

Springtime Is Here — Time for Tennis

The annual spring tournament of the Bethlehem Tennis Association will be held on June 13-14 and 20-21 at the Middle School tennis courts.

For the first time, this will be an open tournament with no residency restrictions. Officers of the Tennis Association voted at their last meeting that from now on all spring tournaments will be open and fall tournaments will be closed to residents of the Town of Bethlehem.

There will be five events in the spring tournament: men's singles, women's singles, men's doubles, women's doubles, and mixed doubles. Anyone over 18 years of age is eligible to enter.

Dr. John Manne is chairman of the committee for the spring tournament. Entry forms will be in the mail soon to all members of the Bethlehem Tennis Association. Others who are interested in entering may call Dr. Manne to get an entry form.

The entry fee will be slightly higher this year because tennis balls for all matches will be supplied by the Association. Trophies will be awarded to winners and runners-up in all events.

Women's tennis classes will be conducted again this summer by Don Camp, tennis professional and coach of the highly successful Bethlehem Central tennis team.

There will be separate classes for beginner and intermediate players. Classes will meet twice weekly for six weeks, at 9:30 and 10:30 A.M., starting on Monday, June 22. Instruction will take place at the Senior High School courts, and the fee is $15 for the 12 class sessions.

All women interested in signing up for the classes should call Mrs. Richard Propp at 439-3379. Pre-registration is necessary, and checks should be mailed to Mrs. Propp, at 13 Salisbury Rd., Delmar, made payable to Don Camp.

Maynard Parsons will again be in charge of tennis ladders for continuous competition throughout the summer. Ladders for mixed doubles and women's singles were active last year, and ladders for men's singles and doubles and women's doubles will also be set up if there are enough people interested.

Anyone may call Mr. Parsons at 439-1076 to get more information or to enter a name or team on a ladder. The ladders will be posted in a window of the shop of the Middle School nearest the tennis courts.

At the April meeting of the officers of the Bethlehem Tennis Association, Maynard Parsons was presented with an inscribed plaque and a check, in recognition of his many hours of labor and supervision which made the first winter indoor tennis program at the Senior High School a success.

The gifts were made possible through contributions from the players who participated.

Douglas Ferguson, Tennis Association president, made the presentation to Mr. Parsons in a surprise ceremony at the close of the regular meeting.

LETTER

To the Editor:

I wish to publically acknowledge the prompt attention that our town government has shown in enforcing Part 190 of the new Air Pollution Control Regulations forbidding open burning in Delmar. At one time I had doubts concerning the town's dedication to this regulation. Such doubt no longer exists. Mr. Kohinke and the town have proven by action that the Republican administration continues to give prompt service in carrying out the law. I hope all residents of the town will take notice of this action in which this government shown that it will carry out the responsibilities that the people have entrusted to it.

Sincerely,
Edward McAllister

Proposed Highway

A meeting was held in the New Scotland Town Hall on April 28th at which Howard Jacobson of the Regional Office of the State Dept. of Transportation outlined the new proposed Selkirk-Rotterdam Highway.

This would be a four-lane divided express highway with entrance and exit points. At present only a proposed corridor with alternate routes is in the planning stage, much of it parallel to the Pen-Central tracks. The Delmar By-Pass will connect with it at LaGrange Road.

At present the map is on display at the New Scotland Town Hall. It would be four or five years before public hearings would be held and ten to twelve years before completion. The State and Federal governments would share the expense on a 50-50 basis depending on funding.

Everybody Welcome!

A long bill of entertainment is planned for opening night, May 15, and Saturday night, May 16, running from 8 P.M. to midnight at the Coffee House. Among those performing are these local people: Cheryl Cammer, Jeff Klepper, and Jim Moomaw on opening night, and Linda Schrade and Joe Gilday on Saturday. The gallery will display the work of young area artists.

Opening night is everyone's chance to see the Coffee House, to experience with the youth the type of things that will be happening; it is planned to be a kind of open house. Bethlehem Coffee House, Inc. wishes to invite the entire community to come opening night with special welcome to those who have supported us and worked with us. Come!

ROBERT J. CUREAU and William Reitz of the Village of Voorheesville Planning Commission. Check proposed plans with Howard Jacobson of the State Department of Transportation. Mr. Jacobson indicates one of the main junction points just above the Davis Stone Well Shopping Center.

