

to editors, legislatures, parents and everybody;
this is your concern:

it was presumptuous of me to accept this panel assignment on vitalizing the local school boards association. i did accept, however, because i knew that i could rely heavily on my favorite advisor, archy the third, the grandson of archy, the famous cockroach of don marquis.

just a word about archy the third: although at times he might appear to be a bit irreverent and perhaps just a little impertinent, he actually is sufficiently reverent when reverence is merited and he is quite pertinent on public school issues. he is a strong and fighting advocate of public education. he believes in and actively supports our public schools. also, he can depend on the sound, practical, down-to-earth advice of his lady friend, mehitabel, the granddaughter of don marquis' famous cat, the original mehitabel.

so, at my pleading request, archy prepared the following presentation to give today:

boy oh boy! there you go again, bob bair. you are really a birdie bird brain. you have a helluva nerve accepting an assignment on that panel. what do you and your infant county association know about vitalizing the local school boards association?

all you albany county school board fellows have been doing for the last two years has been to pick, pick, pick. first you pick on those poor county legislator fellows for a share of that county sales tax money, just because they have more dollars than they can use and just because one of your school districts, through shrewd political and legislative maneuverings by his honor the mayor and his majority of county law makers, did receive county sales tax dollars for the albany city kids.

now you are picking on the poor governor and those poor state legislators who are doing their darndest to stop inflation by slowing down the flow of state dollars to you local school board spenders. look at it this way: maybe they feel that they are sharing with you local school board fellows their state constitutional obligation of maintaining and supporting the public schools. also, they are giving you the opportunity to let your local real property taxpayers pick up the tab for all the state-mandated, state-inspired and inflationary increases of your local school budgets. also, look how their state negotiators are keeping salary increases of state people down to a mere thirteen and one-half percent over a two year period, a real anti-inflationary achievement. and remember too, they gave you the taylor law which gives you the opportunity to negotiate still further increases to pass on, in toto, to your local real property taxpayer. what blessings from the state! what blessings! what blessings!

first you pick on the county legislators, then the governor and the state law makers; before i know it, you probably will be picking on poor richard, poor president richard, that is, just because he is stopping inflation by cutting federal spending on education. gosh fellows, don't you know that he needs those education dollars for missiles, anti-missile missiles, etc. etc. etc. he has to keep the pentagon boys happy and other countries scared. don't forget that he has his priorities too. first things first — and then public education, maybe later, later, later or even later.

now school board fellows, why don't you stop picking on the poor major, the poor county legislators, poor rocky and the poor state legislators and don't pick on poor richard. let me do it.

THE PERISCOPE By PERRY GALT

As a family exercise in current events, politics is only slightly more exciting than watching paint dry — except, of course, at Election Time. But this year we're in for one of those rare 16-carat treats that might build as much interest by November as Sunday football.

The upcoming doozy is, natch, the head-on collision of two successful and incumbent Congressmen, our own Dan Button and a more experienced neighbor, Sam Stratton.

This contest is the direct and intended result of the latest manifestation of that strangely undemocratic and peculiarly American phenomenon known as gerrymandering. We first learned of it from our history books (now called Social Studies) describing the cut-throat days of 19th century politics. There was a blatant example some years ago involving this same Sam Stratton, and now we have even a more spectacular illustration of the art.

The dictionary defines gerrymandering (pronounced like Jerry though named after a long-ago Massachusetts governor named Gerry, with a "g" like Gertrude) as dividing a political entity "into election districts or other civil divisions in an unnatural or unfair way to give a political party an advantage over its opponent." (Webster's New Intercollegiate). Curse it, applaud it, deplore it or ridicule it as you will, but we all must live with it as we must with air and water pollution.

There are two things that make the latest gerrymander so fascinating. One is that it affects our own 29th Congressional District, and the other is that it involves the aforementioned Rep. Stratton.

Who is Sam Stratton? Those who don't know will soon find out. In the light of Dan Button's overwhelming election to a sophomore term, and seemingly growing as an accepted local institution, dinner-table current-events pundits should take some notes, to wit:

Sam Stratton is one of the truly genuine mavericks in all politics. As a young Democratic upstart in Schenectady in the early 1950's he won a seat on that city's council but not the love of established party chieftains. He became a controversial figure, and when he ran for Mayor, his own party saw a chance to sandbag him. They withheld the organization support that was vital to any Democrat in a Republican city, which they knew would do young Sam in.

Sam not only beat them but his favored Republican opponent as well. When he decided to run for Congress in a district that had not been represented by Republican in two generations, the bigwigs smiled and prepared to watch his political suicide. Sam won that election, too, and summarily dismissed the party cabal that had been so snooty.

