Letter: In Answer to the Joseph Guerrera Article of March 30

THE SPOTLIGHT

Delmar, New York

Gentlemen:

The following is in regards to Mr. Joseph G. Guerrera's article in the March 26th issue of the SPOT-LIGHT. I believe it is important to give as full a picture as possible regarding the entire scope of the drug abuse problem.

The idea of drug abuse seems to be limited to those drugs we read about in the papers and hear about on TV. Unfortunately, drug abuse goes much deeper than that, and encompasses not only the younger generation, but also many responsible adults. In our society today, the advertising media assaults us on radio, television and in print, with many allegedly safe drugs designed for self diagnosis and treatment. Unfortunately these drugs are considered safe because they require no prescription, but ALL of them have some degree of potential danger. The following is but a small example of one of these "safe" drugs. It is possible that this drug might cause:

NAUSEA AND VOMITING HEADACHE VERTIGO (DIZZINESS) RINGING IN THE EARS MENTAL CONFUSION DROWSINESS SWEATING THIRST

This drug is only ASPIRIN. These side effects are listed by the manufacturer, Eli Lilly & Co., one of the worlds biggest pharmaceutical houses, in the PHYSICIANS' DESK REFERENCE, a standard text found in virtually all doctors' offices. It is plain to see that even the things that we gulp down with no afterthought can be a potential hazard to our health. It should also be understood that many of these same dangerous drugs have an important role in modern medical treatment when used as di-

When taking into consideration the drugs specified by New York State Law as "Dangerous Drugs," we must realize that the potential danger is vastly increased, even when using these drugs under a doctor's supervision. Also, some of these drugs have no medical value whatsoever. The information in Mr. Guerrera's article should be elaborated upon in all fairness to those who want the latest information available. Much of the information gathered by the Bethlehem Police Department has been from personal communications of Chief Peter Fish to valid medical researchers. Much information has come from Federal, State and County agencies. ALL of the facts presented can be documented. They represent the latest knowledge of drug investigation.

HALLUCINOGENS — This class of drugs represents the greatest amount of unknown when speaking of dangerous drugs. The action of this type of drug on the body varies greatly on the individual. Prolonged psychotic episodes have resulted from the taking of one dose of a hallucinogenic drug. The action of the drug on the body over an extended period of time is yet unknown. It is safe to say however, that when a user of LSD or other hallucinogen extolls the virtues of the drug, he is talking about his reaction. The non-user trying LSD might find that his reaction is entirely different and maybe forever damaging.

NARCOTICS — Generally narcotics have a place in medicine as pain relievers. Heroin has no use whatsoever in medicine. When one reaches the stage where he is using narcotics, and becomes addicted, he is beyond any help until this addiction is controlled and he is cured. Very often though, the cured addict goes right back on the drug as soon as he returns to his own environment. There is definite indications that heroin has been used by a small number of youths in the Town of Bethlehem. Marijuana is classified as a narcotic in New York State but will be discussed as a drug entity of its own.

STIMULANTS — Amphetamines and other drugs acting as stimulants on the central nervous system have an important role in medicine. This in no way diminishes the fact that these drugs as a great danger when abused by the user, whether or not he is under a doctor's care. Methedrine (Methamphetamine), probably the most potent of the amphetamines, is called speed. There is a very good reason why, on the West Coast, the phrase, "SPEED KILLS," was spread around the drug community and then across the nation.

DEPRESSANTS — Depressant drugs are usually barbiturates, although the law specifies non-barbiturates as depressant "Dangerous Drugs" too. These drugs also play an important role in medical practice today and have important medical indications. What is not too well known is that one may become physically addicted to barbiturates. The withdrawal from these drugs is more dangerous than from heroin and the mortality rate is high. These drugs are abused not only by youth, but also by housewives, professional people, and many others who need something to calm their nerves or help them to sleep. They do not realize that these drugs become a crutch and that they become dependent on them.

