GOD AND COUNTRY AWARD — First Class Scout Douglas Vail, 60 Wisconsin Avenue, Delmar, will receive the God and Country Award at the 9:30 A.M. worship service on Sunday, May 24, at the First United Methodist Church of Delmar. Douglas worked on this program for sixteen months to earn the award. He performed service projects as varied as helping the church secretary, helping out in Vacation Church School, cleaning the church, working on the church lawn, and working on the live outdoor nativity at Christmas time. He participated regularly in the youth fellowship at the church, went to summer church camp, and served as an acolyte. His participation in worship during this time has included singing in choir, giving public prayers, leading devotions at church gatherings, and directing group singing. He worked on a missionary project, made maps of the missionary outreach of the church, and studied the ecumenical movement. He memorized Bible passages, visited a welfare agency, interviewed a Christian businessman, and many other learning and serving experiences. The prestige of the award is shown in that it is worn on the Boy Scout uniform above his First Class rank. Douglas is the second Boy Scout this year to receive this award at the church, and complete the program. In the picture, Douglas is shown receiving the award from Rev. Charles Wolfe, associate pastor of the church, as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Vail, look on.

The planters were made by Peter Vandetti's boys in the Senior High School wood working classes from material provided by the Association.

Our Town — Bethlehem

Appreciating the obligation and the desirability to provide residents of Bethlehem with current information on the status and activities of town government, Bertram Kohinke, Town Supervisor, has initiated a program to periodically provide general information through a series of articles. These articles will cover all aspects of Town Government and activities. This is the first article of this series.

Receiver of Taxes and Assessments

Mr. Kenneth P. Hahn, Receiver of Taxes and Assessments, summed up the first quarter property tax for the year 1970 in his Annual Report to the Albany County Treasurer's office during April and advanced some interesting facts.

For the taxable year 1970 the Town of Bethlehem had 7849 owners of taxable property 7658 or 97.5% of these owners elected to pay their property tax through the Town Hall office during the collection months of January, February and March. The remaining 2.5% property owners deferred payment and will pay at some later date to the Albany County Treasurer's office. Mr. Hahn pointed out that some do this on a regular basis, often times using their expected Federal Income Tax Refund to handle the property tax levies. Still others prefer to handle their obligations through the Albany County Treasurer's office for reasons of financial convenience.

The total property tax for 1970 amounts to approximately $29 million, up from $2.3 million in 1969. The Collectors Return of Unpaid Taxes showed 191 properties as being unpaid as of April 1, 1970, representing $68,492.71 in taxes. Both figures were slightly higher than those for 1969 when only 187 pieces of property were delinquent totaling $52,902.64 in tax dollars.

Collection fees realized on tax payments made during the months of February and March amounted to $1,853.24, and helped to offset the additional cost of temporary workers needed to facilitate the collection of the property taxes.

Of interest to the average taxpayer is the news that several parcels of abandoned tax delinquent property in Bethlehem were put back on a tax paying basis when sold to individuals by Albany County earlier this year, and that taxable parcels for taxable year 1970 increased by 250.

Water Department

The Water Department of the Town of Bethlehem is aware that it's residents are deeply dependent upon an abundant supply of high quality water. Bethlehem is indeed fortunate in that it's excellent water supply is adequate to meet it's anticipated needs.

Approximately 6000 households or 77% of the town receive water services from Water District No. 1 that was established in 1927. Since that time, there have been continuous and numerous enlargements of the Water District and it's physical plant to meet the expansion of our town.

The system, which has a reservoir capacity of 1.3 billion gallons, combined with a modern filtration and water softening facilities, places our town in an enviable position when compared with towns of it's size.

However, appreciating that future economic and social growth of the community is deeply dependent upon the continued growth and adequacy of this system, our Water Department is consistently planning additions to and improvements of our Water system to meet these needs.

The personnel of the Water Department are extremely proud of their system and would welcome the opportunity to arrange a tour of the Filtration Plant. If interested, call 439-2414.

Sewer District, announced that the extensive sewer project in the Town of Bethlehem is proceeding toward final plan and completion.

The Delmar-Elsmere Sewer District presently serves approximately 12,500 people, with a collection system of about 35 miles of sewer lines. The recently approved extension includes the construction of a new waste water treatment plant and installation of 41 additional miles of lines. Construction is scheduled to begin in September 1970, with an estimated completion date of December 1972.

Construction costs are estimated at $10,118,000. On April 2, 1970 Governor Rockefeller announced the approval of a $2,840,850 Pure Waters construction grant application by the Town of Bethlehem. The Federal Water Quality Administration presently is reviewing the Town's application for their grant participation.

