

Total Drug Education - Bethlehem Central School District

Drug abuse by young people is reaching epidemic proportions in all parts of the nation and at all social and economic levels. In their search for new "highs," it is reported that teenagers and others are trying virtually any chemical substance that can be injected, swallowed, smoked, or sniffed and often with tragic consequences.

The Bethlehem Central School District is greatly concerned about this growing and devastating problem and has launched a program of drug education for parents and students to cope with the immediate drug abuse problem in our community.

The adult phase of the program is being coordinated by each school principal who is utilizing the services of the local Narcotics Guidance Council, school nurse-teachers, qualified health personnel, school psychologists, etc. in disseminating drug information to the parents of school children. Special P.T.A. meetings are currently being held to educate parents about drugs. Some Grade mother meetings will be scheduled to inform parents what the school is teaching in its drug education program.

The student phase of the drug education program includes instruction in grades K-6 from the new broad health curriculum developed locally and a series of assembly programs to be determined by the principals of the Middle School and the Senior High School. The departments of science, social studies, and home economics are making contributions in this total effort. Again the Narcotics Council will be called upon to assist the schools in these programs as well as the district's Professional Services Unit and guidance counselors.

The following is offered for the information of parents and students. It is hoped that parents will take the time to inform themselves about the drug scene. Dr. J. Joseph Levin of Chicago, states "We must not become so entranced with the distress signal of drug abuse that we ignore the youth waving it at us." Today most young people, especially in college groups, know more about the subject than their parents; and scare tactics are quickly rejected by youth. Before discussing drugs, learn the facts — and stick to them.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT DRUGS?

DRUG: HALLUCINOGENS

Primary Effects:

LSD, mescaline and psilocybin alter the consciousness. Can lead to exhilaration or depression. Studies fail to support theory that they increase creativity. LSD is also known as "Acid."

Dangers:

"Bad trips" may lead to panic over fear of losing mind, paranoia (acute suspicion of others). Long-lasting mental illness has resulted, as has accidental suicide. Trips can recur months after taking initial dose. Is not known to be physically addicting.

DRUG: HEROIN

Primary Effects:

Depresses the brain and central nervous system and acts as a sedative and pain killer. Derived from the opium poppy.

Dangers:

Overdose can cause coma or death from respiratory failure. Heavily addictive. Withdrawal usually causes severe bodily reaction.

DRUG: MARIJUANA

Primary Effects:

Legally but not chemically, classed as a narcotic. No known medical use. Reactions range from excitement to depression. Sense of time and distance becomes distorted. Dangerous if user is driving a car, as with driver under influence of alcohol.

Dangers:

User can become accident-prone because his sense of reality is distorted. Harmful effect on personality growth and development of the young is suspected, but not proven. Not physically addictive but psychological dependence can develop. Long-term effects not known.

DRUG: STIMULANTS

Primary Effects:

Also known as amphetamines. Most commonly used — and abused — are benzedrine and dexedrine. Used medically to combat fatigue, relieve depression, reduce appetite. Produce sense of wakefulness and energetic feeling.

Dangers:

Excessive doses can cause high blood pressure, irregular heart rhythms and even heart attacks. Can cause hallucinations and aggressive behavior. Bode develops a tolerance which requires increased doses. Psychologically, but not physically, addictive.

DRUG: SEDATIVES

Primary Effects:

Known as barbiturates, are prescribed to induce sleep or provide a calming effect. Small amounts make user sociable, relaxed. Heavy dose cause sluggishness and effects resembling alcoholic drunkenness.

Dangers:

Excessive dose can cause coma and death from respiratory failure. Because they obstruct clear thinking, accidental overdoses occur frequently. Barbiturates are leading causes of accidental death, often in combination with alcohol. Heavily addictive, physically and psychologically.

DRUG: COCAINE

Primary Effects:

Derived from the leaves of the coca bush. Used as an anesthetic. Legally, but not chemically, classified as a narcotic. Produces feeling of exhilaration and is said to relieve hunger and fatigue.

Dangers:

Overdose can cause paranoid activity, convulsions and death. Psychologically, but not physically, addicting.

DRUG: CODEINE

Primary Effects:

Opium derivative, used in cough medicines. Minor pain killer, produces slight feeling of euphoria.

Dangers:

Degree and risk of abuse very minor, because extremely large doses are required. But it is physically and psychologically addictive.

DRUG: METHAMPHETAMINE

Primary Effects:

Closely related to amphetamines, with similar but more potent effects.

Dangers:

When methadrine ("speed") is injected into a vein in large doses,

Looking Ahead to Spring

We're all trying to forget the recent snow deluge that so disrupted Pick-ups and Deliveries. Happily, the long hard winter is coming to an end and soon the birds will be singing and the flowers will be peeping through the ground.

Anticipate the Spring Rush!

Because of the heavy toll which the winter has taken on all household appointments — draperies, quilts, bedspreads, pillows, blankets etc. — we are asking our customers to help us meet the customary Spring pile-up by permitting us to call for those soiled pieces NOW. Especially those delicate pieces which require hand finishing. Even though we have installed more of the most modern types of equipment available to our industry, the fact remains that handwork is one operation that cannot be "hurried" except at the risk of sacrificing quality workmanship.

Handi-Hamper Summer Storage

It will soon be time, too, to think about laying away your heavy winter woollens — suits, overcoats, dresses etc. Don't jam them into already overstuffed closets and run the risk of moth damage. You can have them safely stored, at very low cost, in Killip's temperature-controlled storage vaults, the most modern in this part of the State. We'll gladly provide you with one or more of our big HANDI-HAMPERS. Fill them to the brim and we'll call for them. No payments for the storage and dry cleaning until we return these wearables in the Fall.