REGARDING THE USE OF STIMULANTS/DE-PRESSANTS — very often you read about a movie star or a very busy professional person who gets into the "Amphetamine to wake up-barbiturate to go to sleep" habit.

MARIJUANA — Marijuana has been classified as a narcotic, an intoxicant, a hallucinogenic or as just a smoking tobacco with no effect. This confusion speaks for itself. No one really knows just what lasting effect the smoking of marijuana will have on a human being. With what little research has been done, it all seems to indicate that there is certainly no beneficial effect to be gained by smoking marijuana and there are possibly great hazards involved with the use of the weed. Chief Fish has been in personal contact with many researchers doing work with marijuana, and from this possibly, he has gained a better insight into the real facts about marijuana. The following are reports concerning marijuana

THERE IS NO QUESTION OF SCIENTIFIC DOUBT THAT MARIJUANA ALTERS AND DEFORMS CHROMOSOMES. UNFORTUNATELY, THE HARM-FUL EFFECTS OF MARIJUANA ARE TRANSMITTED TO THE NEXT AND FOLLOWING GENERATIONS.

This quote is from Dr. Louis Souza, Director of the Dismas Treatment and Rehabilitation Center for Drug Abuse in Paterson, New Jersey in his report to the Bergan County Narcotics Council. When he was called by Chief Fish, he stated "that the smoking of one marijuana cigarette could cause the LSD-like chromosomal damage." The head of the New Jersey narcotics program called Souza a genius in the field he was working, and he went on to say that within five years, Souza would have conclusive evidence that would astound the soft-speakers of marijuana.

THE FBI BULLETIN OF NOVEMBER 1969 SHOW-ED WHERE CERTAIN CRIMES OF VIOLENCE WERE DIRECTLY RELATED TO THE SMOKING OF MARIJUANA.

The sceptics shake their heads. But when you are talking about a drug which has no action on the muscles in the body, only the brain, you must realize that it would not be impossible for such acts to occur.

AFTER A SHORT PERIOD OF USE OF MARI-JUANA, IT IS POSSIBLE FOR THE USER TO BE-COME PHYSICALLY ADDICTED TO THE DRUG.

This statement is made by Dr. Robert Baird, Director of the Haven Clinic on 116th Street in Harlem. He is a good friend of Chief Fish, who is a frequent visitor to the clinic. Dr. Baird is an outspoken critic of anyone who calls marijuana or any of the non-narcotic drugs, "Soft." Dr. Baird says that there are no soft drugs, and by giving drugs this misnomer, their use is regarded very casually in the drug community.

When we speak of the affects of marijuana or hashish, we must realize that we are speaking of a problem with a great number of variables. No drug reacts on all people in the same manner. The biggest variable in the abuse of drugs is with the user himself. The state of mind of the user, the strength of the drug, the location where the drug is taken, who it is taken with and many other things, all affect the outcome of the use of many of the drugs.

IT WOULD BE A REAL TRAGEDY IF THE INFORMATION THAT IS NOW AVAILABLE IS COMPLETELY DISREGARDED AND IN YEARS TO COME, MARIJUANA IS FOUND WITHOUT A DOUBT TO BE A GREAT DANGER.

In closing I would like to make my position very clear. I believe that ALL drugs have a certain amount of potential danger connected with their use. Unknown drugs are the most dangerous and are considered as such by all medical authorities. We must be strong in our renunciation of the use of all drugs, and we must emphasize, that even drugs used under a doctor's care or purchased in a pharmacy without a prescription, are all, potential dangers when abused.

It is not the purpose of the Bethlehem Police Department to arrest the youth in this town and attach a stigma to their future. Abusers must however, be made to realize that these drugs are a real danger, and they must be aware that to violate the law and deal in drugs can lead to an end which may directly influence their future.

