

THE PERISCOPE

By PERRY GALT

Among the great joys of the Christmas season is the stream of family newsletters that arrive in lieu of greeting cards.

Being somewhat of an old grouch, even with an occasional twinkle, I usually pass them up without laboring through the long mishmashes, except for two or three that I keep on the look-out for. I read these few at this busy time of year because they are (a) so humorous and well written I get a large kick out of them, or (b) they are from a family I am genuinely interested in.

Jean, however, reads them all, even when she doesn't know the people very well or we haven't seen them since college. On the other hand, we would never dare foist this sort of thing on even our best friends, let alone our casual ones, but that is only because we are not always "with it," as you probably can tell by reading this column.

But this year, at Jean's urging, we're going to do one on the Galt family, and we hope that any of you readers who have strayed this far down the page will enjoy hearing what kind of a year we've had in 1969. Here goes:

"Dear Folks:

"Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you from the Galts. It's been a wonderful, happy year on Winne Road even if nothing too spectacular happened. January was unusually cold and we had lots of snow in February, which of course the kids revelled in. The crowds at Bromley were so bad that we started going to Brodie and Jiminy, with an occasional trip to Gore. Linda, who's in the Middle School now, got a bad knee sprain (and broke one of her new Christmas skis), but she is O.K. now and is taking twirling lessons.

"We took our trailer to Old Forge over Memorial Day weekend with the Wilsons, but the flies were so bad we came home a day early. Karen Wilson, who at 6, came down with chicken pox the following week, but our Linda had already had them and Susan somehow didn't get them.

"The Senior Galts were with us most of June, which was a treat for all of us except for the hot weather. Dad is recovering beautifully from the fall he took in 1968, and Mom was her usual bustling self. She baked four cakes one weekend in spite of the heat!

"It rained hard on the Fourth but we had the picnic anyway. The Mortons and the Westervelts came over from Scotia and the Andersons — all seven of them — organized the usual softball game, which lasted only two innings because of the weather.

"Perry Jr. got pretty good marks in his Boards and is trying to figure out which colleges he likes best of the six he has applied for. We have a few scenes about the length of his hair, but I guess that's just the generation gap! Did you know he has new glasses this year (only just a little bit stronger)? And isn't it amazing how these kids grow?

"Not much to tell about Jean and Perry. We go on like a couple of old horses. Jean's ear trouble cleared up in October, and Perry bought a new sports jacket the same month.

"If any of you find yourselves near Delmar or on the Thruway during the holidays, drop in on us any time for a glass of cheer. That's all for now.

"Perry and Jean"

Art Demonstration

The Bethlehem Art Association announces that Richard Stankiewicz, the internationally famous sculptor, will present a lecture demonstration to the club and guests on Monday, January 12. This will take place at the club meeting which will be at 7:30 P.M. in the Community Room of the National Commercial Bank in Delmar.

The club is most fortunate being able to learn more of the creative artistic process from one of the world's foremost personalities in the field of metal sculpture. Richard Stankiewicz has work in most of the world's museums of modern art and his contributions are standard examples in all art courses everywhere. In addition to his unique creative gifts, Mr. Stankiewicz has the happy faculty of extremely lucid explanation of artistic processes. This is a fortunate and much appreciated fact for the Art Department of SUNY where Stankiewicz is currently guest Professor.

The BAA announces that its painting classes will continue. A beginners' class and a continuing class will be held at the Senior High School on Wednesday evenings at 6:30 and 8:30 P.M. starting on January 14. Margaret Foster will continue as teacher.

The club hopes to hold ceramics classes beginning in February. These will be given by Mrs. Patty Kerr who has a B.A. in ceramics and sculpture at SUNY and was a student of Fran Simches and Richard Stankiewicz. The ceramics class will aim at a high quality of original and creative work; for more information call Sue Seaver 439-4075. It is essential that 15 students register, to enable the classes to be financed. The fee will be 25 dollars plus a charge for materials, for 10 lessons. Interested students should send their check now, payable to the BAA. This is essential for the classes to be arranged. Checks will only be cashed when the enrollment reaches 15, otherwise they will be returned.