With Stratton entrenched in Schenectady and Leo O'Brien, an unobtrusive and unbeatable Democrat, unchallenged in Albany, the reigning Republicans on the state level saw an opportunity in 1966 to throw at least one of them overboard. They conceded Leo his seat, but gerrymandered Sam into a new district that geographically resembled a submarine sandwich. It stretched like a hot dog from Amsterdam to Canandaigua, embracing eight overwhelming Republican counties that the gerrymanders were certain would snuggle com-

i am glad that you, bob bair, recognized your inexperience and used the few baby brain cells you do have (i think) by turning to me for help in your panel presentation. permit me now to get serious.

what makes a vitalized local school boards association? in the first place, you must have energetic and dedicated school board members who are willing to spend many many many hours reading, researching, thinking, writing, and then discussing and meeting with themselves and others to solve problems of common concern.

school problems of common concern: there is the second necessary ingredient of a vitalized local school boards association. right now i know that you school board fellows are all tied up in the high priority money problem of how to get enough public school dollars, but you have other common problems too.

energetic and dedicated school board members, common problems. next you need busy, busy, busy, two-way lines of communication between the local association and member school boards, between the local association and the state association, between the local association and other local associations either directly or through the state association. also, you need this kind of active communication between the local association and other public school organizations and the public either directly or through member boards. and if their is any time left, you might even eat and sleep.

next you need a continuing close working relationship with chief school administrators, with at least one serving as a consultant and resource person on each executive of other committee of the local association. listen to these fellows but don't give them a vote.

then you need to develop an effective relationship with press, t v and other news media in order to pass on to the public sufficiently detailed and meaningful information. the public needs this kind of information in order to support public education. lacking an understanding press, you might even have to have your own press or at least come up with a way of getting detailed reports in the hands of key people in the community. public people want and need details and specifics if they are to understand and support public schools.

also, you better keep the governor and the state legislature well informed with the problems facing the local school districts.

you school board fellows in albany county, being in the back yard of the governor and state law makers, have a special responsibility of becoming a vitalized local school board association.

all of you school board fellows throughout the state, let's get off of our leaded derry-airs (archy's version) and let's get public school supporters to shed their leaded cloaks of apathy and to come out fighting for what they believe in - vibrant public schools.

you know, i could go on and on and on, but bob bair's time is up.

portably into the lap of Mrs. Janet Hill Gordon, a proven GOP vote-getting in the Legislature. Thus would end the career of the upstart Democrat from Schenectady.

But not quite. Sam not only defeated Mrs. Gordon, but he won seven of the eight Republican counties even though he had to move to Amsterdam to make the run. By coincidence O'Brien retired, Dan Button became a Republican and won his upset victory.

Thus, the stage is set now for yet another - the fourth - sand-bag job on the ubiquitous Mr. Stratton. The new gerrymander, in some ways even more unconscionable than the submarine sandwich of the present 35th district, grafts Sam's adopted Montgomery County onto Dan's district, hurling them into direct confrontation.

To make doubly sure the dice are loaded in GOP favor, the political architects subtracted a large section of Albany city's heavily-Democratic wards and buried them in the safe domain of Rep. Carleton King of Saratoga. In a TV interview the other day, Assembly Majority Leader Perry Duryea qualified for an Emmy when he said with a straight face that the new redistricting was based on strictly equal-population-representation, or some such. He made the statement a full two hours before the regularly scheduled comedy hours on the tube.

On a more serious note - which gives you a hint of the interesting game to come - your observer last week sat in on a luncheon discussion among three lifelong Republicans, at which two predicted Stratton would defeat Button handily and the third conceded it might be a close one for Dan. This conflicts with the gerrymanders, who obviously feel Dan will eradicate Sam.

Another Appeal for Help!

by Robert K. Bair

At the 1969 December 12 public hearing on the proposed 1970 budget of the Albany County Legislature, the Albany County School Boards Association, through its president, requested a share of Albany County sales tax receipts for all of the public schools in Albany County.

You will recall that our request was "that the Albany County Legislature allocate one-third of the amount to be collected annually from the County sales tax, that is, one of the proposed three percent to be levied, to be distributed to the school districts of Albany County; and further, that as many of you Legislators who are willing sponsor a resolution to bring our above request before the County Legislature for its favorable consideration." Also, we did "earnestly petition the Albany County Legislature to take favorable action on our request which we feel is in the best interest of all citizens in our County." We further noted that such "favorable action will provide a share of County sales tax money to all school districts in Albany County, will provide tax relief for the real property taxpayer, and will help provide essential growth in school revenues."

With this communication we repeat our 1969 December 12 request and, further, we respectfully urge each one of you who is willing to please sponsor or co-sponsor a resolution to refer our request to the appropriate committee of the Albany County Legislature for thorough consideration. We further request that you sponsor a resolution to refer to the appropriate committee for thorough consideration the question of providing a share of Albany County sales tax receipts to all public school districts of Albany County.

The information in appended Table I is presented relative to our request. Table I shows the amounts of sales tax receipts our school districts would have received based on an amount of $6,000,000 in sales tax revenue, that is, approximately the amount realized by one of the three per cent levied and allocated on the basis of weighted average daily attendance (WADA) as reported for the first attendance period of the current school year. The revenues amount to $125.70 per pupil.

Illustrative of the approximate tax reductions per $1,000 of assessed valuation if applied to the current tax rates and budgets that could have been achieved by the above revenues would have been as follows: $13 for Bethlehem, $34 for Guilderland, $20 for North Colonie, $22 for South Colonie, $18 for Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk, and $32 for Voorheesville.

You may also be interested in the information in Table II showing the estimated receipts to be received by cities and towns in Albany County from the additional one per cent sales tax effective March 1, 1970. This information we recently received from the State Department of Audit and Control Division of Municipal Affairs, Bureau of Municipal Research and Statistics. Please note that the allocation for 1970 is on the basis of 1960 population and that the allocation for 1971 will be distributed using the 1960 census until the 1970 census becomes available. Actually, the $6,000,000 figure is probably a little on the low side, being about a half a million less than that realized in 1969.

