Delmar PTA.

The teachers suggested the Emergency Fund Drive. Channel

17 provides television instructional programs they use in their classrooms. When the Bethlehem School District went on an austerity budget, it was forced to drop membership for its schools in Channel 17's educational council.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Hosey and other teachers had heard a talk by Van de Bogart at a regional school meeting in October. He had said if the station has another year of budget cuts as drastic as they have been this year, schools in the capital district are in real danger of losing their instructional television service from Channel 17.

The teachers wanted to demonstrate they supported Channel 17. So they suggested creating the Emergency Fund Drive.

The $488.83 proved a belief in and a growing community concern for the future of instructional television in this area's schools.

CHANNEL 17 SCHOOL Services Manager Erik Van de Bogart receives $488.83 from Mrs. Robert Smart, Delmar Elementary School P-TA.

acter the DAR emphasizes; the wreath is the laurel wreath of Honor and above all is the torch of understanding.

DAR Schools, Supported by the Daughters, will be interesting to these young people, when Miss Amy Walker gives an illustrated lecture of her recent tour of these in the southeastern area of our country.

Washington, in his farewell address to the American people enjoined them to "promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge" thus developing in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American Citizens. Thus the DAR Schools and DAR Good Citizen Committees is important to the well-being of our nation.

Christmas gifts are being sent to our Scholarship girl at Tamasee (School) South Carolina, and to the New York State Cottage, where a homelike atmosphere prevails for the 185 Boarding Students and where they reflect the contentment of happy and loved little girls. Their beautiful chapel is dedicated to the children of the southern mountains.

While at Tamasee, Miss Walker attended the Founders Day Program, celebrating their Golden Anniversary. Since its founding in 1919, in the hills of Oconee County, by the South Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution, thousands of young men and women have passed through the "Place of the Sunlight of God" to find a new way of life.

Special Guests will be the Mothers and Counselors of the Good Citizens Award Winners. Mrs. M. B. Van Hoesen-Blake, first Vice Regent will present the programs for the Regent, Mrs. Paul Noyes Hillard, and Mrs. Joseph R. Mead will conduct the traditionally annual Christmas Sale for the Blind at this meeting.

Dedication

The Onesquethaw Reformed Church whose pastor is the Rev. John Egy, will hold a special Dedication Service for its new educational addition on Sunday, evening, December 7th, at 7 P.M. The Reverend Cornelius Dykhuisen of Scotia, New York will be the principal speaker. The general theme of worship will be: "Thanking God for Today's Ministry." The Rev. Mr. Dykhuisen has recently retired as Field Secretary of the Albany Synod of the Reformed Church. He has watched the development of many phases of church life over the past decade.

Approximately four years ago, the leaders of the Church expressed a need deeply felt by all the congregation for more adequate facilities for religious education. They began immediately to plan and save toward this goal which is now realized.

The entire public is invited to celebrate this occasion. Following the service all will have the opportunity to visit the new facilities and to enjoy refreshments.

The church plans to receive a free-will offering and to give the entire amount of some phase of urban ministry. The actual project will be announced at the service itself.

Delmar Coin Club?

Interest has been expressed in the Tri-Village area concerning the possible information of a coin club. Although I am a novice collector, I would like to find out if there are other adults in the area, who share my interest in forming a coin club. If so, perhaps a local club could be formed. Adults interested in coins, paper money, medals and all other related numismatic items are needed. Part of the purpose of the club would be to hold informal meetings where ideas may be exchanged and where trading may be done. Future plans might include guest speakers on such topics as "Colonial Coins of New York," "Odd Coins of the United States the half cent, 2¢, 3¢ and 20¢ coins" and "U.S. Coins." Guests would be welcome at all meetings. If you are interested, please call Mrs. William Fuller at 439-2267.

Camera Club

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church hall will become the scene of a photographic "laugh-in" on Tuesday, December 9, when Delmar Camera Club meets at 8 P.M.

The program chairmen promise a real "fun night" with something to please everyone. It will be an informal meeting with a party atmosphere, so come prepared to actively participate in the proceedings.

A photographic equipment "bargain night" will be one feature. Bring in any equipment or gadgets you wish to sell, with price tag attached. Maybe you can pick up an inexpensive "bargain" Christmas gift for a friend or perhaps exchange your equipment for something more useful.

"Christmas Past" will be another part of the entertainment. A series of slides or prints that tell the story of a Christmas occasion will be presented.

And then there will be surprises! Don't miss the fun! You'll have a chance to meet and know your fellow camera club members informally.

The competition in "Architectural Detail" for slides, held at the last meeting, was won by Alice Koethen, Howard Gallaher and Joseph Dell in the top three places. Black and white print winners were Alice Porter, Cecil Terko and Mary Johnston.

In the general category, slide winners were Howard Gallaher, Monica Bishop and Sally Whitcomb, with black and white print honors going to Morton Levitt, Alice Porter and Donald Johnston.

The pre-meeting photographic lesson for Dec. 9 at 7 P.M. will be "Developing Your Own Black and White Film."

Kiwanis Club Career Conference

A reminder that the topic for our Kiwanis Club Career Conference on Thursday, December 4 at 2:00 P.M. will be Hospital Vocations. To attend this meeting, you must sign up in the Guidance Office by the close of school on Wednesday, December 3.

A Plea From Your Letter Carrier...

SAVE OUR SERVICE

Your letter carrier is struggling against overwhelming odds.

For years we've done everything we can to get the mails delivered as promptly as humanly possible. We have regarded your letters, checks, post cards and packages as symbols of trust, knowing that in each daily round we carry the hopes and fears of millions of people.