Latest Letter from Killip's "Bouquet" File

"I wish to express my appreciation for the work you have done for us in your dry cleaning department through the years. . . In these days, when it is so hard to find reliable services, we thank you and wish you success in 1970."

on Youth" has formed five working sub-committees to establish specific goals and plans. The "Citizens Committee for Recreation" under Mrs. Brian Hart will give support to and work with the Town Recreation Committee. They are concerned with getting parks, playgrounds and swimming pools for the community.

Jim Hansen is chairman for the Job Opportunity Committee and is already busy contacting school officials, businessmen and other employment agencies. The goals are two-fold: 1- to set up a job-fair to place students this summer, locally and in resort areas; 2- to establish a permanent agency to handle contacts with the community. The job could be easily handled by a senior citizen.

Alfred Manzella, chairman for the Social Action Committee will direct youths to the needy and aged, and to do tutoring and other charitable works. The committee is also contacting counseling agencies to determine the kinds of services Bethlehem could use. A teen-line is one consideration.

Joseph Koonce and Dave Ritz are chairmen of the Social Activities and Athletics Activities respectively. They will be involved in expanding services already operating in the schools and churches.

Mrs. Michael Bergan, co-ordinator, emphasizes that meetings are public and are held in St. Thomas' School. The next one will convene on March 30 at 8:15 P.M. For further information call 439-5009.

Dissent in Voorheesville

Despite the lamentations of area building contractors, the Voorheesville planning board has passed a set of subdivision regulations for the village.

If the 26-page list of regulations is approved by the village board, it will become part of village ordinances. Kurt Anderson, planning commission chairman, said he anticipates no trouble since the two boards have met several times to discuss the proposals.

The regulations have received little opposition from village residents, but building contractors who would be affected most by the new rules, have protested vehemently.

At a public hearing on the regulations two weeks ago a representative of the Albany Area Builders Association told the board that passage would "ultimately result in a secession of residential building in the Village of Voorheesville," and would cause "general stagnation and eventual destruction of the village."

The spokesman, James T. Kirk Jr., was backed by several other contractors in opposing the subdivision rules.

In a letter read at a recent planning board meeting, Jerome Rosen, of Rosen-Michaels Construction Corp. criticized the regulations because, he said, the roadway widths are not consistent with land use planning, the bonding procedures are unrealistic, and a delay of five months from the first presentation of plans to approval by the board is unreasonable.

Mr. Rosen is the developer for Salem Hills, a partially completed housing complex in the center of Voorheesville.

After discussing Mr. Rosen's complaints and comments made at the public hearing, the board decided that: the roadway widths are suitable, the community doesn't want companies who couldn't obtain bonding, and a five-month consideration period is not too long.

The planners passed the proposed regulations unanimously. Mr. Anderson said the only real opposition to the regulations had come from builders, and a board member at the meeting commented, "Of course they'd be upset."

The planning commission has operated without a subdivision code since the board was established last year.

From the Orient

The Orient seems so much nearer to us this summer, what with the World's Fair in Japan and the enticing advertising that makes it all seem so close and easy as taking a trip to Lake

George. Not many of us can do more than dream about going so we read, plan and, if lucky enough, we might meet someone who has really been there.

Dr. and Mrs. Selig Katz of Delmar did make the trip and recorded the high spots through pictures, slides and copious notes. They have consented to give a slide-chat at the Bethlehem Public Library on Tuesday, March 31, at 7:30 P.M. We have been told their slides and the information are exceptionally fine, so come along and we'll all go on a journey together.

Sunday Evenings

Beginning a week from Sunday, April 5, at 7 P.M., Pastor J.R. McClenaghan of Normansville Community Church, will continue the series of meetings on "How to Win Over Worry." There is a formula given - a prescription - which if followed will bring perfect peace. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Excerpts

From "The Guidance Newsletter" of Bethlehem Central Senior High School Kiwanis Club Career Conference

Our next career conference, to which all students are invited, will be held at 2:00 P.M. on Thursday, April 9, in the Guidance Office. At this meeting, we will present a speaker who will discuss with you the many opportunities available in the field of Data Processing and Computer Programming.

Changes in the Regents Scholarship and Scholar Incentive Programs

The following major changes in the Regents Scholarship Program, which recently became effective, apply to all students who now hold these awards, both of the 1969 series and earlier:

REGENTS COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS

- Scholarship holders may now receive benefits for up to five years of undergraduate study, provided that this program of study normally requires that period of time to complete.

- 2 - Scholarship holders may attend hospital schools of nursing.

REGENTS BASIC NURSING SCHOLARSHIPS

- 1 - All scholarship holders may attend either a college program or hospital school program of nursing. Previous distinctions between Type A and Type B awards have been eliminated.
- 2 - As with the Regents College Scholarship, students may be eligible for benefits for a period up to five years of undergraduate study if such a program normally takes that long to complete.

SCHOLAR INCENTIVE ASSISTANCE

- 1 - Until this year's legislation regarding the State's financial assistance program, Scholar Incentive Awards could be applied only a degree-granting programs, but effective with the 1969-70 school year, the incentive award may be used in a hospital nursing program or in a two year curriculum in a registered private business school.
- 2 - A student may now qualify for a Scholar Incentive Award by being accepted for admission to a college or an above-described school as a matriculated student and entering upon his first semester of study. Former test score requirements, such as those from the Regents Scholarship Test or the Scholastic Aptitude Test, will no longer be required.
- 3 - No Scholar Incentive Award will be paid if the family net taxable income for 1969 minus an adjustment for the number of persons in the family in approved full-time study exceeds $20,000.

Coaching for the College Boards

Commercial coaching schools and publishers of books on preparing for the Scholastic Aptitude Test and other tests of the College Board claim that their study methods enable students to achieve much higher scores than they would attain without coaching.