Two Hearings

There are two public hearings scheduled for the May 13 regular meeting of the Town of Bethlehem Board of Appeals. The application of Gerald and Rita Goldie, d/b/a J.T.C. Company, 64 Hudson Avenue, Delmar, for a Special Exception from Article V of the Town Zoning Ordinance to permit the erection of a twenty-unit apartment building at 107 Cherry Avenue will be heard by the Board at 8:00 P.M. There is in existence at the present time an identical apartment building in the vicinity of the site in question, maintained by applicant.

The hearing to be held at 8:30 P.M. will be concerned with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Oversacker's appeal for a Variance from Article VIII of the Town Zoning Ordinance as it pertains to the percent of lot occupancy at applicant's premises located at 7 Maywood Road, Elsmere. Applicants desire to build an addition to their residence which would create a lot occupancy of more than 15%. The Ordinance allows only 15% lot occupancy for a Residence A District.

The two above-described hearings will be conducted at the Town Offices, 393 Delaware Avenue, Delmar.

Scholarship

Glenn A. Harmon, a senior at Bethlehem Central Senior High

Glenn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Harmon of 41 Brookman Ave., Delmar, and will enter Cornell in the fall.

Warning

Under the New York State Air Pollution control laws, no fires of any description are allowed outside a building, other than a cooking fire or a fire for training of firemen. No paper, trash, brush, leaves, may be burned in a town of excess of 20,000 population — which Bethlehem is.

The cooperation of all residents is earnestly solicited.

Public Hearing

A Public Hearing will be held by the Town Board of the Town of Bethlehem at the Town Hall on May 13, 1970 at 8:00 P.M., to consider the enactment of an ordinance providing for the adequate storage and containment of rubbish and garbage within the Town of Bethlehem.

will present the program, "First Impressions," at the May 12 meeting of the club. She will show, through the use of color slides, places and things about our country which impressed her on her first visit to the United States from England in 1964. We sometimes wonder how outsiders feel about us. Here's our chance to learn firsthand how we look to others.

In the last Camera Club competition, Howard Gallagher proved his photographic ability by taking first place in both the assigned color slide subject, "Waterscapes," and in the general category for his pictures, "A New Day Dawns" and "Winter Blanket." Charles Clark and Dr. Selig Katz placed second and third in the assigned subject for "Lonely Fisherman" and "Hardanger Fiord" respectively. Florence Becker's "Cloud Cover" was second place winner in the general category for slides.

In the black and white print competition, Alice Porter placed first in the "Waterscapes" classification for "Sacandaga Lake" with Cecil Terko in second place for "Bass Rocks." In the general category, Florence Becker was winner for "Blind Beggar."

Delmar Camera Club meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at 8 P.M. in St. Ste-

Apartment Okay

Construction of a three-family apartment house is expected at 556 Kenwood Avenue, Delmar on a site owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold F. Mosmen, Jr., of 553A Kenwood Avenue.

Permission to build in this neighborhood zoned "Residence A" under the Bethlehem building code came recently from the town Zoning Board of Appeals.

Board Attorney Bernard Karpowitz read the Board's decision in which he stated the neighborhood can no longer be characterized as "one family."

Many adjacent dwellings house three and four families, the attorney states, and pointed to the public testimony by Mr. Mosmen last March 4, that declared a need for apartments in town.

The Mosmen apartments would be let principally to married couples having no children, the report stated, and would, in the Board's opinion, be harmonious with the neighborhood, non-detrimental to it and would "substantially serve public convenience and welfare."

Skycrest Okayed

The $13 million "Skycrest" planned unit development south of Feura Bush Road was approved recently by the Bethlehem Town Board.

Its developers, the Skycrest Construction Co. of Albany, intend to build 610 living units on 225 acres at the site which parallels Elm Avenue. A recreation area with swimming pool will also be constructed.

The Town Board also approved a recommendation by Supervisor Bertram Kohinke to apply to the State Division for Youth for funds to establish a job referral program for Bethlehem youngsters.

Under this plan, sought since March by the citizen's group "Committee on Youth," the town would match any State funds allotted. Similar programs to pay 15 boys ranging in age from 15 to 21 years to work about the town this summer keeping town property tidy.

McCormick to write an ordinance correcting the situation.