We've faced the ancient perils of snow, rain, heat and gloom of night as well as dog bites, traffic, endless flights of stairs, and increasingly heavy burdens. We've done our part to maintain the honored traditions of our service.

Now we need your help.

As a result of short-sighted fiscal policies of the Bureau of the Budget, discriminatory pay scales and scandalous working conditions have reached the point where employment in the postal service imposes a sacrifice on postal workers that no citizen should be forced to bear in the ordinary course of events.

Wages of postal workers average thousands of dollars a year less than the amount determined by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics as necessary for a "modest but adequate" standard of living.

To reach the top step of our postal pay scale takes up to 25 years of service . . . a goal most postal workers never reach. Over 90% of the letter carriers never rise above level 5 of the 21 level scale.

The rate of turnover among postal workers is nearly 10 times the turnover rate among factory workers—23 per hundred compared to 28 per thousand. That costs the postal service . . . and the taxpayers . . . over $100 million a year in locating, hiring and training new employees.

To remedy these conditions and to achieve the kind of postal service Americans want and deserve, Congress has passed a bill. That bill is HR 13000 and is now before President Nixon for approval.

Here's what HR 13000 would do:

- Provide step increases equivalent to a 5.4% pay increase.
- Establish a Federal Wage Commission to determine future postal and federal pay scales.
- As of July 1970, provide for top pay scales after eight years of service instead of 25, thus increasing the incentive for postal workers to stay in the postal service.

Here's what you can do:

Please sign the coupon at the left and mail it to President Nixon.

That way you will help us and other organizations of postal workers who are now fighting to better their condition of life. We want to receive from our government employer the same treatment accorded, as a matter of course, workers in the private sector. We want to be paid as well as workers in similar jobs in private industry.

The simple fact is that postal reform begins with good postal pay.

President Nixon can take that first large step toward postal reform by signing HR 13000.

Postal wages are not inflationary.
Postal workers are the victims of inflation.

NO CORPORATION NEEDED

Postal reform is badly needed. The surest path to postal reform is through good postal pay. It cannot be achieved by turning the postal service over to a corporation that will simply put a new name on old practices. Postal reform is up to Congress. The Postal Service, however, should remain in the hands of the people through their elected representatives and not in the hands of a profit-motivated Board of Directors.

National Defense Student Loan Fund

The National Defense Student Loan Fund, set up by the federal government, is administered by individual colleges and universities. If you wish to apply for this loan, request from each college to which you apply an application for a National Defense Student Loan. Since each college administers its own fund from monies granted to it by the federal government, and since the amount of money awarded to each college is quite limited, generally only the most promising applicants are awarded these loans.

Under the provisions of the N.D.E.A. Student Loan, you may borrow up to $1000 each year for a maximum of five years. You may take as long as ten years after graduation from college to repay this loan, at 3% interest, which does not start to accrue until after your graduation.

If you enter the field of public school teaching, you will be forgiven 10% of the loan for each year that you teach through five years. For example, if you teach for only one year, you must repay 90% of the loan; if you teach five years or more, you would repay 50% of the loan.

A provision which was added to the National Defense Student Loan as recently as last year, make it possible for those teaching in schools which have been designated as having a certain percentage of deprived or disadvantaged students to be forgiven the entire loan at the rate of 15% per year.

Introduction to Business classes at Bethlehem Central High School prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a family during the week preceding the holiday.

Mrs. Roberta Raymond, business teacher, worked with the students in the two classes in preparing a menu. Individual students volunteered to bring the items suggested on the menus, or contributed toward the approximately $4 which would help to defray the cost of a turkey.

After the items had been brought to the school, Jeanne Dube, Elaine Ginter and Donna Grovenger wrapped them and completed the preparation of the basket so that it could be delivered.

DOLL DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN at the Delmar Public Library. With the arrival of these babies and teenagers from the world of make-believe, the holiday season had definitely begun. Cartons of charmers arrived to visit for a few days. Presently, they are occupying all available free space. Even the window ledges are filled. This gives a festive toy shop air to the library, but rest assured that the daily routine continues. Women from the Altamont Auxiliary of V.F.W., N.Y.S. Department of Civil Service, Commerce, Audit and Control, Labor, Social Services, Taxation, and the New York Telephone Company took time from their busy lives to spend uncounted hours dressing the dolls. Their work will be repaid when each baby finds a new home through the distribution services of the Salvation Army.

Electricity from Niagara Mohawk powers the reducing machines that help people "take it off." Which is only fair, since electricity helps prepare the tempting dishes that "put it on" in the first place.

Whether you're adding or subtracting, electricity is always there to serve you. Inexpensively. In fact, rates for Niagara Mohawk residential and industrial customers are still generally lower per kilowatt-hour than those of any other investor-owned utility in New York State. ## Student Profs?

For the first time the faculty of the N.Y. State College of Agriculture at Cornell University is sharing its policy-making responsibility with student representatives.

Elected to a one-year term ending June 30, 1970, the student members were chosen from among six candidates during a special student meeting held October 21 under the auspices of the Agricultural College Student Council.

Those elected to the committee are Miss Patricia M. Stanley a senior from Oneonta; Ronald W. Cotterill, a senior from Dryden, and John C. Engelbrecht, a junior from Oriskany Falls.

The committee of seven faculty members and three students is primarily concerned with such matters as standards of admission, counseling and advising, curriculum, transfers, inter-college programs, and requirements for graduation. It meets twice a month.