If you have any questions or want any additional information regarding our request, please contact me or any member of our Association. The addresses and phone numbers of our members were appended to the copy of our 12-12-69 presentation each of you received.

Thank you.

To the Editor:

That lengthy bit of contrived cuteness that appeared over Robert K. Bair's signature in the Spotlight of February 5 can be only described accurately as pure and unadulterated hogwash.

Don Marquis would turn over in his grave if he knew of the shoddy use to which his famous archie and mehitabel had been put, but that is the least of many criticisms that could be made of that ridiculous article.

If I read it properly — and admittedly it takes several readings to find out just what Mr. Bair is trying to say in his grade school-style composition — we'd all better join the education lobby and get a lot more dollars right away or today's school children face a future without education of any kind.

Before Mr. Bair gets a mythical cockroach to help the Bethlehem school system "with other problems," as he threatens to do, let him explain if he can, why in New York State:

- There are 25 per cent more principals and supervisors, and 66 per cent more "other instructional staff" (that is, personnel outside of classroom teachers, principals and supervisors) than elsewhere in the nation.

- There is an average of only 18.2 pupils per classroom teacher — the lowest ratio found in a sampling of 13 industrial states. (The average for the other 12 was 21.7)

- We spend from $225 to $475 more per pupil than the per pupil cost in six comparable states — Michigan, New Jersey, California, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Bussing cost (according to an NEA study for the period 1965-66) was $37.59 per pupil — more than twice the average of the other six states.

Those statistics are, of course, for New York State and not specifically for the Bethlehem School District. Mr. Bair and his school board might, however, like to get mehitabel and/or archie to come up with similar statistics for the Town. After that, the taxpaying public might be in a better position to decide if more money is needed, or whether it might not be more advisable to consider better ways of spending the money presently available.

As a starter for his research for his next effusion — if there has to be another in the same vein as the one under discussion — might I suggest he read an article on the subject in the January-February issue of the Monitor, official publication of Associated Industries of New York State Inc.

Written by David Beetle of the Gannett Newspapers and one of the most respected newspaperman-researchers in the state, it discusses a series of educational costs and declares:

"In summary, it would seem, budget-minded schoolmen ought to keep an eye on bussing, class size, and the growing load of non-teaching professionals."

Mr. Beetle points out, with references to class size, for example, that if New York wanted to add three more pupils per class, it could theoretically save $250 million."

How about that for starters, mehitabel-archie-bair!

Gentlemen:

I have just completed reading an article which appeared in the Knickerbocker News this past week. The article discussed the possible exclusion of the Pledge of Allegiance from the public schools. This is what has prompted my letter.

I think perhaps we need a change of leadership. We, as Americans, instead of stressing the negative should promote a more positive approach to teaching the American Way of Life. What better place to begin than with men, such as yourselves, who, as members of the Board of Education, are in a critical position of leadership?

The responsibility of leading the youth of today and setting a good example, shall we say, lies with individuals such as you gentlemen. I would like to see our Board of Education take the initiative in reversing the deplorable trend against patriotism, which is so prevalent among the leaders of our youth today.

In the best interest of America and for the promotion of the principles

To the Editor:

I have sent the following letter to my legislators and the leaders of the NYS Legislature:

Recently I read in one of our Albany newspapers (TIMES UNION) that "It is the steady drip, drip, drip of protest . . . that persuades."

Well, there had better be a FLOOD of protest immediately by us taxpayers who are paying for our NYS billion dollar Pure Waters bond issue.

We must not allow a bill to be passed which legalizes groundup feces, urine and toilet paper (and who knows what else) to be flushed into our lakes and streams by boat owners. Boat owners should be urging and supporting shore based pump out facilities.

The legislature has continued to drag its feet since 1967 - postponing a law which would enforce holding tanks on motor boats, supported by the NYS Dept. of Health, by the way as the only sure way of keeping our water from further pollution!

Now Sen. Laverne, Rochester, and Assemblyman Clarence Lane, Capital area, are pushing a bill to use a "macerator-chlorinator - a device which not only grinds up the stinking mess but adds another pollutant (a chemical) and then boat owners flush it all into the water they plan to swim in, ski on, float around in, etc.

Frankly, I'm getting very bored hearing about "young people who

Winners of the Area Contests will represent the Area at the State Distributive Education Leadership Conference at the Concord Hotel in March.

Dolphins in Meet

A young group of swimmers representing the Delmar Dolfin

Swim Club made a strong showing at the A.A.U. sanctioned Hall of Fame swim meet held at the Shaker High School pool in January 1970.

Lorren Elkins

The Dolfin's were led by Lorren Elkins, who, competing in the 10 and under age category, captured first place honors in the 5-yard freestyle and butterfly, second place medals in the 50 yard backstroke and 200 yard individual medley, and 5th place medal in the 50 yard breaststroke. Other Delmar swimmers earning medals were: Katie Fitzpatrick, fourth place in girls 8 and under and 50-yard freestyle and 3rd place in 50-yard backstroke, Steve Connolly 6th place in boys 8 and under freestyle and 5th place in boys 50-yard breaststroke, Beth Clyne competing in girls 10 and under took a 6th place in 50-yard freestyle and 5th place in 50-yard butterfly, Leonard Steele and Kurt Harmon competing in boys 11 and 12 group took 4th in 100 free, 100 back and a 5th in 100 breaststroke.