After many studies and years of research, the College Board has concluded that "coaching is a waste of time and money."

For complete statement on the College Board policy on intensive drill for their tests, see page 8 of the Bulletin of Information - College Board Admissions Tests 1969-1970.

Counselors at Bethlehem Central High School are now in the process of helping students choose their program of courses for the 1970-71 school year.

Because the procedure of a student's selecting school subjects in line with his abilities, interests and aspirations is such an important one, we hold an individual scheduling conference with each student in grades 9 through 11.

At the completion of the meeting with the student, the counselor gives him a copy of his course selection sheet, so that he may take it home to discuss with his parents. We ask you to indicate your approval of your youngster's choices by signing the sheet, which he should then return to the Guidance Office. If you have questions relative to his proposed program, please contact his counselor in the high school Guidance Office.

Nam war zone.

As previously Family Night is set to do honor to the parents and families of those men from the community who are currently on duty in the Viet Nam area. The meeting is open to all who wish to attend.

The most recently compiled list by the Committee has twenty-six names on it. Since the Viet Nam conflict escalated several hundreds Bethlehemites while serving in Viet Nam received the attention of the Committee. During that time five men from the community lost their lives in this war. One man remains listed by the Department of Defense as missing in action.

The Committee is made up of representatives from most of the organizations in the Town. It had its start at Blanchard Post American Legion. It functions through contributions made by its members and from individuals.

Chairman for Family Night is Raymond A. LaMoy of the Delmar Rotary.

Speaker for the occasion will be the Reverend Charles E. Wolfe, associate pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Delmar, who has seen service in the Viet Nam War. Invocation will be by Reverend Paul H. Gassmann, pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church. Benediction will be by Reverend Charles H. Kaulfuss, Rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Elsmere, who has been an active participant in the Committee That Cares since its beginning.

As an example how the work of the committee is shared the Keyettes of the Bethlehem Central Senior School are handling the invitations to the parents of the men in Viet Nam; the Bethlehem Lodge of Elks and the Delmar Fire Auxiliary, refreshments Delmar Progress Club, hospitality. Representing no specific organization but most active in the work of the Committee are Laurence H. Moses and Mrs. Patricia Baldwin, both of Delmar. Mrs. Moses maintains the continuously changing list of names of the men serving in Viet Nam. The list is kept posted at the Delmar Post Office and distributed to the churches in the community. Mrs. Baldwin has served as treasurer since the committee was organized. There are nearly thirty organizations which express their interest in the "care" the committee sponsors.

Committee Chairman is Alexander J. Woehrle of Delmar. He says: "Whatever our sentiments about the Viet Nam war, this committee through the dedicated efforts of the participating organizations and their assigned representatives, brings a welcome ray of hope to those from our community who are sent to this war area. This we know from the responses the committee receives from the men to whom our attention is directed. As satisfying as this may be it could by no means meet the satisfaction that could be attained with the knowledge that the work of this committee would no longer be required. From our meetings it can be found this is the wish and prayers of us all."

At Worksoop

Mrs. Alice Lincoln, school nurse-teacher (supervisor, coordinator) of the Bethlehem Central School District, recently attended the Six Annual two-day workshop sponsored by the Supervisors' Section of the New York State School Nurse-Teachers Association. Miss Frances Primerano, chairman of the Section and school nurse-teachers supervisor in the Mount Vernon Schools, presided at the session.

On Dean's List

Miss Katharine MacGregor, a sophomore at State University College at Oswego, was placed on the Dean's List and was pledged to Lambda Chi Delta Sorority. Miss MacGregor is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Robert G. MacGregor of Delmar and a 1968 graduate of Bethlehem High School.

Just to give you some facts

These are the accounts now available to you at City & County Savings Bank . . .

REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Current dividend 5%, computed from day of deposit, compounded and paid quarterly.

On deposits made by the 10th of any month, you receive dividends from the first of the month. We call these Bonus Dividend Days.

In addition, the last three business days of the quarter are grace days when full dividends earned for the entire quarter are available to depositors. A minimum balance of $25 is required to earn dividends.

Withdrawals during the quarterly period do not receive dividends on the amount withdrawn.

DAY OF DEPOSIT - DAY OF WITHDRAWAL ACCOUNTS

A NEW AND HIGHER 5% DIVIDEND is anticipated on these accounts from April 1, based on continued favorable earnings.

Dividends are computed from the day you deposit to the day you withdraw and are paid and compounded quarterly. On these accounts, you receive dividends for every day your money is on deposit, providing at least $25 remains on deposit until the end of the quarter.

However, there are no grace days or Bonus Dividend Days.

SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

We have these at three different rates and terms, as follows:

2-year certificates: 6% a year guaranteed for 2 years

1-year certificates: 5¾% a year guaranteed for 1 year

90-day certificates: 5¼% a year guaranteed for 90 days

Minimum deposit: $500.

Interest is computed from date of deposit and compounded quarterly. Interest is paid at maturity.

In an emergency, withdrawals prior to maturity may be made if approved by the bank. There is a penalty of 3 months' interest.

Subject to rules and regulations of supervisory authorities.

We'll be happy to give you further information on opening the right kind of account for you or converting all or part of your present account with us. Just call or visit any of our three offices.

Secretaries remaining in our vicinity for periods of time from three months to a year, were also able to join the group. Representing Switzerland were Margrit Kunz, Ruth Derungs and Verena Graf; from Panama, Vielka Vega-Anzola; and from Japan, Kyoko Ando. Emmi Steiger of Switzerland and Misako Ebina of Japan were unable to attend.