Students have not yet been elected by the student body to serve on other committees. The faculty resolution last May regarding student participation called for election of student members to the committees in May, each year, in a special student meeting.

Other committees that may have student representatives are the Committees on Petitions and English Proficiency with two students each, and the Committees on Scholarships and Mann Library with one student each.

Board of Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share and an extra dividend of 20 cents per share both payable January 2, 1970, to stockholders of record December 9, 1969. This announcement was made by Hollis E. Harrington, President of the State Bank of Albany.

The Board further expressed its intention to include in the notice of the call of the Annual Meeting to Stockholders a proposition to authorize an increase in the capital stock by an amount sufficient to provide shares to permit the payment of a 5 per cent stock dividend. Since it is planned to hold the next Annual Meeting of Stockholders in March, 1970, the Board would, after approval of the proposition by the stockholders, declare the stock dividend payable in April, 1970. If this program is followed, it will constitute the 12th consecutive 5 per cent stock dividend. It also reflects the excellent earnings being achieved by the bank this year and its confidence in the future.

It's Almost Time!

What is sweeter than a candy cane?
What is brighter than a Christmas tree?
What welcomes more warmly than a holly wreath?
What remains when Christmas ends?

The smile of a child receiving a new toy and a stockingful of Christmas treats — provided through The Salvation Army because her parents could not afford them — is sweeter than any candy.

The light shining in the eyes of the ill and elderly — because The Salvation Army remembered them — is brighter than the lights twinkling on the tree.

The sincere "Merry Christmas and God bless you" of Salvation Army officers who open the doors of their centers to the lonely and homeless is a warmer welcome than the biggest holly wreath.

And, when all the decorations are packed away, the faith, hope and love that comes of sharing with others remains to strengthen us for the new year. Let us share with the less fortunate of our community by supporting The Salvation Army so that it may continue to bring the joy and true meaning of Christmas to those in need.

ture, Cornell University, suggests that fruits and vegetables combined with flowers make a colorful arrangement especially appropriate throughout the fall and winter seasons.

A harvest arrangement, featuring apples, oranges, lemons, and grapes with a few nuts and multi-colored gourds would combine well with yellow and bronze pompom chrysanthemums. Vegetables that can be used as decorative materials include peppers, red onions, artichokes, and red cabbage.

Flowers can be held in a small container of water with fruits piled high around it to conceal the flower holder. They can also be inverted in florist's water picks and placed individually in the design.

A third method is to use a small block of "non-spillable water" — the plastic florist material that absorbs water like a sponge. This can be placed in a low bowl with a little extra water to replace that drawn out of the block by the flowers. Again, fruits can be mounded to cover the mechanics.

The Cornell floriculturist noted that red apples with holly and evergreen branches make a delightful combination with white pompom chrysanthemums to usher in the Christmas holidays.

For the Chanukah festival, a combination of gold, white, and blue is appropriate. White flowers, blue candles, and fruit sprayed or brushed lightly with gold make a dramatic combination.

Prof. Fox, however, gave a word of caution to homemakers planning table decorations featuring flowers, fruits, and vegetables.

Ripening fruits and vegetables, he said, give off small quantities of ethylene gas. Where air currents do not dissipate the gas, ethylene has a definite detrimental effect on flower life.

"Some flowers react very strongly to the gas and with rather harsh consequences," he pointed out.

Red roses develop the purple-blue tones of aging flowers. Snapdragon florets drop prematurely, and carnations fold in their petals and die.

Prepare For Winter

The heating season is here: Make sure your furnace work-horse — the blower motor — operates efficiently and quietly throughout the winter.

Most basic of motor maintenance is lubrication, says General Electric's General Purpose Motor Department, a leading producer of furnace blower motors. Most blower motors, direct drive or belt-drive, have sleeve bearings requiring no re-oiling during the first three years of use. After this, they should be oiled annually. Follow manufacturer's directions or use just a few drops of SAE 10 motor oil. Remember, overoiling can be as dangerous to the motor's life as under-oiling.

Other maintenance steps are: Clear the motor's ventilating openings of dirt with a vacuum cleaner to prevent overheating. Tighten all bolts and mounting brackets to reduce vibration and noise. If the motor is belt-driven, adjust tension of fan belt so it gives slightly.

If additional service is required, contact a qualified shop with experience and equipment to provide fast dependable service, such as GE authorized Electric Motor Service Station. The repair shop nearest you is listed in the Yellow Pages of your telephone directory under "Electric Motors — Dealers & Repairers."

This Circle (Farm People to the City; City People to the Country) is Often Vicious.

One aggravating cause of crime and violence is the influx of people into cities; people untrained for city living; unable to support themselves, to entertain themselves, to become a part of the city's society. They are under pressure. Sometimes they turn to violence.

Meanwhile, another invitation to crime and violence is furnished by migration of central city people to the countryside, often to areas unincorporated, and unpoliced. Their virtually unprotected property invites and frequently suffers robbery, violence and molestation.

These two circumstances are among the many causing crime and violence today. They prejudice law and order. Our country can have law and order without justice — it cannot have justice without law and order. Diverse groups cannot live side by side without the mutual respect and understanding that come from universal justice. The Farm-City Committee, representing both urban and rural societies is helping to solve the problem of crime and disorder by making mutual understanding of, and justice to, all groups a reality.

Toy Guidance Board/Buying Guide

Nothing brings a smile to a child's face like a new toy for Christmas. And nothing is harder for parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles than getting just the right toy for the special children in their lives.