Because a public hearing is necessary before it may be enacted by the Town Board, comments on the proposed ordinance will be heard at 8 P.M., May 13, in the Bethlehem Town Hall.

Supervisor Kohinke who urged support of this ordinance said that "all through town" one may see papers and cartons that have blown from businesses, and cited garbage pick-up as a problem, too.

While he acknowledged that the businessmen are "probably doing the best they can," Mr. Kohinke said the rest of the community should not be subject to such litter.

Tabled for a future meeting was a zoning change request from Coeymans developer Peter Mayone who wants to establish a planned development district on 15.6 acres that front Hudson Avenue in Delmar.

In a letter to the Town Board Mr. Mayone indicated he would build 16 apartments per acre. Approximately 246 apartments are proposed, the Board was informed. Mr. Mayone owns 9.9 acres at the site and has option to buy the remaining 5.7 acres.

Promotion to provisional police sergeant was made retroactive to April 15, for Leo Dorsey, Jr., Juvenile Bureau detective. Theodore J. Wilson of South Bethlehem was approved by the Town Board as a provisional patrolman, effective May 16.

On a per share basis adjusted for the recent 10% stock dividend paid to share holders, this income increased to $1.63 compared with 97¢ for the same period last year. Net Income after Securities Adjustments amounted to $2,232,335.

Resources and Capital Accounts totalled $1,094,954,522. and $56,363,101. respectively, as of March 31, 1970.

While expressing managements' pleasure over the favorable first quarter results, Mr. Herzog stated that the same percentage increases were not anticipated for the remaining quarterly periods in 1970.

Bethlehem Budget Outlined

It's still too early in Bethlehem Central School District to determine specifics about the new 1970-71 fiscal budget.

The Board of Education has been unable to devote its attention for the past two weeks to budgetary problems in the wake of the controversy over the tenure of a high school principal.

However, at the last meeting, Superintendent Richard Moomaw did offer some general outlines to members of the Hamagrael School P-TA, in addition to emphasizing that Bethlehem public schools are currently doing something about the narcotics problem in the community. He said that next fiscal year, community organizations will be able to use school facilities without paying for overtime pay for janitors who must be present in the building.

The basic picture - as it is now proposed - generally means that again Bethlehem will compile a school budget without intending to eliminate educational or inter-school athletic programs.

Also, Dr. Moomaw pointed out the need for "phasing in" of needed equipment to supply one earth science classroom, one biology classroom, one business education classroom and one additional physical education station.

To do this, he said, $35,000 has been allotted in the preliminary budget because the $3.5 million bond issue did not completely equip the new wing of the Bethlehem Central High School.

The superintendent told the parents the Board of Education's intention to continue present vocational programs, pupil personal services, and special education to handicapped children. Because of a budgetary squeeze similar to that of last year, there are no plans in Bethlehem to expand any of these programs, it was indicated.

Included in the district's preliminary budget are three new school buses. Two need replacement and the extra one will provide a margin of support if a third bus becomes mechanically unreliable next season.

School building maintenance was carefully considered by the Citizen's Budget Advisory Committee and the superintendent praised their efforts.

Because of this report, the Board has tentatively allotted an additional $50,000 beyond their projected maintenance sum so Delmar elementary school may be somewhat renovated to last another five years.

mented Dr. Moomaw who outlined other proposed renovations: blacktop the parking lot, install running water in first floor classrooms, repair tiles, plus minor items.

Luncheon

The Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers will hold the annual spring luncheon on Tuesday, May 12, at Jack's Oyster House Restaurant. Cocktails 11:30, lunch 12:00.

Booster Day

This year the Tri-Village Little League has over 500 boys registered. Saturday, May 9, the boys will participate in the annual Booster Day.

This is one time in the year that the boys ask everyone's support. Adult volunteers provide most of the labor but it takes money for supplies and maintenance. With each one of the boys playing approximately 18 games, it means the fields and bats and balls will be well used.

Managers and coaches will accompany their teams Saturday morning. The boys will be calling to ask for your help so that these eight to twelve years old will have the chance to play ball in a well maintained park with the proper equipment.

Because of constantly increasing participation in little league existing facilities are becoming inadequate. The organization is looking for a seven or more acre site for the construction of a new little league park to satisfy this growing need. This long range project will be a major financing endeavor to provide for land acquisition, construction of facilities and related equipment purchases.