The club still badly needs an Activities chairman, whose duties will be very light but will be mainly involved in the final arrangement of the ceramics classes. If you have an interest in seeing that these classes take place, please volunteer for this job by calling Lou Spellich, 439-5390.

Rescheduled

Good news from the Bethlehem Public Library. The Puppets whose holiday performance was postponed due to THE snow storm have set a new date. They will be all ready to give an especially fine show at 10 A.M. and again at 2:30 P.M. on Saturday, January 10. The three original skits are sure to appeal to everyone and everyone is invited.

Workshop

The next regular meeting of the Bethlehem Garden Club will be Wednesday, January 14. It will be held at 10 A.M. at the Delmar Reformed Church.

The meeting is a workshop for others. The club members will be preparing gifts for the Hospital of Incurables in Albany and the Cedars Rest Home in Cedar Hill. Mrs. Emil F. Klusmann is chairman.

Luncheon

The Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers will have its first luncheon of the new year on Tuesday, January 13. The luncheon will be held at Schrafft's Restaurant at 12:30 P.M. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Allison Bennett, Town Historian.

Reservations may be made by check for $3.50, payable to Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers, and mailed to Mrs. Kenneth Miner, 4 Tamarack Drive, Delmar, by Monday, January 12.

All newcomers are cordially invited to attend. For any further information contact Mrs. David Robinson, 439-1094.

Holiday Concert

Due to unexpected storm on December 22, the Bethlehem Central Christmas Concert was postponed. Instead on January 8, 1970 the Bethlehem Music Department will present a Holiday Concert at 8:00 P.M. in the Bethlehem Central Senior High auditorium. Performing will be the Senior High Concert Band, String Orchestra, Brass Ensemble, Girl's Choir, Boy's Choir and Choraliers.

The Senior High Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Samuel Bozzela, has prepared a variety program ranging from the traditional Leroy Anderson's "A Christmas Festival" to a contemporary piece, "Chorale Prelude: So Pure The Star" by Vincent Persichetti. A trumpet trio will be featured in Leroy Anderson's "Bugler's Holiday."

The String Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Salvatore Gangi, will present Corelli's "Concerto Grono Op. 6 #8: Christmas Concerto Grono." The Brass Choir, also under Mr. Gangi's direction, will present Johann Pezel's "Sonata #22," and the "Two Magnificants: Primi Toni; Quarti Toni" by Johann Pachelbel.

The choirs will join together under the direction of Mrs. Magdalene York, to sing parts of Handel's "Messiah."

New Pastor

The Rev. Jack D. Cooper was installed on Sunday, December 7th, at 4:00 P.M. as pastor of the Glenmont Community Church (Reformed) by the Classis of Albany, a judicatory of the Reformed Church in America.

Rev. Jack D. Cooper

Mr. Cooper was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he worked in machine design and drafting of silk screen printing equipment, until 1960 when he responded to God's call to enter the ministry. In preparation that same year he entered Hope College in Holland, Michigan, and was graduated in 1963. After receiving a Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Western Theological Seminary located in the same city, he was ordained and installed as pastor of the First Reformed Church of Amsterdam, N.Y. in June of 1966.

While in Seminary, Mr. Cooper served as student pastor of the Beechwood Reformed Church and as student leader of the Junior Church program at the Third Reformed Church, both of Holland, Michigan. During this time he also received Clinical Pastoral Training at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Cooper is married to the former Dolores Van Ess, who is also a native of Grand Rapids; and together they are the parents of two children, Jeffrey who is 13 years of age and Katie who is 5. The Coopers reside at 3 Weiser Street, Glenmont.

it Scholarship Qualifying Test

Beginning today, College-bound juniors should register with Mrs. Chamberlain in the Guidance Office to take the three-hour National Merit Scholarship Test to be held on Saturday Morning, February 14, 1969, at Bethlehem Central High School. The fee for this test is $1.25, which you must pay at the time of registration.

When your test scores are reported to you, you will receive a handbook to help you evaluate your scores, compare your performance with that of other high school students across the country, and give you information on choosing a college and financing your education.