The police will sit down with ANY concerned stu-

WILLIAM JOHNSTON JR., of 73 Darroch Road, Delmar, has been appointed to the Town Board, Mr. Johnston has served the Town of Bethlehem as Chairman of the Board of Appeals for many years - also as Chairman of the Parks Committee, He is office manager of Armory Garage Inc., Albany, New York - has a valuable experience in municipal affairs. He is a past commander of Blanchard Post, American Legion, chairman of Boys' State Committee, a member of Bethlehem Environmental Committee, Mr. Johnston has been a resident of the Town of Bethlehem for more than forty years, and attended Bethlehem Central Schools of a four-year term as councilman. Johnston will serve until the fall when he must seek election to complete the last year of Butman's unexpired term.

Butman, a councilman for ten years, was appointed by the board as town assessor to serve until December 31, 1971.

William L. Murphy, of 63 Paxwood Road, Delmar, was unanimously elected chairman of the Bethlehem Zoning Board of Appeals Wednesday night.

Murphy's position as chairman will expire December 31.

Appointed to complete an unexpired term on the board of appeals was Earl Robinson of 146 Mosher Road, Robinson, who said he has had no government experience, is a wholesale lumber dealer.

In other business, the board held a public hearing to consider zoning three rural unzoned areas in South Bethlehem to residential, retail commercial and general commercial districts.

Planning board attorney Earli Jones said the proposals are part of an effort to zone all town lands.

Murray Doody, attorney for Breckenridge Village, a trailer park, opposed the plan. He said zoning of land around the trailer park would result in "personal loss" of 50 per or 60 families who own trailers.

Doody said zoning would prevent planned expansion of the park to 275 units because trailers are permitted only in unzoned areas.

If the board approves the proposed zoning, Breckenridge Village, which is off Route 9W in the vicinity of Beckers Corners, would become "a bad investment," Doody said.

About ten citizens who own homes or small businesses in So. Bethlehem also opposed zoning. Their major objection was their fear that values of land and investments would decrease if the zoning plans were approved.

Attorney Jones, who answered the majority of citizens' questions and comments, said that a frequent result of zoning is that "some suffer some financial loss while others make a lot of money."

Dr. Frank Filippone of Selkirk spoke in favor of the zoning proposal, indicating "overall planning" is necessary to insure a town's progress.

Edward Maker and Harold Render said they hoped to see the Route 9W area developed through planned zoning.

Final decision was reserved by the board.

Abandoned Car Policy

Motorists who abandon autos in the Town of New Scotland may expect trouble from State Police and Town Justice Harold Schultz:

Troopers of the Selkirk substation and Mr. Schultz promised a "get touch" policy following the arrest and arraignment recently of Kenneth Ingleston, 24, of Wormer Road, New Scotland.

Ingleston pleaded "guilty" of abandoning a motor vehicle on Krumkill Road, was fined $50 and instructed by Justice Schultz to remove his car from the ravine in which he dumped it after removing the registration tags.

He was arrested by Trooper C. E. Pieronek of the Selkirk sub-station.

A Selkirk spokesman said "there are probably another 10 cars down there" of the Krumkill Road. Both the property owner and a neighboring resident have indicated concern for the rural area now being used for an unofficial dumping ground for autos and trash.

"The Town of New Scotland does have a dump and they do take cars, so there's really no reason for this," the trooper commented.

He said that although license tags are removed, the owners of the vehicles will be traced through "intensive investigation" and arrested.

Library Notes

We know that Easter is over (the calendar says so) but many have asked about the colorful Easter eggs displayed at the Bethlehem Public Library, We must tell you, the Edwin Becker family of Delmar once again loaned a part of their collection for the exhibit. These are no special ceramic eggs - they are blown-out hen's eggs, decorated jointly by the family with poster paints and then varnished. Each one is a gem, Mr, and Mrs, Becker are well known as artist and photographer, Son, Eddie, is a junior at BCSH Bethlehem Central High School and Joan is a recreation director with the city of Philadelphia, Penn. Recreation Department, Furthermore, Joan was chosen by the department to travel this summer with a girl's basketball team as official photographer when they tour the Philippines, Thailand, Hong Kong and Japan. Talk about talent and glamour!