We know you will help.

Meeting

McCabe Honored

Frank Wells McCabe, chairman of the board of the National Commercial Bank & Trust Co. has been given a "First Friday Club Man of Good Will" award by the Most Rev. Edward J. Maginn, auxiliary bishop of the Albany Catholic Diocese.

The presentation of the unprecedented award came recently at the First Friday Club meeting at the DeWitt Clinton Hotel.

The citation on the award characterizes Mr. McCabe as "always the Christian gentleman."

Bishop Maginn, who was the club's first speaker in 1949, presented the award to Mr. McCabe, who has been a member since the club's organization.

The speaker at the program was Martin H. Work of Washington, D.C., executive director of the National Council of Catholic Men.

Mr. Work outlined the role of the laymen in the Catholic church in light of the influence of the Second Vatican Council.

A modern-day layman must not be "an arsonist who burns down" or a "stagnant one who holds blindly to old walls," he advised.

"The Second Vatican Council outlined a program for the total church to help modern man relate to his world," he said. "The big issues of our times are not celibacy, birth control or the loss of the Latin Mass.

"The real issue is how to make the Christian faith relevant to today's world."

For those car owners whose fancy leans toward America's top-flight cars, Albany Dodge features the popular POLARAS, MONACOS, SWINGERS, CORONETS, SUPER BEES, DARTS, R/T'S and the exciting (new for 1970) CHALLENGER. Also Dodge Service and Dodge Parts.

Albany Dodge Leasing Corporation is a subsidiary of Albany Dodge and is headed by Hal Mandel. Bill Magin is truck manager. Bob Jaques is used car manager. James Morrell is controller and office manager. Jack Pellittier is Vice President and sales manager. Toni Bonanni is service director.

Over the years, thousands of tri-city residents have gratefully become acutely aware that you can depend on Albany Dodge, home of the square deal where they want your business. These car buyers, many Albany Dodge customers for several decades, attend to the fact that if it's DODGE, it's the one and only Albany Dodge where the return, satisfaction and recommendation of a customer is more important to the dealership than the original sale.

cess that launched one of the major song-hits of the decade, will be one of the outstanding touring productions to be seen this season. Mr. Donald Wing, General Manager, of the Coliseum Colonie Summer Theatre announces that a national company will bring this show to the theatre, for eight performances beginning June 23.

Leslie Uggams will appear in the lead as Sally Bowles, the good-time night-club girl who thinks "life is a "cabaret" and lives accordingly. The musical, set in Berlin during the feverish late 1920's, follows the romance of the excitement-seeking English girl and a young American writer.

Leslie Uggams was born in the Washington Heights section of New York City on May 25, 1943. At the age of six she made her public singing debut in the St. James Presbyterian Church Choir and her acting debut in a supporting role in the television series "Beulah" Miss Uggams first gained widespread publicity as a teen-aged contestant in the television quiz show "Name That Tune." In January 1961 she became a regular member of the cast of Mitch Miller's television variety show "Sing Along With Mitch" for two of her three years with the show, polls rated her the best female singer on television.

Not until she ventured into the nightclub field in late 1963 did the full impact of Miss Uggams' talent register with critics and the public. An early ambition to star in a musical comedy reached a triumphant climax when she was cast in the lead in a Berkeley, California revival of "The Boy-friend."

Having demonstrated her potentialities as a star, Miss Uggams was soon given the opportunity to exhibit her talents on the Broadway stage, achieving undisputed stardom with her performance in "Hallelujah Baby!" Although the production itself met with mixed enthusiasm, the critics unanimously praised Leslie Uggams' performance as Georgina.

In recent years Miss Uggams has guest starred on all major television variety programs and made her dramatic acting debut on television's "I Spy" and "The Girl From U.N.C.L.E."

Mail orders are being accepted at this time.

POW Protest

Americans will be asked to commemorate World Red Cross Day on May 8 by protesting to Hanoi on the treatment of the U.S. prisoners held by North Vietnam.

A new "Write Hanoi" campaign keyed to the birth date of Henri Dunant, Swiss philanthropist who founded in 1863 what was to become the worldwide Red Cross movement, calls for an outpouring of letters to North Vietnam protesting its violation of the Geneva Prisoner of War Convention.