The Dolphins are now in their second year as a AAU sanctioned swim club and consist of residents of the Town of Bethlehem. Several members of the undefeated Bethlehem Central High School are former Dolphins.

Meeting

Mrs. Mary E. VanOostenbrugge, President of the Town of Bethlehem Historical Association, at Cedar Hill, announces that the Association will have the next meeting on February 19, Thursday, at 8 P.M. at the Center, weather permitting. The January meeting was postponed because of the inclement weather.

The program, presented by Mrs. William Bennett, will be slides on a "Tour of Old Sturbridge Village."

Mrs. Donald Eberle will be in charge of social hour following the meeting.

American History Month

Tawasentha Chapter NSDAR will observe American History Month with a tour of the Albany Institute of History and Art on Tuesday, February 17 at 1 P.M. Mr. Kenneth H. MacFarland, Librarian at the Institute, will present a program of slides on Old Albany. The group will also see the outstanding selection of paintings from the collection of the Canajoharie Library and Art Gallery now on exhibit at the Institute.

The National Society has sponsored American History Month since 1955. Patriotic displays and posters have been placed in the National Commercial Bank, the Bethlehem Library, and several schools. Spot announcements may be heard on radio station WROW. Proclamations have been signed by Mayor Erastus Corning and Supervisor of Bethlehem, Bertram Kohinke.

Members of the Teunis Slingerlands Society Children of the American Revolution are also cooperating in the observance under the leadership of Mrs. Jerome W. Kraus, Senior President.

Stanley Steingut

Mr. Steingut who has proven himself a strong leader of his party in the State Assembly is certain to comment on Democratic opportunities in the forthcoming election. In addition to his role as Minority Leader, Mr. Steingut is secretary of the Joint Legislative Committee on Legislative Fiscal Analysis and Review and a member of the Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation.

In charge of tickets for the affair is Jim Kennedy being aided by Fred Ackerman, Jim Clyne and Mike Bergan. Dinner Chairman is John Scully, with John Dinjeen in charge of publicity.

Tickets may be obtained from any Bethlehem Democratic Committeeman.

International Visitor

A recent international visitor to the Tri-Village area, was Miss Godelieve Kazadi, a charming young lady from the Congo. After a month's stay with the family of Dr. and Mrs. Harold R. Howes, Jr., 1498 New Scotland Ave., Slingerlands, and a brief visit with Rev. and Mrs. John Laske, 16 Alpine Dr., Latham, Godelieve entered SUNY at the beginning of the second semester.

Godelieve Kazadi

Before coming to the area, Miss Kazadi had been a student of English at the School for International Training of The Experiment in International Living, Brattleboro, Vt. Her homestay, under the auspices of The Experiment, served as an introduction to family life in America and afforded her an opportunity to practice English in everyday situations. She entered SUNY as a student under the African Scholarship Program of American Universities (ASPAU) and at the University she will spend the next four years preparing herself for teaching in her native country.

But when everybody's shouting, nobody can be heard. So the me bank chose to wait till the noise subsided to explain the new rates. To help you calmly decide if one of these new ways* to save with me is for you.

6% If you have savings you can set aside for two full years, this plan is for you.

Interest is guaranteed and compounded quarterly. At maturity, the average annual return is approximately 6.3%

5¾% If you'd rather set aside your savings for between one and two years, this plan is for you. Interest is guaranteed and compounded quarterly.

5¼% There's more flexibility in this plan. You have the option of withdrawing or renewing your savings every 90 days for two years. Interest is guaranteed and compounded quarterly.

So much for the new ways. The me bank has two other ways to save, and we've had them for quite some time.

5% Our regular savings account. Starting compounded and paid quarterly. You can make deposits and withdrawals anytime, but interest is paid only on savings held on deposit to the end of each quarter.

4¾% Our daily interest account. Interest is paid from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal, no matter when you deposit or withdraw.

One of these plans is right for you. Perhaps even a combination. If you need more help in making a decision, we'll be glad to talk it over with you – privately, objectively, and of course, without obligation.

In fact, we'll be glad to discuss your complete family financial needs, and help tailor a savings plan specifically to those needs.

It could include low cost Savings Bank Life Insurance from the me bank, and even the Fund for Mutual Depositors, after your primary security is established.

*Subject to regulations of the supervisory authorities, who require that emergency withdrawals prior to maturity are subject to three months loss of interest. ($500 minimum.)

SOMETHING FOR DAD - Life Scout David Gazzetta, in a gesture of appreciation to his parents, Dr. Vincent Gazzetta and Mrs. Gazzetta, pins on his father's lapel a miniature of the "God and Country Award" the youth received on Boy Scout Sunday, at the First United Methodist Church of Delmar. Watching are David's mother and the Rev. Charles Wolfe, associate pastor at the church. David and his parents live at 40 Poplar Drive, Delmar. Dr. Gazzetta directs the teacher certification division, State Education Department. The God and Country Award represents a minimum of a year's work for David who did service projects for the church ranging from janitor to yard work. He also wrapped and mailed medical instruments for use in Vietnam, led prayers and devotions, led a church youth group, and headed the acolyte team at the church.