The highest scoring students in each state will be named Semifinalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration.

In addition to the National Merit Scholarships financed by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, more than 400 business corporations, foundations, colleges, unions and individuals offer scholarships through the Merit Program.

To date, about 22,000 students have won Merit Scholarships in the last fourteen years, and in September 1969, some 3125 Merit Scholars entered college.

Mr. Hartley said IRS is shifting the bulk of the work of examining individual income tax returns from field to office audit. Moreover, new procedures have been adopted to help those small business men who lack training in good bookkeeping and tax procedures.

Mr. Hartley said when tax records prove too bulky or voluminous for the taxpayers to bring to IRS, the auditor will continue his examination at the taxpayer's place of business.

Describing another change, Mr. Hartley said tax examinations are also being shifted from correspondence to interview audit. This will give taxpayers an opportunity to ask questions about the examination and to understand why items are being questioned.

More Stands

The number of roadside stands that specialize in selling vegetables, fruits, or other farm commodities is increasing in New York State.

Prof. Philip A. Minges in the department of vegetable crops at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, reports that roadside marketing is becoming an increasingly important outlet for New York grown vegetables.

Basked on a statewide survey he conducted recently, Minges said that the number of commercial type roadside markets increased from an estimated 480 in 1964 to about 750 in 1969, a 55 per cent increase.

The survey was conducted in October in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension field staff who reported for 47 counties across the state. The number includes an estimated 30 commercial-type markets operating in the nine other counties.

Minges reported that the number of small-scale roadside stands totaled 1,200, bringing the total number of all sizes to approximately 1,950.

These figures do not include those that sell only dairy or poultry products.

A commercial roadside market is defined as being a permanent facility with substantial sales, contributing an important portion of the family income.

Of the commercial-type stands, those that sell vegetables exclusively numbered 617, or 85 per cent of the total reported. Four hundred eighty-five of the 617 operators, or 67 per cent, grow the vegetables sold at their stands. More than 100 sell only fruit or ornamental crops.

"These figures certainly indicate that roadside marketing is an important outlet for vegetables across the state, and the number of such markets seems to be increasing," Minges said.

Along with increases in the number of roadside stands, the opportunity for people to pick their own vegetables and fruits also is increasing.

Most popular "pick-your-own" types of vegetables include strawberries, tomatoes, peas, and potatoes.

"The 'pick-your-own' type of operation is often associated with the roadside market operations," Minges noted.

"A Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten will be presented by the Trebles and Altos of the Cathedral Choir of Men and Boys at the Cathedral of All Saints, Swan and Elk Streets, Albany, on Sunday, January 11, at 5:15 P.M. The work will be accompanied by Corkey Christman, concert harpist and member of the faculty of the Schenectady Conservatory.

Preceding the "Ceremony of Carols," Mr. Christman will play a recital of harp music, beginning at 4:30. The entire program is open to the public. A free-will offering will be received to defray expenses and for the benefit of the choirboys' summer camp fund.

Better Water

Moving into its third year of operation, the State Pure Waters Authority reports that it now has under contract with 21 municipalities of the state more than $46 million worth of pollution-control construction.

The Authority, created in 1967 as a special task force to assist municipalities struggling with waste-management problems, said that by the end of calendar year 1969 it also:

- Had arranged 26 loan agreements for a total of $27 million to help finance construction.

- Had signed contracts to supply advisory services to 12 other communities.

- Was in pre-contract negotiations for construction or construction - management work involving projects valued at another $72 million.

The Authority's business picture was sketched by Authority Chairman George A. Dudley, who noted that the agency's progress had attained a pace of about one new contract a week during the last several months of 1969.

The chairman singled out as highlights of contract activity the signing of agreements for $10.7 million in sewage-treatment and related facilities for the City of Amsterdam, $7 million worth of sewerage and sewage treatment design and construction for five cooperating Herkimer County communities, and $3.8 million in struction for the Villages of Carthage and West Carthage cooperating in a joint municipal-industrial project.