American Red Cross officials are urging that letters be addressed to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam. Air mail letters weighing one-half ounce or less should carry 25 cents in postage.

Since the Red Cross has become the traditional neutral intermeditry in time of conflict, World Red Cross Day is considered by officials an appropriate time to launch the protest letter campaign.

The day will be celebrated this year by 113 Red Cross, Red Crescent and Red Lion and Sun societies with over 225 million members around the world. The theme of this year's observance is "Protect Man: Thwart War."

The Geneva Convention, to which North Vietnam is signatory, obligates the parties to allow free access to prisoners and their places of detention by the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC).

Throughout the Vietnam conflict, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have adhered to these provisions in their treatment of some 33,000 enemy prisoners who are being detained in six prisoners of war camps which are visited regularly by delegates of the ICRC. The North Vietnamese, however, still refuse to allow inspection of camps in which Americans and other war prisoners are detained.

The past year has seen a great intensification of U.S. government and American Red Cross efforts to prevail upon North Vietnam to honor its signature to the Geneva Conventions. In recent weeks, Hanoi has appeared to be easing its stand somewhat, reporting that 320 U.S. prisoners are being held and identifying them a few at a time. North Vietnam also is allowing families of identified prisoners to send six-pound parcels to them every other month.

Although these moves are considered promising, they still fall far short of the agreed upon rules of conduct in handling war prisoners, which include identification of all prisoners, adequate diet and medical care, repatriation of sick or wounded prisoners, communication with their families, and protection from abuse and reprisals.

The outbreak of fighting in various parts of the world during the last year has seen ICRC delegates acting as intermediaries in the Nigerian Civil War, the Arab-Israeli conflict and the short-lived war between EL Salvador and Honduras.

The largest and most costly operation was that in Nigeria, where for over a year, ICRC delegates and teams from various Red Cross societies, including the American, provided relief to starving millions in both the Federal territory and secessionist Biafra.

Today, since Biafra's capitulation, the Nigerian Red Cross is continuing this relief program with the help of the League of Red Cross Societies, the normal channel of international Red Cross assistance in time of peace.

Charts Available

Well in advance of the vacation season, the Conservation Department's Division of Motor Boats has published a series of charts covering four of the more popular lakes in upstate New York. Included in the present printing are lakes Placid, Tupper, Cranberry and Upper Saranac.

The chart for each lake accurately depicts the shore line and gives the location of each buoy placed on the lake by the Division of Motor Boats as an aid to navigation. The preferred channels for safe passage through the lake and its tributaries are shown as well.

Facilities for sportsmen — campsites, state lands, boat launching sites — and the names of points, islands, bays, brooks and rivers are all given on the charts.

The charts for each lake are printed on waterproof plastic sheets which will withstand several seasons of hard use in small boats. The cover and binding are wear and water resistant.

These charts, developed from aerial photographs of the lakes, are drawn up after the Division of Motor Boats has installed the system of buoys for the guidance of the boatmen. About four lakes are so serviced each year, and upon completion of the installation of aids to navigation, charts of the lakes are published by the Division of Motor Boats.

Copies of the new series of charts may be purchased from the Division of Motor Boats, N.Y. Conservation Department, Albany, N.Y. 12201. Over the coun-

New Chevy

Chevrolet took to the sky today to reveal the name of its new small car.

The name is "Vega 2300."

Vega is the name of one of the brightest stars visible from the earth and often is called the 'arc light of the sky,' explained John Z. DeLorean, Chevrolet general manager.

"The '2300' applies to the cubic centimeters displacement of the lightweight overhead cam engine which is one of the unique features of the new car."

Because the name came from the sky, Chevrolet introduced it from the air. A helicopter circled the Detroit skyline pulling a block letter sign announcing that "Chevy Names It Vega 2300."

DeLorean said the name for the new Chevrolet will introduce later this summer - formerly

CELESTIALLY INSPIRED - Since the name of Chevrolet's forthcoming small car came from the sky, the Detroit skyline seemed the appropriate place to announce it - Vega 2300. Vega is one of the brightest stars visible from the earth. The 2300 refers to the cubic centimeters displacement of the new car's engine. The car itself, formerly code named KP-887, comes out later this summer.

Beautification Can Be Fun!!