The plan calls for the installation of a collection system of sewer lines in the areas of Selkirk, Glenmont, Bethlehem Center, Hamagrael and Slingerlands. When completed in 1972, the total sewer district will service 83% of the population of the town.

Recreation Committee

Mr. Robert Carr, Chairman of the Recreation Committee, has appointed Mr. D. Rice, Mr. E. Fitzpatrick, Mr. D. Anderson, Mr. T. Stevenson and Mrs. J. Rosamilia to a Long Range Recreation Planning Committee. This committee will study the feasibility of various proposed recreation facilities to meet the community's needs.

The Committee endorsed a recommendation to the Town Board that the building of a swimming pool on the 80 acre site off Elm Ave. be considered. Mr. P. Olsen is the Chairman of this subcommittee.

Mr. F. Leavitt of the U. S. Government Conservation Department, will inspect the newly acquired marine site off Route 144 and will report on soil conditions to help determine what additional recreation use this site can afford. It's planned to provide a picnic area and nature trails this summer.

The Committee purchased a total of 20 picnic tables and fireplaces for use at the Elm Ave. and the marina site. These facilities will be available by June 1, 1970.

This is the first year that the Town of Bethlehem is totally responsible for the recreation expenses. Previously, the School Board, in conjunction with the Town Board, provided the needed capital. The Expense Budget for recreation in 1970 of $57,270 should provide sufficient working capital to meet the many programs planned.

Mr. T. Bastian, Recreation Director, and his staff have developed a program that will provide recreation activities through the year.

Mr. Carr hopes that all our families will avail themselves of the new programs and facilities and emphasized the fact that their participation at Committee Meetings will insure the programs' continued success.

Local Author to Be Honored

The Friends of the Albany Public Library will honor Miss Alice P. Kenney for her book of THE GANSEVOORTS OF ALBANY at its second annual Book and Author Luncheon. The event, co-sponsored this year by the Friends and the Albany County Historical Society, will take place on Saturday, May 23rd, at the Petit Paris Restaurant, 1060 Masicon Avenue, at 12:30 P.M. Following the luncheon Miss Kenney will hold an autograph session. The luncheon is open to the public but advance reservations are necessary. Reservations may be made by calling the Albany Public Library, 465-1463.

Miss Kenney, who will speak on "Getting in Dutch," is assistant professor of history at Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pennsylvania. A former resident of Albany, she attended School 16, Hackett Junior High School and Albany High School before entering Middlebury College where she received her BA degree. Miss Kenney was awarded the MA and Ph. D. degrees by Columbia University.

In addition to THE GANSEVOORTS OF ALBANY, Miss Kenney has published articles on many subjects in historical periodicals. She is at work on another book dealing with the everyday life of the Dutch in Colonial New York. The study of the Gansevoorts, "Dutch Patriots in the Upper Hudson Valley" traces six generations of that family and their relations with many other notable early New Yorkers.

Miss Kenney's natural interest in history derives from her descent from one of the early settlers in the Albany area. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Kenney of Delmar. Her father is a professor of Education at SUNYA.

The Friends of the Albany Public Library, in existence for over 20 years, numbers approximately 500 citizens organized to aid and promote the program of the library. Last year the Friends honored Lansing Christmas, Duanesburg author, naturalist, and historian, and for many years a radio commentator.

"It was Fun Learning at Heldeberg"

Forty-seven scholarship students from the inner city and rural areas of Albany attended Heldeberg Workshop last summer. This was almost double the number of those able to attend the previous summer. With your help. This program can continue and grow.

On a follow-up questionnaire the children offered the following comments:

"You met interesting people . . . It was fun learning something different and the teacher knew how to teach . . . I learned how to work with clay and what can happen if you don't follow directions . . . I learned how airplanes flew . . . their general parts . . . I like airplanes and its an interesting hobby."

They also listed names of friends who would like to participate in the workshop program this summer, if funds for scholarships are available. Schools, too, have recommended and will select those students who may benefit from the specialized art, science and drama programs offered.

Success of Heldeberg for these children can be attributed in a large measure to the excellence of the staff and their concern for each individual child.

"Mable was frustrated in the beginning, but given individual help the first few days, she eventually fitted in with the group, achieved many fine pieces of work, helped others and initiated and executed several fine suggestions for the group project. I enjoyed working with her and she enjoyed her class and classmates."

Many of the teachers commented that such was the over-all performance within their class that they were often not aware of those from disadvantaged homes. They felt that all of the students benefitted from being with others of differing backgrounds. The ceramics teacher's comment was typical, "Besides learning art fundamentals the children learned good work habits, to share ideas and skills with each other."