Telethon

The greatest talent hunt in the history of the Capital District is now underway to fill the Annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon to be aired on WTEN-TV in full color. The show will be broadcast direct from the Washington Avenue Armory and is scheduled from 11:00 P.M. Saturday, February 21, through 5:00 P.M. Sunday, February 22. The auditions will be held by appointment only on Sunday, February 8, at the Thruway Hyatt House. To make an appointment for an audition, all applicants should call 465-4251 from 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. weekdays, or stop in at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center located at the rear of Albany Medical Center Hospital.

James Massucci, Producer, and Stan Roman, Director of the Telethon for Channel 10, commented that there is a dire need for local talent to fill this eighteen-hour television show, and the welcome mat is out for those talented individuals in the area who desire an audition. Jack Smith and Ilene Woods are slated to host the show, and recruiting of additional national talent is now in process. Although no definite commitments have been made as yet, indications are that the roster of national talent this year will far surpass any of the nine previous telethons. This telethon is expected to be the greatest ever in entertainment and variety, both on the national and local talent level.

Funds raised during the show will be used to support the programs carried out by the Cerebral Palsy Associations of the Capital District, Ulster County, Berkshire County, Glens Falls and Central Mohawk Valley.

Louis A. Swyer, James K. Patrick and Howard C. Nolan, Jr., co-chairmen of the event, expressed appreciation to the local talent who have appeared on the Telethon during the last nine years, making possible the fact that the show has raised in excess of $1,250,000 over the period to aid the unfortunate children afflicted with this dread crippling.

Meeting

The Delmar Volunteer Fire Company Ladies' Auxiliary will hold a meeting tonight, Thursday, February 12, at the fire house. Guests will be members of the Onesquethaw Ladies' Auxiliary at a covered dish supper starting at 6:30.

ARLINE FRANCIS, Honorary Heart Fund Chairman for the New York State, and F. Donald Lewis, Heart Fund Chairman of the Heart Association of Eastern New York, are making final plans for the 1970 Heart Fund to be held during the entire month of February.

Racing School

Youthful skiers will have a unique opportunity to be coached in both the new French and the modern Austrian racing techniques at a three-day training camp to be held at Jiminy Peak February 18-20.

Ski School Director Terry Theriault said that Jacques Martin and Manfred Krings will be guest coaches at the camp. Theriault, a four-event racer at Holderness School, Montana State University and Middlebury College, will have as staff coaches himself and Bill Beattie, Jiminy's regular racing coach. Other members of the 30-man Jiminy Ski School will assist as required.

Martin, who attends every major race and instructor's rally in the East as an on-the-slopes representative for Rossignol Skis, is a former member of the French National Ski Team. He frequently enters Veterans races and last month topped a field of 200 at Okemo. He also finished 12th at the Jim Kelly Giant Slalom at Brodie Mountain two weeks ago. Martin will also show a special Rossignol movie on ski maintenance and will demonstrate how to select and care for racing skis.

Krings is resident professional racer at Mt. Snow, Vermont, where he is the official pace-setter for the NASTAR events. Krings finished 4th at the Brodie race and recently competed in the Killy Challenge Series, and like all the other professionals, failed to beat the French star. An outstanding junior racer in Austria, Krings was a member of the National Team before coming to this country four years ago.

Theriault said the purpose of the camp is to introduce young parallel skiers to racing techniques and to help experienced racers improve and polish their form for actual competition. At the Christmas camp, former Olympic skier Suzy Chaffee and Swiss champion Ruedi Baer were the guest coaches. Jiminy has produced 75 per cent of the outstanding young racers in Southern New England in the past five years. Each year one or more Jiminy skiers win places on the Eastern Team and complete in the Nationals.

The sessions will run from 9 to 4 each day and those skiers wishing overnight accommodations may stay at Pontoosuc Lodge in nearby Lanesboro.

There will be training in slalom and giant slalom. Downhill training will be held if the snow conditions permit. The camp will conclude with races for all participants.

Several school teams plans to take part in the camp and early registration with Theriault at Jiminy Peak is recommended.

Lincoln Day Dinner

A record crowd of over 1000 people is expected for the 72nd Annual Lincoln Day Dinner of the Albany County Republican Committee, to be held at the Thruway Hyatt House, Tuesday, February 17, at 7:30 P.M.

A double dais and two toastmasters will be required to accommodate the large crowd. Music for dancing after the dinner will be provided by Johnny Costas and his Orchestra.

Accidents Down

Hunting accidents in New York State declined for the fourth year in a row during 1969 according to a report issued recently by the Conservation Department.

There were eight fatal and 95 non-fatal accidents during 1969. This compares with nine fatal and 121 non-fatal accidents in 1968.

Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne said, "It is regrettable that deaths and injuries have occurred while hunting in New York State but it is encouraging to learn that hunting accidents are declining even though the number of hunting licenses issued is increasing. During the 1968-69 license year, 1,122,733 hunting and combination hunting and fishing licenses were sold - an increase of 30,000 licenses over the previous year. Although a number of factors may be involved in the lower number of hunting accidents. I am certain this safety record is a reflection of the outstanding work being performed by volunteer Hunter Safety Training instructors and the Department's Bureau of Law Enforcement."

Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Law Enforcement show that of the total number of accidents, 47 wounds were self-inflicted, 49 hunters were shot by companions and seven were caused by unknown hunters.

Carelessness and humans in the line of fire were the leading cause of accidents with 29 and 24 accidents reported.

Shotguns were involved in 56 accidents, rifles 38, other firearms seven and unknown two.

Hunting accidents tabulated according to animals being hunted showed a low of one accident while waterfowl hunting to a high of 16 accidents while hunting rabbits and hares.

For comparison purposes, there were 11 fatal and 148 non-fatal accidents in 1967 and 13 fatal and 153 non-fatal accidents in 1966. The lowest number of fatal accidents in recent years occurred in 1964 when there were seven hunting fatalities.

Bob Crane Coming

Bob Crane, star of "Hogan's Heroes," has been added to the roster of glittering stars to entertain on the Annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon, the original area

Telethon, to be aired in full color on WTEN-TV, Channel 10, February 21 and 22.

The show will be broadcast direct from the Washington Avenue Armory in Albany, continuously beginning 11:00 P.M. Saturday, through 5:00 P.M. Sunday. In making the announcement, James Masucci and Star Roman, Producer and Director, respectively, of the show for Channel 10 said, "If the caliber of recruited talent continues, this show will be a more star-studded extravaganza than the nine previous Telethons."

Bob Crane, or "Colonel Robert Hogan" as he is known to his fans, was born in Waterbury, Connecticut and early in life discovered a love of music. He studied drumming while in school and, as a teenager, drummed professionally. A graduate of Stamford High School in Stamford, Connecticut, Bob shortly afterwards married his high school sweetheart, Anne. They are the parents of a son, Bobby, and two daughters, Debbie and Karen.

Bob's show business career started at radio station WLEP in Hornell, New York. He spent a total of 16 years in radio, the last 10 of the 16 at KNX in Hollywood, California.

Working at the little theatre in California's San Fernando Valley, he worked his way from small parts to the lead in "Send Me No Flowers." From little theatre he went into TV, appearing on the G.E. Theatre, the Dick Van Dyke Show, Alfred Hitchcock, and two seasons on the Donna Reed Show playing the part of the next door neighbor, Dr. Dave Kelsey. This finally led Bob Crane to the starring role in "Hogan's Heroes."

Since the first season of "Hogan's Heroes," Bob has made guest appearances on The Lucy Show, the Danny Kaye Show, The Smothers Brothers, Red Skelton, Joey Bishop, Merle Griffin, and "What's My Line." His motion picture credits include "Man Trap," "Return From Peyton Place," and "The Wild Dreams of Paula Schultz."

Bob Crane is six feet tall and weighs 170 lbs. His favorite sports are basketball and base all; his hobbies include photography, record collecting, and, of course, drumming.

The Cerebral Palsy Telethon under the chairmanship of Lewis A. Swyer, Kenneth M. Johnson, James K. Patrick and Howard J. Nolan, Jr., raised more than $250,000 during last year's show to carry out the programs at the facilities of the Capital District, which include the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center and the school for the Disabled, as well as the programs of the Glens Falls area, the Central Mohawk Valley, Ulster County and Berkshire County.

Dow Promotions

David H. Smith, formerly of Delmar, has been appointed superintendent of the Butadiene Plant, Waste Control and Bulk Handling at the Bay City, Mich., Plants of The Dow Chemical Company. He has been succeeded as assistant superintendent by Michael W. Bedard, formerly of Ware, Mass.

Smith has been a Dow employee since 1964 and, before his appointment as assistant superintendent in 1968, served at the Polymer and Petrochemical Plants as a production development engineer. He received a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Cornell University in 1964.

Bedard joined Dow in 1967 and has served as a production development engineer in the Ethylene, Unifiner and Benzene Plants. He received a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Northeastern University in 1967.

New Center Open

The Ozanam Center, a place where adolescents between the ages of 13 and 19 can talk over their problems with a "friend," is opened at 189A Quail Street, Albany. Sponsored by the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Ozanam is open from 7-11 P.M. each night, Monday through Friday. Students from Siena College and Maria College will be on hand each night to help make the teenagers feel at home and to explain the operation of the Center. A trained social worker will also be there to talk with each teenager about his or her specific problem.

No appointment is necessary. Teenagers may either stop in or telephone for counseling. The phone number is 465-8808. Representatives from area high schools are serving on the Advisory Board: Nicolas Nealon and Deena Rosenthal from Albany High School; Peter Horan and Christine Flanigan, from Cardinal McClosky; Dominick Mucci and John Oliver from C.B.A.; Linda Robilatto and Jane Malloy from Mercy High; and Joseph Delaney and David Smitas from Vincentian Institute.

Drivers Needed

At least ten volunteer drivers are needed by the motor unit of the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross because of increased motor service requests in the southern Rensselaer County area, numerous blood delivery responsibilities for the Northeastern New York Red Cross Blood Program, and above normal requests from other volunteer agencies seeking transportation assistance, according to a joint statement by Samuel B. Weiss, chairman of the motor service unit and Lester Jeffreies, chairman of the Rensselaer City branch.