In the increasingly critical area of solid-waste management, the Authority moved to assist Rensselaer County communities, including the City of Troy, by recommending the location of a site for a sanitary landfill to serve that county. The Authority's services included engineering and geological studies and preparation of site-development plans. The thrust of the Authority service has been to provide a vehicle for land improvement at the site through a well engineered sanitary landfill operation operated in full conformity with the State Health Code.

Elsewhere in the area of solid-waste activity, indications were that officials of such prospective client municipalities as Westchester County, the Town of Brookhaven (population 350,000) and 12 cooperating Herkimer County communities were looking favorably upon proposals for Authority involvement in their respective projects.

The following are lists of contracts, by type and amount, entered into by the Authority with

Officers Elected

At the Annual Meeting of the St. Peter's Hospital Medical Staff, Joseph V. Tabacco, M.D., was elected Chairman of Staff. Doctor Tabacco, a graduate of both Union College and Albany Medical College, served his internship at both the Samaritan Hospital in Troy and St. Peter's Hospital in Albany. Doctor succeeds H. John Mellen, M.D. in this post.

Other officers elected were James J. Cassidy, M.D., Vice Chairman; Martin L. Ryan, M.D., Secretary, and R. A. C. Herron, M.D., Treasurer. All officers will assume their duties January 1, 1970.

Save the Greens

Once the Holidays are over, the question is raised, "What can I do with my Holiday greenery? I can't burn them."

You can put your old Christmas tree and greens to good use in your garden.

To use the tree, sever the boughs from the trunk and place the small ones, curved ends up, around plantings or on garden beds when the ground is free of snow. The branches and roping used in table decorations can be used the same way. This small amount of mulch, helps reduce temperature fluctuation and helps prevent frost heaving.

The large branches may be cut-up and used as the small ones or they may be used to build protection (Tepee-like) coverings for plants such as laurel and other tender plants.

A use for the needles would be to strip them from the branches (this is easily done after the branches have been in the home for several weeks) and scatter them beneath such acid-loving shrubs as azalea, rhododendron, andromeda and laurel.

Some families erect the tree in the backyard after the Holidays and convert it into a bird feeder. A fir tree is ideal for this purpose because it retains its needles longer. Strings of popcorn, suet, peanut butter, etc. may be tied around the tree at the outer branches. This will help insure a Happy Holiday to the birds. Also, a pail of water, placed nearby, so the birds may drink is suggested.

MEETING

The Town of Bethlehem Historical Association will hold its first business meeting of 1970 at the School on January 15 at 8 P.M. Program on "Old Sturbridge Village." Social to follow meeting. Mrs. Donald Eberle will be in charge.

A Riddle—Perhaps Solved

If you like riddles, here's one confounding some of our best business minds:

What could induce a comfortable resident of this area to spend $600 or more for a product and some accessories—just to spend hours in sub-freezing temperatures with 35-mile-per-hour winds cutting into his face?

The answer, of course, is the snowmobile.

Why have snowmobiles captured the imagination of North American consumers?

The recreation experts at Mercury snowmobiles, working with consumer motivation specialists, believe this popularity stems from two basic human urges which the snowmobile fulfills in uniquely modern ways.

First is the natural desire for outdoor recreation, in any season, fulfilled by the modern snowmobile with unique comfort and mechanical reliability. Stated another way, more people might ski—except for the physical exertion and the chance of feeling foolish after a spill. Yet these same people confidently seek winter recreation, comfortably astride an easily steered snow sled with its familiar gas engine.

Second, there's the inborn urge to "challenge nature"—but most of us don't want to do it too seriously! Again the sturdy snowmobile permits the average guy or gal to confront nature at its blustery worst, confident a warm hearth is only minutes away.

So if you have an urge to enjoy and challenge winter, you're merely normal — and probably susceptible to winter's happy new malady, "the snowmobile bug."

In Mexico festive occasions are celebrated with the breaking of a gift-filled "piñata" (pronounced penn-yah-ta). Piñatas are small colorful figures in the form of animals, clowns, stars and other shapes... made of papier mâché formed around a clay pot (which holds the gifts) and gaily decorated with bright shades of tissue paper. They are usually filled with candies, coins, tiny toys and small pieces of jewelry.