The staff felt strongly that at Heldeberg the advantaged student learned much that was favorable and positive - reflected in relationships one with another. There was for everyone learning not only of the basic tools of learning, but human relations skills as well.

Each scholarship of $60 covers bus transportation and field trip expenses for an interested student ranging in age from eight through fifteen. Please help a child who without a scholarship would not have the opportunity to participate in the Workshop - a true community wide "Adventure in Learning."

Library Notes

How time did fly! Not too long ago the Bethlehem Public Library was jumping with children's activities. Now as the winter-spring seasons draw to a close, there will be a breathing space. But don't worry, the children's staff is busy organizing a full summer program with a special interest for each group. The Puppet Club, Camera Club and Indergarten Story Hours are over. The story hour for grades one, two and three will have a last good time on Wednesday, May 27th at 3:45 P.M.

Watch the papers and keep an eye on the library bulletin board for announcements of exciting things to come in July. By the way, do look at the pictures taken and developed by the Camera Club. They are posted in the children's room.

You Must Register

This year for the first time residents of the Bethlehem School District are required to register in order to vote in the school election. The increased interest of voters in their schools and elected board members is very gratifying. However this increase has meant that the informal voting system used in the past had to be changed for the more precise method of registration and the use of voting machines.

The P-TA Council urges everyone not to lose his vote because he didn't register. We have placed posters in prominent locations throughout the school district with the registration dates listed. Each school unit is conducting a phone campaign. But don't wait for that phone call.

The Board of Education established 5 registration dates to make it convenient for everyone to register at the Middle School. (Registration is separate from that for the Nov. elections and must be made in person.) There are only two days left.

May 23 — 12 noon to 9 P.M.

Saturday

May 27 — 7 A.M. to 9 P.M.

Wednesday

June 10 — School Budget Vote
Board of Education Election

Citizens have a responsibility to exercise their voting privileges and express themselves on issues that affect them. The P-TA Council hopes there will be full participation by residents of the Bethlehem School District in the coming election.

The Welcome Wagon Club of Voorheesville will meet Thursday, May 21, 8:00 P.M. at the First Methodist Church. The program, "A Night in Hong Kong," will be presented by Mrs. Edward Seim. Mrs. Seim, who lived in Hong Kong for five years will show slides, native dress, and artifacts of the area. A door prize and the refreshments will reflect the theme of the evening.

Teacher Honored

Miss Marie Van Wormer, substitute teacher at Slingerlands and Elsmere Schools since 1958, was given an Honorary Life Membership by the Slingerlands School P-TA at their meeting May 12, 1970. Miss Van Wormer was cited for her dedication to teaching and her individual attention to her pupils when presented a pin by Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, P-TA Pres.

Now a Slingerlands resident Miss Van Wormer grew up in Altamont. Her first teaching position was in a one room school house near the present Thacher park. Tho' she worked for a time for the printing company in Slingerlands she decided to make teaching her career. She received her teaching diploma from New Paltz in 1933 and remained at Highland, N.Y., where she taught for 26 years. During that time she not only obtained her Bachelors degree from Albany State Teachers College, but also has 32 hours of Graduate work to her credit. Miss Van Wormer in recent years has specialized in individual tutoring. Her keenness of mind attests to her philosophy and interest are appreciated by the Slingerlands faculty, her pupils and the P-TA.

A donation of $25 was made in Miss Van Wormer's name to the Teacher Fellowship Fund of the N.Y. State Congress of Parents and Teachers.

accompanied by two teachers and several chaperones. The students have chartered a bus for the one-day trip, which will include several points of interest.

Members of the 120 social studies class will visit the United Nations with their teacher, Victor Spraggins. Mr. Spraggins plans to take the 16 youngsters involved by public bus.

As well as approving the bus trips, the Voorheesville Board of Education also accepted resignations from three staff members.

Mrs. Ruth Streets, a kindergarten teacher, resigned after 18 years with the school system, and Carol Marer, ninth grade English teacher, resigned to be married. A resignation also was accepted from Mrs. Doris Relyea, a cook who has been employed by the district for 16 years in the elementary and secondary schools.

Two buses ordered by the district have arrived in Altamont, and will be available after servicing, a board member reported.

LETTER

Dear Sir:

I write as an independent individual, not under direction from PATS or CRISIS or any other group in the town of Bethlehem, to protest the actions of John Clyné at the Board of Education meeting on May 14. This was the meeting at which the Board faced approval of the budget for the 1970-71 school year.