Children: Movie time at the Library is here again. The date: Saturday, April 11th.; first showing, 9:30 A.M., second showing, 11 A.M. "Doughnuts" is based on Robert McCloskev's famous and loved book, "Homer Price" It is a spoof of what happens when Homer gets involved with the mechanization of a doughnut machine. "Big people-Little People" is based on the ideas of children's life games, all of which are familiar to them and which they have no trouble in accepting as "real" as they step into the adult world for a bit during playtime. Both films are especially good and will delight all ages.

Pre-admissions Test for Colleges of the State University of New York — JUNIORS

To clarify a point about which there seems to be a great deal of confusion, colleges and universities of the State University of New York do not require the College Boards as part of their admissions procedures. Instead, the test which you must take if you wish to be considered for admission to units of the State University* is the Regents Scholarship and College Qualifying Test which is given on a school day in October of your senior year; this year's Regents Scholarship Test, for which there is no fee, will take place on Wednesday, October 7, here at Bethlehem Central High School.

Most private colleges and universities, however, do require the College Boards, some, just the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and others, generally the most selective institutions, the Achievement Tests.

To confuse the situation further, several colleges and universities in the south and west use the American College Testing Program (ACT) instead of the College Boards.

In the case of private institutions, be sure to check the testing requirement of each school in which you are interested. Obviously, your counselor is the person who is most qualified to help you with questions about testing and other aspects of your educational and vocational plans.

*The following community colleges of the State University of New York do not use the Regents Scholarship Test results as one of their admission criteria: Auburn Community College - no test requirement, but they recommend that applicants take the SAT; Broome Technical Community College - requires the SAT; Corning Community College requires the SAT; Nassau Community College - requires the SAT: North Country Community College - no test requirement; Westchester Community College - requires the SAT.

rural unzoned land east of Rt. 9W — including Old Ravena Rd. — and boardered by a proposed commercial "C" zone of the west and the Selkirk Railroad yards on the east and north in which they live.

The residents want this land "left alone" and unzoned. Some expressed fear that their property values will decrease if the neighborhood becomes a residence "B" zone as recommended by the Town Planning Board.

Board attorney Earl Jones told the audience that the proposals before the hearing — there were two others — is part of a longrange plan to eventually zone the entire town.

Mr. Jones pointed out: "zoning is the best protection for the people who live there" and acts as a deterrant to unwanted business and industry moving next door to their homes.

Albany attorney Murray Doody spoke on behalf of the owner of Breckenridge Village, Inc., a 50-acre mobile home park on Old Town Road in Selkirk.

He opposed a recommendation to zone commercial "C" land south of the South Bethlehem — Becker's Corners Road, extending south to the Coeymans town line and bordered by Route 9W to the east.

Once the land is zoned, he said, further expansion of the park would not be allowed.

Breckenridge Village residents would lose their investments as would its developer, if this property is zoned, Mr. Doody told the Town Board. Mobile homes are allowed only in rural sections of Bethlehem under a "permitted use" regulation that mandates Town Board approval.

The third zoning proposal was in the vicinity of Becker's Corners. Recommended was a commercial "CC" zone from Mosher Bridge to Route 9W and extending east of the highway to include a segment of Cottage Lane, but stopping short of Maple Road.

Delmar Camera Club

In travelling around the Capital District, you may have noticed murals bearing the signature "Becker" in such prominent buildings as the New York State Museum, the Civil Service Building at the State Campus, the Schenectady Savings and Loan Association, the Shell Oil Co., First Methodist Church of Delmar and the Berne-Knox Central School.

It is this same Edwin Becker. husband of one of our most talented and active members, Florence Becker, who will present "A Different Point of View" at the Tuesday, April 14, meeting of Delmar Camera Club to be held at 8 P.M. in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Elsmere. His discourse will deal with composition in photography. Both Mr. and Mrs. Becker vacation in various countries throughout the world, and in addition to sightseeing, pursue their individual hobbies of painting and photography.