There is no easy rule to follow in buying toys for children, but the experts at the Structo Toy Guidance Board suggest the child's age and interests of the child's play world. Boys will want toys that construct, turn, lift, and fly. Girls want miniature versions of what mommy uses; dolls, tea sets, and houses.

Not only must toys be durable, but they must serve as continuing sources of entertainment, and give rise to a child's desire to create situations in which his toys work. Steel trucks should be able to terest be taken into consideration when shopping through the thousands of toys found at Christmas time. No one toy will fascinate all children at all age levels.

Young children often put toys into their mouths. Toys that are soft, washable, and free from sharp edges are best for ages 1-3 years. Giving a child, hours of entertainment is one of the most important jobs a toy can do.

As children mature, differences in tastes appear and toys must satisfy the special last through many road-building sessions, and dolls should live many "lives."

Children, by the age of ten, have pretty well defined their specific interest area and toy buying should be less a problem.

Toys should, however, continue to promote creativity and the child's desire to build, shape, and invent.

Here is a list of recommended toys. Cut it out and take it along on your next toy buying trip:

BOYS

GIRLS

Age	Recommended	Age	Recommended
1-3	Stuffed animals, crib gyms, teething toys, picture books, pull toys.	1-3	Rag dolls, crib mobiles, teething toys, music boxes.

7-9	Toys with special interest appeal. Cranes, fire trucks, action toys, models, planes, steel trucks, sailboats, sports equipment, toy trains, space toys, adventure books.	7-9	Personality dolls, sewing sets, games, steel cars with dolls, story books, painting sets, cooking and baking sets.

Support Stockings - How They Work

Women — probably only women — will be interested in this little feature story. It's about what makes support stockings "support".

More than one woman in every three has worn such stockings — although as recently as twenty years ago they did not even exist.

Hosiery experts, watching trends and making studies, predict that by 1973 one out of every two women will be wearing support hosiery.

The market already totals more than $100,000,000 per year.

Those are excellent reasons to look a little deeper into this remarkable new product.

First — why do women wear them?

"The answer is simple," said William O. Elson, director of research for the Kendall Company, makers of Fling support stockings. "They prevent fatigue, and make the modern woman feel better at the end of a long day. Further, good support stockings accelerate blood circulation in the leg and help prevent varicose veins. For pregnant women, they are great."

Why the sudden general acceptance of support hosiery on the part of so many millions of women?

tually indistinguishable from regular nylon hosiery."

Now, for the most important question of all: how do support stockings "support"?

"The least effective support stockings are those which are knitted in what is called 'tube' shape, and then stretched over wooden forms and heat-set into shape. To achieve tension and pressure, such stockings must be pulled up very tightly when worn. This causes the stockings to become tight — but only on the calf and thigh, where support is least essential. Some of these stockings can even bring about a 'tourniquet' effect, interfering with circulation," explained Elson.

Exact Fit Important

"It is important that women understand that true support hosiery is knitted to exact fit — not heat-molded later. Such patented construction gives most pressure at the ankles, where it is needed, and less at the calf and thigh. They fit snugly on the entire leg, and thus assist in the upward flow of blood to the heart. The combination of

There are several reasons, according to Elson. Women have come to understand the value of support; they appreciate the very real help such stockings give in forestalling that tired feeling which comes from long periods on one's feet.

"Further," said the research scientist, "women welcome any aid that will ward off ugly varicose veins. Women now also realize that the support stockings of today are as sheer as they are strong. Cosmetically, there is no reason not to wear them; they come in many shades, and are virscientific knitting with the elasticity of nylon-covered, elastomer thread enables real support hosiery to give the wearer an effect akin to the skilled fingers of a masseur giving a soothing leg massage.

"Finally," the research scientist advised, "women should buy only support hosiery which comes in exact sizes and lengths. A stocking which claims to fit several sizes obviously will be too tight on one woman and too loose on another. Exact sizes, plus the vital encircling feature of the knit, are the hallmarks of true support hose."

BY JANE ASHLEY

Chicken in French Manner

Borrowed from the French, this recipe is one answer to a gourmet meal. Delicately browned, the small chickens are simmered in an herbed wine mixture with mushrooms. The sauce is made in the same pan, using light cream and is ever so lightly thickened to a velvet smoothness with corn starch.

Chicken in Wine

- |                                |                               |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 3 sprigs parsley               | 1/2 pound sliced mushrooms    |
| 1 small stalk celery           | 1 small onion, finely chopped |
| 1 bay leaf                     | 1 teaspoon salt               |
| 1 basil leaf                   | Dash pepper                   |
| 1/4 cup margarine              | 1/4 cup white wine            |
| 4 small (1 1/4-pound) chickens | 3/4 cup light cream           |
|                                | 2 teaspoons corn starch       |

Tie parsley, celery, basil and bay leaf together. Melt margarine in large skillet. Add chicken and cook over medium heat, turning until golden brown on all sides. Remove. Add mushrooms and cook, stirring occasionally, 5 minutes. Stir in onion, salt and pepper, then add tied vegetables and wine. Return chickens to skillet and simmer 35 minutes, or until chicken is fork tender. Remove chickens and place in serving dish; discard tied vegetables. Mix corn starch and light cream. Stir into pan juices in skillet. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until sauce is smooth and thickened. Do not boil. Serve with chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Clear Vision For Skiers

New Coating Makes Glasses Fog-proof

Norm Clasen, ski instructor and former racing skier, of Aspen, Colo., where action picture above was made, shows off one of two models of new fog-proof glasses.