After weeks of discussion the Board has tried to compile a tight budget, recognizing the facts of increasing costs in salaries and equipment and no increase in state aid. At this meeting the Board rejected adding several OFFICIALLY APPROVED BY PARENTS who have been concerned in the individual care and attention given each child. Sunny Acres is SMALL enough so that no child is "lost" in a crowd. LARGE enough to create much interest within the group.

Instruction is given in each activity so that the child can learn to enjoy the activity.

Directors of Children's activities have been at Sunny Acres from five to fifteen years. No camp can claim a better staff anywhere, it is with pride we make this statement.

Every day is OPEN HOUSE by appointment at the convenience of the parent; so that time can be given to each and everyone to become acquainted.

teaching positions to the senior high school which a very detailed report deemed desirable because of pupil overload. Dr. Moomaw explained that with tight scheduling this overload could be handled this year. As I said, this budget has been under discussion for many weeks, but just before the vote was to be taken by the Board Mr. Clyne commented that there had been no discussion of the 'fat' in the budget. Mr. Boutelle and Dr. Bair then urged him repeatedly to state where the 'fat' was, let them know and the Board would discuss it, all night if necessary. Mr. Clyne refused to elaborate further, and after repeated questioning would not mention even one item he considered 'fat.' The vote was then taken by the Board to approve the budget, and of course Mr. Clyne voted against approval.

What are Mr. Clyne's objectives? He had weeks to try to revise the budget, but he said not one word. If he had a legitimate claim as to 'fat' in the budget it was his duty as an elected member of the Board to put his finger on those items and attempt to eliminate them. I can only conclude this display was childish grandstanding on his part.

All residents of the district are urged to attend at least one public meeting of budget presentation by Dr. Moomaw and the Board and learn the figures first hand. Do not let Mr. Clyne's unsubstantiated claims sway your opinion of a very thoughtfully prepared budget.

bank for a loan under the program of the New York State Higher Education Assistance Corporation. Despite the fact that students are sometimes reluctant to borrow money in order to go to college, one should keep in mind that education is actually an investment in one's future, and it would certainly be difficult to find any other kind of investment which promises better dividends.

The New York State Loan Fund was organized by the New York State Higher Education Assistance corporation and is administered by this organization in conjunction with selected member banks.

To apply for this loan (you must first show evidence of having been accepted at an accredited college or an approved Business School, Nursing School or Trade School), contact the member bank in your community. If you receive an acceptance to one of the above institutions, and if you can show evidence of sufficient financial need, you should normally have no problem in obtaining a New York State Loan.

Under the terms of this loan, which you must repay within ten years after graduation for college at 7% interest, you may borrow from $1000 to $1500 a year for each of four or five years of college, according to a graduated scale.

College Boards - July 11

Students who plan to take the College Boards on July 11 should submit their registration so that it will reach the Princeton Office by June 10. Both the Scholastic Aptitude Test and the Achievement Tests will be administered on that date at Albany High School.

Painting Film

Perhaps the paintings of Francis Bacon are a reflection of the discordant aspects of today's world. The examples of his work which are currently on display at the Museum of Modern Art are disturbing. They can convey primitive, even bestial feelings suggestive of the violence and inequality beneath the surface of what we are pleased to call civilization.

How does Bacon achieve this? On the 25th of May the Bethlehem Art Association will attempt to answer the question by showing a new film on the Frances Bacon paintings of the period 1944-1962. The film emphasizes details of the grotesque figures and faces used by Bacon, and presents an analysis and interpretation of his work.

As usual, the meeting will be held at the Delmar branch of the National Commercial Bank, at 7:30 P.M. This meeting is the last one of the season and will be primarily social, enabling old and new members to meet. New members and visitors are welcome and will hear details of the forthcoming club exhibitions and sales. Refreshments will be available.

Day of Science

On May 27th the three third grade classes from the Delmar Elementary School will spend a day at the Heldeberg Workshop learning about the Out-of-Doors in the Out-of-Doors, thanks to the efforts of Mrs. Alice Doyle.

Mrs. Doyle, third grade teacher, carefully nurtured the seed of the idea to somehow have her class as well as the classes of Mrs. Gunther and Mrs. Ray participate in a meaningful day of Science in the Out-of-Doors.

Her contacts with Mr. Frank Leavitt, soil conservationist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, lead to the acquisition of a group of people, expert in the field of natural science. Among those who will be helping to open the eyes of the youngsters to be wonders of the natural world will be: Mr. Leavitt;

Mrs. Ruth Gordon, Ecologist; Dr. Ed Riley, Curator of Zoology; Dr. John Wilcox, curator of Entomology. This ambitious project has the full support of Mr. George Bonacker, Principal and Dr. Moomaw, Superintendent of Schools.