Both men indicated volunteer drivers are urgently needed because many of the chapter's drivers, who are retired from business or industry, have left or are leaving on vacations in warmer climates and have caused a serious drain on the services of remaining drivers. The problem is further compounded because of the increasing numbers of requests from other volunteer service agencies asking for additional motor service assistance and the numerous blood delivery responsibilities for the Regional Blood Program servicing 32 hospitals in a 13 county area having a population of more than one million.

IT'S OUR PLEASURE TO BE OF SERVICE

When the various community agencies attest to need, the Albany Area Red Cross provides vehicles and volunteer drivers to transport such groups as handicapped children, the elderly and the infirm. Approximately one dozen agencies are served on a regular basis by the chapter, and another dozen are served occasionally.

For a number of years the chapter was very fortunate in having Mrs. Theodore Conlon act as Red Cross motor service representative in the Rensselaer City area. She took care of all calls, including an average 250 missions in the City of Rensselaer each month, and saw to it that all motor service missions were handled. Unfortunately, Mrs. Conlon was taken ill and the chapter is in need of drivers to carry out the established pattern of motor service missions previously supervised.

As for the blood program, the chapter needs both regular and stand-by drivers for regular, supplementary and emergency blood center delivery runs. Volunteer drivers who can handle shifts of up to eight hours a night on any of the seven nights of the week are desperately needed. Volunteer service for any part of this time will be welcomed and drivers will be accommodated in making sure no conflicts arise with their regular working hours.

Drivers are also needed to stand-by in their homes for supplementary and emergency delivery runs on all weekdays, and on Saturday and Sunday.

In addition, volunteer drivers are needed to make regularly scheduled blood delivery runs to supply the 32 hospitals participating in the blood program. During these trips, drivers also transfer blood supplies from one hospital to another in Red Cross vehicles, as required, and return outdated blood to the Regional Blood Center in Albany for fractionation or other use.

Persons interested in volunteering as motor service drivers are urged to contact either Mr. Weiss or Mrs. Walter Lantz at the Albany Red Cross, Hackett Blvd., at Clara Barton Dr., Albany or by phoning 462-7461.

More Arrests

State troopers arrested drunken drivers in greater number last year than every before, Superintendent William E. Kirwan reported recently in a wrap-up of 1969 traffic activity.

The tally came to 7,096, or 44.8 percent from the 4,899 drivers tabbed for this offence in 1968 and an increase of 103.6 percent over the 3,486 driving arrests in 1967.

Kirwan said the gains could be attributed largely to an increase in the State Police inventory of breath-testing instruments which has greatly expedited the processing of drunk driving suspects, thus increasing the time troopers have for patrol work.

Seventy-three Breathalyzer were acquired last summer under a $75,000 federal grant bringing the total to 99. Of these 81 were in use at the end of the year and all will be in use by March 1 when a training program to familiarize personnel with their operation is completed.

"The significance of the gain in arrests," the Superintendent said, "is not in the numbers but in terms of the lives that may have been saved by the removal of impaired drivers from the highway."

The report indicated that suspects are more willing to submit to a breath test than to the extraction of a blood sample, which formerly was the principal means of determining the alcoholic content in the suspect's system.

Of the 1969 drinking driver arrests, 1,031 refused to submit to any test. This was 14.5 percent of the 7,096 total. The ratio of refusals in 1968 was 19.8 percent and in 1967, 27.8 percent. Those refusing tests are subject to revocation of their license.

Among the 6,065 submitted to tests last year, the Breathalyzer was used in 49.6 percent of the cases compared with breath testing in 33.5 percent of the 1968 cases and 7.6 percent of those in 1967.

The factor of alcohol in highway safety was indicated by studies of 714 fatal accidents claiming 855 lives that were investigated.

ited by troopers last year. Of persons involved in fatal accidents, chemical tests were given to 258 dead drivers, 35 had pedestrians, 66 dead passengers and 38 surviving drivers charged with drunken driving. Of the 331 drivers and pedestrians tested, 60 percent had blood alcohol levels of .06 percent or higher, 52 percent had levels of .10 percent or more and 15 percent had readings of at least .15 percent. Studies have established that levels of .06 percent or more can adversely affect ability to drive. Under New York law, a level between .05 to .15 percent is prima facie evidence of impairment; a level of .15 percent or higher is similar evidence of intoxication. Superintendent Kirwan also released these yearly summaries: Traffic arrests totaled 575,890 including 248,363 for speeding, compared with 561,111 arrests, including 251,663 speeders in 1968. Speeding arrests by radar totaled 163,263, down 8,615 from the preceding year. Accidents investigated jumped 9.6 percent, from 44,710 to 49,993 and resulted in 24,684 deaths. Personal injury accidents were up nearly 5 percent, from 15,577 in 1968 to 16,329. In the course of nearly 60,000 checks on the quality of inspections at 10,846 licensed inspection stations, 453 arrests were made for failure to perform adequate inspections. Truck weighing details made 118 arrests for overweights and 8,073 arrests for other traffic infractions compared with 7,555 illegal-weight arrests in 1968 and 8,206 other violations. In the course 2,296 road checks conducted by State Police, 434,498 vehicles were inspected, resulting in 37,369 charges ranging from inadequate equipment to license violations. In addition, 12 persons were arrested at these checkpoints on criminal counts, including 61 found in possession of drugs. The Division's 1,617 cars roll-up 57.5 million miles in 1969, principally on highway patrol duty, a rise of 1.7 million miles over the previous year.