Mexican Food

Mexican holidays and parties are also celebrated with delicious meals featuring many savory specialties... enchiladas, tamales, tortillas, tacos and burritos (little burros). Recently these foods have been rapidly growing in popularity in the U.S.A.

Today you don't have to go to a Mexican restaurant to enjoy exciting Mexican dishes. Frozen Mexican convenience foods, such as those from Patio Foods, are now available in supermarkets throughout the nation, easy to spot in the freezer cases because of the bright packages picturing the colorful stripes of a Mexican serape. You can take home the culinary delights of a Mexican restaurant in your shopping bag and serve everything from cocktail-sized tacos and burrito rolls to complete 5-course frozen Mexican dinners.

Add some convenient Mexican dishes to your regular meals soon. Serve your usual dinner, but substitute large beef tacos for your meat course... start another meal with zesty little burrito rolls. You'll find that whatever Mexican dishes you choose, they'll add a delicious and unusual spark to mealtime!

KEEP IT CLEAN

By Virginia M. White

DEAR MRS. WHITE: My son had a nose bleed last night. How do I remove the dried blood from the bed clothing?
MRS. L. G.

DEAR MRS. L. G.: Make a paste with water and table salt, rub into stains. Soak for 1½ hours in hot water, ¼ cup Super Cleaner, 1 cup Non-Chlorine Bleach and ½ cup heavy liquid detergent. Launder as usual.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: Babies are cuddly but not with formula stains on their clothes. Can you help? AWAITING.

DEAR AWAITING: Formula stains should be pretreated with a liquid detergent rubbed in to the stain to loosen it. Rinse the detergent thoroughly and launder in very hot water to which add ¼ cup Super Cleaner and ½ cup gentle detergent for baby articles such as Dreff.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: I placed a wet dacron blouse on a hanger to dry, now I have rust stains. LOST CAUSE.

DEAR LOST CAUSE: Rust stains caused by metal objects can be removed if pretreated with rust remover product. After treating, launder in hot water adding ¼ cup Miracle White Super Cleaner, ¼ cup detergent and ¼ cup Miracle White non-chlorine bleach.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: Here is a tip you should pass on to your readers for the holiday. The top four inches of Miracle White Super Cleaner bottles make excellent holiday bells. Paint them, tie with ribbon and hang on a door.

DEAR TIPSTER: Thanks for passing it on.

SUGARLESS LEMON PUDDING CAKE
USES SUGAR-LIKE SWEETENER

While the government's recent ban on cyclamates has created a problem for millions of people who rely on sugar substitutes for health or diet, few realize that the original granulated sugar substitute never contained cyclamates.

Adolph's was the original sugar substitute to use glycine, an amino acid which is not metabolized as sugar. It is medically approved and preferred for diabetics as well as dieters. And this use of glycine has the approval of the Food and Drug Administration. This sugar substitute, which comes in both plastic shaker-top jars and individual serving packets has been used for years by hospitals, hotels and other institutions.

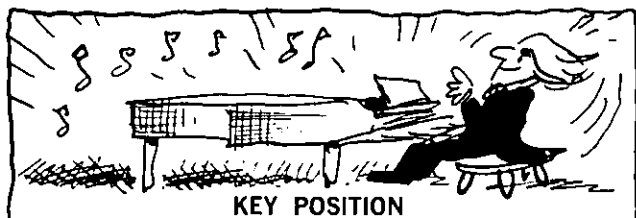

Among the countless advantages to the granulated sugar substitute are that it looks, sprinkles and tastes like sugar, it dissolves instantly, and it doesn't have to be crushed or powdered before adding it to foods. It can be sprinkled on hot or cold cereals, stirred into hot or iced beverages, mixed in toppings, sauces, preserves and frozen desserts. It can be baked in breads, muffins, cookies, custards and cakes. And here's a recipe for an elegant Lemon Pudding Cake that's an old-fashioned, tart-sweet favorite brought up to date in this low-calorie version: 80 calories per serving as compared with 200 for the standard version. (For the diabetic exchange list, food value per serving: protein, 5.92 grams; fat, 1.9 grams; carbohydrate, 5.09 grams.)