Master Plan

A comprehensive plan including relocation of Route 9W, revitalization of downtown Ravena, preservation of historic sites, and improvements of the Hudson River shoreline, has been proposed for Coeymans.

The master plan, made up by the Town of Coeymans and Village of Ravena planning boards with the aid of a consulting firm, Hans Klunder Associates, was presented to residents for the first time recently.

Among ideas discussed was the relocation of Route 9W to bypass the Village of Ravena. Mr. Klunder said that the road, is hazardous where it passes through the village. He suggested a connecting road beginning north of Ravena, crossing Route 143 east of Peter B. Coeymans School, and rejoining 9W or linking with the New Baltimore Thruway exit.

He said the link would open up industrial land and route through traffic around the village, making local stores more accessible for residents.

The plan also calls for renewal of downtown Ravena, which is losing its attraction as a focal point for community activities, Mr. Klunder said. He suggested new shopping plazas in the downtown area, with a ring road and off street parking.

Noting that Main Street is crowded and narrow, Mr. Klunder said that the downtown area is currently a tax liability, because the cost of services is higher than the tax revenues from the neighborhood.

Plans for improving the railroad underpass in the village include narrowing the tracks and building two pedestrian tunnels to make more road room for traffic. The proposed linkroad between 9W and Route 144 would also provide a second east-west crossing of the railroad.

Improvement plans also include preservation and landscaping of historic landmarks, such as the old Coeymans School and the Marshall House; development of a marina on the Hudson River, and construction of a direct water line from the Alcove Reservoir to the village.

Planning Board member Anthony DiAcitis cited a neighborhood study made during a field survey three years ago in which Structures in neighborhoods were rated from 1 (excellent) to 5 (poor).

The Coeymans Hamlet neighborhood was listed as having 30 substandard structures and received a 1.8 or good, rating. Residents wanted better law enforcement. Ravena village was 1.5, with 29 structures substandard.

Mr. DiAcitis noted that further residential development in the area near the railroad and cement plant should be discouraged, and the downtown area seemed to be in decline. Neighborhood residents had asked for better shopping facilities, he said.

The Route 9W neighborhood, with a 1.4 rating, has an indiscriminate mix of commercial and residential building. Residents have complained of junk and lack of sidewalks, Mr. DiAcitis said.

Coeymans Hollow had asked for better recreation facilities. Rural residents also have no planned recreation except events scheduled at the schools, the planner noted.

Frank McCabe, another board member, said studies had shown, that Coeymans has a 49 per cent industrial work force, higher than most county towns. In the future, the board predicts the town will have a mixture of local industry and suburban growth. Many new residents will hold white color jobs in Albany, Mr. McCabe said.

Summary brochures are available on plans for the town and village. The fully detailed comprehensive plan may be inspected at the village library, school library, and offices of the town clerk and town supervisor.

Refuse Law

They apparently remember Earth Day in Bethlehem because the Town Board decisively passed a new ordinance that is intended to end the wind-blown flotsam from uncovered garbage and refuse of the town businesses community that is lettering residential property.

Homeowners appearing before a public hearing on the proposed ordinance told Supervisor Bertram Kohinke and the board about alleged offenders, including a large public market, some businesses on Delaware Plaza, and a new drive-in on Delaware Avenue.

One man told the board he had a carton of paper trash blown onto his property from the drive-in.

MUTUAL INTEREST — The Bethlehem Town Board listens to home owners complain about trash littering their property. It all comes from town business who do not cover trash and garbage containers or who have none. To combat the litter problem the town fathers passed a new anti-litter ordinance. The audience approved.

Mr. Kohinke said most of the trash is identifiable as to its source — such as printed napkins, and offenders will be prosecuted once a complaint is filed.

The ordinance states that no rubbish or garbage may be placed outside any building with the town limits unless the refuse is carefully contained within a covered metal, wooden or molded plastic receptacle — to prevent it from falling out or being blown away.

Anyone violating the ordinance may be fined $25 the first time, and between $25 and $100 for each subsequent offense. Each day's continued violation shall constitute a separate additional violation, the ordinance states.

The ordinance will take effect 10 days after its publication and posting, it was indicated. All Bethlehem businessmen will receive a copy of the new law.

Meeting

The regular monthly meeting will be held on May 28, 1970 at 8:00 P.M. in the Community Room of The Bank, Delaware Ave., Delmar. The program will consist of two parts, 1) Caring for Azalias and Rhododendrons, by Ralph Smith; and 2) sale of plants and seedlings from members' extras.

For this meeting, a special invitation has been extended to the "second Milers" an organization of retirees. All members are encouraged to bring guests. Light refreshments will be served and reservations should be made to Al Leonard, 439-9743 or Ray Lewis, 439-2261.