Had Austrian skier Karl Schranz been wearing glasses now available when he made a bid for international honors in the last Winter Olympics, he might have fared better. He missed a turn, and hopes for a medal, when his glasses fogged during a swift downhill run.

This year, all skiers can count on clear vision. Trappe of Aspen Fog-proof glasses have been developed with the help of a new miracle plastic called Hydron. Hard when dry, this material has an amazing ability to absorb moisture. By bonding it to unbreakable and shatterproof Lexan, which has the highest impact resistance of any known thermoplastic, Woodstream-Hydron Corp. has created this major boon to lovers of outdoor sports. This is understandable since Woodstream has been a leading manufacturer of products for outdoorsmen for more than a century.

Lenses of the new glasses are free of distortion and glare, absorb more than 90 per cent of ultraviolet rays and are optically corrected. Eyestrain is further reduced by a new Air Force high-altitude tint color.

The result of scientific research to give sportsmen better equipment, the Hydron-coated glasses were designed primarily for skiing and tested in Switzerland and Austria. They are supplied with an adjustable neck strap and felt-lined case to protect the miracle coating when not in use.

NOGAROOONS

Cookie-lovers are ageless, and forever demand new and unusual baked treats. Nogaroons, delicately flavored with eggnog, cream cheese and flaked coconut, will quiet the clamor and satisfy the most particular palate, whether young or just young in heart.

Nogaroons are a particularly tasty way of finishing off the extra eggnog leftover from last night's Holiday party or Sunday's brunch. If you're out of the real thing, instant eggnog flavoring, added to whole milk, can be substituted for dairy eggnog in the recipe. And drop cookies are easy for the littlest hands to master.

Invite all volunteers to pitch in with the preparation, then watch the pleased young faces as they serve their contribution to a festive meal. Mothers will be pleased, too. Each Nogaroon, made with enriched flour, provides children with three B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, plus the mineral, iron.

Industry Gives Nurses Graduate Courses

America's hospital nurses — perhaps the noblest and most unselfish of all service groups — have found a helpful ally in their continuing professional education: the hospital-supply industry.

"The nurse's training and education does not end today with her diploma," said Edward Brown, vice-president of the Kendall Company, a nationally-known maker of hospital and consumer health products. "Scientific and technical progress is much too rapid for that."

Hospital industry suppliers, concerned with high hospital costs to the patient and with serious shortages of trained nurses, are today producing effective answers to both problems. These take the form of pre-packaged, disposable, pre-sterilized kits and sets of tools and bandages for almost every hospital need.

"Then," said the Kendall executive, "industry representatives take these products back to the hospitals of America and conduct seminars to explain their usage, their cost- and labor-saving advantages, and other needed new techniques."

New Products Save Time, Money

Thousands of nurses in more than forty states have been taught in recent years the proper use of these products of Kendall's Research Laboratories:

Adhesive Tape - Polyvented to increase porosity and evaporation, this new tape is also hypo-allergenic to forestall allergic reactions.

Alcohol Preps - Because bottled alcohol can itself contain the contamination it is used to destroy, isopropyl alcohol is now available in airtight, pre-packaged, sterile sponges.

Surgical Dressings - No longer hand-made by nurses, these are now supplied in non-woven materials, covered with a perforated, plastic protector which does not permit the bandage to stick to a wound - and can be removed "ouchlessly."

Catheters - One single pre-packaged tray now contains all the equipment needed for this life-preserving function. An engineering and scientific marvel, each is fully-disposable after use.

Curity G-Suit - This exciting, new pneumatic suit is designed to maintain blood pressure during brain surgery. This device also stops blood loss and expedites healing in certain cases of massive, internal injury - a discovery made serendipitously in hospitals.

T. E. D. Stockings - These stockings offer a low-cost, simple method of combatting thrombo-embolic disease, which kills more than 50,000 hospital patients each year when blood clots, formed in the leg, travel to the lung and cut off blood circulation.

Curity Heat Lamp And Thermal Packs - This simple, ingenious system eliminates time-consuming heating of water, and cutting and soaking of bandages when hot-packs are prescribed. Sealed in foil and quickly heated by a compact lamp, these thermal packs are always ready.

a many-splendored style that reflects England, Germany, France, Spain and the Netherlands.

Regional architecture in the United States includes stockade-type Southern settings influenced by French settlers and in the West, where the Spanish settlers lived, there are central courtyards as pivot for domestic dwellings following the mission system. Dutch settlers along New York's Hudson River Valley region, where heavy snows distinguished winter's holiday season, pitched their roofs steeply and built low stoops close to the street. New Englanders, also coping with heavy snows at Christmas-time, built wooden homes with very small diamond-shaped windows - literally reflecting English styles.

From their abundant forests, New Englanders also created functional furnishings of beautifully grained woods in simple lines that continue in popularity today.

When your secret Christmas wish is for a piece of Early American furniture, you probably envision these uncluttered Colonial lines that fit with any decor.

Today, even the television machinery that at first refused to blend in with furnishings has become a decorator's item.

An example of an attractive Early American color-television console, suitable for gifts, is the Pilgrim, General Electric's console which looks like genuine pine that has been distressed and antiqued. With a 23-inch screen for family viewing, the Pilgrim brings colorful world events to either a traditional or contemporary home.

Caring for a piece of furniture such as the Pilgrim includes placing the Early American console where air is able to circulate through the bottom and back of the set, and where no heat source, such as forced hot air registers, is nearby. The face of the picture tube may be cleaned with a damp cloth and mild soap, dried with a clean, soft cloth.