Have you ever driven through a community which was so inviting you have said "I'd like to live here?" Cooperstown, N.Y., Camden, Maine, a small town in Connecticut and many others, have made impressions on the tourist with their cleanliness and planters on the streets of the business section, abloom with flowers, plenty of receptacles for litter, overall, a certain air about the place which is appealing to all as they pass through.

Fresh paint, signs placed flat against the building, fewer signs in windows, continuity in the design of store fronts, all painted in colors to compliment the other buildings, these all tend to attract attention. Look at your place from across the street and see if it pleases you. Perhaps a small change would do the trick and result in an increase in your business. Vacant lots and weed patches all seem to catch trash blown in by the winds. The owners might be cooperative in cleaning up such places if it is called to their attention.

Delmar Four Corners can be improved and concerned residents can help and perhaps we will hear someone say, "I'd like to live here."

Home Care

Memorial Hospital, Albany, is affiliating a new Home Care Project under the licensure of St. Peter's Hospital, effective in April.

This is a pilot program in New York State, and is an effort to mutually serve the surrounding community.

During convalescence many patients require only a minimum amount of hospital care, after their illness has passed the critical stage. Under this program, actual nursing and home health aid service in the patient's home will be available for as long as required.

In cooperation with the Visiting Nurses Association, who supply nursing care, the hospital department will provide the services of its own staff members. These include a physiotherapist, social worker, laboratory personnel and many others with special skills and training.

The department will also coordinate the delivery of hospital beds and other hospital equipment to home care patients and it will contract with ambulance services to provide needed transportation. Other medical supplies and surgical dressings will be secured from the hospital's Central Supply Department.

As a home health agency licensed by the Social Security Administration, services can be reimbursed by Medicare. Most Blue Cross subscribers will have automatic coverage for charges incurred by Home Care in lieu of hospital stay. Home Care services may also be secured by direct payment to the hospital.

The decision for each individual patient is made by the Doctor, based on his professional evaluation of the patient's physical condition, emotional outlook and family circumstances. The doctor orders specific services for the patient, choosing from a wide range of services.

The program is the responsibility of a full-fledged department of the hospital with Mrs. Julia Norton, R.N. as coordinator at Memorial Hospital.

This service tends to free about one eighth of the medical, surgical beds in the hospital.

The Initial Gifts Division will approach selected potential givers in the Albany area on behalf of the campaign for funds to build an addition to the YMCA.

A graduate of Tufts University and Albany Law School, Mr. Kinum was a member of the faculty of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point prior to entering private law practice.

He is married to the former Rosemarie Daghliah. The Kinums and their son, Michael Lawrence, reside at 37 Picotte Drive, Albany.

Winter Fishkill

This past winter had two of the main ingredients for a winter fishkill. First, there was a long period of ice cover, and second,

JOHN B. KINUM, Albany attorney who is chairman of the Initial Gifts Division, and James H. Martin, president of Martin Office Supplies, general chairman of the $500,000 YMCA Expansion Program, study the plans for new YMCA addition. Campaign to finance the new facilities will be in full sway now through June.

there was also a long period with snow on the ice. Years in which there is extended ice cover, but little snow cover, enough light may get through to the plants so that there is some oxygen production by photosynthesis.

During periods of extended ice cover, there is no opportunity for the free exchange of oxygen with the air, so aquatic life is dependent on what is already stored in the water and what little may be produced by plants. Fish themselves can use up all the oxygen in water as anyone knows who has kept goldfish in a small bowl without plants. In a pond, particularly a rich pond with an abundance of aquatic vegetation, oxygen is also used in the decomposition of dead plant material.

Fishkills of this nature are not uncommon, but fortunately, usually not as serious as they often appear at first. Because of many variables, from differences in the ponds themselves, differences in the fish populations and varying lethal oxygen levels for different species of fish involved, it is impossible to make any blanket statements about winter fishkills.

Not all fish are affected in the same degree. Among the most vulnerable to winterkill are trout. At the other end of the scale one finds bullheads; these hardy fish may survive in ponds where other fish suffer heavy losses.

The fact that there appears to have been a very heavy loss of fish does not mean that fishing is ended until the pond is restocked. Many ponds have small areas where the oxygen content of the water may not dip to lethal levels. This could be a little spring, or where a slight current from a small stream of water flows into the pond. In such areas it may be possible for some fish to survive.