(6 servings)

- ½ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 eggs, separated
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
- ¼ cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 ½ cups skim or non-fat milk
- 2 teaspoons Adolph's Sugar Substitute

1. Sift flour and baking powder together. Beat egg yolks until lemon colored; add lemon rind and juice, milk and Adolph's Sugar Substitute; beat thoroughly. Add flour mixture and beat until smooth.
2. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, so they stand in peaks; fold into egg yolk mixture. Pour into a lightly oiled 1-quart souffle or baking dish. Set in pan containing ½-inch hot water. Bake at 350 F. 30 to 35 minutes. Let cool at least 15 minutes before serving. Pudding will separate into cake layer and sauce layer.

EVERY DAY IS SUN DAY AT TOP RESTAURANT

For centuries man has worshipped, argued about and feared the sun.

Over the years this molten globe in the sky has fascinated and held the respect of the North American Indians. Fantastic stories have spun down through history of the sun's origin and how it came to its final resting place in the heavens.

Traditionally, the sun has been the unique binding symbol of all Latin American republics. It is fitting, therefore, that the largest mural features three suns in La Fonda del Sol ("The Inn of the Sun"), the North American Restaurant in New York's Rockefeller Center, which has become known as the world's best South American restaurant.

The transformation from bustling, business-like New York is instantaneous and startlingly effective once you walk from West 50th Street into La Fonda del Sol's gaily colored dining room. You are whisked, as if by magic, from the metropolis into a busy side-street in Latin America.

Strolling guitarists, mariachis, flamenco dancers and singers provide continuous entertainment at the weekly Sunday fiestas. Through the regular week patrons can feast their eyes on thousands of examples of Latin American art in seven rooms.

Jet setters, debutantes and diplomats rub elbows here and relive the legends of Latin America as they sample and savor such delicacies as:

Aztec Broth with vegetables, Veracruz Seafood stew or perhaps Gaucho-Barbecued beef ribs. Mexican coffee and Pampas Herb tea are among the more popular South American beverages.

Cultural students and patrons of the arts could spend several hours inspecting the murals, pottery and colorful candles, carved figures and stones collected from all parts of South America which are on display.

There are for example: A papier maché devil from Mexico; a church and three angels and a church tower with Mexican birds around it, from Peru; a carved bit of cotton wood depicting the flight into Egypt plus papier maché dolls and hobby horses.

Another popular display, for the kiddies, is a Parade of Toys which contains carts from Guatemala and Costa Rica. It includes yo yo's and clowns from Mexico, soldiers from New Mexico and also features flags from the South American republics.

There is one ancient myth, credited to the Caraja Indians of Brazil, who believe that at one time the sun crossed the sky at such speed that men did not have time to work. The culture hero of the day broke the sun's leg to make him slow down.

The ancient Indians, in particular, had many ritual dances honoring the sun cycle and its importance to crops. The sunflower was worshipped by the Incas as a representation of the sun and its seeds were eaten during certain religious ceremonies. In Europe, the Spaniards smoked the leaves and the buds were cooked or eaten in salads.

While the fervor of the ancient sun worshippers has abated, their appetites have not. At La Fonda del Sol any taste under the sun can be appeased.

NEW SHIP IS A VACATION CITY AFLOAT

This chilly season, there's a palatial "floating city" carrying smart American vacationers southward to islands where winter never comes.

She's the Cunard Line's 65,863-ton Queen Elizabeth 2 - or QE 2, to her friends. Sailing from New York for the Caribbean, the luxury liner will winter-cruise you to such tropic playgrounds as St. Thomas with its palm-fringed blue sea and white beaches . . . to the spice island of Grenada, fragrant with cloves, nutmeg and cinnamon . . . to French Martinique, birthplace of Napoleon's Josephine . . . to Holland's Curacao and the tropical island-republics of Jamaica, Trinidad and Barbados.