Mr. Becker studied at the Arts Students League and worked as a commercial artist for several advertising firms in New York City.

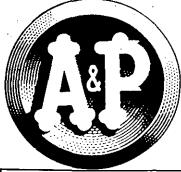

At the beginning of World War II he enlisted in the armed forces and was assigned as an artist in the production of training films, first serving with the Signal Corps and later with the Army Air Force. After the war, he joined the New York State Dept. of Civil Service, where he is employed as Staff Artist at the present time.

Mr. Becker has taught art at the Albany Institute of History and Art, the Albany Junior College and the Evening Division of Russell Sage College. His work has been included in many distinguished collections and he has won many awards for his paintings.

In the photography class competition at the March meeting, a husband and wife team walked off with top honors in the color slide division, with Amelia Anderson taking first three places and Bob following her with fourth and fifth place awards. The only entrant in the black and white category was Bob Jameson with "Ski Pole."

The Camera Club competition based on the assigned subject, "Design in Nature," found Charles Clark in first place for color

Javings dank interest rates.

It seems like every time you turn around, the numbers change.

One of them has changed again. Daily interest accounts. (Sometimes referred to as "Date of deposit to date of withdrawal.") But the ME bank doesn't want to confuse you. So, once again, we'll explain all the rates. To help you calmly decide which way to save with ME is best for you.

- 6% If you have savings you can set aside for two full years, this plan is for you. Interest is guaranteed and compounded quarterly. At maturity, the average annual return is approximately 6.3%.*
- If you'd rather set aside your savings for between one and two years, this plan is for you. Interest is guaranteed and compounded quarterly.*
- 51/4% There's more flexibility in this plan. You have the option of withdrawing or renewing your savings every ninety days for two years. Interest is guaranteed and compounded quarterly.*
 - 5% The new daily interest account rate.† Your savings earn 1/365th of 5% interest every day they're on deposit. There are no periodic compounding days on which your money must be on deposit to earn interest.
 - 5% Our regular savings account. Starting the day you deposit your savings, interest is com-account has three advantages which none of the above offer: 1. You have ten bonus interest days every month. Money deposited by the 10th earns interest from the first. 2. You have three advance withdrawal days at the end of each quarter, when you can withdraw and still earn interest to the end of the quarter. 3. You can borrow as much as you've saved, without disturbing your savings, or the interest earned. (The interest your savings earn helps to offset the interest you pay on the Passbook Loan.)

One of these plans is right for you. Perhaps even a combination. If you need more help in making a decision, we'll be glad to talk it over with you — privately, objectively, and of course, without obligation.

In fact, we'll be glad to discuss your complete family financial needs, and help tailor a savings plan specifically to those needs.

It could include low cost Savings Bank Life Insurance from the ME bank, and even the Fund for Mutual Depositors, after your primary security is established.

*Subject to regulations of the supervisory authorities, who require that emergency withdrawals prior to maturity are subject to three months loss of interest. ($500 minimum deposit.)

11th Annual Ball

To start off the spring season, the International Center has scheduled its 11th annual Ball on Saturday, April 11, 1970 at the Colonie Center Mall. The Ball is open to everyone in the community interested in good music and a festive evening.

This year, the International Center's globe trotting brings us to gaiety south of the border. The setting: "A Fiesta in Mexico." The Mall will be converted, through more than 300 huge poppies, lilies and roses, into a vibrantly colorful Mexican garden, with the dance floor surrounded by colored lights becoming the "Plaza" and topped off by a large pianta.

Johnny Costas and his orchestra, in appropriate Mexican attire, will concentrate his musical talents on the latin rhythms, including the favored Tijuana Brass sound, while Francis Murphy and his orchestra will round out the musical spectrum with varied old and new favorites.

Music will be continuous from 10 P.M. till 2 A.M., while only a small distance from the dance floor will be an array of at least 20 imported and domestic cheeses to be complimented by 11 or more wines. Both the wines and cheeses will be free of charge.