Many of the host families of these young people were also present. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolberg and their son, Paul (himself a former Experimenter), Mrs. Robert Thomas, Mrs. Arthur McCormick, the Victor Preska family and Dr. and Mrs. Evan McChesney represented the homes in which the girls were or are family members.

Plans for local Experiment activities in the near future were discussed. Four more individual Experimenters, one each from Venezuela, Chile, Japan, and Switzerland will arrive in the Capital area in April. They will be followed by an interest group of eleven from India in late May, sponsored by our local project and in August, International Center and BCAP will cooperate in placing 125 Experimenters, teachers from Ghana, for three day hospitality while they are studying with the State Education Department.

In President's Club

Robert C. Griffin and Robert G. Larkin were among eight representatives of the Albany agency of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. who qualified during 1969 for membership in the company's President's Club.

To qualify for the Club, a life underwriter must sell a minimum of $1 million of Massachusetts Mutual ordinary life insurance during a calendar year. The club was created in 1961 to give recognition to the company's leading field representatives.

Candidate

Announcement by Thomas W. Brown of his candidacy for the nomination by the Democratic Party for the office of the New York State Assembly, 102nd District.

After prayerful consideration, after thoughtful and thorough discussion with my good wife, Katie, and upon the concerned and considerate urging of many friends I wish today to announce that I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the office of the New York State Assembly, 102nd District.

I seek this nomination and the contest for the office which it represents because I am concerned about the terrible problems facing us in New York State in the decade of the seventies just now beginning. I do not believe man can simply stand by and let things happen to him and mutter, "What's the use?" As Rousseau, the French philosopher put it, "As soon as any man says of the affairs of the state, What does it matter to me?, the state may be given up as lost." This state will not be given up as lost because there are enough people who care.

The people who care have been talking to me and have been urging me to run. I have heard concern about the decline in authority, both in respect for it and in its fear of exercise by those who possess it. I have heard concern about the proposal to repeal certain provisions of the Penal Law which protect human life. I have heard concern by many for the reduction of aid to those who need aid at the poverty level and at the school level. I have heard concern about a budget which in this state increases by a billion dollars and yet accomplishes the wizardry of cutting back on essential services.

I have heard the lament of the taxpayer for the crushing burden he is carrying and the plea of the property owner whose homestead seems to be a basis for penalty because his taxes have risen so high. I have seen the faces of good people in markets and in discount houses trying to buy for a large family, trying to make a Christmas for children and trying to simply make it.

Over the years I have seen the vantage point of a private citizen and from the viewpoint of an elected official that good and worthwhile things can get done at many levels and in many areas if enough people care. I have worked in the field of civil and criminal law for the past decade and I have worked in the fields of juvenile concern, poverty and mental health for many years and I know that many concerned and dedicated people have brought about change and have shown a light in the tunnel where once there was only darkness.

I seek this nomination and the office which it represents because I believe I can make a contribution toward meeting the problems of the seventies. I know I can't stand by and simply let things happen. At a time when the problems are so great it becomes clearer and clearer that no man is an island. It is because of my involvement with mankind that I seek this office. I do so without reservation and with the fervent hope that victory is attainable.

A First

For the first time in the history of The College of Saint Rose, laymen will serve on its Board of Trustees. The forty-nine year old institution, which recently moved to coeducation, will now be controlled by a governing board composed of laymen and Sisters of Saint Joseph of Carondelet. Frederick R. Clark, Executive Vice-President, State Bank of Albany, has been named Chairman of the newly reconstructed board.

SPOTLIGHT CLASSIFIEDS
HE 9-4949

"The College and the community," stated Mr. Clark, "will be better served with representation on the Board of Trustees from local civic, business, and professional people, as well as alumni. The Sisters of St. Joseph have contributed unquestionably to the advancement of high education through their involvement with the College. The reconstructed Board will continue to serve all constituencies of Saint Rose and the community, and will help the institutions fulfill its obligation as a public trust."

John R. Mulhearn, Vice President-Revenues, New York Telephone Company, will serve as Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Sister Elizabeth Varley, C.S.J., Superior of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet at the College, has been named Secretary.

Volunteers Needed

Hospital patients like extra attention. Every nurse and doctor accepts this as fact. Yet most hospital personnel are too busy these days to do the little extras.

This is why volunteer workers are so very important . . . and with their help the hospital staff members may devote time to the professional duties or to the seriously ill.

A group that serves a great need in all hospitals, and especially in the Albany Veterans Administration Hospital, is the Red Cross volunteer. These volunteers are trained to give direct patient care such as taking temperatures, pulse and respiration, give baths, change bedding, and many other items for the patient's comfort.

In the V.A. Hospital there is also a great demand for hospital volunteers to act as escorts: taking patients to and from physio and occupational therapy, or to the various parts of the hospitals for special treatment. They may also write letters, shop for the patients, or just talk to them.

Mrs. William Goldsmith, Red Cross Veterans Administration Hospital Representative must furnish at least 100 new volunteers for the hospital this year. Many Vietnam veterans now being treated at the Albany Veterans Hospital and are in need of volunteer services. They and patients from prior conflicts require a great deal of care and attention which the Red Cross volunteer can provide.

To help alleviate the shortage of nurses in all city hospitals, a class for hospital volunteers will be started in the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross, Hackett Blvd. at Clara

How They Are Delayed

A total of 955 Northeastern New York State taxpayers waiting for refund checks are instead getting their Federal income tax returns back because they failed to sign them.

An income tax return is a legal document and to be valid must be signed before the Internal Revenue Service can process it and issue a refund, Donald T. Hartley, District Director of Internal Revenue for Northeastern New York State, said recent-

So far this year 1,258 refunds of area taxpayers have been delayed because of a Social Security number error, Mr. Hartley said. Use of the preaddressed name label, which includes the Social Security number, will insure proper identification and speed up processing, he noted.