Often the surviving fish are small ones because their total oxygen demand is less. There are so many more of them that the odds are in favor of some surviving. The limited small area with sufficient oxygen may just be too small to support larger fish. Many ponds where fishing has been given up as a lost cause following a winterkill, have produced good fishing again on their own in a couple of years.

A good example of this occurred in a pond in the village of Spencer, Tioga County, some years ago. For two or three years following a fishkill the pond had the reputation of not producing any fish. The High School Science Club wanted to do something about it. As a routine step, a new was set in the pond the day before the club meeting. When bulled the next day, it was filled with fast-growing fish. That night the banks were again lined with fishermen and the pond produced.

The surviving fish had not been big enough to make fishing worthwhile, and the word got around that there were no fish. As the little fellows reached fishing size, no one was there to take them. A pond has to be fished to produce fishing.

When the fish population is just thinned out, it may be good, or it makes more food and space available for the remaining fish, and better growth may result.

Because different fish are killed at different oxygen levels, however, the balance in a pond may be upset. If the kill is usually severe on the large predatory fish, the stage may be set for overpopulation and stunting of the panfish.

Winterkill of fish is an act of God about which there is very little of a practical nature that can be done in natural ponds. In selecting sites for the construction of fish ponds the possibility of future losses can be reduced. A pond which is deep and has steep banks to prevent the growth of vegetation has better prospects of coming through the winter safely than a shallow one with vegetation.

New Course

Natural resource managers and administrators from both public and private organizations are being invited to participate in a five day communications course at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, May 25-29.

The short course, offered through the department of conservation, will aim at teaching natural resource personnel in the use of mass media and multimedia presentations in their community-oriented programs.

Instructors for the course, invited from natural resource agencies and the field of communications, have been chosen for their up-to-date knowledge of communication techniques and their wide experience in the field, according to program coordinator James R. Fazio.

The course is co-sponsored by Cooperative Extension, the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, the division of conservation education of the N.Y. State Department of Conservation, and the Wildlife Management Institute.

Special assistance, in the form of facilities and instructors, has been offered by the College's department of communication arts.

Prominent among the guest instructors is Dr. Roger Latham.

Home gardeners who have suffered heavy loss of cucumbers because of the cucumber mosaic virus should plant varieties that have built-in disease resistance.

Marketmore and Table green 65, both developed at Cornell University some years ago, are the top two cucumbers for slicing that carry high resistance to this devastating plant ailment.

Widespread in most areas of New York and in neighboring states, the mosaic virus has become a real problem, posing a serious menace to cucumbers and other vine crops such as muskmelons and squash.

Recommending the Cornell varieties to avert attack, Prof. Philip A. Minges, vegetable crops specialist at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, stresses that the home gardener should not take a chance when there are perfectly good resistant varieties to plant.

When infected, the leaves turn yellow and often the plant dies. Fruit from surviving plants shows mottling and usually is bitter. Infection usually takes place when the plant is about six weeks old.

Professor Minges also cites Gemini as another good variety for home gardens. Also tolerant to powery mildew another common disease of cucumbers, Gemini yields heavily early in the season.

"There are lots of other cucumber varieties listed as mosaic resistant, but none of them are as resistant as Marketmore, Tablegreen 65, and Gemini," he points out.

Marketmore bears fruit somewhat earlier than Tablegreen 65, producing straight, uniform cucumbers, slightly tapered to the ends and of good dark color at normal temperatures. Tablegreen 65 which produces over a long season has dark green fruit even in hot weather. Both have resistance to scab, a fungal disease.

Cucumbers and squash have a short growing season, requiring about 50 to 70 days to mature. Since seed will not germinate well in gold soil and the plant is sensitive to frosts, planting should be delayed until all danger of frost is over.

Start the early variety Gemini indoors in late April or early May. When the plant has developed one true leaf after two or three weeks, set it out in the garden during mid-May. Marketmore or Tablegreen 65 can be seeded directly outside in late May or early June. This sequence will give a steady supply of fresh cucumbers throughout the season.

Smelting Most Polylar

Smelt, the smallest of fish taken by fishermen in Cayuga Lake, is probably also the most popular. I use the term Cayuga Lake loosely, for smelt aren't actually taken from the lake, but from the lower sections of several of the tributaries where they come up to spawn. Their stay in the streams is short, for they don't leave the sanctuary of the lake until after dark, and by sunrise the next morning they are again back in the lake. During the peak of the spawning run their enthusiasm may start them early and hold them in the streams longer if they are not bothered too much.