Meeting

The Citizens Committee for University-Community Relations, a local group trying to open up a dialogue between students and older citizens, announced an open meeting tonight, May 21. Taking place at the National Commercial Bank's Community Room at 8 P.M., the program will feature several SUNY students and will be moderated by Mrs. Beatrice Herman, representing the League of Women Voters.

The Citizens Committee consists of local people, many of whom have never participated in public action before. All felt a need to open up calmer and more reasonable paths of communication; if possible to reduce the feverish polarization now taking place on the campus and the streets.

The meeting tonight is one of many taking place all over. Some

The editorial went on to say, "... we congratulate their sponsors for a realistic approach to a major problem."

Concerned citizens, especially those who feel the lack of communication between generations, are invited to attend tonight:

With the 4-H

The "Buttery Butterflies", an Elsmere 4-H Club, recently staged a "mini-revue" at the home of Mrs. Paul C. Reinhardt at 122 Westchester Dr. N. in Delmar. It was Mother's Day, and the girls' mothers were the honored guests. The seven members of the club modeled shifts and play outfits made during their sewing project these past two months. Mr. Reinhardt and Mrs. James W. Clyne were the sewing project leaders.

At this informal session, each girl wore her own creation, and modeled it to soft music and a commentary read for each by Mrs. Joseph F. Zimmerman, mother of one of the members of the group. Punch and cookies concluded the Sunday afternoon event.

The girls are looking forward to the 1970 4-H Dress Revue, to be held at the Bethlehem Senior High School on May 27, at 7:30 P.M. Nineteen other Albany County 4-H homemaking clubs will participate in the revue. The theme this year is "4-H Fashion Horoscope."

At Workshop

On Tuesday, May 5, Mrs. Margaret Westervelt, a business teacher at Bethlehem Central High School, attended a workshop at Albany Business College. Mr. Prentiss Carnell, President of the college, invited business teachers, guidance counselors, and placement officers from a number of area organizations to witness a demonstration of the Westbury Method of Dictation being considered for inclusion in the curriculum. Through this unique system of direct machine dictation, the secretary is freed from learning the addition skill of a shorthand system.

Mrs. Roberta Raymond, also a business teacher at BCHS, is currently participating in an eight-week workshop on data processing offered by Cybernetics Institute, Colonie, to a group of some 15 area high school personnel. The participants work with the key punch machine, learn the basic principles of programming, and follow through with the other computer operations. Mrs. Raymond includes a unit in data processing and computer operations in her Introduction to Business curriculum.

Dance

Tour

On Friday, May 8, the juniors and seniors in the Distributive Education Club of America at Bethlehem Central High School were participants with representatives from Hudson Valley Community Colleges and Junior College of Albany in a tour arranged by the D & H Railway Company. The students visited the Port of Albany facilities and the Penn-Central Alfred E. Pearlman Yard at Selkirk.

Following the tour, the entire group were guests at lunch at Center Inn, Glenmont. At that time they saw a short film and were addressed by Mr. P.F. Robinson, Vice-President of Traffic, of the D & H Railroad Company.

Others who participated in the tour were: Stanley Cecewics, Manager, Property Accounts, D & H; Francis Dunham, General Manager of the Port of Albany; and James Nash, Sales Representative of Penn-Central.

At the port, students saw the 28 miles of track owned by the Port and were given an opportunity to see and learn about the activities involved in handling the grain and managing the decks.

At the Alfred E. Pearlman Yard at Selkirk, the students had the opportunity to observe the unloading of cars and toured the diesel repair shop. They also observed the making up of trains by the computer process employing the "hump" method.

On Visit

On May 12, the shorthand II and transcription students of Mrs. Margaret H. Westervelt, at Bethlehem Central High School, visited the data processing and communications offices of the New York State Thruway Authority at Delaware Plaza, Elmere.

The field trip resulted from the study of data processing and computer terms in the shorthand class. Mr. Joseph Mitchell, of the Thruway Authority staff, conducted the tour assisted by Mr. Richard Bauman and Sgt. John Keller.

In the computer area the students were given an opportunity to see the key punch operation, the disk storage and the printout machinery. They were also able to learn the function of programming the process. In the communications office, students observed the telephone equipment in operation, as well as some of the teletype equipment. They were given a graphic illustration of how the local office uses the information stored at the Campus in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and in the FBI Center in Washington, when a student's name was submitted for clearing and the results came back within 2 minutes!