So far mistakes in arithmetic have caused delay in sending 6,182 refunds to area taxpayers. Another 5,292 persons used the wrong tax table, he said.

The IRS Service Center in Andover, Mass. has processed 119,547 refunds so far this year worth over $26 million, Mr. Hartley reports.

Longer Season

Muskrat trappers setting traps in the Southern Zone of New York State have been advised by the Conservation Department that the muskrat trapping season has been extended in portions of the Southern Zone.

The extension was ordered because heavy snow cover, prolonged cold weather and frozen ponds have made it difficult for trappers to set and maintain trap lines.

In order to improve trapping opportunity, the muskrat trapping season has been extended:

— through March 25 in Broome, Chenango, Cortland, Erie, Genesee, Livingston, Niagara, Orleans, Tioga, Tompkins and Wyoming Counties and in those parts of Cayuga, Madison, Monroe, Onondaga, Ontario and Seneca Counties south of the New York State Thruway.

— through April 4 in the Southern Zone parts of Fulton, Saratoga and Washington Counties.

— through April 10 in Wayne County and in those parts of Cayuga, Madison, Monroe, Onondaga, Ontario and Seneca Counties north of the Thruway.

There is no change in the season dates for the remainder of the Southern Zone.

Other details concerning the trapping season can be found in the 1969-70 Trapping Guide available at all license issuing agencies.

MEMORIES ARE MADE OF THIS: Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller toured Cogar Corporation's production facility in Wappingers Falls, N.Y. recently to see how computer memories are made. Behind him is George R. Cogar, president of the company. After inspection of the facility, Rockefeller said, "It's hard for me as a layman and politician to understand this advanced technology . . . but I hope the same genius cased in making these memories can some day also be applied to solving the great social and environmental challenges we're facing today as a nation." Cogar Corporation, headquartered in Herkimer, N.Y., produces advanced semiconductor memory systems for computers. Red Cross Report

The annual report of American Red Cross activities in New York State was presented to Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller in ceremonies conducted at the Red Cross of the State Capital Building in Albany recently.

Governor Rockefeller, summarizing the report, praised the Red Cross volunteers who devoted thousands of hours of their time to such projects as working in hospital and nursing homes, tutoring youngsters in school subjects, aiding the mentally and physically handicapped, and instructing in water safety programs.

"The spirit of volunteerism is the spirit of America," Governor Rockefeller said. "Volunteering crosses all boundaries . . . young, old, black, white, rich and poor can work side by side in helping each other."

On hand to present the Governor with a report of Red Cross activities were J. Spencer Standish, chairman of the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross, and Philip Chapman, national representative to the 13 Red Cross chapters in Northeastern New York State.

Mr. Standish said that service to American servicemen and their families steadily increased during 1969. This service, designated to the Red Cross by Congress, is carried out all over the world.

The report pointed out the growing need for blood and its valuable derivatives. Red Cross provides blood to hospital patients without charge for the blood itself, Mr. Standish said. Standish also pointed out the expansion of Red Cross' vital blood research program.

Governor Rockefeller described the Red Cross report as evidence of the organization's total commitment to its Congressionally-chartered responsibilities; To act as the medium of voluntary relief and communication between the American people and their armed forces, to carry on a system of national and international relief to prevent and mitigate suffering caused by disasters, and generally to promote measures of humanity and the welfare of mankind.

Deduct Losses

Damage to a car, home, or other non-business property may qualify as a deduction on Federal income tax returns, Donald T. Hartley, District Director of Internal Revenue Service for Northeastern New York, said.

Spencer Standish, chairman of the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross (right) while Philip Chapman, national representative to 13 Red Cross chapters in Northeastern New York State looks on. Governor Rockefeller in summarizing the report praised the Red Cross volunteers for devoting thousands of hours of their time in such projects as working in hospitals and nursing homes, tutoring youngsters in school subjects, aiding the mentally and physically handicapped, and instructing in water safety programs. The presentation of the report was made in the Red Room of the State Capitol Building in Albany, New York.

Tax deductions may usually be taken when the damage to non-business property occurs from a natural disaster such as a fire, flood, storm or hurricane. Losses from theft may also be deducted. However, losses resulting from such causes as rust, erosion, termites, moths or disease are not deductible.

Mr. Hartley said the distinction between a deductible and a non-deductible casualty rests on whether the event causing the disaster was sudden or unexpected. Damage to a home from a fire or flood is deductible because the event was sudden or unexpected whereas damage from termites or settling due to erosion is not deductible since it occurs over a long period of time.

Mr. Hartley said that on real property held for personal use, the amount of the loss is either the adjusted basis of the property or the decrease in its fair market value - whichever is lower. On personal property, the cost or the decrease in fair market value, whichever is lower, is the amount of the loss. If the loss is covered by insurance, this compensation should be subtracted from the amount which may be deducted.

Only the amount of the net loss of property used for personal purposes, in excess of $100 per casualty or theft, is deductible. Married taxpayers filing joint returns need to exclude only $100 for each casualty loss. If they file separate returns, each is subject to the $100 exclusions.

Damage to a car may also qualify as a casualty loss if the accident was not due to the taxpayer's negligence or willful act. Mr. Hartley said that no deduction may be taken for amounts paid for damage to another car with which the taxpayer collided.

On theft losses, the deduction may be taken in the year it is discovered. No deduction is permitted for lost or mislaid property.

Margaret Lynch, 14 Hawthorne Avenue, and Loretta Preska, Van Dyke Road, served on the Saint Rose delegation which received the Best Bill award from the 1970 NYS Intercollegiate Mock Senate.