Early American console cabinets like most fine furniture should be polished with a good grade of furniture polish, avoiding the damaging effects to wood or simulated wood finishes caused by common household sprays, cleaning agents and solvents.

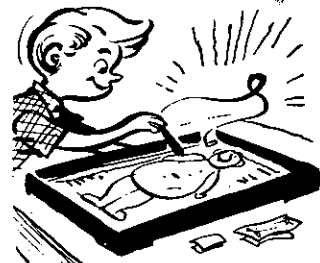

In either maple or dark cherry veneer, Early American pine furnishings continue to add Christmas cheer as a many-splendored holiday gift for any decor and all regions of the nation.

INDOOR GAMES MAKE BAD DAYS SUNNY!

Gloomy outside? Bad weather? Shelves filled with indoor games to play in poor weather are gifts of sunshine to enjoy year 'round! Active games or table-top quiet ones, all types break the ice when cousins arrive in a storm and need to thaw out. One sure way to take the chill out of the bones for both adults and youngsters is "Limbo Legs."

- 1. Ages: 7 to adult LIMBO LEGS Any number can play Simple to set up, the limbo machine can be set fast or slow, high or low, and gets everyone jumping! Turn on the music, and the chilled feeling disappears when all the family and guests take a turn at jumping over the limbo rod. If you miss and touch the rod, you're eliminated. Last one in the limbo circle wins.

- 2. Ages 6-14 OPERATION
1 or more players Here's a good way for youngsters to have holiday fun and also acquire manual dexterity! Players are all "Doctors" operating on a cardboard patient with hilarious plastic ailments. The player removes the ailment with a pair of electric tweezers. One slip and a buzzer sounds! The patient's red nose lights up! . . . even though he's a victim of a wish-bone!

- 3. Ages: Little and big girls CUT UP Several players Girls of all ages are cut-ups

When it comes to fashion! Players in the groove with "Cut Up" compete against time by cutting out paper money so they can buy fashion outfits from the game-boutique and dress their models! First one to dress her stand-up model wins. Popular as birthday and holiday gifts.

4. Ages: 4-8 CANDY LAND
2-4 players

So easy, Candy Land is a fine all-weather game for boys and girls not yet able to read or count. Players match colors to spaces on the boards and travel through Lollipop Woods and over Gum Drop Mountains to "Home Sweet Home." An excellent game for young suburbanites to have on hand when women get together for coffee and their pre-school children also need a togetherness game.

5. Ages: 7-4 KOOKY CARNIVAL
2 or more players

Everything but the cotton candy! Kooky Carnival is nine different and funny skill and luck contests in one game. Players go to the Carnival to try their skill on the midway and compete in a variety of stunts: the "Flip-Flop", the "Loose Juice", "Movin' Mouse", and many more.

6. Ages: 8 to adult FINDER'S KEEPERS
2, 3, or 4 players

A challenge to the memory! This is the thinker's game, not too demanding for youngsters, but enough so for mixed ages to have fun with. Player spins the spinner and picks a cup. If you find a coin in it, you can keep it! . . . and discover, at the same time that a bad day can have two sides of the coin! Indoor games are fun, whether the weather is fine or whether the weather is horrid.

THE EYES HAVE IT

Today with versatile eye makeup, there's the natural eye, the fun eye and the sunny eye - each giving a girl the look that is right for her for every occasion.

She can look un-madeup during the day, but switch to a fun-fake look for a party. If she's the outdoor type, she may prefer the sunny, golden look that reminds one of the beaches and summertime - whatever the weather.

But, however she accentuates her eyes, there are certain basic rules that apply, and nobody is better qualified to give advice than Stan Place. One of the top makeup artists in the kooky, his "faces" are seen in fashion magazines such as Glamour, Mademoiselle and Seventeen, and in TV commercials.

Many of Stan's techniques are adapted from the theatre, for he took a degree in stage makeup at Ohio State University and then stayed to teach there. He appeared on the Broadway stage in a number of productions, but deserted it in favor of his first love, makeup. "A girl doesn't have to be an actress or a model to take advantage of theatrical makeup tricks. All it takes is practice," Stan says.

For today's young looks - natural, fake or gleaming - he advocates eye makeup that is translucent and light in texture. Shades should be subtle, yet not look "washed out". California Girl's new wardrobe of eye makeup products are designed to fill these needs. Packaged with convenience in mind, California Girl Eye Makeup can prove the answer to every eye makeup problem.

And to help every girl, from student to stewardess to apply makeup to her best advantage, here are a few of Stan's trade secrets:

- For a natural-looking eye, apply the liner in a thin, thin line, almost through the roots of the lashes. Look down into the mirror when applying liner - its much easier.
- For a wide-eyed look, widen the liner at the center of the eye.
- Never stretch the eyelid when applying liner. Keep the lid relaxed.
- For thicker-looking lashes, feather the line with short, fine upward strokes.
- To slim and shorten the nose, use a highlighter, (like California Girl's Light Catcher) in a streak running down the bridge of the nose. Stop just before the tip, and blend edges.
- To lengthen the nose, streak a line of Light Catcher down the bridge, and extend around and under the tip. Blend in edges.

• Diminish a full chin by applying California Girl Light Catcher to the center of the chin, and blend both sides slightly out and up onto the face.

• Any girl can easily follow these simple rules, and her eyes can look mysterious, natural, romantic or exciting - the most compelling feature in her face.

FLOORS ON A NEW FOOTING

A modern style in tile is creating flawless floors and achieving sweeping success. And the easy way in which it is put down can't be put down.