The reason for their popularity is very simple. As a general rule, 90 percent of the fish are taken by 10 percent of the fishermen, but smelt are the exception that proves the rule. When the run is on — peaking in mid-April — any novice can quickly become an efficient smelter and return home with his limit of these delicious little fish. In fact, smelt are so easily caught at the height of the run that the regulation limiting the number of fish that may be taken during a night's fishing is more to protect the fisherman from his own greed and to spread the fishing around than it is to protect the fish.

The limit of smelt in Cayuga Lake is 200 fish which gives about 20 servings. This is a good night's harvest for one man and more often than not there are several people in a party. Even though it only takes a few seconds to clean one smelt, it is amazing how long it takes to clean and package a night's catch. Several years ago the limit was removed.

fishermen didn't know when to stop and often took home many more than they could process, with the result that many of these tasty fish ended up in the dump.

The limit of 100 smelt in Owasco is to spread the fishing. Fall Creek, Salmon Creek and Taughanock each has more fishing space than the total fishing area of all the Owasco Lake tributaries. In these small streams a few people can dominate the water and prevent others having an opportunity to fish.

Since the first season in 1942, smelt have demonstrated that they can take care of themselves adequately. The average female will lay from 25,000 to 50,000 eggs. At this rate only a relatively few need to spawn successfully to produce a good crop two years later.

In this era of discouraging news about DDT concentrations in fish, the report just released by the Conservation Department showing the findings of their pesticide residue monitoring program is encouraging. The average concentration of DDT in smelt was 1.44 parts per million (ppm) with a high of 2.86 ppm. These figures are well below the 5.0 ppm level which the Federal Food and Drug Administration has established as the top figure for fish marketed for

Queen for the day.

Just a gentle nudge that this coming Sunday is Mother's Day. And you can make her feel like royalty with just a little effort on your part. Why not be a "prince" and surprise her by taking her to the Golden Fox for dinner. It will add a special elegance and excitement to "her" day and make it a truly memorable occasion—and it won't cost you a "king's ransom," either.

To please the most discriminating, the Golden Fox has added an imaginative touch to their specially-planned menu for this royal occasion.

You can achieve sure success with a "little touch" of thoughtfulness. But don't wait . . . make your reservations now.

Anyone with boots and bucket, lantern and license, and a smelt net can learn the sport of smelting during the run simply by standing on the bank and watching for a few minutes. If there are still any questions the man standing next to you will be glad to help. In this respect, too, smelting is unlike any other type of fishing. Most successful fishermen are reluctant to pass out hard-learned secrets to anyone but special friends, but nobody hides any secrets about smelting.

On a good night, blind dipping in deep holes may often result in a dozen fish at a time. Many prefer stalking in clear shallow water and trying to scoop up individuals as the smelt work upstream to spawn.

Regulations are simple in Owasco, and Cayuga. Fishing hours are from 7 P.M. to 2 A.M. through May 15. Dip nets may not exceed 14 inches in diameter or 12 inches by 13 inches if square. All of Owasco Lake tri-

In the Cayuga Lake tributaries fishing is limited to Salmon Creek down stream from the fish highway bridge: Fall Creek downstream from Lake Street bridge; and in Taughannock Creek downstream from the first falls; and in all other tributaries except Canoga Creek, Cayuga Inlet, and Willow Creek, which are closed to smelting.

Parking problems are usually associated with big cities, but parking can also be difficult in rural areas where trout fishermen flock to their favorite streams.

the State Conservation Department. In return for permission to use these streams, fishermen are expected to keep things clean and not to intrude on the landowner's privacy.

"Landowners who allow the public access to their streams should be treated like gracious hosts," says Carl Parker, Chief of the Bureau of Fish, who has long experience in negotiating access agreements. He offers these tips as part of the fisherman's Emily Post:

— Be sure to park where you are not blocking lanes or tearing up lawns;

— If access paths have been provided, use them. Many landowners have built these paths to protect their own privacy or property;

— If you take along lunch, bring the sandwich wrappers and empty cans back to your own trash basket. Never litter.

"Above all," says Mr. Parker, "remember that the secret ingredient for catching more trout in the long-run is a little consideration."