But the QE 2 is much more than a vehicle for traveling between storybook ports. Of herself, she's a luxury vacation resort for her 1,500 pampered cruise passengers (compared with 2,025 on transatlantic sailings). And because the Queen Elizabeth 2 operates as a one-class cruise ship, all services and activities are open to everyone.

The five decks of staterooms - most of which look out over the tropical sea and lush Caribbean islands - are topped by four decks of public rooms for dining, dancing, shopping or just lazing. All staterooms have private toilet and bath or shower, telephone, six-channel radio and air-conditioning. And for peace and quiet amid tasteful, eye-soothing elegance, each room is soundproofed.

Nothing that will add to passenger comfort and cruise pleasure has been overlooked. Three gourmet restaurants cater to the most fastidious taste. For night-clubgoers, the two-deck-high Double Room, largest entertainment palace afloat, stages an array of sparkling shows for up to 800 people at a time.

For a more casual pause that refreshes, saunter into the Midships Bar, the 736 Club or the Lookout Bar. If you're a movie fan, sink into the plush comfort of the ship's 530-seat theater and escape among the finest first-run films.

MICHELIN XM+S (radial)

When winter winds call for more than regular snow tires, be ready with Michelin XM+S Radial... the tire built for heavy snow areas.

Made with a strong radial-ply body and a tough belt of steel cord that holds the winter-wide heavy-lug tread down firm... so you can plow through deepest snow.

Iced roads? No problem with the XM+S tread. It comes pre-drilled for ice-biting studs. Be ready for the big snow. Team up with Michelin XM+S Radial.

Or stroll through the QE 2's shopping arcade, riotous with tempting gift items for yourself or friends. Even London's famed Marlborough Gallery has a seagoing branch aboard—The London Gallery—to tempt discriminating buyers of fine paintings and objets d'art.

For the athletic, there are two swimming pools outdoors and two indoors, a fully equipped gymnasium, Turkish bath and sauna. And of course there are acres of deck space for games, brisk walks or relaxation.

Swinging discotheques and rock bands cater to the young in years and spirit while their more sedate shipmates dance to ballroom music.

The very young have their own enchanted playland aboard. Everything in the spacious, gaily decorated fun-room is indestructible. There isn't a "Don't" sign in sight. Aside from its exciting stock of games, toys and other play materials, the nursery boasts its own cartoon-film theater and a shallow splashing pool. Small playpens for the tiniest tots are attended by the ship's nannies.

Even the family pet is welcome aboard. Sixteen can be accommodated in the QE 2's signal-deck kennels. On her maiden voyage to New York last May, one passenger was a pet mouse; its transatlantic fare was one pound sterling — or $2.40.

Structurally, the QE 2 is rated as "the most superb example of the shipbuilder's craft the world has ever seen." Captain W. E. "Bil" Warwick, a bearded maritime veteran, has technology's most advanced navigation tools at his fingertips. The QE 2's computer, first of its kind on a passenger ship, controls her machinery, logs data, predicts fresh water needs, controls food stocks and even adds up the bar tabs!

Several times a day the QE 2 "talks" to communications satellites in polar orbit. Radar helps to pinpoint the sea giant's course and position anywhere on the globe. And with fingertip pressure, the captain can steer the 963-foot-long cruise palace with a tiller no bigger than his thumb!

It's all part of the Queen Elizabeth 2's way of making your winter vacation at sea the most memorable holiday on earth.

SAFETY NOTE

Some power tools are now double insulated. In addition to the normal electrical insulation required to make it function, a double insulated tool surrounds all the unit's electrical parts with added insulation or proper air space.

This way, in the event of a failure involving the basic insulation shield, electricity cannot "leak" to the tool's handle or housing.

A fuse might blow but there will be no shock to the operator, even if he is working with sweaty hands or standing on wet ground or on a damp floor.

Costs are not high. A quarter inch power drill, now retailing for $9.99, is said by its manufacturer, Rockwell Manufacturing Company, a pioneer of the double insulation concept, to be the first double insulated power tool to be priced under $10 in the history of the industry.