Creating soft beauty in basement rooms, playrooms, dens, kitchens, bathrooms, workshops, offices and stores, the tile, made of a carpeting material, is having a telling effect completely in step with modern trends and is walking away with honors in fashionable flooring. Self-sticking, it cleans easily and thoroughly, contains a thick rubber back insuring a smooth, even insulation, is long wearing, and is mildew and moisture-resistant. It can be applied to any floor.

Consumers will not be called on the carpet for using these carpet tiles. Like a new broom, Softile®, made by J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc., is sweeping them up with enthusiasm. It is also helping them to put their foot down on the issue. Users can inexpensively carpet a room themselves in only one afternoon, just by peeling off the strips of material to expose the bottom and placing it on the floor. A wide variety of colors is available.

You can vacuum the tiles like any other carpet or sweep with a broom. Ordinary household spills and stains sponge up with detergent and water. Cigarette burn? Just pick up and replace the carpet.

These carpet tiles have a dense polypropylene olefin face, and the built-in padding makes them soft and comfortable. A free pamphlet with useful information on installation and care may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Softile, 295 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

SOURCES FOR ARTHRITIS RELIEF

Few areas of medicine are as riddled with quackery as is the field of arthritis! In fact, according to one recent estimate, arthritics in the United States splurge about $310 million a year on phony remedies and cures for their tormenting affliction.

While vigorously condemning this squandering of money on treatments ruthlessly promoted by hucksters, the American Medical Association points out, "More serious than the waste of money is the postponement of proper treatments that can offer genuine hope of relief."

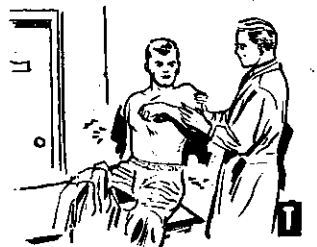

Safe methods of relief can be obtained from your local doctor, the local chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, or your county medical society and the Public Health service.

Such sources will keep you posted not only on safe ways to relieve arthritic pain, but also concerning research to discover cause and cure of arthritis that encompasses at least 25 different diseases.

Professional advice will generally include the following as beneficial to arthritics:

- Rest - Usually an essential part of treatment for rheumatoid arthritis, rest is recommended for any painful joint which, however, must not be kept inactive overly long. Resting the whole body also helps control arthritis symptoms.
- Exercise - Even though feeling especially stiff, proper exercise is required or bones will become soft and joints will lose their range of motion.
- Heat - Hot baths, or packs as well as heat lamps warm the joints for greater comfort and ease of motion.

As regards drugs, aspirin is widely used in treating rheumatoid arthritis, although there is no drug that cures any form of arthritis. Recent medical studies show that a new form of triamcinolone - injected into the affected joints - appears to offer a significant advance in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. Recently approved by the Food and Drug Administration. Aristospan, developed by Lederle Laboratories, a division of American Cyanamid Company, is reported to provide longer periods of relief to the patient, thereby reducing the frequency of his treatment visits to the doctor.

Along with the major advances in drug therapy, specialists believe that physical therapy, rest, as well as surgery, will continue to be immensely important in the years ahead.

Heating & Cooling

Centuries before human beings came up with the idea for central heating and air conditioning, there was a climate for such inventions.

Even the earliest cave-dwellers could not have lived without heat. In fact, the first "central heating system" was a cave fire kindled with a branch from a lightning-struck tree. And the same cave-keeper probably "invented" the pilot light, too, by burning animal fat in a stone container so he could re-ignite his "furnace."

Two thousand years ago, the Romans produced a remarkably advanced system of radiant heating by lighting fires in crawlways under baths and other ground-level rooms, so as to conduct heat through walls and floors.

Early man also "played it cool." The Chinese ruler Huang of the Ming dynasty had a rain-making device on the roof of his "cool room" and underneath that room was an artificial lake big enough for islands and cruising pleasure boats. Another Asian ruler had slaves running from a snow-covered mountain to fill the double walls of his palace.

As late as the 19th century, huge blocks of ice were cut from the frozen lakes and rivers by homeowners in this country and stored until summer when fans forced air over ice to cool their homes.

Not satisfied to control just heat and cold, man has also been concerned with the cleanliness and humidity of air.

For these reasons, the total comfort concept has evolved. The Airtemp Division of Chrysler Corporation, for example, produces many heating and cooling units that can be integrated with electronic air cleaners and automatic humidifiers. All units in the total comfort package are equipped with control and safety devices necessary for safe and efficient operation.

Chanukah

The Albany Jewish Community Center will celebrate the Chanukah holiday with a variety of activities. These include the Mayrutz Halapid, the Running of the Torch, the first night of Chanukah, the nightly lighting of the outdoor Menorah and an oil menorah in front of the building. The lobby will be decorated for the holiday and David Dreydle will be centrally hung for everyone to autograph their greetings on.

Mayrutz Halapid or Running of the Torch

On the first night of Chanukah, Mr. Julius Muffson, Center President, will light the outdoor oil Menorah. Four torches, being made by Marc Koblenz, a Center Teen, will be lit from the oil Menorah being made by Martin Seaman, Shop Instructor and will be carried through the streets by the Youth Groups of each of the Congregations to light the Menorahs for the religious schools of Congregation Sons of Abraham, Temple Israel, Temple Beth Emeth and Congregation Ohav Sholom. Youths from N.C.-S.Y. will run the torch to Congregation Sons of Abraham on Hackett Blvd. The LTF and NSY will run the torch to Temple Israel on New Scotland. Teens from NFTY will bring the light to the religious school of Temple Beth Emeth on Academy Rgad and teens from USY will run to Congregation Ohav Sholom on Krumkill Rgad to light its Festival Lights.