The award, the second in three years for Saint Rose, was presented to the collegiate participants for a bill which deems that children borne as a result of artificial insemination are legitimate and possess full legal rights.

Both Miss Lynch and Miss Preska are seniors at the College.

Safety Course

An American Red Cross small craft safety course, involving canoeing and rowing, will be held on Saturday this spring, with the first meeting scheduled for April 4, at 9 A.M. at the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross, Hackett Blvd. at Clara Barton Dr., Albany, according to Carl Gardner, water safety chairman.

The course is open to boys and girls, 12 years old and up, who have passed either the Boy Scout first class swimming test or the American Red Cross intermediate test. Those passing will be eligible for merit badges as well as Red Cross certificates and emblems.

Course instruction is free, but each student is expected to purchase a set of textbooks costing one dollar.

Instruction in the proper techniques of paddling will also be included in the course with this phase to be conducted either at the Rotary Boy Scout Camp or at Little Lake in Menands.

Registration can be made by attending the first session on Saturday, April 4.

Big Catch

Sport fishermen harvested more than 40 tons of fighting Chatauqua muskalonge last year, according to an announcement recently by the State Conservation Department. Nearly 7,700 legal-sized fish were taken, averaging 33.5 inches and 9.6 pounds.

These statistics were tabulated from data supplied by anglers who returned their special musk-alonge licenses at the end of the season, as required by law. Approximately 17,00 anglers purchased the special 50-cent license necessary to fish for muskies in Cattaraugus and Chautauqua Counties. Nearly 90 percent of the musky take in the two-county area came from the 1,300-acre Chautauqua Lake. The angler success rate was the highest in 20 years, with about 25 percent of the permit holders taking at least one legal-sized fish, 30 inches or over.

Average fishing time required to land one legal muskalonge was 27 hours - about half the average time recorded over the last 10 years.

Some 22 states and Canada were represented by successful musky fishermen in 1969. Of this total, 60 percent were New Yorkers, 19 percent were Ohioans and 17 percent Pennsylvanians. Curiously, out-of-state fishermen enjoyed a higher success ratio than New York residents, perhaps because they more commonly employ local guides.

July was the most successful month for anglers with 33 percent of the total catch. August accounted for 21 percent, June and September each produced 16 percent while October yielded the remaining 14 percent. The best months for taking large muskies - over 40 inches - were September and October. The largest fish taken was an impressive 42 incher which strained the scales at 40 pounds.

The muskalonge take in other waters of Chautauqua and Cattaraugus Counties also indicated an excellent season. The catch in the Allegany River and Olean Creek was a record 230 legal fish. Other local waters and their takes of legal muskies included: Conewango Creek, 190; Cassadaga Lakes, 121; Findley Lake, 105; and Bear Lake, 81.

The Conservation Department stocks muskalonge fingerlings in Chautauqua Lake and the other musky waters each summer. In 1969, more than 9,000 muskalonge fingerlings averaging nine inches were stocked in

Course Set

An American Red Cross senior lifesaving course will begin on Thursday, March 12, at the Bethlehem Central Senior High School swimming pool, according to Carl Gardner, chairman of water safety for the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross. This course is open to good swimmers who are 15 years of age and over and can swim at least 400 yards. It will be taught on six consecutive Thursday evenings between 7 and 10 P.M.

Course instruction will be free, but each student is required to purchase a lifesaving textbook costing seventy five cents on opening night. Students must also furnish their own swimming suits and towels, and girls are required to wear bathing caps.

Enrollment in the course, which is cosponsored by the Bethlehem Recreation Department and American Red Cross, can be made by calling the Red Cross at 462-7461 or by signing up at pool-side on opening night.

Safety Programs

Two American Red Cross youth oriented water safety programs are to be conducted at the swimming pool of the Clayton A. Bouton High School in Voorheesville, according to Carl Gardner, water safety chairman for the Albany Area Chapter, American Red Cross.

One course opens Tuesday, March 31, and will be in two sections. The first section will run from 6:30 to 7:15 P.M. and involves fifth and sixth grade students who cannot swim one length of the pool. The other section runs from 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. and is for fifth and sixth graders able to swim one pool length and wishing to improve their swimming ability. The course is for students of the Voorheesville School District only and is under the volunteer direction of Thomas Buckley.

The second course covers junior and senior lifesaving and begins Saturday, April 4 from 9 A.M. to noon. Students of the Voorheesville and Guiderland Central School Districts are eligible to participate. The junior lifesaving portion is for those youngsters who are at least 11 years of age, and the senior lifesaving segment is for those 15 years of age and older. Kenneth George is the volunteer director for this program.

Enrollment and additional information can be obtained by calling the Albany Red Cross at 462-7461.

New Orchard

Cornell University has purchased a 100-acre tract on the east side of Cayuga Lake to establish a new orchard for research and instruction at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture.

The site, described as ideal for fruit tree growing because of its climate, soil, and topography, is located about 15 miles north of Ithaca, off Route 34B.

The present orchard, occupying about 90 acres along Dryden Road (Route 366) in the southeastern section of the campus, is expected to be used for other purposes when the new orchard is ready for fruit production.

Prof. Melyin B. Hoffman, head of the promology department at the College of Agriculture, said that the gentle breezes from the lake help keep away crop-killing freezes and frosts - a major factor in locating any orchard. The peach trees at the present campus orchard were killed by severe winter weather in January 1969.

Because of this and other factors, New York's apple production is concentrated in areas close to large bodies of water - Lake Ontario, Lake Champlain, and the Hudson River. The state ranks second in the nation in apple production with the annual crop ranging from 22 to 24 million bushels.

The new orchard, selected after a six-month search throughout the areas surrounding Cayuga Lake, will be operated as a primary source of fruit supply for classroom use and for storage research at the college.