Send Them to Mass.

All Federal income tax returns should be mailed to the IRS Service Center in Andover, Massachusetts, Donald T. Hartley, District Director of Internal Revenue for Northeastern New York State, said recently.

An envelope addressed to the center has been included in all tax packages for the convenience of Northeastern N.Y. State taxpayers.

Checks or money orders in payment of the tax should be made payable to: "Internal Revenue Service," he added.

Poet to Read

Laurence R. Josephs, poet and member of the English faculty of Skidmore College, will be the guest reader at the Hungry Ear, a monthly, informal poetry coffee hour to be held Thursday, February 12, at The College of Saint Rose. Hungry Ear readings are presented in the parlor of St. Joseph Hall at 3:40 P.M.

Prof. Josephs, who will read selections of his own work, is the author of a published collection of poems, "Cold Water Morning," and "Free Fall: A Poem for the Theatre." His poetry has appeared in publication such as The New Yorker, and Commentary.

Presently on leave from Skidmore, Prof. Josephs is conducting a poetry writing workshop at the State University at Albany.

The public is invited to attend the Hungry Ear presentation.

Students Respond

Fifty college students were among the 114 persons responding January 6 to an urgent appeal for blood donors by the Albany Red Cross Center, according to William G. Fraser, blood program chairman.

Donations by schools were as follows: Albany Business College, 26; Junior College of Albany, 18; State University of New York at Albany, 4; Albany College of Pharmacy, 1; and Siena College, 1.

Fraser said these young people are to be commended for showing their concern for others during this period of acute blood shortages. The blood shortage was caused by a decline in donations brought on by the recent snowstorm.

Students, he said, have always responded to the call for blood donors and have clearly shown the community that they are sensitive to their needs.

Indoor Planters

Perhaps many of you have received plants - either foliage or flowering - as gifts during the past holiday season. Have you ever thought of creating an indoor garden area in your home - in the form of a planter box. This is an excellent way to divide a room, or provide a focal point in a room. Plants add life to room and the thoughts of something alive and growing in the drab winter months offers us inspiration for spring.

As an example of how plants add life to a room, consider a tropical fish aquarium, with plants. Plants in this case, are focal points.

In your outdoor landscape plants color and texture are important components of your entire landscape. So also, in a different way, foliage plants can add texture and color. The Norfolk Island Pine - Araucarie - for example, is a delicately fine textured compared to some of the large leaved plants such as Ficus (rubber tree) and Philodendron. Color is also offered in abundance from foliage plants. Caladium, Dracaenas, and Wandering Jew to name a few, all exhibit color.

In designing a planter, be original, use your creative talent and do not be afraid to try something new and different. Try and utilize unique containers you may have around the house. It makes no difference if they have holes or not, drainage can be provided by a bottom layer of gravel. The type and size of planter material will help determine planter size, especially depth because large foliage plants require good anchorage. Regardless of planter size, it is a significant addition to the decor of a room.

his fact should be considered when planning and maintaining

In selecting plants for an indoor planter, many factors must be considered. Two of the most important are: light requirements of the plants chosen and relating the plants to the location. Indoor light may be direct sunlight where the sun shines through the window onto the plant. Indirect bright light in a window that does not receive direct sunlight nearby a sunny window behind the sun's rays; or indirect light on or near an inside wall, or well into the middle of the room. But the light quality needed for normal growth, should be the same for all plants used in an individual planter. This is also true regarding the water requirements.

In relating the plants to the location, first determine where the planter will be located. If it is to be on a table, then foliage plants of average to moderate heights would be used. This would include plants like Ficus, Dracaena, Philodendron and Peperomia. Floor planters permit using larger plants such as Dieffenbachia, Schefflera and Monstera. You choose to have a wall planter, utilize plants that are climbers and vines such as Ivy, Hoya, and some Philodendrons.

In designing a planter, be sure the plants used will form a balanced design in proportion to the size of the room.

To aid you in creating a planter, send for the following free bulletins:

- 1. Care and Use of Plants in the Home - Cornell #1073
- 2. Artificial Lighting for Decorative Plants - Cornell #1087

Sent your request to the Agriculture Division, Cooperative Extension Association of Albany County, Rm. 209, Federal Bldg., Albany, N.Y. 12207 - or phone at 472-3137.

TAKING HEART

Even if you still haven't decided on a Valentine's Day present for your beloved, don't give up on gifts. For with hardly any shopping at all you can bestow a sweetheart of a present before the holiday has passed.

Gifts bound to get a good reception among men include tickets to sporting events. And men and women with imagination can add a personal touch to instant presents by doubling up on them. Instead of just buying a handbag for the lovely lady, include a compact or a small bottle of perfume.

Although you may have waited till the very last minute and your loved one may be out of town, you can still earn instant endearment by wiring an Instant Gift, such as Candygrams or flowers through Western Union, or send a cuddly, impish-faced Dollygram. Made entirely by hand, this smiling, six-inch-high doll clutching a bouquet and bearing a message will also come in handy after the holiday as a paperweight, pin cushion or ornament. The lucky recipients will certainly get the message.

As Valentine's Day approaches, remember that there's still time to wire gifts that will encourage loved ones not to keep their affections under wraps.