This is the 2nd year this popular black-tie affair will be held at the Colonie Center Mall, so accessible by wall of the Northway, where there is always ample parking.

Tickets are $15 per couple, $7.50 per student couple and $25 per patron couple. They are available by mail from the International Center, 22 Willett Street, Albany. They will also be on sale at Van Curler Music Co., 128 State Street, downtown Albany, and on Fridays and Saturdays at Flah's Colonie Center.

Mrs. James J. Carroll, chairman of this year's Ball, and Mrs. Albert H. Meyer, Jr., co-chairman, feel confident that the Ball will be an enjoyable evening for everyone. The rest of the people on the general committee helping to make this event a success are: Miss Shirley Hillman. decorations; Mrs. Vincent D. The Red Cross, in an effort to help meet this need for qualified instructors, conducts National Aquatic and Small Craft Schools at strategic locations around the country beginning in June to give enrollees an opportunity to take training before starting summer activities, Mr. Gardner said.

A few of the 10-day schools are held in late summer for persons who wish to obtain training before returning to teach in schools or in courses organized by the Red Cross chapters. The training is available for men and women 17 years and older who are better than average swimmers and are medically approved as physically fit.

Symphony No. 2 ("Resurrection") at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center on Saturday, August

Richard P. Leach, Executive Director, recently confirmed rumors that Bernstein has graciously agreed to serve as one of three guest-conductors who will replace Eugene Ormandy while he is recuperating from a hip operation during the first three weeks of Saratoga's 1970 concert

Stanislav Shrowaczewski and Claudio Abbado will share five of the seven concerts for which Ormandy had been scheduled and announced. It is expected that the Center's permanent Music Director will have recovered sufficiently to return to the podium for the fourth and final week.

Leonard Bernstein, world-famous Laureate Conductor of the New York Philharmonic, will make his Saratoga debut on August 15. Particularly well known as an interpreter of the works of Gustav Mahler, Bernstein has recorded all nine of the composer's symphonies. In the Saratoga performance of Mahler's massive Second Symphony, subtitled "Resurrection," he will have as his collaborators Evelyn Mandac, soprano; Joanna Simon, mezzo-soprano; the Capitol Hill Choral Society, Judson Rand, Director; and the new Saratoga-Potsdam Chorus, Brock McElheran, Director.

Also a newcomer to the Saratoga Performing Arts Center, the young Italian conductor. Claudio Abbado, will replace Ormandy in the concerts of August 7, 8 and 13. In two consecutive seasons, Abbado has received encomiums from press and public as a guest-conductor with The Philadelphia Orchestra. Last week he completed a four-week engagement with the New York Philharmonic and flew back to his native Milan, where he is one of the permanent conductor of the Minnesota Orchestra, the distinguished Polish maestro has since won new laurels in guest-engagements with the New York Philharmonic and at the Metropolitan Opera. Skrowaczewski will replace Ormandy in the first two concerts

Eugene Ormandy's leave of absence from Saratoga is due to the necessity of corrective surgery for a childhood injury, a slipped apiphysis, with severe arthritis. That surgery will take place in the late spring, following The Philadelphia Orchestra's European tour, and will be in the nature of a complete hip replacement. The Maestro's doctors hope and believe that the operation will relieve him of severe and steadily-increasing pain.

Plants are one of the main building materials in landscape design. Good designing with plants involves an understanding of each plant's individual qualities as well as its environmental needs.

Winter hardiness, form, growth habits, texture and color are important considerations in selecting plants for a planting composition.

Often some feature such as exceptionally showy flowers, fruit or fall color is sufficient reason for selecting a landscape plant. However, many other features should be given careful thought before you make final plant selections. For example, many shrubs are valuable as accent plants, as hedge material or as a filler among more showy varieties.

Highly colored plants — red and yellowed-leaved varieties — and those with varigated foliage should be used with great restraint. This is particularly true for the plantings located near the house.