"More apples are produced today in New York than in 1939, on half as many trees by only one-fifteenth as many growers," the Cornell pomologist pointed out.

A leading proponent of constant technological innovations, Hoffman thinks that "shrinking" apple trees to "squeeze" more trees into limited space in the wave of the future if the state's apple industry is to stay competitive.

With this goal in mind, the new orchard will be used extensively for long-term experiments with what pomologists call "spur-type" trees which were discovered in recent years in the Northwestern part of the United States.

Because of the compact, non-suckering growth habit plus early bearing and high productivity, the spur-type McIntosh and other strains will probably mark a turning point in the history of apple production, the Cornell pomologist said.

Spur-type strains originated as mutants in private orchards in Washington, Oregon and British Columbia in Canada. Unlike standard trees, spur strains do not develop side branches and generally grow straight up, with leaf buds and fruit spurs close together on the shoot.

"The result is a compact tree, some 25 to 30 per cent smaller than the standard tree," Hoffman explained.

Using such strains, Cornell pomologists hope to find ways to reduce the size further by budding them on size-controlling rootstock.

To this end, the new site will have about 500 spur-type trees and as many conventional trees, taking up 50 acres. These trees will be planted sometime in 1972 or 1973, Hoffman said.

The rest of the space will be planted with several other types of fruit trees, including cherries, peaches, pears, and plums because of better adapted climate and soil conditions at the site, he said.

has been expanded this year, according to the State Conservation Department. A spring wild turkey hunt will be held in nine counties from May 4 through 9.

Bearded wild turkeys only may be taken in Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Chemung, Delaware, Schuyler, Steuben, Tioga and Tompkins Counties. Three new counties — Delaware, Tioga and Tompkins — have been added this year, making possible far greater public participation in this unusual hunting opportunity.

Free permits are available by mail to all holders of 1969-70 small game or combination hunting-fishing licenses. Permit applicants should submit their name, address and license number — postmarked no later than April 30 — to the following address:

Turkey Permit
NYS Conservation Department
Albany, New York 12201

Regulations for this year's hunt are similar to those of the two previous spring hunts with one exception. Shooting hours this year will be uniform throughout the State 6 A.M. to 10 A.M. The use of dogs, electronic callers or baiting is prohibited. Only a long-bow or a shotgun loaded with number 2, 4, 5 or 6 shot may be used. The spring season limit is one bearded turkey, so a hunter may apply for a permit even if he was fortunate enough to have taken a bird during the regular fall season.

Conservation wildlife biologists explained that the dates of the spring hunt were time to coincide with the peak of the incubation period when nesting hens are least likely to be encountered. The early morning hunting hours also serve to protect brooding hens which usually do not leave their nests until temperatures rise around midday.

Spring turkey hunting offers a challenge even to the most skilled sportsman. It is a test of camouflage and calling and, above all else, one demanding great patience. Wild turkeys are extremely wary and quick to spook if they detect any unnatural movement or sound. Unlike deer, turkeys are able to recognize a man even if he is sitting or standing absolutely still, hence the need for camouflage clothing or blinds.

Paradoxically, most turkeys are taken at relatively close range. This serves as an indication of the skill of the hunter in using his call as well as stressing the need for camouflage. Most hunters prefer to let the bird come in very close to be absolutely certain that the bird is bearded.

Last spring hunters took 161 bearded turkeys, compared with 122 taken in 1968, which was the first time a spring hunt was held in New York State. One in four hunters in the field reported at least seeing a bird, which was the same ratio as in 1968. More revealing is the fact that while 59 percent of all hunters used calls, 86 percent of the successful hunters used calls. As had been the case in the earlier hunt, using a call substantially improves the hunter's odds.

Even with these improved odds, however, the chances of getting a bearded turkey are still slim. Only 3.1 percent of the hunters afield connected, although that represented an improvement over the 2.3 percent tallied in 1968.

So, for you hunters who welcome a real challenge, this is it. Get your application in now and start practicing with your turkey caller.

Special Rules

Special tax rules apply when children jointly provide more than half of the support of their father or mother, Donald T. Hartley, District Director of Internal Revenue Service for Northeastern New York State, said recently.

Even though none of the children provided more than half of the parent's support for the year, tax law permits one of the children to claim the parent's exemption for tax purposes, Mr. Hartley said. The child claiming the exemption must have contributed at least 10 percent of the parent's support and the other dependency requirements must have been met.

Mr. Hartley said that in these circumstances, the children can decide among themselves which will claim the tax exemption. The others are then required to fill out a special form stating that they will not claim the exemption. These forms are filed with the return of the person claiming the exemption

IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents," which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, and copies of Form 2120 Multiple Support Declaration, may be obtained by dropping a post card to Forms, P.O. Box 731, Albany, New York 12201. The publication is free of charge.

on Tuesday evening, April 14, 7 P.M.-9 P.M. and Wednesday, April 15, 10 A.M.-2 P.M. at the Blooming Grove Reformed Church in Defreestville. A snack bar will be featured at both openings and will be in charge of Mrs. Fred Ostrander.

On Wednesday beginning at 12:00 a 50¢ bag special will again be held. The sale is sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Church and Mrs. Willard Cipperly is General Chairman.

clude classroom instruction, followed by supervised field work for the remaining weeks. Classroom facilities are being made available by St. Peter's Hospital personnel.

Home Health Aides are unlicensed, nonprofessional members of the home health team. They are trained to assist the chronically ill, aged, handicapped or convalescent patient with personal care and health related activities under the supervision of the public health nurse.

The classes will be under the direction of Miss Elizabeth O'Keefe, Supervisor and Coordinator of Services at the Visiting Nurse Association, assisted by staff members including Mrs. Dorothy Childrose, Mrs. Gloria Levinger, Mrs. Patricia Kiley and Miss Mary Gauger. Also assisting will be members of St. Peter's Hospital Staff.