More safety for less money is a bit of a twist, but at least it's not a shocking experience.

SOME THINGS REALLY TO "MEOW" ABOUT!

Would you like to prove to your pet cat or kitten how "purr-fectly" delightful you think they are?

Then enter him or her in the 1970 All American Glamour Kitty Contest to be held from January 1, 1970 to April 30, 1970, with the finals at the Hotel Fontainebleau, Miami Beach in July.

All housecats are eligible. No pedigrees are required. All a kitty needs is a bona fide owner and "cat-appeal".

You should send a picture of your pet, no smaller than 3 by 3 inches, plus an essay of 100 words or less telling why your cat should be the All American Glamour Kitty. Entry blanks and the rules of the contest are printed on bags of Kitty Pan Cat Litter which bear the contest shield and a picture of CINDY, the 1969 winner.

Fifty regional winners will receive specially designed award certificates, jewelry and a six-month supply of Kitty Pan Cat Litter. The 16 semi-finalists get engraved silver award trophies, portable TV sets and gold cat collars inscribed with the individual winner's name.

The eight Finalists will be flown to Miami, via Eastern Airlines, for a week's holiday pageant which will include press parties, radio and TV appearances, competitive events and a coronation ceremony and show in the world famous La Ronde Room at the Fontainebleau.

The new Glamour Kitty will receive a Crown Imperial Jade designed crown and gold collar, a mink-trimmed cat cape, a special silver trophy and a hand-painted oil portrait.

driving a snowmobile on ice that was too weak, it might be wise to learn something about the different characteristics of ice and its strength.

Fred E. Winch, Jr. professor of forestry at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, points out that simple thickness is not always a safe measure of how strong the ice is. Clear solid river ice is 15 per cent weaker than clear blue lake ice, for instance. And slush ice, of the sort that is common at this time of year on N.Y. lakes and streams, must be twice as thick as solid ice to support the same weight.

Sudden acceleration of deceleration will cause a significant increase of weight pressure on ice, making a "safe" thickness dangerous, Winch points out. Travel on ice, he says, should be done at moderate, continuous speeds.

Walking or riding, another factor the winter traveler should keep in mind is that continuous travel over the same path will weaken the ice, just as continuous use will weaken a spring.

Still another reminder from the College of Agriculture professor is that river and stream ice will tend to be considerably thinner in midstream than near the banks.

The following are ice strength figures tabulated by the Lumbermen's Safety Association. Winch reminds readers that these thicknesses apply to clear blue lake ice that has not been much traveled. The thicknesses should be doubled for early winter slush ice.

Frosh Cagers Best In Eight Years

The best State University at Albany freshman basketball team in eight years is off to a 4-2 start thanks to a well-balanced offense and tenacious defense. The squad resumes play after the holiday break with a January 6 home game against Albany College of Pharmacy. The Danes then host the highly-touted Oneonta frosh January 13.

Coach Bob Lewis, in his second season at the university after a successful stint at Milne School, has the best team since the 1961-62 squad, led by Dick Crossett, Dan Zeh, and Marty Eppner. Veteran varsity coach Dick Sauers noted that the '61-'62 team was the last frosh club to send more than two men up to the varsity. "We expect to get at least five good men from this year's team, though," he said.

The five starters are within 14 points of each other, led by former Bishop Gibbons of Schenectady star Chris Burke, who has an 11.2 average. Right behind him are Bob Obermayer of Columbia High (10.7) Steve Howard of Clarence Central (10.5), Werner Kolln of Kingston High (9.3), and Dave Welchons of New Hartford High (8.8). The five regulars have split scoring honors in the six games, Burke and Kolln being high man twice each, Obermayer once, and Howard and Welchons sharing the sixth.

Obermayer, a strong 6-3 center, and 6-4 Kolln do the bulk of the rebounding, while 6-2 Welchons, 6-1 Burke, and 5-10 Howard all are good ballhandlers, accurate outside shooters and demons on defense. Welchons, especially fills the role of floor general and has impressed observers with his well-rounded skills.