A plant may grow fairly well, but if it is sufficiently injured by cold to destroy considered usefully hardy as an ornamental when it is fairly dependable in producing the flowers, fruit, type of growth, or other features expected of it when given a reasonable amount of care.

Plants usefully hardy in one section of New York State may have no value as ornamentals in another section. Therefore the shrubs you choose should be from among those known to be usefully hardy in your area.

The shrubs you choose should not grow too large for your planting area. Not all shrubs are the same size at maturity, and it is important to select those that meet your needs.

Low shrubs, one to three feet tall, are useful for foundation plantings, particularly around contemporary homes. The permanent low stature of these plants is in keeping with simplified architectural features. Some low shrubs are also useful for rock gardens or other small scale plantings.

Small shrubs, four to five feet tall, are also useful for foundation plantings particularly around larger houses or other large buildings. Many also are useful as filler or accent plants in the garden or shrub border.

Although medium to large shrubs, from six to fifteen feet tall or more, are useful occasionally as foundation plants for large buildings, most are used for border, screen, or hedge plantings. They should not be used in small planting areas.

Because most shrubs are of small size at planting time, the tendency is to plant them too close together or too near the edges of lawns or driveways. A good general rule is to space most shrubs as far apart as the mature height of the plant. For example, plants that will be eight feet tall at maturity, should be planted about eight feet apart. Of course, narrow plants should be planted closer together, and broad on spreading plants should be further apart. Place shrubs at a distance of about two-thirds their expected mature height from the edge of a lawn, walk, or driveway.

Trees are used on home grounds to frame a house, to frame a view, to screen an objectionable view, to shade some part of a house or patio or to provide a third dimension in the landscape plan.

Trees should seldom be planted so close together that the branches of one touch the branches of another when they are fully grown. Such spacing gives a shutin effect to the landscape design. A good rule of thumb is that one large tree, such as thornless honey-locust, for every-100-foot square (10,000 square feet) is adequate. To avoid overcrowding, use small trees such as flowering crab or flowering dogwood, in addition to the large ones. An exception to these suggestions is made when the trees are to be used as a screen; they then should be planted so close that their branches will intermingle to create a dense screen.

Invitation

An invitation to observe the annual walleye spawn-taking operations, which get underway in April at the Conservation Department's Fish Hatchery at Constantia on Oneida Lake, was extended to the public recently by Albert G. Hall, Director of the Division of Fish and Wildlife.

New York began its walleye culture operations back in 1893 when eggs were collected from walleye during the spawning run, hatched in jars at the Oneida Hatchery and stocked in Oneida and other lakes. In recent years about 200 million fry have been stocked annually in Oneida Lake and an equal number have been released in other waters.

In an effort to determine the effectiveness of walleye stocking and whether higher stocking rates will improve walleye fishing, most of the hatchery's output will be stocked in Oneida Lake this spring and again in 1972, Hall said. In alternate years walleye fry will be released in 50 other lakes around the State.

(Just over Thruway Bridge) 465-5112 Under this combined fish research and management program Oneida and other lakes will receive about as many fry in total as before, but they will be stocked in alternate years. Planting of walleye fry in streams will be discontinued since such stocking is believed to be a little or no value.

The hatchery collects eggs from 7,000 to 10,000 female walleye each year. This is about four percent of the adult female population. The other 200,000 to 300,000 female walleye spawn about nine billion eggs along the lake shore and in tributary streams. If many of these nine billion eggs hatch, the 200 million fry added by the hatchery would be insignificant. But if few wild eggs hatch, then stocking would be essential to maintain walleye fishing. If fry are found in years when no stocking is done then they obviously are wild fish.

Abundance of walleye will be measured by towing fine mesh nets to collect fry a few days after they hatch. Comparison of the catch in years when fry are stocked and in years when none are stocked will show if wild fry are scarce or abundant.

The results of the alternate year stocking program will be studied in 10 lakes. These in stigations should lead to more efficient use of New York's hat chery production.