David Dreydle

The huge cardboard Dreydle, made by Mrs. Janice Shoor, will again be hung in the Center lobby along with other decorations. The dreydle will be redecorated by the Intermediate Department members and everyone who comes to the Center during Chanukah will have an opportunity

Dreydle Factory

Albert Schweitzer Chapter of the Aleph Zadek Aleph has taken over the Dreydle Factory this year and under the supervision of Martin Seaman, Shop Teacher, the teenagers have produced almost 3,000 dreydles for the children of the community. Dreydles have been sent to the following religious schools who ordered them: Temple Israel, Congregation Sons of Abraham, Temple Berith Sholom, Temple Beth El, Temple Beth Emeth, Congregation Ohav Sholom, Temple Gates of Heaven; all in the Capital District; and Temple Berith Sholom and Temple Breth Kodish in Rochester. The Hebrew Academy of the Capital District and the Schenectady Jewish Community Center along with the Junior Department of the Albany Jewish Community Center have also ordered from the boys. A majority of the dreydles did not have the Hebrew lettering put on them, for the boys encouraged using them to have the children who get them put the letters on themselves. In this way, the children will not only have an experience in crafts, but also can discuss the meanings of the letters.

Chanukah Mural

A Chanukah mural will be created by Ellen Pogoda, one of the Center Teens, on the hugh front windows of the Center. Miss Pogoda has created all the Jewish holiday murals that have appeared on the windows of the Center this year.

In addition, all the departments from the Center, from the Nursery School through Senior Adults will celebrate the holiday in their individual groups with a wide variety of programs including arts and crafts, dramatics, storytelling, music, singing, dances and other media which will be utilized to emphasize the freedom concept of Chanukah.

Field Preparation of Deer

During last year's record harvest of deer, New York's big game hunters probably dragged 4,500 tons of dressed deer out of the woods. Of this, three thousand tons should have been edible meat. A recent price list from a specialty meat distributor New York City listed 10 pounds of boneless venison should be cubed for stewing at $1.60 per pound. Rounding off the value of venison at $1.50 it puts a value on last years deer kill of $9,000,000, or an average price of about $100 on each deer.

A person about to invest that much money in meat for his fre zer would insist that it be properly processed to insure good quality meat. Surprisingly the same person may give a deer he kills such poor care that by the time it gets to the family table it is hardly fit to eat, hence the poor name that venison has in many households.

A good cook can do wonders to a piece of meat, but the key to good tasting venison lies in the proper care, cleaning and quick cooling of the carcass.

Proper care starts before the hunter sharpens his knife, and puts some string, a couple of plastic bags, and a good clean rag in his pocket, in optimistic anticipation of dressing his deer.

In the excitement of the kill, many hunters go through two rituals which they could well do without. First is that of slitting the deer's throat to bleed it. Most deer killed with a rifle, shotgun, or long bow have been thoroughly bled out, so dispense with that step. The other ritual is that of removing the scene glands from the legs. The only way that these glands can foul the meat is by having the scent transferred directly to the meat, usually by the hunter after he has pouled his hands removing them and then cleaned his deer. Just keep your hands away from them.

Before eviscerating the animal, cut deeply around the anus, freeing it so that it can be drawn out a couple of inches and tied securely with a string. This will prevent the contents of the intestine spilling on the meat when they are withdrawn.

Next make an incision just below the breastbone. By cutting forward, the knife will enter the body cavity ahead of the intestine. The abdominal muscle can be lifted and, by using two fingers as guides, it may be cut with little fear of damage to the intestine. This cut should be the full length of the abdomen.

With the deer tilted on its side, the paunch and intestine will now fall part way out. Cut the diaphragm at the rib line, reach in and cut the windpipe. The heart and lungs will now pull free. After cutting the remainder of the diaphragm at the rib line, all the body cavity contents except the bladder will roll out easily as one unit. The bladder will be found well down in the body cavity close to the backbone and should be carefully cut loose without puncturing.

The carcass can then be drained by spread-eagling it on the ground - belly down. While the body cavity drains, cut out and wipe the heart and liver clean and put them in a plastic bag.

Water will soften the flesh and encourage bacterial growth, so wipe the cavity as clean as possible using dry leaves, moss or better still, the aforementioned dry rag brought for that purpose.

The best place for transporting a deer is on the car roof. With a 15-inch stick propping the body cavity open so air can continue to circulate. At the opposite extreme is the closed trunk; so commonly used in the Southern-Tier.

Hunter myth says to age the deer in its hide. The hide is removed from prime beef immediately; it should be from deer, too, as soon as it has served the purpose of protecting the carcass while in transit home. The hide comes off easiest while still warm. This will also increase the speed of cooling.

Under present health regulations many locker plants don't have the facilities to accept deer in their hides, and can process only those brought in skinned. Weather conditions in the southern part of the State, particularly in the early part of the season, are often far from optimum for letting a deer hang. Get it to a cooler where it can be kept between 34 and 38 degrees as soon as possible.

Apprentices

A class of 20 apprentice machinists has been authorized to begin training at Watervliet Arsenal in January.

The arsenal's civilian personnel office has announced that the Civil Service Commission Interagency Board, Syracuse, is preparing an announcement of an examination for apprentice applicants which is expected to be published shortly.

At present there are 128 apprentice machinists enrolled in the four year combined classroom and on-the-job training program at the arsenal. A class of 13 apprentices will be graduated to journeyman status on Dec. 19.