Those who made the trip were: Ramona Bradley, Susan Bradley, Beth Burkins, Anne DiBiase, Kathy Fitzgerald, Gretchen Hoagland, Linda Kolber, Charlene Lee, Deborah Leonard, Linda Martin, Darlene Mason, Stephanie Sinnamon, Bobbi Slingerland, Marilyn Spencer, Joan Taub, Patricia Thompson, and Phyllis Wilcox.

Business Outlook

Frank H. Adams pays no attention to gloomy talk about downtown Albany's future. He's optimistic about what he says is bound to happen downtown: new stores, much more parking, highways that will make it easy to travel to and from the shopping sector.

But Adams, who knows downtown as well as any businessman doesn't just talk about the past and the future. It's the "now" period that's just as important to him. And he's finding it exciting. Why's that? Because, despite all the reports about how bad business has been downtown, his Adams Jewelers Inc. on No. Pearl Street at the corner of Steuben Street did the greatest volume of business in its history last year — and the 1970 figures are matching last year's so far.

But he uses this as a barometer for how well-run stores should be doing downtown, not from a selfish standpoint of how well his store is doing. He's deeply interested in downtown Albany's shopping district.

"Many of the stores didn't survive in downtown had been living in the past," he contends, mentioning that some didn't have retirement systems for their employees, didn't have much needed escalators and air conditioning in some cases.

Talk of this "crime thing" in downtown has been pushed way out of proportion, Adams stresses.

"We have wonderful police service right here on North Pearl Street," he points out, "and we don't see any crime going on."

Adams says that the downtown Albany shopping area "has less crime than some of our neighboring shopping centers. There's not so much pilferage."

"Someday we'll have some new stores. We know there will be more parking area. The state is going to do something about the Ten Eyck Hotel. Express highways will make easier to get downtown than to some shopping centers," Adams declared.

There's a big shot in the arm ahead for the downtown Albany shopping district he said, when the bridge across the Hudson River opens to "make Albany only a few minutes away from East Greenbush and that entire growth area." Shoppers from several Rensselaer County points, he explains, will find travel easy to downtown Albany.

Adams came here from Pittsfield. He worked parttime in stores when he was attending high school there, and learned watchmaking in Pittsfield. In Albany, he worked for jewelry firms downtown 10 years before opening his own store here 40 years ago. It was in the Kenmore Hotel building until the store moved to its present location 15 years ago.

He and his wife, Villet, reside in the town of Schodack. They have three sons, Nelson and David, who are in the business with their father; Peter, a Siena College student; and a daughter, Mrs. Barry Fronk. Frank Adams has been active in the Albany Area Chapter of Commerce many years and is a past president of the Albany Credit Association.

His interest in downtown Albany has never let up. And he talks about expansion of his jewelry business.

Where would you expand?
"Why, downtown Albany," he replied.

Extension Gardener

By DAVE REVILLE

Everyone's attention is focused on ecology and environmental improvement these days. "Earth Day should have on going effects if it was to be a successful venture. But what can you — the homeowner do? Read the following article from the Co-operative Extension Service of Rutgers University which I thought worthy of repeating.

Plants themselves can be used to fight pests. "Trap crop" or "sacrificial" plant such as nasturtiums which lure aphids away from other plants, or radishes that attract onion maggots; and plants that repel insects. For the latter, the list is long and suggestive of many interplanting schemes:

Dill (repels cucumber beetles, stinkbugs), chives (aphids), geraniums (sphinxes), Peruvian ground cherry, Nicandra physalodes (flies), nasturtiums (beetles that attack vine crops), Euphorbia lathyris (very high mole repellency, according to reports from South Africa), onions (potato bugs, bean beetles, peach tree borers, (aphids), mint (cabbage moths, flies), garlic (Japanese beetles, aphids, others), basil (flea beetles), cosmos and asters (Mexican bean beetle), mustard (cabbage worms), tomatoes (asparagus beetle), asparagus (nematodes and Marigolds actually kill nematodes).

Finally, much credence today is being given the idea that pests are "nature's censor," serving the ecological function of destroying imperfect plants. Tree experts say the alarming increase in disease and insect attack on trees is due to a decline in their vigor, caused by such factors as drought and exhaustion of the soil through lack of fertilizing and raking up of leaves rather than leaving them to become humus. Every environmental factor is important: white birches in a very windy location, for example, will be so weakened that borers and leaf miners will attack them in great numbers.

Pest problems are increased by improper feeding the Kansas Agricultural Experiment station reports that pest preferences for plants "may be determined

In Florida, high nitrogen feeding has been found to greatly increase chinch bug injury, and entomologists have shown that feeding on plants given high nitrogen and phosphorus will stimulate aphids to lay many more eggs.