Anyone wishing information about the classes may call 465-2361 between 8:30 A.M. and 3:30 P.M.

Supper

Mount Holyoke College alumnae are invited to a "pot-luck" supper meeting, Thursday evening, April 9 at 6:30 P.M. at the home of Mrs. John H. Thompson, 7 Huntersfield Rd., Delmar. Lawrence G. Flood, professor of political science at the college, will speak on current student unrest, protest movements, and objectives. Those who would like to attend are urged to call Mrs. Thompson, president of the Mt. Holyoke Club of Albany, (439-2725) or Mrs. Bertram Butlin, Delmar, vice president (439-2210). Mrs. William Dolben, Albany, is handling arrangements (463-6336).

Each year the slumnae group conducts an informal meeting for high school sophomores and juniors, usually during the fall college vacation period, at which students attending Mount Holyoke are on hand to discuss campus life and answer questions. Mrs. Martin Gornman, E. Greenbush, is school contacts chairman, and further information regarding college admission, programs, etc. may be obtained from her, or by writing Director of Admissions, Mount Holyoke College at South Hadley, Mass. 01075.

Next Week!

On April 2, 3 and 4 The Senior Class of the Bethlehem Central High School will present the musical comedy "Bye, Bye, Birdie," a musical satire of the Elvis Presley period of music.

The play centers around Conrad Birdie (Bill Murphy), a rock singer who has been drafted into the U.S. Army. Conrad's business manager, Albert Peterson (Marty Dineen) devises a publicity scheme whereby Conrad will bestow one last kiss before he leaves. Kim McAfee (Karen Thelander) is the lucky girl. Kim's parents are upset by Birdie's attentions; they (Lee Bailey and Chris Thurlow) are appear-

A fund, often known as "Dimes for Daisy," was established in 1928 as a living memorial to Juliette Low. Each year girl scouts throughout the United States contribute their dimes making possible many international projects, including the scout exchange program. This summer, Nancy Smith of Albany Troop 17 will be going to the Scandinavian Camps.

Instead of a neighborhood program to honor Juliette Low this year, each of the four schools in the Normanskill Neighborhood of the Hudson Valley Council held their own programs. Brownie Troop 591 and Junior Troop 107 of Clarksville provided the program for the March 11th P-TA meeting. All Slingerlands troops participated in a special program honoring Juliette Low at one of their regular meetings. Each troop entertained and contribu-

So whatever your fishing needs, come in and browse and let us have the pleasure of serving you.

While you are here we know you will want to take a minute to see our deerskin slippers, fine selection of Pendleton woolens, beautiful handknit sweaters imported from Iceland, and many other items in our top quality outdoor wear.

For you trap and skeet shooters and varmint hunters, we have a full inventory of all of your component needs. Here are a few examples of the savings we have for you:

Remington lead shot	24.95 per 100 lbs.
Remington power piston wads, all gauges	8.50 per M
Yelo-Wads, 12 gauge only	6.95 per M
Remington shotshell primers	11.00 per M
Remington rifle and pistol primers	6.50 per M

We carry a complete line of Remington primed rifle cases and bullets as well as a full line of Speer, Hornady, and Sierra.

We have a complete inventory of RCBS, Lyman, and MEC reloading equipment, including RCBS rifle and pistol dies in all popular calibers.

Are you looking for the finest in leather goods, including belts, holsters, and rifle slings? We have a full line of Bianchi, Lawrence, Buckhemmer, and Justin.

Although our gun inventory is down, we just received our first large shipment for the year and have hundreds more on order for delivery soon. At present we can deliver most Brownings, Weatherbys, Remingtons, Ithacas, Winchesters, Rugers, Colts, and believe it or not, Smith & Wesson.

SMITH & WESSON STAINLESS STEEL

Yes, we have a Model 60 S & W stainless steel that we are holding for the first person who answers this ad and wishes to purchase this model. We might add this gun will be sold at the current retail price and not $50.00 or $75.00 over as we understand some dealers do.

Remember the store with the friendly atmosphere and the large selections of quality goods, and our slogan "The best of everything for the outdoorsmen". All of this can be found at Sportsmen's Trading Post, Rt. 9W, Ravenna, one mile south of the Ravenna traffic light, open weekdays 12 noon til 9:00 p.m., Saturdays 9:00 til 5:00.

Absentees eating up your profits?

The man who isn't there is hurting your profit picture. So's the girl who stayed at home again today. Could you have known when you hired them that their desks would gather dust? Their resumes didn't offer such information. But a report from Fidelityfacts would have! Men from our nationwide team of pre-employment investigators talk directly to former employers — learning the facts about past work habits of your job applicants. We help you raise profits by helping you select the right man the first time!

All members are urged to attend and bring their wives and neighbors. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

2 Checks? Yes!

Anyone planning to pay two Federal taxes at the same time should use separate checks or money orders to avoid possible billing errors, Donald T. Hartley, District Director of Internal Revenue for Northeastern New York State, said recently.

Under the IRS system, which has a different processing cycle for each type of return, the entire payment could be credited to one tax and a bill issued for the other.

Mr. Hartley said, "If one check or money order cover a 1970 estimated tax payment and a 1969 tax balance due, for example, when the returns are separated for processing, the entire payment might be credited to one tax, leaving the other tax unpaid." In such a situation, one tax would be overpaid and a refund issued, while on the other tax a bill would be sent, Mr. Hartley explained.

Taxpayers should put their Social Security number on all checks or money orders sent to IRS, to make sure the payment is properly credited. Business taxpayers should put their Employer Identification number on the check.