They're Ready

Wild confusion reigns onstage during the Drama Workshop's presentation of "Absence of a Cello" at the Albany Jewish Community Center on May 21, 23 and 24 at 8:30 P.M. However, it is well organized confusion and is all part of the show as the unconventional family of Andrew Pilgrim copes with a domestic crisis.

This gay comedy features David Ference as the scientist, Dr. Pilgrim, and Florence Spiegel as his wife, a well known scholar in Medieval Literature. Others in the cast are Phyllis Levine as his sister and Stanley Fischer as a stuffy corporation executive who supply the love interest; Jean Sheber as a sweet but wacky, meddling old lady; Leo Rausch as her grandson, a Wharton School senior; and Joan Bochner as the Pilgrim's daughter, a student at Radcliffe.

The feminine touch will be felt in the production. Keeping this fast paced show running are Eleanor Koblenz, the director, and Rona Goldstein and Ellyn Offricht as assistant directors. Mrs. Goldstein will act as stage manager and Mrs. Offricht will supervise costumes.

Serving as set designers are Larry Ginsburg and Jack Sternbach. Props are under the chairmanship of Frances Eisenhandler and Carrie Sternbach is in charge of set decoration. Lillian Greene will supervise make-up and Toby Diamond will handle sound.

Wood Duck

The story of the wood duck during the last half century is one of the encouraging conservation stories. Its gorgeous plumage was highly esteemed and sought, and its flesh was an epicure's delight.
With these attributes it was inevitable that gunning pressure exerted on the woodie was very great.

At the same time, the habitat for this duck was rapidly degenerating. As a holenesting bird it required trees with large cavities. Heavy logging and old age had taken their toll of good nesting sites, even though adequate water areas still existed. The early years of this century found wood duck numbers dwindling rapidly.

In 1918, it was given complete protection by both the United States and Canada, though it had already received protection in upstate New York as early as

Since the major limiting factor was inadequate nesting sites, conservation agencies, interested groups and individuals have been erecting wood duck nesting boxes along streams, marshes and ponds for years. In many situations this was all the added impetus needed to bring the duck back as a nesting bird.

The dimensions for a standard wood duck nextbox are 8 inches by 8 inches inside, and from 14 to 20 inches high. The hole, an ellipse 3 by 4 inches, should be 12 to 15 inches above the floor. If rough lumber is not used, some provisions must be made so that the young ducklings can climb out. Screening tacked on the inside front wall under the opening serves this purpose well. Female wood ducks count on the decayed wood at the bottom of a cavity for a good nest base to which they add only feathers from their breasts. Unless a couple of inches of sawdust is placed on the floor to simulate the decayed wood, the nest box will not be used.

Like other ducks, as soon as incubation is well under way the male departs. Up till that time his main assistance is nest selection and building has been spiritual, for he accompanies the little woman while she searches, and sits around patiently while she investigates each likely hole.

One of the most interesting things about these ducks is how the young get from the nest, sometimes 60 feet in the air, and then to the water, sometimes several hundred yards away. In the past, many wonderful theories were presented about how the mother carried the young. The actual facts are quite prosaic — they just jump out and walk.

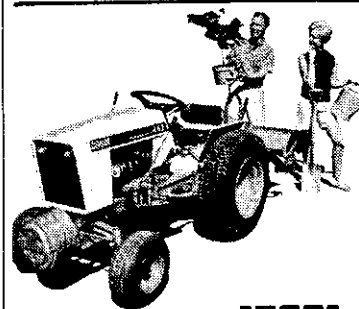

When the ducklings hatch they have very sharp toenails, and hooks on their bills. With these they can climb up the inside of a hollow tree very readily. Upon reaching the entrance a little coaxing from mother persuades them to jump. With feet and wings spread, these little balls of fluff just float down uninjured. It is not a rare site to see a female wood duck ushering her brood across a country road on their way to the nearest water.

Living among the trees the woodie has developed an unduck-like ability to maneuver in tight quarters which rivals that of the grouse. They are able to fly rapidly through the woods when it is almost too dark to see them, and far to dark for the human eye to see the obstacles that they dodge successfully.

Much of woodie's food is similar to that of other dabbling ducks, but they have a particular liking for acorns and beechnuts. Their native range used to be approximately that of the chestnut which was one of their favorites. Their gizzard has developed remarkably for the purpose of crushing nuts, capable of handling even sturdy hickories.

Even the dull female or the silhouetted male are easily recognized in flight. Their relatively long tails make their wings appear to be set forward compared to other ducks. Wood ducks hold their crested heads high, with the bill pointed down, whereas most ducks thrust their heads more nearly straight forward in flight.
